COLONEL IN CHICAGO.

Tries to Win Over the Delegates.

His Appeal to Violate Pledges Redounds to the Interest of Mr. Taft.

For Every One President May Lose He Is Expected to Gain Two.

Atmosphere Is Thick With Rumors of a Third Party to Be Organized.

BY GEORGE GRISWOLD HILL.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] Theodore Roosevelt arrived in Chicago today to take personal charge of his campaign for renomination, which is threatened with disaster. He was met at the railway station by a cheering crowd and was escorted by a band and a large contingent of men and women and cheering newsboys, who are on strike in Chicago, to the Congress Hotel.

Within five minutes after he entered he was haranguing a crowd of possibly 2500 persons, who had gathered in the street and had been drawn out of the hotel by the announcement that the colonel would make a speech. His address was an appeal to down the professional politician and a denunciation of "thefts" by the National Committee, especially in the case of the two Taft delegates from the Fourth District of California seated by the committee.

COMMITTEE ENDS WORK.

The Republican National Committee completed its work today, disposing of the final contest late this evening. Most of the contests have not been taken seriously, nor were they meant to be, as was explained by one of the Roosevelt press agents. In few instances was there a roll call, and in exceedingly few cases did all the avowed supporters of Roosevelt vote for his contestants.

As the purpose of some of the delegates seated is in doubt, it cannot be asserted precisely how many Taft and how many Roosevelt delegates there are among the 1076 to whom seats have been accorded, but the Taft managers claim 568 and their contention is not seriously resisted by the Roosevelt managers, although the latter maintain they will be able to wean away a sufficient number to insure the nomination of Roosevelt before the convention's call for nominations.

ROOSEVELT AT WORK.

Col. Roosevelt began almost immediately his efforts to win over delegates. He takes the ground that because the National Committee has "stolen" the seats which belonged to delegates who would have supported him, no delegate instructed to vote for President Taft is in the slightest degree bound by his instructions. All evening there was a procession of delegates taken in to "see" the colonel, but few of them remained any length

Table Shows Taft Well in the Lead for Nomination on First Ballot.

Roosevelt Realizes Fight Is Lost and Shouts "Robbery" on Arrival in Chicago—His Supporters Admit that Taft Has Votes Enough to Win, but Express Hope of Being Able to "Convert" Some Delegates.

BY SUMNER CURTIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The temporary roll of the Republican National Convention is completed.

With the ending of the National Committee contest feature of the campaign tonight, the paper strength of the various candidates, apportioning all the uninstructed delegates according to the best obtainable information as to their leanings, appears at this time to be as totaled in the following tabulation. The totals are:

William H. Taft, 563.
Theodore Roosevelt, 466.
Robert M. La Follette, 36.
Albert B. Cummins, 10.
Charles E. Hughes, 1.
Robert T. Lincoln, 2.
Total, 1078.

These figures are liable to be disputed by the leaders of both the Taft and Roosevelt forces, the inside figures of the former being six more than those herewith given, while the inside figures of the Roosevelt side reduce the Taft strength close to the 540 dead line.

Publicly, the Roosevelt managers declare their candidate has a clear majority as matters now stand, but they present no details to back it up. Privately, supporters of the former President on the National Committee admit that the temporary roll as completed by the committee shows a margin over the line for Taft, but rest their hope on the inability of the President to hold it for the next three days.

SOUTHERN SITUATION MIXED.

It should be borne in mind that the southern situation is decidedly complicated. The Roosevelt leaders, with guarded expressions as to spots affected, claim to have won over delegates that on the face of things are naturally counted for Taft.

The Taft leaders declare they can hold their paper strength as it now stands, or practically so, despite the moral suasion to be exerted by Theodore Roosevelt himself, now on the battlefield and the center of all interest, and regardless of other influences that may be brought to bear.

For one thing, the Taft managers claim more votes from South Carolina than are credited to their side. The Roosevelt leaders, on the other hand, lay claim to more votes from this State than the eight credited to the colonel.

There is doubt about two Idaho votes.

The eyes of both camps, however, are fixed on South Carolina, Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama. The colored delegates form the chief object of interest. There are only fifty colored delegates on the temporary roll of this convention, however (there were exactly forty-nine before one Texas contestant unexpectedly was seated today,) and if the programmed Roosevelt stampede is to strike most forcibly into this element the restricted number of votes to be affected becomes a matter of much significance.

WHAT ROOSEVELT FACES.

The intention in connection with the tabulation of delegate strength is to picture as accurately as possible the situation that confronted Col. Roosevelt when he reached the convention city tonight. He is here to organize and recruit his forces so as to overthrow what he declares to be the thievery of the Republican National Committee.

His very first utterance to the multitude after his spectacular arrival breathed denunciation of "stolen goods." Shrewd observers noted that the colonel did not proclaim that he had the votes to nominate himself, but that he assumed the attitude of a standard-bearer who had arrived at the front to find his forces out-numbered through infamous tactics.

"It is a naked fight against theft and thieves, and thieves shall not win," was his most striking declaration.

REALIZES FIGHT IS LOST.

That the fight is not won—that the roll as it appeared tonight is against him—and that he must work to overcome the odds, sums up what evidently is realized by Col. Roosevelt, as expressed in his first statements after taking personal command. How he will overcome the odds is a question of no more importance than its companion interrogation—What will he do if he can't? In general it is understood what he may be expected to do under the circumstances.

In referring to the California situation, Col. Roosevelt made a statement significant of different contingencies. He declared that "California's twenty-six votes are mine and shall be counted for me." This might be interpreted to mean that in another convention the solid California delegation would be for him—the National Committee having seated two Taft delegates from the State—or it may be interpreted as indicating the belief of the Roosevelt forces that the convention itself will overturn the work of the National Committee when the report of the Credentials Committee comes up for adoption.

HOW TO PROCEED?

There is only one person who can tell upon what tactical and strategic lines the fight is to be made—whether upon the floor of the convention in a conventionally parliamentary manner, or in some more drastic fashion; or—and the suggestion is worthy of some consideration—largely outside the convention hall now arranged as the theater for a political drama without precedent. And that one person frequently acts on the impulse of the moment.

He will go over the ground carefully, bore into the delegate situation with great care, analyze and calculate his strength and proceed accordingly. The natural inference would be that the colonel would fight out in convention, if circumstances warranted, instead of bolting in advance, as it were, in case he despaired of winning against obvious odds. But all depends on how matters look on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Many things suggest the probability of a convention-floor fight, if there be any, showing the first serious test of strength over the report of the Credentials Committee rather than over the temporary chairmanship.

Col. Roosevelt will be advised by many of his supporters to make no fight on Elihu Root for temporary chairman. Gov. Deneen of Illinois, either personally or through his friends, will inform the colonel that a fight on Senator Root will be demoralizing to the Roosevelt strength in the Illinois delegation. The Taft forces are counting on nineteen Illinois votes for Root in case an issue is made over his selection by the National Committee as temporary presiding officer.

The Credentials Committee, as well as all the other committees appointed under the temporary organization, will be dominated by the Taft forces. They are counting on having thirty-four members of the Credentials Committee—and the same number on other committees—which would leave Roosevelt seventeen on each committee, La Follette having the remaining two. But the report of the Credentials Committee must be adopted before the permanent character of the convention is established. The hope of the Roosevelt members would be that the convention—the temporary organization itself—would line up differently than it appears to line up on the main issue of the nomination.

COL. LYON IS SILENT.

But Heney, He Gets All Wrought Up Over the Settlement of the Contests from Texas.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] Cecil Lyon of Texas viewed the collapse in the Republican National Committee today of the elaborate machine which he has built up in the State of Texas, without an outcry, but Francis J. Heney cried "treason."

It was only one of his many outbursts during the day. The fusillade of epithets he directed at the committeemen, not neglecting to call them by name, was such that forbearance gave way, and when the Washington cases were reached, Committeeman Kennedy of North Dakota retorted in kind:

"You have lied to the people," he said in reply to one of Heney's outbursts.

"That is a lie," replied Heney.

Kennedy, shaking his fist, jumped upon his seat and started for Heney, but a dozen members of the committee, foreseeing a fight, interposed themselves and both Kennedy and Heney, the former blazing with wrath, the latter apparently relieved over the prompt interference of the committeemen, resumed their seats. But the atmosphere was not cleared by this incident. Senator Miles Poindexter, who presented the Roosevelt contest from Washington, after a short introductory, ridiculed the idea that Senators Penrose, Crane and others should pass upon disputed cases. He declared that they had no right to serve on the committee, and that the committee itself had no authority to pass upon the merits of the contests.

The Roosevelt adherents counted much upon the Washington contest. The Taft adherents pointed out, however, that a Wilson delegation elected precisely in the same manner as the Roosevelt delegation, that is by the manipulation of the Seattle delegation to the State convention, had been unseated by the Democratic State convention. The case was regarded as being one of the most clear cut brought before the committee, and the contest was promptly decided in favor of the Taft delegates without a roll call.

With Washington, the fight was practically abandoned. The Roosevelt delegation from the District of Columbia made a barely perfunctory show of maintaining a contest.

Tokio Editor Urges That the Authorities Show Mercy to the Christians held to be Responsible for a Conspiracy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Chuo Shim Bun, organ of the Seiyuki party, says the fact that many Christian workers were accused of conspiracy in Korea at first caused apprehension that it would prove a religious problem of the most serious nature. The newspaper believes, however, that this fear has been dispelled, as the affair evidently was of a strictly political nature, due to the ardent patriotism of the men involved, and similar to other cases in the history of modern Japan.

The paper concludes by expressing the hope that the authorities will display generosity and clemency, thus causing the conspirators to become local subjects of the Empire, just as Gen. Botha became a loyal subject of Great Britain after the Boer War in South Africa.

FURTHER CONCERNING THE ATTITUDE OF "THE TIMES."

We have heretofore, and recently, defined this attitude in the light of the exciting political situation. We now say further:

We stand by and for the National Constitution in its admirable simplicity and completeness and in its pristine integrity.

For the fundamental law of the republic, unimpaired.

For that matchless system of free popular government created through the wisdom of the fathers, crystallized in the Constitution, and defended and preserved by their faithful sons on forum and field.

For an independent, untrammeled judiciary, fearlessly exercising all the just powers conferred by the supreme law.

For sane and enlightened legislation, enacted without improper coercion from any noisy, proscriptive outside minority.

For the unhindered exercise of all just powers by the executive departments of government, restrained only by law.

For giving fair and even chances under the law to all honest citizens and associations of citizens, engaged in the broad domain of industrial and commercial activity, without unjust discrimination as to kind or class, or the magnitude of the operation carried on; the only true test being whether the undertaking be lawful or unlawful, legitimate or illegitimate.

For complete "equality of opportunity" under the law, and ample protection by the law for all honest workers, whether classified or unclassified, "organized" or unorganized, skilled or unskilled, high or humble.

For that sound policy in the practical field of business, in the wide domain of the activities—labor, the trades, industry, capital, investment, agriculture and general business—which gives to the deserving citizen protection, security, repose and confidence, thus averting idleness, distrust, and stringent material conditions, and advancing the common prosperity and promoting the common welfare.

LAST CONTEST AJUDICATED.

National Committee Ends Its Tedious Work.

Lyon of Texas Predicts a Genuine Commune.

Total Score Two Thirty-five in Favor of Taft.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Its closing hours attended by exhibitions of tense partisan and personal feeling among its members, the Republican National Committee concluded tonight the hearing of the contests involving 254 seats in the national convention, which is to assemble Tuesday.

The sum of its work is:

Roosevelt, 19; Taft, 235.

President Taft today received sixty-two delegates; Col. Roosevelt, 6.

All of Washington's fourteen went to the President against the protests of Senator Poindexter that the "country would judge the case."

Out of Texas, Taft secured twenty-six of the contested thirty, over the prostrate form of Col. Cecil A. Lyon, who declared, "You may depose me now, but I will be back four years from now when many of you will not."

THE VIRGINIA ISSUE.

In Virginia, where the issue was drawn between colored voters and the regular State organization, the President received the entire contested delegation of twenty. In the District of Columbia he won two committeemen, Sydney Bieber going to defeat with the Roosevelt delegation.

The finish of the long contest hearings was marked by incidents more strongly indicative of the division between the Taft and Roosevelt forces than any in the preceding days. Col. Lyon fought each of the Texas contest cases personally and was defeated in all but two.

In the end he was called upon to fight a resolution for an investigation and reorganization of the whole structure of the Republican party in Texas. Presented by Thomas L. Devine of Colorado it proposed a subcommittee of three from the National Committee to attempt a change in the Republican organization of the State that would destroy the system of county representation described by the Taft attorneys as a survival of the "rotten borough" methods of England.

GOES DOWN FIGHTING.

Committeeman Lyon declared he would fight such a proposal to the end. He said many of the members of the committee thus trying to depose him had been themselves deposed and would be missing from the committee room four years from now, when he would again return.

"I have heard much recently of the 'one hundred days' and the 'returns from Elba,'" he said. "I give you fair warning that if you persist in the way you are going, there will be a repetition of another historic incident, the 'commune.'"

The Washington cases, almost the last to engage the committee's attention before the conclusion of its ten days' work were preceded by a threatened personal combat between Francis J. Heney and Committeeman Kennedy of North Dakota, which was prevented only by the interference of their associates.

TEXAS CONTESTS TAFT VICTORIES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Texas delegates began to appear at the Coliseum annex some time before the National Committee's hour of meeting. Many of them were made conspicuous by the white badges they wore: "Texas for Taft," recalling the historic banner flung to the gaze of the Republican convention four years ago. Then a huge placard, to which a pair of "pants" were attached, was borne through the hall, carrying the legend: "As pants the hart for running streams, so Texas pants for Taft."

The contest of the Texas delegates-at-large was the first called. Col. Lyon said he believed technically, there was no contest against the Roosevelt delegates-at-large. He said he was of the belief that no printed brief for the Taft delegates had been filed within the prescribed twenty days before the National Committee met; that, in consequence, the rules of the committee had not been observed and no formal contest existed.

Col. Hayward said he had "two sets of credentials from Texas."

"The chairman can only go on the advice of the secretary," said Chairman Rosewater. "He says a contest exists, and it must be called."

Col. Lyon declared that in the Alaska case and in other cases, contests had been excluded because they had not been filed within the stipulated time. He and Committeeman Capers of South Carolina, insisted that no Texas contest existed.

A CRISIS.

A crisis was precipitated when Mr. Mulvane of Kansas moved to pass Texas, and take up Virginia, because Texas apparently was "not ready."

"I protest against such action," said Lyon. "We are ready."

"But you decline to go on with the first contest," said Mulvane.

"We don't recognize that contest exists as to these delegates-at-large," retorted Lyon.

Against the protests of Committeeman Capers of South Carolina that "you can't run over us that way," the committee voted to take up the Virginia contests and to pass the Texas contest temporarily.

It was understood that Col. Lyon and the Roosevelt members of the committee would raise against virtually all of the Texas contests the same point made in the case of the delegates-at-large, namely, that no contests existed because the Taft delegates has not complied with the committee rules.

When the Virginia contests were called, the sergeant-at-arms could not find the Roosevelt delegates.

"Let's take up Washington," said Senator Borah.

The Virginia delegation filed out of the room, but when a call was sent out for the Washington contestants, the Roosevelt side was not ready.

On motion of Committeeman Kellogg, the committee voted again to call the Texas cases and the committee began consideration of the contests over the eight delegates-at-large from that State.

Full delegations from both sides took their places at the opposing tables.

As the Roosevelt delegation had first filed its credentials the Taft delegates, headed by H. F. McGregor, were heard as the contestants.

Col. Lyon declared the Taft delegation had not made a legal contest, because its briefs and formal arguments had not been filed until yesterday.

OVER-RULED.

"I again insist that no contest exists," he said.

The chairman overruled the point and Frederick C. Bryan began the argument for the Taft delegation.

"Col. Lyon is the Republican party in Texas," declared Mr. Bryan. "He is the Republican Committee and runs things absolutely: the fight in Texas has been largely a fight against Col. Lyon and he promises to be both the beginning and the end of the party in the State if he is allowed to seat his delegation."

Mr. Bryan likened Col. Lyon's control in Texas to the old English "rotten boroughs."

"Under Col. Lyon's system," he said, "each county is given one vote in the State convention, and an additional vote for each 500 voters in the county. As a result, 130 western counties, which cast about 3000 votes, have a voice in the convention wholly disproportionate to that of Dallas, which alone casts that many votes."

The real sentiment in Texas, declared Mr. Bryan, was for Taft. There would have been a large majority for the President through the State, he said, and a big majority in the State convention, but for Col. Lyon's "political brigandage" and "steam roller methods" by which "Republican voters were disfranchised."

Col. Lyon was charged by Mr. Bryan with the "worst type of political brigandage."

Mr. Bryan said Col. Lyon appointed his own county chairman and made up "paper lists" of delegates and credentials from counties where "there were not two Republican votes."

A WRECKER.

"Any one who has wrecked the Republican party as he has wrecked it in Texas ought to be recalled," said Mr. Bryan. "If you let him run things four years longer there will be no Republican party."

Since 1896, he asserted, the Republican vote in Texas had declined from 167,000 cast for McKinley to 26,000 cast for Governor in 1910.

"Col. Lyon does not want a Republican party in Texas, he wants a white party," he said.

One county carried by President Taft this year, said Mr. Bryan, cast more votes than all the 100 or more "rotten borough" counties with which Col. Lyon dominated the State convention. President Taft, he said, carried all the large cities where a heavy Republican vote was cast. He charged Col. Lyon with forcing postmasters to support his "paper organization" in defiance of the real sentiment of the Republican voters of the State.

As Mr. Bryan concluded, Francis J. Heney, holding the South Dakota proxy, started to ask a question. Some member objected.

STUNG AGAIN.

"Under the rules," said Chairman Rosewater, "questions cannot be asked if there is objection."

"But questions have always been permitted," said Heney.

"The gentleman from South Dakota has violated every rule of the committee" remonstrated Rosewater.

William McDonald of Ft. Worth, a negro Taft delegate, said most of the counties in Texas were inhabited chiefly by prairie dogs, and of the 254 counties, only about 100 contained a Republican party.

"All the populated counties are strongly for Taft," he declared. "The only Roosevelt sentiment is that which has been aroused by Col. Lyon. In preference to the negro voters who support Taft, Col. Lyon has favored 'Democrats.'"

He declared Lyon "outlawed every man who disagreed with him," that he was "chairman, secretary, treasurer, national committeeman and everything else" in his party organization and that he made it impossible for negro voters to join the Republican party or vote for its candidates.

Committeeman Lyon conducted the Roosevelt argument. He declared that all contests of Taft delegates to the State convention had been regularly acted upon. The Roosevelt forces controlled the State convention by a good majority, he said. He presented records to show that 209 out of 249 counties were represented and that 179 of these were for Roosevelt.

A motion to indorse Taft, Col. Lyon claimed, was defeated in the State convention, 163¼ to 13¾.

PICTURESQUE.

The Texas committeeman made a picturesque attorney for his own delegation. He walked about the Taft delegates, shaking his hand in their faces and asking them to deny his statements. He pointed out members and asked them whom they voted for.

"Look at that big one over there," he shouted, pointing at Judge McDowell, "for whom did you vote for President four years ago?"

"I voted for a Republican," answered McDowell.

"Weren't you registered in a Democratic primary?"

"I was not."

"Weren't you a candidate in a Democratic primary?" persisted Lyon.

"Yes, I was," admitted McDowell.

Col. Lyon walked over to William McDonald, a negro Taft delegate, and, thrusting his fist almost against the delegate's face, charged him with having bolted from the party organization.

Col. Lyon presented documents tending to show that under the system of representation established in Texas the Roosevelt forces had a clear majority in the State convention.

Mr. Bryan had charged that Col. Lyon's organization had ignored the Texas primary law in conducting the fight for Roosevelt delegates. Col. Lyon said the law did not require primary elections when a party had cast fewer than 100,000 votes. He asserted that the State law required the giving of one vote to each county and one for each five hundred votes cast at the preceding election. He declared he and his associates had complied with the State law in all particulars.

LYON QUESTIONED.

Col. Lyon was questioned by Mr. Heney, Senator Morah, Mr. Vorys and Governor Hadley.

"We are the regular Republican organization in Texas," said Col. Lyon. "There is not one place where we have deviated from the State law of Texas. You members of the committee have nothing to do but recognize the regular Republican organization of Texas."

The first Taft delegates-at-large were seated by the National Committee on a viva voce vote. Senator Borah made a substitute motion to seat the Roosevelt delegates and asked for a roll call, but could get only eighteen members to support him, two short of the necessarv twenty. The Borah motion was then defeated and Committeeman Mulvane's motion to seat the Taft delegates was carried without request for a roll call.

HA-HA-HENEY.

The seating of the Texas delegates brought a protest from Heney. He declared the committee was "Mexicanizing America."

"This is more than plain stealing," he said. "This is treason. It is the most shameless proceding I have ever seen in my life and you are all parties to it."

After the First and Second District contests temporarily had been passed and the Third District was called the attorneys for both sides asked for a brief delay, which was granted. Committeeman Penrose then rose and said:

"I ask that this business proceed in the regular order."

The First Texas District was recalled, after Mr. Lyon had protested that he "wouldn't allow the cases to be handled at the convenience of Senator Dick."

J. M. Singleton of Jefferson, Tex., argued for the Roosevelt contestants in the First Texas District. He said the Taft convention in the district was illegal. The Roosevelt forces held a separate convention, which they claimed was the legal one.

The legality of the Taft First District convention was asserted to be unquestionable by R. B. Harrison, one of the Taft delegates.

The two Taft delegates of the First Texas District were seated by unanimous vote.

The second Texas vote was called. Lyon said he had no personal knowledge of the case and none of the Roosevelt contestants were present. He read a statement to show the regularity of the selection of the Roosevelt delegates.

OTHER DISTRICTS.

In the Third Texas District, the Taft delegates appeared as contestants on the rolls. Neither of the Taft contestants was present and their case was presented by Foster V. Brown. Two conventions had been held. The Taft men said they had a majority of the counties in the district, but Col. Lyon and his forces controlled the district committee and refused to recognize the rights of the Taft delegates. Col. Lyon read the committee records tending to show regularity in the proceedings leading up to the Roosevelt convention and in the holding of the convention.

The motion to seat the Roosevelt delegates was made by Committeeman Mulvane of Kansas. All members voted for it.

The Fourth Texas District, the next called, presented another contest of Taft delegates against Roosevelt men. Both sides claimed regularity in the selection of delegates.

Wallace Townsend, attorney for the Taft delegates, produced records purporting to show that at county conventions in the district, the Roosevelt forces "arbitrarily disregard the credentials of delegates known to favor President Taft."

The two Taft delegates from the Fourth Texas District were seated by the National Committee. The Roosevelt forces voted against the action.

Committeeman Capers of South Carolina moved that the Roosevelt men be given seats. Mr. Estabrook substituted the names of the Taft delegates and his motion carried after the committee had refused a roll call to the Roosevelt committeemen.

CHALLENGED.

The contest from the Fifth Texas District presented another challenge by Taft men of the regularity of Roosevelt delegates.

This contest involved the Dallas district where two conventions were held. Each side charged the other with being "irregular." The Taft men claimed Lyon's organization gave Dallas county only one vote in the district convention, although it had 756 more Republican votes than the other counties in the district combined.

The two Taft delegates from the Fifth District of Texas, Eugene Marshall and Henry Beck, were seated without a roll-call. Roosevelt men voted "No."

A motion to seat the Roosevelt delegates made by Mr. Capers was defeated.

The Seventh Texas District contest was called, the Roosevelt men appearing as contestants. The Roosevelt delegation in this case numbered four, double the quota authorized. This contest involved another case of double conventions. The committee seated the two Taft delegates, C. M. Hughes and M. M. Rodgers. A motion to seat the Roosevelt delegates was defeated.

BOWLED OUT.

Before Lyon began his argument Heney said:

"I suggest the rest of these cases be decided without argument."

The chair ruled him out of order.

Lyon explained the contest involved simply the question of regularity in the rival Taft and Roosevelt conventions. He said the preponderance of evidence showed that the Roosevelt convention was the regular one.

F. B. Brown, for the Taft contestants, read proceedings to show that the Roosevelt men did not participate in the regular convention and did not present any contests. He said affidavits showed a majority of the delegates from this district were for Taft and the delegates present at the Roosevelt convention formed a minority of the total in the district. The committee seated the two Taft delegates from the Seventh Texas District.

The Eighth Texas District contest was taken up. The results of another double contest were submitted in this case. The Taft convention had organized under the minority credentials report, the Roosevelt convention under the majority credentials report.

The two Taft delegates of the Eighth Texas District were seated without roll-call.

A motion to seat Roosevelt delegates was defeated. A motion to seat the Taft delegates carried against the opposition of Roosevelt forces.

The Ninth and Tenth Texas districts were settled in favor of the Taft delegates. Roll-call was refused.

VIRGINIA CONTESTS ALL FFOR MR. TAFT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—A consolidation of all the Virginia cases called in the Republican National Committee today involving twenty votes, was announced by former Senator Dick.

The issue was presented t othe committee by W. H. C. Brown, a negro Roosevelt attorney. He declared the Republican leaders in Virginia had attempted to build a "white man's party" and that the conventions were called to meet where negroes could not attend.

L. P. Summers appearing for the Taft delegates declared no negroes had been prohibited from taking part in the Republican meetings.

The committee voted to seat the Taft delegates. No roll call was asked for but one or two "nays" were sounded.

TAFT SCOUTS SENT OUT.

Wave of Feverish Activity Sweeps Over the Headquarters of the President in Chicago.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Director McKinley and his aides called in his force of 100 scouts and started them out to meet incoming trains and cars for arriving delegates. A wave of almost feverish activity swept over Taft headquarters, subordinates hurrying about, entertaining delegates and attending to details of the convention, while McKinley received scores of workers from all over the country and set them to work.

One of the early arrivals was Nicholas Murray Butler, who came with the New York delegation. Mr. Butler was closeted with McKinley for half an hour and later conferred with William Barnes, Jr., the New York leader.

Mr. Butler vitally is interested in the platform which the convention will adopt and he was extremely anxious to obtain an early general conference on the subject.

Practically nothing has been done in Chicago regarding the platform the Taft forces in the convention will propose. The failure of Senator Root to arrive from Washington, where he had gone over the platform proposals with President Taft, has held up all conference on the subject and several of the leaders are becoming impatient to get down to work on the document. Senator Root probably will not arrive until tomorrow.

The Taft forces selected a Reception Committee to take charge of the general headquarters on the second floor of the headquarters' hotel. Harry M. Daugherty, a Taft delegate from Ohio, heads the committee, and each State is represented by a chairman.

BRYAN WORRIES LEADERS.

Commoner from Platte and Possibility of His Nomination Much Discussed by Democrats.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] W. J. Bryan is beginning to worry the leaders of the Democratic party who are laying plans and pipe lines for the Democratic National Convention to be held in Baltimore a week from next Tuesday. At a luncheon given by Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall in Delmonico's, Bryan and the possibility of his nomination was almost the sole topic of conversation.

Murphy's little party marked his first real activity in the present anti-convention campaign since the State convention adjourned. George M. Palmer, State chairman; Roger Sullivan of Illinois, James Smith of New Jersey and ex-Senator Pettigrew and ex-Senator Dubois were his guests. One significant thing at the luncheon was that it had the earmarks of an anti-Wilson gathering. Smith is Gov. Wilson's most cordial enemy, and Dubois and Pettigrew are official boomers for Champ Clark. Sullivan, just now, is more interested in having Jim "Ham" Lewis made temporary chairman of the convention than anything else.

The convention at the table, it was learned afterward, had little to do with the various possibilities for the nomination other than Bryan. The Nebraskan was discussed generally and the almost unanimous opinion seemed to be that, despite the fact that he is not a candidate for the nomination, he may so dominate the proceedings that, in the event of a deadlock or a stand-off fight between Wilson and Clark, he will fall heir to the honor of heading the ticket.

CALIFORNIANS OCCUPY STAGE.

Delegates Arrive in Chicago Screaming Protests.

Unseated Members Say They Will Put Up a Fight.

Advent of Roosevelt Is Not the Success Expected.

BY GEORGE A. VAN SMITH.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] Determined to obstruct every roll call from the opening to the close of the national convention, if necessary to emphasize their protest, the Californians disembarked from their bridal train de luxe today emitting screams of anger over the National Committee's decision in the Fourth District contest.

Until the arrival of Col. Roosevelt, late in the afternoon, the California delegation rather held the center of the downtown political stage. The chief interest of the public and politicians was centered in the National Committee-room out at the Coliseum, where the steam roller went rumbling its unswerving way over the political forms of the Roosevelt black-belt contestants.

The arrival of Col. Roosevelt late this afternoon served to eclipse the Californians, but it was not the spectacular success the proponents of the assault expected it to be. Tonight the friends of Senator Dixon, who opposed the coming of Roosevelt, are saying, "We told you so." And the supporters of Flinn, who was the genius of Roosevelt, are grimly declaring that it will be all right yet.

PAINFUL FRAME OF MIND.

The frame of mind which the de luxe travelers from California have been thrown into by the unseating of Phil Bancroft and Charles S. Wheeler, from the Fourth California District, is painful as it is unsatisfying. They propose to fight for those seats. Bancroft says the decision in the Fourth California District is a combination of welching and stealing. And all members of the delegation, headed by the Governor of California, are prepared to make their wants heard until the convention adjourns, and then they say they purpose to take their troubles home to the people of California. They refuse to admit that taking their troubles home to the people of California is to be construed as a threat to bolt the ticket, but it is mighty hard to get anything out of a California delegate today that even suggests a willingness to support the Republican ticket if Roosevelt is not nominated by the convention.

The delegation adopted strong resolutions, or rather declarations, of warlike intent if the convention did not overturn the work of the National Committee. Some of the mare pinning their hopes on the works of the Credentials Committee. Just what there is in the work of the National Committee in deciding the contests to indicate that the Credentials Committee will not coincide with the National Committee, is not apparent on the surface. Some of the Californians are building high on the belief that the convention itself will turn down both tre National Committee and the Committee on Credenials. They give full credence and attach tremendous importance to the rumor that Tim Woodruff of New York has declared that he will vote against the National Committee in the Texas case when that case is brought up on the floor of the convention. They also declare in mysterious whispers that the Taft forces are shot full of holes and that they will spring a tremendous surprise on the first ballot. Speaking for Bancroft and the California delegation this afternoon, Clinton L. White of Sacramento said;

WHITE MAKES STATEMENT.

"The California delegation is extremely indignant over the theft perpetrated by the National Committee in the Fourth California Congressional District case. We shall fight to the last ditch to right this wrong and if we fail here we shall appeal to the people. There is a court of last resort that cannot be overridden by the National Committee and its steam roller.

"We have affidavits of the county clerks in California to show that the Taft delegate candidates appealed to the people under the law of California. There was no thought then of electing delegates by districts. The WIFE OF COL. NEW PESTERED FOR TICKETS.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] One of the ways politicians are taking to get tickets to the national convention came to light today, when some one divulged the fact that Indianans were sending their wives to Harry S. New to intercede for them with Mr. New, who controls.

"I am going to see New and try to get a ticket to the convention," said one man, according to the story afloat.

"I have a better way than that, I'll get my wife to go to call on Mrs. New," said the other.

Mrs. New, when seen in her apartments in regard to the matter, indignantly denied that Indiana men were putting their wives up to any such tricks.

"The men of Indiana are men," she said with emphasis. "Besides, I am not the one to see. Mr. New is the one who has the tickets and they go to him."

Here is the original idea of one politician's wife, as to the reason women who have accompanied their husbands to Chicago for the convention seem indifferent to the efforts their sisters are making to gain the ballot, and to the news that Roosevelt has come out in favor of it.

"Wives of politicians are opposed to men giving women the ballot," she said, "because they have such a good time as things are now that they do not wish to see a change. They are thinking of their own pleasure. They know that if women began to vote and get into office, women would unsurp the places now held by men. Women delegates would be sent to conventions and where would the wives be? Even if they themselves became the delegates, their old days of irresponsibility would be at an end. We are a happy lot now, but our reign would be over if suffrage were extended."

This is Mrs. Leslie Sutherland's explanation of the indifference amounting almost to opposition, which most wives of delegates and committeemen have expressed in regard to suffrage during the gathering of the clans during the last week. She is here with her husband, Leslie Sutherland of Yonkers, who is Republican leader in the Twenty-fourth New York Congress District and State committeeman.

Mrs. Patrick J. Dore of Oklahoma, is known among convention folk as the woman who had the courage to think for herself. Her husband is a Roosevelt man, but Mrs. Dore prefers the present President, and is as strong a Taft man as a woman can be.

Four wives of delegates were guests at a reception given by the members of the D.A.R. at the Art Institute yesterday afternoon in honor of wives of visiting politicians. These were Mrs. William E. Borah, Mrs. William B. McKinley, Mrs. Joseph M. Dixon and Mrs. Thomas Thorson.

ATTITUDE OF "THE TIMES."

bitious politicians and unwarranted treason to long-established Republican principles, under the sway of which the party has lived beneficially to the country and the land has prospered.

Against the unjust and proscriptive overthrow of faithful public servants, that faithless ones shall be placed in power.

Against weakly surrendering the Republican citadel to the mad onsets of any body of angry, uncertified political insurgent delegates, no matter by whom led, nor how loud his shouting or pretentious his claims and assertions.

Against all convention tactics which may have for their effect, if not for their actual purpose, the giving of aid and comfort to the common political enemy.

Against rewarding with high honors an open, voluntary, flagrant and proved violator of solemn official, political and personal pledges—Theodore Roosevelt, insurgent, personal aspirant for the Presidency.

Against all political, legislative and judicial acts, whatever their authorship, incentive or origin, which tend towards the undermining of our republican system of government, thus ultimately but inevitably undermining that system and rendering insecure the very foundations of that superb governmental structure which is the safeguard and the hope of our American citizenship.

Against that banner with the strange device, "The Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall," together with its later and still stranger appendage, tacked on by the uneasy carpenter of Oyster Bay, the recall of judges and judicial decisions.

The Times encourages, supports and defends honest labor, but we are against—unalterably against—organized industrial monopoly, persecution, proscription, assault, violence, and all other forms of lawlessness practiced too widely and too freely in the name of "organized labor"—a hopeless minority of the entire body of labor, which is not organized and refuses to become so, but which, nevertheless, is fully entitled to all the rights, privileges, immunities and protection which "organized" labor can possibly claim under the law, even when it is law-abiding in its course, which is too often not the case.

The Times is the uncompromising, implacable foe of all discrimination, injustice, monopoly and lawlessness in the domain of labor, and the fearless, unfailing champion of complete freedom under law in the entire broad field of legitimate industries.

Without this end accomplished, the land and its people can never fully enjoy perfect freedom, and its resultant blessings.

It is for the Republican party to achieve, sooner or later, the great end which is the supreme need of the hour and of the country.

NEW YORKERS GET IN.

Man Selected by Roosevelt to Nominate Him is Already Suffering From a Bad Summer Cold.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jue 15.—The New York delegation, bringing with it its ninety votes in the convention, arrived today. Both the Taft and Roosevelt headquarters made widely different claims as to the proportion of ninety it would capture. The matter probably will be settled tonight at a conference of the State delegation.

It was reported, however, that the Brooklyn delegation with its eighteen votes, would lend its support to Roosevelt if the National Committee decided the Washington contest in favor of Taft.

W. A. Prendergast, comptroller of New York City, who will make a speech placing Col. Roosevelt in nomination, came in with the New York delegation.

He was suffering from a severe cold, but expected to be able to serve.

Fifty Cummins adherents, recently arrived from Des Moines, declared that the Iowa vote of 16 for Taft and 10 for Cummins on the first ballot would be reversed on succeeding ballots.

Senator McCall said the second ballot would show 24 for Cummins and two for Taft from the Iowa delegation.

CHICAGO, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] "This is a funeral train," said Controller Prendergast, joshing former Speaker "Jim" Wadsworth and others on the New York special train this morning before it arrived.

"It is carrying a lot of Taft delegates who are about to attend the obsequies of their candidate. I never saw such a lot of long faces in my life"

The former speaker laughed.

Several hours after the delegation got in he happened upon the controller after the latter had been told of the increasing Taft sentiment and the chances of the President's renomination on the first ballot.

"Yes, I guess you were right in a way," said Wadsworth, with one of his merriest laughs. "Our train was a funeral train, but only because you were on it. The speech you are to make nomin

Daughter of Wealthy Portland Man Is Married.

DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ERSITY OF OREGON, EU- (Or.) June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Miss Nancy Noon, daughter of a wealthy Portland family and a prominent junior in the University of Oregon, and Westbrook , a freshman from Pendleton, eloped in Miss Noon's automobile and were married today in Vancouver, they furnished the college a sensation such as it has rarely experienced.

The romance started a few months ago when the future bride purchased an automobile from a local dealer, and engaged the services of young as chauffeur.

The impetuosity of Miss Noon, who walked into the garage, picked out a big-looking machine, and bought it in five minutes, was capital for several newspaper stories.

It seems that during the many rides which ensued, Cupid was in reality at the steering-wheel, for while the freshman chauffeured and endeavored to teach his employer the mysteries of the automobile, he also won her heart and the privilege of steering their matrimonial car through life.

It was guessed that the affair had reached this stage, however, until the announcement was communicated by telephone today by the newly wed pair to the Gamma Delta of which Miss Noon is a member.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Immigration officials brought to San Francisco today seventeen half-starved and frightened Chinese whom they found huddling on the shore near Pescadero.

The officials declare they were landed Tuesday by the launch America, owned by "Gib" McGarvan, and that more than 200 contraband Chinese have been landed near San Francisco since June 1, on account of a reduction in the price per head for smuggling in orientals from $150 to $100. Revenue cutters are scouring the coast in this vicinity, immigration inspectors declaring they have information that attempts are about to be made to land other Chinese.

The seventeen orientals had been left on the beach with no provisions for food and shelter and after an attempt to find their way to San Francisco, returned to the place of landing and had remained three days without food.

If such a plan were put into effect there would be only one State legislative body, composed of forty-five members.

An ineffectual attempt to adjourn was made today by both Houses of the Legislature, but it seemed certain that all of Monday and possibly Tuesday would be required to transact all the business still before the legislators.

Takes the Titanic Disaster as the Subject of a Metaphor and Rooseveltera Seem to Like It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—The preliminary demonstrations for Roosevelt began early in the afternoon. The first spark was kindled by Senator Borah of Idaho, who addressed a multitude of Roosevelt delegates in the Florentine room of the Congress Hotel and in an eloquent speech flatly declared that the only salvation of the Republican party was Theodore Roosevelt.

Senator Borah, introduced to the delegates by William Flinn of Pittsburgh, was physically captured by the cheering enthusiasts and lifted to the chairman's table. Standing there, the Senator, who has been chosen as the candidate for the Roosevelt forces for temporary chairman, made his position in the contest clear.

"No matter what this National Committee does," the Senator declared, "the Republican party is going to be saved. This is not going to be another Titanic wreck as some of the Taft leaders seem to think. They have an idea that they can get out in the boats and we will sink. They are greatly mistaken. We are going to hit the National Committee iceberg head-on and the Republican party is not going to be scuttled."

URGES PROBATION LAW.

WANTS NATION TO ADOPT IT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—A Federal probation law is the desire of Col. Charles Sonntag, senior member of the State Board of Prison Directors, and author of the California parole law. In an interview printed here today, he says:

"We need a national probation law to deal with youthful offenders and others who, in an irresponsible moment, commit an offense against the national government. It was only a few years ago that the Federal government adopted a national parole law and its slowness to act in the wake of many States leads to the belief that unless some one agitates the matter it may be years before we have a national probation law such as has been helpful in many States toward preventing distress to the families of first offenders, and has resulted in many reformations."

Col. Sonntag outlined several cases in which juvenile first offenders who had stolen from the mails under temptation, but were not irreclaimable criminals, had been sentenced to jail because juries and judges had no option, when for like offenses under State laws they would undoubtedly have been placed on probation.

CHINESE WEDS AMERICAN.

WILL RESIDE AT SAN JOSE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (Wash.) June 15.—Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Conn, she white and he Chinese, are on their honeymoon today. They were married here yesterday and left for San Jose, where they said they intended to live. Conn is a well-dressed Americanized Chinese, speaking faultless English. He gave his age as 34 and his vocation, doctor of medicine. His wife was Miss Calilla Cronin of Santa Clara, Cal., 24 years old, an attractive woman.

San Francisco Expert Says Books in Carnegie's Libraries Will Not Be Legible in Two Hundred Years.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Theodore Kytka has less money than J. Pierpont Morgan, but he is chuckling to his friends today that he can get more value for it.

Kytka is a handwriting expert and his hobby is indelible ink. He says that while Carnegie is spending millions for libraries, not a book in them will be legible 200 years from now because all the ink will have faded. Whenever he runs across an old book that is still sharp and black, he analyzes the ink.

In running through the shelves of a second-hand dealer the other day, he came across a particularly well-preserved copy of "Fox's Book of Martyrs," 1760. It cost him $9 to own the book and shortly afterward he saw that Morgan had paid $10,000 for a first edition of the same work.

Yesterday he took his copy to his friend, Thomas Burns, cashier of the Sub-treasury, and an authority on old books. Without a word Burns pushed him out a stack of $20 gold pieces. Kytka refused. The book is worth whatever the fancy of a wealthy collector may set on it.

TEETH Without Plates.

APPLIES LASH UPON GOMPERS.

Leader of Unionites Writhes Under Excoriation.

He Resents Senate's Action On Injunction Bill.

Peeved Because Committee Is Turning on the Light.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] Samuel Gompers intimated at the hearing of the anti-injunction bill yesterday before the Senate Committee on Judiciary that he was displeased that the committee should think of impeding the smooth progress of the bill through Congress by holding a hearing and allowing opponents of the measure to show it up and act in a disrespectful manner toward Mr. Gompers.

He referred to the triumphant manner in which the bill has been rushed through by a complaisant House and he suggested that after that exhibition it was hardly necessary for the Senate to annoy Mr. Gompers by going through the farce of holding hearings on it.

Senator Sutherland replied that Mr. Gompers was addressing a committee of the United States Senate and, that as far as he was concerned, he purposed giving the bill his careful attention and then deciding in accordance with his best judgment.

Walter Drew, representing the National Erectors' Association, and James Emery, representing the National Manufacturers' Association, appeared in opposition to the bill. Drew showed that the bill emasculated the injunction process to such an extent that injunctions would be impossible in labor cases in Federal courts. He said that Gompers has asked for legislation of this character many times and never except with a veiled threat. Gompers's attitude of threat and intimidation was typical of the whole course and policy of the organization he represented. Coercion, intimidation and violence had become the common methods employed by the American Federation of Labor. The whole purpose of the measure, said Drew, was to give the sanction of Congress to the use of such methods in industrial disputes and to extend privilege and immunity to Gompers's organization in carrying out its campaign in class warfare, violence and coercion. Drew also made the point that this force and coercion took the place of efficiency by the individual workman.

It was shown by Drew that there was a regular decreasing efficiency in the closed shop, where the output amounted to fifty and even thirty-three per cent. of the normal. This policy, he said, meant the crippling of industry, the retarding of the growth of cities and putting this nation at a disadvantage in the markets of the world.

Drew drew on Gompers the merciless parallel of the Bridge Workers' own official journal, showing by instance after instance how the departure of missionaries for scenes of industrial unrest had been followed by dynamite explosions on open shop jobs.

Gompers writhed and protested, but Drew asked him if he repudiated the official documents and he had to remain silent.

"The International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers," said Drew, "of which J. J. McNamara was secretary and treasurer and Frank Ryan, president, is asking through Samuel Gompers, their official representative, for this legislation and in his person is before the committee asking Congress to withdraw protection to employers in industrial disputes. It is pertinent to note what manner of men and what kind of organizations are asking for such legislation in order that you may know their motives and purposes and what use will probably be made of the extended privileges asked for."

Drew literally hurled a bomb into the enemy's camp when he read a copy of a letter from J. J. McNamara, secretary, to Frank Ryan, president. The letter refers to former President Buchanan, now member of Congress from Chicago, and suggests that he be asked whether men arrested and imprisoned for a job at Toledo should be given more than the $300 allowed them for that dynamiting, as they were kicking.

SEEKS BURIED TREASURE.

Jersey City Man Organizes Expedition to Island of Trinidad in Quest of Pirates' Booty.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JERSEY CITY, (N. J.) June 15.—Carl Badendyke of this city is organizing an expedition to go to the island of Trinidad to try to find several millions of dollars in treasure he believes was buried there by pirates in the nineteenth century.

Badendyke, who was before the mast for several years on board of British, German and American vessels, visited the island in 1886 with a man named Polly, who had full details of where the treasure is supposed to be buried. The spot was found covered with debris from a landslide.

LOST IN NEBRASKA CYCLONE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BEATRICE (Neb.) June 15.—Late news from the scene of last night's tornado in Gage and Lancaster counties shows that at least one life and probably two were lost. Mrs. John Ideus was killed near Adams when her house was blown down. Her daughter was fatally injured. The storm traveled southeast from that point, blowing down barns and outbuildings. Hailstones, measuring fifteen inches in circumference, fell, covering the ground in places. The storm covered a strip of territory about a mile in width.

BELL HOP'S COMPLAINT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Joseph Mosher, a "bell hop," who has the reputation of being an expert in drawing tips from convention crowds, declared last night that the present gathering was the closest in his sixteen years' experience. "I've attended every national convention for the last sixteen years and I never found business so slow," he said. "When the delegates fight among themselves the tip goes glimmering. This year you can run your legs off and you're lucky to get a 'thank you.' I'll bet I've carried enough ice water to headquarters to float a couple of ships, with small reward. Someone forgot himself yesterday and handed me a dime. I'm thinking of having it framed. Conventions at one time were the best in the land for picking up tips, but now there are nothing but big bills in sight. I guess the delegates don't bother with quarters and dimes. I'd rather be 'hopping' for a teachers' convention in a small burg."

OFF FOR WEST AFRICA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Prof. Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago left last night on a six months' expedition to West Africa. Harry Foster Dean, who has made several similar trips into Africa, and Campbell Marvin, who has just graduated from the university, accompanied him. They will spend a short time in Belgium, Holland, Germany and Morocco in museum study. Especial attention will be paid to native arts and industries, religions and folklore. Prof. Starr is the special commissioner of the Panama exposition of 1915.

EXTERMINATING BLACK HAND.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—If information given to Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler in a telephone message by a supposed Italian is reliable, there are at the present time in Chicago only four members of the "Black Hand" Society and these four are marked for death. Schuettler admitted last night that he had received such a message six weeks ago. He was told at that time that there were six members still living in Chicago. Two Italians have since been slain on the North Side under mysterious circumstances. The official was told that there need be no further fear of "Black Hand" letters or crimes in the city.

CRAZED BY CONVENTION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Olaf Magnus, 38 years old, at his own request began serving a thirty-day sentence in the city workhouse last night as a refuge from the turbulent scenes of the approaching Republican National Convention. Magnus told Municipal Judge Hines that his mind had almost become unsettled by the stress of the situation and he asked to be sent to the jail for the rest of his life. He told the court that he was afraid some of the men at the Coliseum where the convention meets, would kill him. "A sentence for life is a good long time," Judge Hines advised Magnus. "How would it be if we sent you to the Bridewell till the convention is over?" Magnus objected on the ground that the time was too short but finally compromised on a thirty-day sentence.

AUTOS STALLED BY MUD.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DUBUQUE (Iowa) June 15.—Heavy rains in the last two days have made bad roads and again the automobiles which are pitted against the old army mule in the movement of troops from here to Sparta, Wis., have come to grief. Several automobiles are reported hopelessly stalled in the mud near Platteville, Wis., while the mules have managed to get through to the camp ground near Mineral Point.

LOVE LED TO JAIL BREAK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—It was love for Thomas Hindman, a deserter, that prompted Mrs. Della Lawrence to assist him and four other prisoners to escape yesterday from the Ft. Sheridan guardhouse. She furnished an automobile which they entered after breaking down a door. She also supplied them with civilian's clothing. After refusing for twelve hours to discuss the case, she broke down today and admitted to the police her part in the affair. "Yes, I helped them to escape," she said. "I did it for the man I love better than life. I would do anything for him." Mrs. Lawrence said Hindman wrote her a letter last week detailing the plan of escape. She also asserted she and the soldier had planned to marry as soon as she could obtain a divorce from her husband, from whom she is parted. Hindman formerly roomed at the Lawrence home. The woman will be turned over to the Federal authorities. Search for the escaped prisoners was made today by a company of soldiers.

GUGGENHEIM DIVORCE AGAIN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Another step was taken today in the Guggenheim divorce case when Circuit Judge Windes made a formal entry of an order dismissing three of the pleadings of William Guggenheim and sustaining five of his pleas to the bill filed by Grace B. Guggenheim asking that the divorce decree granted her in 1901 in Chicago be set aside. Counsel for Guggenheim contend that the order is a victory for him, estopping further action. The woman's attorneys insist that under the ruling they will continue to press the case and cause the original divorce to be set aside.

PURCHASES A REMBRANDT.

Minneapolis Man Acquires "The Adultress Before Christ," for Fabulous, but Unknown Figure.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—Thomas Barlow Walker of Minneapolis, the "white pine king," has purchased "The Adultress before Christ," a Rembrandt picture which was recently disposed of at the Weber sale in Hamburg, it is stated. Consul Weber of Hamburg, acquired it a number of years ago for $50,000. The dealers in this city, through whom Mr Walker purchased the picture, while not giving the exact figures, said its latest owner had paid a much larger amount for it.

The picture measures 44¾ by 53¼ inches and has six large figures in it. For many years it was in the collection of the Duke of Marlborough at Blenheim Castle, whence it passed to the collection of Sir Charles Robinson, in England, and later to Charles Sedelmeyer of Paris, from whom it was purchased by Consul Weber.

Mr. Walker, who has had apartment at a local hotel for some months, is said to have art treasures in the hotel rooms alone worth more than $1,000,000.

EAGLE ATTACKS CHILD.

Bird Measuring Seven Feet From Tip to Tip, Said to Have Picked up an Eight-Year-Old.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOUTH NORWALK (Ct.) June 15.—The largest eagle ever seen or shot in these parts attacked Emma Trewald, an 8-year-old girl, in the rear of her home in Westport yesterday. The bird, which measured seven feet from tip to tip of the wings, swooped down on the child, grabbed her by the back of her gingham dress with his claws and started to fly away with her.

The material gave way, however, and the child fell into the grass. The eagle was returning to the attack when the child's cries alarmed her father, who came with his shotgun and brought the bird to the ground. Even then the eagle put up a stubborn fight and clawed at Trewald viciously when he approached it.

Senator Davis reviewed the history in brief from the discovery days to the present time, explaining how the people had lived at different times under five flags, Spanish, Russian, Mexican, the Bear, and lastly the Stars and Stripes. He reviewed the various periods from the days of the navigators, and dwelt upon the characteristics of romance, virility and ability as handed down through the generations. He contrasted one era with another, touching upon the uniqueness of California and its local color, and of its importance as a unit of the United States.

Judge McCormick spoke on "Patriotism" and Fred A. Stephenson on the "Old Timers."

Yesterday noon Senator Davis was a guest of Ramona Parlor at luncheon at the California Club. During the afternoon Judge E. P. C. McDaniel of Marysville, Senator Estudillo, Senator Davis and Judge McCormick, as guests of the parlor, were taken on an automobile trip through the orange groves of Pasadena and San Gabriel Valley.

CATHOLIC REUNION-PICNIC.

New Officers Elected Last Night Plan to Hold Event During State Hibernian Convention.

D. F. McLaughlin was elected president of the Catholic Reunion Picnic Organization at a meeting in Cathedral Hall last night, James J. McBride was chosen secretary and John Regan, treasurer.

It is planned to hold the picnic this year at one of the beaches during the Hibernian State convention scheduled for this city August 19 to 24, inclusive.

President McLaughlin will appoint the new Executive Committee this week and plans will at once be formulated for the management of the annual event.

One of the beaches is always selected for the picnic. Last year the affair was held at Redondo Beach. This year the selection will be made after all the beaches have been considered for the best advantages.

HOO-HOOS AT THE BOARD.

The Hoo-Hoos held their annual banquet at the Hayward last night and their concatenations had to do with the lumber trade in this part of the country. Occasionally this organization is called the Southern California Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, but being a branch of the National Lumberman's Association, the Hoo-Hoos, that name is more frequently applied. There were 150 of the men who wear the cat button seated about the tables, forgetting for the time their troubes over rough or finished boards, long or short timbers, shakes and shingles, and all of the other material product of the tree in which they deal. There were a few toasts and talks, supervised by A. B. Snow, who had E. U. Wheelock speak some plain facts concerning the trade; R. L. Vance on the fidelity which should exist between lumbermen; T. L. Ely on the things of today, and Percy Hight on the lien law as applied to the lumber business.

PRISON REFORMER HERE.

Z. W. Lathrop, one of the country's authorities on prison reform and things dealing with penal life, arrived at the Hollenbeck late yesterday evening from his home in Berkeley. He is president of the Prison Release League, which is working assiduously for the parole of worthy prisoners and the betterment of their condition on returning to the everyday walks of life.

WOULD ABOLISH DINING STALD.

Visalians Favor the Proposed Law Which Will Require Mastication and Libation in the Open.

VISALIA, June 15.—Following the good example of various neighboring towns where the alleged abuse has been recently corrected by newly enacted laws, a petition is now in circulation calling on the City Council members to enact such laws as will put an end to the use of the private dining-rooms and so-called "boxes" in restaurants and cafes.

A first petition was worded so as to include the curtained divisions in ice cream parlors and similar divisions of dining-rooms, but as this was not the intent of the law, it was withdrawn.

It is said that the members of the Council all favor the immediate enactment of the law as requested.

THIRD TRIAL.

Tuesday the third trial of Radford White, who is charged with the murder of Harry C. Parker in September of last year, will be called in Judge Allen's division of the Superior Court.

Two previous juries have disagreed. in each instance the vote, it is said, standing nine for conviction.

White was one of the night police force of this city and Parker's death was caused by a blow upon the head, it is alleged, dealt by White while attempting to arrest Parker for alleged disorderly conduct.

EXHIBIT AT CHICAGO.

Secretary A. E. Miot of the County Board of Trade has signed an optional lease for space at the Land and Products Exposition, which is to be held in Chicago from November 28 to December 8 of this year.

Tulare county's exhibit at this show last fall was, it is considered by the officials of the county board, one of the most valuable advertisements of the kind the county has ever undertaken, despite the relative cost of its maintenance.

This year more attention will be paid to the orange industry and it is the intention to have at the the Tulare county booth a fine exhibit of citrus fruits, which is to be renewed daily, through arrangement with the various Chambers of Commerce of the citrus district.

ACTION IS SHAMEFUL.

[New York Times:] The action of both Houses of Congress in accepting the Hay riders to the Army appropriation bill Legislating Maj.-Gen. Wood out of the office of chief of staff and forestalling the administration's plan of concentrating of army posts is shameful. It is due partly to anger with Gen. Wood because he objected to certain plans of so-called army reform, originating in the House Committee on Military Affairs, which were also disapproved by army officers generally, and partly to the resentment of Senators and Representatives from districts containing army posts marked for abandonment. Greed and malice combined have insulted alike Gen. Wood, the whole army and the coun-

VAST ARMY ENLISTED.

Here is the answer of the national organizer:

TAFT IS FOR HIGHWAY.

"If President Taft is nominated at Chicago the plank will be nailed down firmly and the first big battle of the fight for Federal aid will be won. If I was certain Taft would be nominated there would be no need of my making the journey to Chicago. The President has assured me that he is in favor of a national highway.

"Should they nominate Roosevelt. I must admit that I could not continue this fight with the spirit that is necessary for us to win. We need the help of the two dominant parties and we especially need the Republican party when the delegates gather in conference at Chicago on Tuesday.

"My answer is that the present outlook spells victory. We have the President on our side. We have enrolled the Governors of all the States we have crossed as leaders in this movement, and if we can celebrate in a few days the nomination of President Taft, the new good roads plank in the Republican platform will be assured."

Backed by the largest army of good roads workers ever organized in this country, Col. Potter is ready to marshal his forces into line. After a dispatch from Chicago assuring him of a hearing at the convention, Potter tonight is certain that the Federal aid plank will be firmly nailed together.

WELCOMED AT TRACK MEET.

Twenty thousand spectators at the big track meet today at Swope Park roared a welcome to The Times special, which was sent around the one-mile circular track by Driver John Zak. The car was then driven in front of the grand stand and Judge Lowe of Kansas, Col. Potter and the automobile editor of The Times were introduced to the throng as the "men who are to help this country in the fight for a national highway."

J. Alex Sloan, who was in charge of the meet, announced that The Times car is on its way across the continent organizing divisions of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association. Then the car was given the place of honor inside the course, where Louis Disbrow drove a mile in 51 4-5 seconds.

The Sunflower State is organized When the last totals were tabulated tonight, Kansas celebrated with the hardest rainstorm in several years. This city was given a drenching which resembled a cloudburst. The driving wind was so fierce that an automobile was overturned. It was only the tail end of the storm which has followed The Times special across the banner tate on the greatest organization tour ever planned.

The old mud-covered car reached this city just in time to escape the worst blast of the storm, which is bringing bumper crops to this State and which is to make this the greatest year for the farmer in a decade.

The farmer is on the side of the fight for a national highway thousands strong and the automobile men have been forced to take a back seat, but they are doing so willingly because as National Organizer Potter put it tonight:

"We have the automobile men anyway, now we want the farmers."

"DON'T OVERLOOK OVERBROOK."

"Don't overlook Overbrook." This request sent by wire at every city touched by The Times car made the last day's run unique. Overbrook is a pretty little city, of 500 people, in Kansas. As the car came through all of us wondered what Overbrook was like. It is a model city and the citizens put up $500—a dollar for each man, woman and child in the town—all of whom have joined the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association. How could we overlook Overbrook?

W. A. Britt was the man at the helm in Overbrook and he was chosen president of the organization formed there. The Rev. D. H. Platt is vice-president, J. W. Kesler, secretary and Dr. George McClintock, treasurer. He has the money.

BALDWIN GIVES PLEDGE.

The next stop was at Baldwin, that city of Methodist schools and colleges. Here C. P. Ives, one of the wealthiest men in Eastern Kansas, jumped into the tonneau of The Times car and put the question of a pledge to the citizens. The first promise of $1000 did not suit the wealthy lumberman and he asked the men to "raise it." They did, to $2500, but this did not satisfy Ives. He jumped the sum to $4500, and then was chosen president of the Baldwin section. C. E. Beeks is vice-president, M. M. Morgan, secretary, and J. B. Ross, treasurer. President Ives was so enthusiastic that he rode ten miles in The Times car just to show his appreciation of the work that is being accomplished.

Though Col. Potter desired to make a quick run through the town of Gardner, when The Times car reached there the farmers had driven their wagons into the middle of the main street, and it was impossible to proceed. F. W. Sponable was chosen president of the Gardner section; J. C. F. Harris, vice-president; A. Bigelow, secretary, and George Dent, treasurer. The crowd in the middle of the street gave $400 to help the work.

CELEBRATE ORGANIZATION.

Then Secretary Bigelow jumped into The Times car and rode to Olathe. Here, only a few miles from Kansas City, $2000 was raised, and the car was sent on to Overland Park. In this city the organization of Kansas was celebrated by a big dinner in the park, with farmers' wives serving an old-fashioned Kansas meal to the tired crew of The Times car.

The old, battered machine is on the banks of the Missouri River tonight, with its hood still facing the east. Every member of the crew is ready to do battle for the great cause of a national highway from Los Angeles to New York. The car is just 2025 miles from its starting point.

H. H. Taylor, official pilot for the Santa Fe trail, met the automobile editer of The Times here tonight. The route of the car has been planned to Washington, D. C., and will be arranged from there to New York later. The Daughters of the American Revolution have offered to help in the organization eastward, and the promise is made that at least 100,000 more members will be added to the good roads army.

COLONEL IN CHICAGO.

of time. The interviews, except those which Roosevelt held with his campaign managers, were short.

Opinion is divided as to the effect of Roosevelt's coming to Chicago. Perhaps the only safe assertion is that it will have both a centrifugal and centripetal effect and that it would take a seer to determine at this stage which force will prove the more powerful. There is no doubt that there are many good friends of Roosevelt who deplore his coming, who regard it as not only a sad spectacle, but as a most unfortunate confession of defeat. There are others, however, who are convinced that his great magnetism will win the day, and that he will be able by promises and argument to win support, where his managers were powerless.

Of course the spectacular features of his coming, his denunciations of the National Committee and his speeches generally are not expected by the initiated to be productive of any serious effect on the delegates. That kind of think is grateful to the colonel, however, and may serve as a blind to the really serious purpose for which he came, the winning of individual delegates.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

Secretary Hilles and other representatives of the President declare that, while Col. Roosevelt may pick off a few Taft delegates here and there, he will thereby open a course that will operate both ways and that the Taft managers have pledges from Taft men instructed for Roosevelt who will consider such a flop ample warrant for disregarding their own instructions. They say that for every instructed Taft delegate Roosevelt may gain President Taft will gain two, and they doubtless believe what they say. It is certain that in some instances the Roosevelt delegates who have Taft alternates will not be able to be present when the time comes for balloting in the convention.

THIRD PARTY TALK.

There is more talk of a third party in the air than ever. Col. Roosevelt's own words and those of many of his supporters continue to indicate a possibility of a bolt in one form or another, and all the more radical Rooseveltites insist that if the President controls this convention, as it seems probable he will, the colonel will embrace the opportunity to "found" another party. How seriously this talk should be taken, or what portion should be attributed to the vindictiveness of the "anything to beat Taft" clique, is still impossible to determine.

"A promise made by a candidate is worth ten made by his political representatives," is one of the dogmas of the Roosevelt managers.

"Every delegate seduced to violate his instructions will add two to the Taft column," is the declaration of the Taft managers.

MR. BARNES CONFIDENT.

The New York delegation is on the ground and its members are looking more cheerful since they interviewed Mr. Barnes and learned from him the reasons back of his confidence in the nomination of Mr. Taft. There is also an increased belief that President Taft could be more easily elected than Mr. Roosevelt, and this may, in the final analysis, prove the controlling factor in the convention.

Timothy Woodruff almost got away today, but Col. Mike Dady brought him to terms as soon as he learned of the effect which the arrival of the colonel had had on Mr. Roosevelt's quondam supporter. This evening the Brooklyn statesman is again perched perilously on the fence.

The campaign bands have arrived in full force and from now on there will be neither peace nor happiness in the downtown section of the city. Shouters are making the night hideous.

ROBS HOUSE OF GOD.

Thief Enters Plaza Church and Steals Money Realized From Spanish Fiesta For Needed Repairs.

During the height of the Spanish fiesta at the Plaza Church, last night. a sacrilegious thief is alleged to have entered the room of Father Diego, treasurer of the organization, and stolen funds amounting to nearly $200.

The money had been received earlier in the evening and was placed in small boxes on the top of an open desk. A few minutes later a screen window leading to an adjoining roof was found open but as the dust on the sill had not been disturbed the police are in a quandary to determine how the thieves gained entrance.

Only four persons so far as known were familiar with the apartments and the police are called upon to make a searching investigation. The stolen money was to have been used in making repairs on the old mission church.

THE NEAL TREATMENT FOR DRINK HABIT

When Alcohol is Entirely Eliminated From the System, and its Effect Neutralized, the Appetite and Necessity For Drink is Removed.

Just so long as a man is daily introducing alcohol into his system, either in small or large quantities, he will have a desire and craving for drink.

The drinker is poisoned and not sick and needs the Neal Treatment which will easily and quickly eliminate all alcohol and neutralize its functional effect upon the body tissues.

Three days at the Los Angeles Neal Institute, 945 S. Olive st., will make a thoroughly sober man of the most confirmed drinker, and this result is obtained without the use of painful, dangerous hypodermic injections.

For full particulars call at the institue, or, write or phone G. U. Neal, Manager for Dr. Neal's free book. Phone Broadway 4602. A4072

PROMINENT SCHOOL TEACHER

Relieved of a Severe Case of Nervousness by Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. R. C. Moore.

Mrs. R. C. Moore, 106 Sharer street, San Antonio, Tex., who has been prominent as a school teacher, writes:

"It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Peruna.

"I suffered from general debility, nervous prostration and a severe cough. Peruna cured me."

Stomach and Liver Trouble.

Mrs. M. P. Curry, P.O. Box 615, Petersburg, Ill., writes:

"I have been troubled with internal catarrh since my girlhood, and was sick in bed for three months. I had pains all through me. When I was able to get up I was so weak and thin that I could hardly walk. What I ate disagreed with me. I had stomach and liver trouble, and my feet and limbs were swollen so I could scarcely drag around.

"I took Peruna, and it has done wonders for me. My cure was a surprise to my friends, for they never expected to see me well again. I just took two bottles of Peruna after doctoring for five months and growing worse all the time."

CLEMENTS GETS LIFE SENTENCE.

Self-confessed Murderer Is Convicted at Stockton.

Defendant Is Unaffected by Verdict of the Jury.

Had Acknowledged the Slaying of Five Persons.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON (Cal.) June 15.—Zollie Clements, self-confessed murderer of five men, who for the past two weeks has been on trial here for the killing of William H. Newman, a saloon-keeper, was this afternoon found guilty, his punishment being fixed at life imprisonment. The verdict was reached after four hours of deliberation. The defendant showed no signs of emotion when it was read. His two sisters were visibly affected.

Clements is declared by the police to have murdered five men. The details of three of these crimes, they say, are matters of police record. He is accused of having shot James Markham on May 18, 1902. Markham was a mechanic of Sacramento who resisted an attempted holdup. Clements at that time was but 16 years old. After the shooting he joined a crowd of citizens who gathered at the police station to hear of the tragedy. According to the police, Clements killed Patrolman Brown of Oakland in September, 1904, while the policeman was questioning him about a holdup which he had committed a few blocks away. Three days later Clements stood on the sidewalk and watched the Brown funeral pass. Since his last arrest he has boasted that he "gave the laugh" to the police pallbearers who accompanied the hearse.

William H. Newman of Stockton was killed January 15 in his saloon while Clements was passing to a rear gambling-room.

Clements escaped and the next morning began work with one of his room mates, whistling and singing at his task, apparently in the best of spirits. Five days later he attempted to hold up the James Martin saloon in Sacramento and while engaged in a revolver duel with the bartender was shot in the arm by the porter, who procured a shotgun from the rear of the saloon. After a running fight with the police, he was arrested and confessed later to all that he could recall of his long career of crime. The convicted murderer was a carpet layer, who worked industriously and steadily, kept good company and attended church regularly. In his confession to the police he said that the thrill of his criminal exploits was such that he was irresistibly drawn into them, despite all that he could do to fight against wrongdoing.

TO WED A NOBLEMAN.

Los Angeles Maid Who Won First Prize in a Beauty Contest Will Marry a Spaniard.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Patricia Burke, of Los Angeles, is betrothed to Juan de Lopez de Ayala, Marquis de Fuensanta, of Seville, brother of the Marquis de Merido and Prince Ludovico Pignatalli d'Aragon, who recently visited America.

Mrs. Clinton Tomlinson and Miss Lucille Camden will be the bride's witnesses at the marriage, which will take place in the Spanish church on the Avenue Friesland as near June 26 as the necessary formalities will allow.

Miss Burke, who is a daughter of John Humphrey Burke, of Los Angeles, was the winner of a recent Los Angeles beauty contest and arrived in Paris about six months ago. It was reported shortly afterward that Prince Ferdinand de Bourbon, a cousin of the King of Spain, was an ardent suitor for her hand. Miss Burke was quoted as saying at that time in reply to a query as to her engagement to the Prince that she did not think her father was rich enough to buy a royal Duke.

POET'S GRANDSON WEDS.

Socialistic Ceremony Employed to Make a Benedict of a Descendant of Longfellow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With a ceremony characterized by brevity and simplicity and attended by but fifteen guests, the wedding of Edmund T. Dana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Dana of Cambridge, grandson of the poet Longfellow, and Miss Jessie Holliday of Harrow-on-the-Hill, England, an artist and suffragist, took place today on the lawnof the Dana estate, on Brattle street.

Edmund M. Parker of Cambridge, a justice and a close friend of the Dana family, performed the ceremony. Both bride and groom were unattended. A simple low-necked dress, with short skirt, was worn by the bride. Mr. Dana wore a white flannel suit, with soft shirt and collar, and shoes to match.

The double-ring ceremony was used, the groom giving the bride a plain gold band and receiving a chased silver ring in return.

The Socialist marriage ritual was followed and the ceremony was all over in two minutes.

"UNCLE JOE" NOT THERE.

And It Is Said He Refused Five Hundred Dollars a Day to "Write It Up" for a News Syndicate.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] Lots of visitors are inquiring about "Uncle Joe" Cannon. They have always heard of him as one of the picturesque figures of a Republican National Convention and want to get a glimpse of him. They were disappointed when told that the former Speaker of the House wont come. It was said today that he refused an offer of $500 a day to report the convention proceedings for a news syndicate.

California law was good enough for them until they were beaten. We shall fight from start to finish. If we do not win the fight in the Committee on Credentials, we shall go to the convention and expect it to prevent the National Committee from nullifying the primary election law of California and to deny the committee the right to nullify the law of any State.

"We will not abide by the decision of any committee on credentials if the decision is against us in this matter. If the convention stands by the committees we will object to every roll call proposed and after the convention shall be over we will appeal to the people. The right of the people to govern themselves and their political parties is at stake in this case, and we propose to have it settled and settled right."

SUFFRAGISTS AROUSE INTEREST.

The women members of the California delegation are the bright particular centers of interest to the suffrage workers in Illinois, and, for that matter, they have attracted more public interest today than their male colleagues. Mrs. Florence Porter has agreed to speak at a great mass meeting Monday under the auspices of all the suffrage organizations in Chicago. Mrs. Blaney has been requested to speak, and may consent.

Mrs. Blaney and Mrs. Porter were importuned for interviews and several Chicago papers printed feature stories about them and talks with the California women delegates.

The Californians say they had a pleasant time on their train de luxe, but they didn't caucus to select a national committeeman or to nominate members for any of the several convention committees. These important jobs are to be disposed of on Monday, perhaps, but certainly at a time when the leader can be present or his wishes in the several matters known. They were met at the train by a brass band, and an old "49" coach was a feature of their parade to the Auditorium, where they have the finest quarters.

ROOSEVELT'S RECEPTION.

The enthusiasm aroused by the coming of Roosevelt tonight was as strictly localized as it was tumultuous. A crowd of perhaps 2000 persons turned out to see him alight from his train. The street crowds along the line of march were not perceptibly larger than they had been throughout the afternoon, and the procession, headed by a big band, was greeted by a crowd of 2500 at the Annex, where Col. Roosevelt put on his hat and proceeded to the Roosevelt heaquarters on the parlor floor.

The Taft people considered Roosevelt's "triumphant entry" a decided fiasco. The Roosevelt people declared it a great success—that is the Roosevelt people who were not opposed to the plan proposed by "Boss" Flinn of Pennsylvania and finally ratified by Roosevelt.

Dixon and his supporters in the Roosevelt camp were vigorously, if not violently, opposed to the plan to bring Roosevelt to Chicago. They admitted privately that the coming of Roosevelt would serve to encourage the bolt talk and might result in precipitating a bolt. And they said that Senator Dixon, titular, if no longer actual, commander-in-chief of the Roosevelt campaign organization, wants no bolt. The Republican party has been pretty good to the boys and they do not wish to be driven to a choice between the party and Roosevelt's ambitions.

Certain it is that the coming of Roosevelt has increased the bolt talk and tonight it was declared with considerable show of authority that Roosevelt would discuss a bolt at the mass meeting at which he is to speak on Monday.

BOTH SIDES CLAIMING.

Both sides made the usual confident claims tonight of a nomination on the first ballot. The managers assert that they know whereof they speak. Perhaps they do, but there is a well-defined belief abroad tonight that Roosevelt cannot hope to win unless the Roosevelt roller can be made to play a determining part in the conduct of more than thirty negro delegates.

Dixon's nose is a bit out of joint over the promotion of "Boss" Flinn, who is now boss de facto, if not de jure, of the Roosevelt campaign machine. Roosevelt has shown his preference for Flinn and Flinn's methods and shown it so plainly that no one can doubt his attitude.

However, Dixon would have it believed tonight that he has a line on a few squads of Taft-instructed delegates who are going to run out on the President. Secretary Hilles says Dixon is talking through his hat and that he has two instructed Roosevelt men who will jump the colonel for every instructed Taft man Roosevelt can seduce.

NO CHANCE FOR COMPROMISE.

It is rumored tonight that a flying detachment of the Pennsylvania stalwarts instructed for Roosevelt purpose to run out on their instructions on the first ballot and cast their votes for Robert T. Lincoln. There may, or may not, be something in that. Probably there is nothing in it. Whether or not there is such a plan on foot, it may be taken as settled that there is no chance for a compromise or dark-horse candidate.

The men on neither side dare start a break to a third candidate. The party leaders who are making the fight for Taft may hate Roosevelt more than they love Taft. Their motives have no real value in consideration of a concrete situation. They know that any break from Taft means the nomination of Roosevelt. That knowledge will keep them lined up just as it will keep the Roosevelt followers, who formerly talked compromise, in line for Roosevelt to the last minute.

It is an open secret that Dixon believes the Roosevelt fight lost. That belief was behind his vigorous opposition to Flinn's scheme to bring Roosevelt to Chicago. Flinn won. Roosevelt is here, but there is nothing to indicate his presence has changed the situation in the slightest degree. It does not even involve the establishment of a Republican convention precedent. Joe Cannon, as a candidate for the Presidential nomination, came to the convention four years ago.

SLAM AT WEBB HAYES.

MISTAKEN FOR ROOSEVELT.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] She saw his teeth. The only living ex-President was haranguing the crowd outside the Congress Hotel from one of its balconies when a discussion arose between two women in the crowd as to his identity.

"That's Roosevelt," said one.

"No it ain't," replied the other. "I know that man. That's Webb Hayes. They are just stringing the crowd, that's all."

"Don't believe it. That's Teddy," replied the first. "I know it because I see his teeth. Webb Hayes is better-looking and besides he never did have teeth like that."

Labor.

JAILS FILLED WITH RUFFIANS.

Union Hoodlums Get Prompt Treatment in Chicago.

Assail Men on Streets For Buying Opposing Papers.

Women Conspicuous in Defying Their Insolence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Union labor thuggery is being severely discouraged in Chicago courts at the present time, with the result that the Workhouse and County Jail are filling rapidly with sluggers, against whom unusually heavy fines and prison sentences have been assessed. Newspaper publishers, who are the object of a most despicable warfare in the interests of the Socialist sheets, have adopted the plan of offering cash rewards of $200 for any information that may lead to the arrest and conviction of the paid sluggers who are beating and stabbing defenseless newsboys and terrorizing newspaper patrons who attempt to read anything but the Socialist publications on the street cars. The police have been unusually active in suppressing the murderous warfare on the rights of citizens and the municipal judges have co-operated in all cases, imposing heavy fines upon the hoodlums who will not work and attack those who desire to work.

Nearly every day, for the last two weeks, one to three sluggers have been given the maximum fine and stinging rebukes from the bench.

There have been three deaths directly attributable to the sluggers in the newspaper riots, in all cases some defenseless newsboy or aged man being the victim of gangs of sluggers.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the hoodlum element to force the public to patronize nothing but publications which indorse and applaud disorder and violence, the sales of the Socialist papers have decreased to the minimum. People refuse to buy them and self-respecting vendors refuse to handle them, although threatened with violence by thugs unless they do.

Women, with their customary fearlessness and sense of justice, have led in the battle against the thuggery. They walk up boldly to news stands and buy their favorite papers and openly defy the paid sluggers to molest them. Meanwhile, all the papers are back to normal conditions and the jails are crowded with sluggers and hoodlums.

Send for FREE Trial Package of TIZ Today

"Yes, TIZ Keeps Old Feet Always Young!"

"Your papa and mamma, your grandpa and your grandma all use TIZ, Harold. And you'll use it, too, when you get to be a man. Then your feet will never hurt, or get tired. That's why we all use TIZ."

Most of us get old, feet first. The bunions get stale, more wearisome and painful. Corns get harder and more stubborn as the feet become more tender. At a time when old people need their feet most, they can use them less—unless they use TIZ.

If you have never used TIZ before, your first use of it will bring back some of your girlhood days. TIZ will make your feet feel young, strong and vigorous. They'll never be tender, never chafe or ache, never get blistered or swollen, and your corns, bunions and callouses will be no more. Nothing will do it or can do it like TIZ. Don't experiment with other things; other people have done that for you and they are all now using TIZ. Don't accept any substitutes.

TIZ acts on a new principle—draws out all the poisonous exudations that make foot troubles.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, and recommended by all drug stores, department and general stores. Write today to Walter Luther Dodge & Co., 1223 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., for a free trial package of TIZ by return mail, and enjoy the real foot relief you never felt before.

See the Car That Will Be Riding on This Roadbed in Los Angeles in Less Than Two Years From Today

You will then see how, against the inherent weakness well known to exist in structure and design of roadbed, motive power and equipment of our present system of steam and traction lines—the combination of mechanically perfect roadbed and a mechanically perfect motor truck, like those of the Valentine Monorail System, really makes of the two features one great machine, able and capable of attaining with absolute ease, safety and comfort, 100 to 150 miles an hour at reduced rates over present charges—

MAKING POSSIBLE

—"Los Angeles to the Sea in 15 Minutes," a moving and passenger carrying reality in the near future, as well as the construction of 25,000 miles additional in the United States under the same system in the next five years.

While this means the "scrap heap" and the "junk pile" for millions on millions of dollars' worth of useless equipment that will then be out of date through conversion of those systems to that of the Valentine Monorail—it also means

A SIMILAR INVESTMENT

—Dollar for dollar for every dollar's worth of junk that goes into the "scrap heap," since all these new roads in the more congested centers, must be constructed and operated under license from the Monorail Rapid Transit Company, that owns all patents throughout the North American Continent and which patents are basic and incontrovertible.

Several thousand representative citizens of Los Angeles, in response to announcements, have availed themselves of the opportunity to see the demonstrating model at work, and their expressions most clearly indicate that this enterprise will be warmly welcomed.

A MONORAIL CLUB

Accepting their keen interest at its value and feelng that in carrying the project to success, it is essential that the management of this Company have the moral as well as financial support of the community where the first road is to be constructed. "The Thousand-Member Monorail Club" is being organized.

The first thousand members will get the stock that has been selling at $10 a share at $5, and so soon as the club is filled or made up no further sales will be made at anything less than $10 a share.

ANGELS GRAB ANOTHER ONE.

Knock Sutor, Miller and Toner All Around Lot.

Nagle Quits and Slagle Comes to the Rescue.

Seals Cannot Do Much After First Inning.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] Another tumble for the Seals today. The game was a joke, a nightmare and a travesty, and then a burlesque.

It looked like one muddle after another from the moment it opened till the moment it closed. The pitchers were awful, the fielders were slow, and the batsmen were slovenly.

Three pitchers, Miller, Sutor and Toner, worked for the Seals. They put Miller in bad with errors in the opener and then he put himself in bad with his wildness and carelessness. Out he was yanked before two innings had been played. Sutor was named to succeed him. He got as far as the third, when Red Toner was called upon as the life-saver. But the Angels got to him later on.

Howard opened up by hitting one down the first base line. Miller fielded the ball and pegged it to Jackson, who promptly dropped it. Berger bunted and Schmidt picked up the pill, only to throw it very wide to first. Along came Pete Daley with a two-sacker to center, and both runners reached the pan. Miller was plainly unnerved and very much peeved. He issued a pass to big Heitmuller, after which he received instructions from Boss Reidy to vacate the slab and give the prodigal son, Sutor, a chance to do something good.

Dillon, the first man to face Harry, made a sacrifice, and Daley went to third. Metzger lifted a long fly to Gedeon, who promptly pegged Daley out at the pan. This was a grand stunt, and all the fans appreciated it.

Along came the Seals with three in their half of the round. Mohler waited for a pass and was sent to third on Hartley's slam against the right field fence. While Berger and Dillon were engaged in retiring McArdle, Mohler slipped through. Corhan caught Metzger off his guard and slammed the ball through third at a furious clip. Hartley was right on his toes and scooted in from second, tangling up the score. Jackson polished it off with a two-bagger against the right field fence. The fans shouted long and loud, and looked happy. But this happiness was very short-lived, as was also Mr. Sutor's term of office on the mound. The third saw the finish of both. Big Harry, who is not yet in proper shape to pitch, issued tickets to Howard and Berger.

TONER SENT IN.

Reidy made a few wild signs and the next moment the reliable Toner was on the job. Daley shot a grounder down the line and Howard was forced at third for the first out. But right behind him came big Heitmuller, with a slam to center, on which Berger raced in from second base.

Daley slid in to third on this one and Dillon's out, McArdle to Jackson, put him past the final jump.

Then there was no chance for the Seals. The Angels took the lead away from them and it could be seen by the determined expression on the face of every one of the Dillon men that the Seals were doomed. They figured on the end book from that time on.

No damage was done by either side in the fourth, but the fifth brought the final carload of disaster to the troubled mind of Reidy. Berger picked one off the center garden and was bunted along by Daley. Heitmuller saw one to his liking and gently but firmly tapped it over the right field fence. This made the score 6 to 3, but it might just as well have been 600 to 3, for all that the fans cared. They knew then that the worst had come and gone. The Seals did attempt a regular rally in the seventh, but it was cut short when one man had gone the route.

Jackson hit the first ball pitched for a nice drive to right field. Gedeon got a walk and it looked good, especially after Schmidt advanced both men on an infield out. Toner did his duty with a long fly to Lober, which registered Jackson. Just a tingle of hard luck at this stage. Mundorff shot one on a line between right and center. Under ordinary conditions the ball would have gone for a double or a triple, but big Heinie hooked it with a back-handed hook, and he held onto it, too. No wonder the boys lost their pep, after that.

For the next two innings Slagle handed out the right sort of stuff for a victory. His pitching was remarkable, considering the rough work of the others. The Seals could not get near him at all.

NEW RECORD IN Y.M.C.A. CROSS-COUNTRY RUN.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 15.—The biggest cross-country run ever pulled off in Orange county ended here this afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock when the "Combination" team, composed of Y.M.C.A. runners from Huntington Beach, Anaheim, Fullerton, Placentia, Garden Grove, Greenville and Villa Park defeated the Santa Ana runners by just forty seconds.

The winners' time for the seventeen miles was 1 hour and 28 minutes, while the losers was, as stated, 40 seconds more, making a remarkable record. Sixty-eight young men took part in the great race, thirty-four for each team. Charles Nutt of Huntington Beach actually crossed the line first, being the individual winner.

Robert J. Hamilton, county secretary of the Y.M.C.A. and L. O. Culp of Anaheim acted as time keepers and A. J. Eygabroad of Anaheim was the judge for the combination and R. J. Hamilton of Santa Ana for the Santa Ana runners.

The Anaheim runners finished the fastest mile in 4 minutes and 20 seconds, Beebe making the half-mile in 2 minutes and 6 seconds and Cooley the other half in 2 minutes and 15 seconds.

Both teams left promptly at half past one o'clock, the combination runners starting from Anaheim and the Santa Ana runners from Orange. After completing the race the runners all had a swim in the local plunge and rested until supper time.

Supper was furnished by the local branch of the Y.M.C.A. in the Main street pavilion, toasts being responded to as follows: "Training," C. Beebe of Anaheim; "Wind," Dean Bates of Santa Ana; "Keeping At It," Raymond Starbuck of Fullerton; "The Autos," Paul Dowling of Garden Grove;" "The Roads;" Fred Bates of Santa Ana; "The Finish," Paul Leebrick of Huntington Beach; "The Winners," the Santa Ana losers; "The Losers," the combination winners.

Athletics was then dismissed and the Race of Life discussed as follows: "Preparation For the Race," L. O. Culp, Anaheim; "Obstacles in the Race," Charles Eygabroad of Anaheim; "Encouragements," George B. Key of Placentia; "The Goal," Rev. J. W. Scott of Santa Ana; "Presentation of Awards," County Secretary Robert J. Hamilton of Santa Ana.

The thanks of the Y.M.C.A. of the county were returned to all who had assisted in the event and announcement was made of a baseball tournament to occur at Santa Ana in July and the camp at Catalina Island will be held on August 12.

Stags Out Up.

ATHLETIC CLUB IN HIGH JINKS.

Boys Close Reception Week With Big Smoker.

Everyone Gets Good Show in Vaudeville Stunts.

Thirty Thousand Visitors in Three-day Jolly-up.

Five thousand men attended the smoker and entertainment at the Los Angeles Athletic Club last night, marking the climax of the formal opening of the institution. It was exclusively a "stag" affair and the big ban was placed on the fair sex in order to give the club members and their male friends an opportunity to put the proper finishing touches on the festive programme of three days' merrymaking.

Following a dinner a la carte, served in the big dining-hall, the members and guests were entertained for three hours with a minstrel-vaudeville-athletic show, in which leading business men and noted theatrical artists participated.

The minstrel show and vaudeville features took place on the big stage constructed in the gymnasium-hall of the club, for which the scenery was painted by Robert A. Brunton of the Burbank Theater.

Thirty minutes with the minstrels opened the programme. George Towle conducted the show and Harry Girard was interlocutor. B. A. Holmes, Jr., Cliff Horne and Jay Welton rattled the bones and Paul Piepers, Tommy Lamb and Josh Marks beat the tambos. "Bud" Holmes scored a big hit with his brand new pathetic song entitled, "Everybody's Gone Done It."

THE LATEST CLOGS.

Paul Piepers and Tommy Lamb danced the "Mousey Snoop," and were so vociferously encored that they responded with the "Toady Hop," a brand new animal kingdom dance that has the "Grizzly Bear" dangling over the ropes. Jay Welton did a song and dance turn that brought down the house and Cliff Horne and Marks loomed large in the spotlight with their topical jokes and joshes on the club's leading members. Harry Girard was a tip-top middleman and what's more, he looked the part.

Leo Bergin, Ben Franklin, H. E. Charlton, A. J. Garroway, Bailey Parker and Francis B. Chapman pulled off the heavy singing stuff in masterly fashion. Oodles of tears fairly swamped the big hall when Bergin sang in his most touching manner, that heart-stilling songlet entitled, "If It Wasn't for Dirt What About Soap?" Paul Piepers sang "A Divorce at Reno," and Josh Marks "Skid-a-me-rink." They were heartily encored. Harry Girard ended the minstrel show with "I Want What I Want When I Want It."

Part two opened with an olio, consisting of athletic acts and musical numbers. W. F. Arend had charge of the musical features. Walter B. Sheckles and Mark Jones gave a startling hand-balancing stunt that made a big hit. Percy Bronson sang several up-to-date songs, and Prof. Al Treloar, the "perfect man," gave a few heavyweight lifting acts. Arthur Barnum, "the man with the rubber face," presented an original stunt. Howard Patrick gave an act comprising ragtime and coon songs. Herman T. Glass performed on the Roman rings and Don Turley pulled off some magician stuff that makes Hermann look like a selling plater.

THE BIG PLUNGE.

During the evening an elaborate programme of swimming and high-diving was given in the big plunge. This feature of the programme was entertaining. Such well-known swimmers as Holborow, Cornell, Aluzet, Baker, Bowes, Harrell and William Becker participated. Les Henry was in charge of this feature.

Cliff Reuman conducted the boxing bouts, which were interesting. Ad Shear, W. Barsante, J. Lee, E. Becker, Ernie Clark, Harvey Light, Joe Neido and J. O'Brien took part. Charley Eyton was referee and Harry Cline handled the timepiece.

Music was furnished during the evening by Arend's orchestra. Gurney E. Newlin gave a short address of welcome.

More than 30,000 persons visited the clubhouse during the three days' opening programme.

"It was a grand success in every particular," said Vice-President Frank A. Garbutt, last night. "There wasn't one little hitch to mar the elaborate programme of entertainment provided for our members and their guests."

The Entertainment Committee in charge of the "smoker" included: Clarence Drown, Charles Eyton, B. A. Holmes, Jr., M. F. Ihmsen, Paul Piepers, T. R. Lamb and Harry M. Halderman, chairman.

FULL-THROATED LIKE THE LARK.

ELLEN BEACH YAW THRILLS WITH HER TRILLS.

Noted Cantatrice and Assisting Artists Sing and Play for Lark Ellen's Boys' Home—Brilliant and Appreciative Audience Listens Spellbound in Attention.

A rather slender but exclusively appreciative audience at the Auditorium last evening greeted the famous California cantatrice, Ellen Beach Yaw, and her group of assisting artists, who sang and played delightfully for the sake of that worthy charity, the Lark Ellen News and Working Boys' Home.

The prima donna was in splendid voice and her thrush-like tones were as limpid as ever. While her phenomenal notes are exquisitely pure and sweet, her whole voice is lovely and especially is it rich in the medium tones, where the real sympathy and tender quality are most apparent. The book scene from "Hamlet," and "Polonaise" was more effective, being especially suited to Miss Yaw. From the point of interpretation and luscious tone with much dramatic force the aria "One Fine Day" from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" was brilliant, and the redition in English, the translation being poetic, it doubly interesting. A song written by the accompanist of the evening, "If Love Were What the Rose Is," was beautifully sung, followed by other numbers and ending with "The Nightingale" by Masse, with flute obligato, the tones of the instrument and the singer's voice blending wonderfully.

TO THE LAND BUYER!

We have POTATO, ALFALFA and CITRUS FRUIT LANDS with cheap water in a gravity system which we can sell you as low as $225 PER ACRE, that for location, quality of soil, water conditions and price has no equal in all California.

Why buy land in an undeveloped section when you can buy for the same price or less where you are surrounded by all the conveniences such as transportation, towns, schools, churches, etc., right in the heart of high-class development land that has been producing and you can see what the production is?

We have opened a 640-acre subdivision just two hours from Los Angeles, one mile from Riverside electric line. The Ocean to Ocean Highway has been located along the line of our land. It is all level. Underground cement pipes to each subdivision of 10 or 20 acres. You can go right on this land, turn on the water and plant a crop.

If you will let us show you this land you can see 640 acres of as fine potatoes now growing as you ever saw and we think you will be convinced that one year's crop will pay for the land. Then if you like, you can plant to oranges or lemons at your leisure, as it is surrounded by young groves and bearing orchards as fine as any in California.

This land at the price we are offering it will sell quick. You can save money by dealing direct with the owners. J. F. Balliet and A. M. Jones, 505 Fay Building, Los Angeles, Cal. Home phone A1311, Sunset Main 1193.

The Right Dentist

MY NEW OFFICES represent the last word in Dental equipment for the betterment of my Dentistry and for the comfort of my patients.

At your convenience, come and let me inspect the work I have done for you.

I appreciate your business and want to impress you with the idea that we are mutually interested in the success of my work.

DR. HUMELBAUGH,
New address, 533½ South Spring St.
Los Angeles, Cal.

I AM sending the above announcement to more than three thousand of my old patients and I appeal to your judgment that, were not my business methods square and above reproach I would not be interested in my work that has been in constant use for years.

I am proud of the record, for only through good honest Dentistry has it been possible for me to furnish and maintain the best dental establishment in the city. I have six rooms, completely and elegantly equipped, sparing neither trouble nor expense in making them superior to the best. It will be to your interest to become one of my satisfied patients and

Have Your Teeth Fixed Right—I Replace Missing Teeth

That for beauty and symmetry will be unsurpassed (even by nature) in adding to your attractiveness.

This work is without a plate, and every tooth (whether one or a dozen) I replace is perfect in appearance, strong, comfortable and useful.

Bad Teeth, Poor Digestion and an Irritable Disposition

Go hand in hand and are the conditions which contribute materially to the many social and financial failures.

PLATE WORK

MY RESTORATION PLATE removes the wrinkles and restores the hollow sunken cheeks to their natural symmetrical appearance, giving a youthful, a healthful and a pleasing expression to your countenance.

There is positively nothing known to science that will even compare to this plate and if you value your appearance you will not be without one.

If you are making a chemical laboratory of your stomach taking drugs for dyspepsia, the cause is you are not masticating your food, and if a faulty plate is the cause, you should at once investigate the merit of my RESTORATION PLATE.

Christie MacDonald the winsome little star of "The Spring Maid" DISCOURSES ON GOOD COMPLEXIONS

CHRISTIE MACDONALD

PERHAPS I am what you may call "a fresh air fiend," because I believe firmly in lots of good, cold, fresh air at all times. Breathing deeply of it during the day and sleeping in a cold, airy room all night will certainly help to put roses and lilies' tints on the cheeks of any girl who practices this method.

Then, too, I believe in drinking heartily of pure cool (not iced) water, lots of it, probably six or seven glasses each day and always between meals.

The next step in keeping a good complexion is cleanliness—and this is not so easy.

Soap and water, necessary as they are, and much as they will accomplish, will not do it all.

Something else is needed to remove the grime and soot that the atmosphere in any large city will soon deposit in the pores of your skin.

For the last few years I have found that Melorose Cream acts as an invaluable cleanser in removing this waste matter, and besides, it serves as a gentle lubricant to the skin.

You see, the soapy lather of the usual bath removes much of the dirt, but it also takes with it some of the natural oil of the skin, and I find that massaging with Melorose Cream counteracts this and prevents wrinkles forming.

I always use the Melorose preparations and believe their powder and rouge to be even finer than those that I have purchased abroad.

They certainly are the most delightfully fragrant things that I have ever used, and yet the perfume is so very faint and elusive that it is in no way obtrusive.

The Melorose Powder Rouge would deceive even the elect, and besides, it is as harmless as a little touch of ordinary face powder.

As for Melorose Powder, I always use it when I am going, and I play a great deal, and I really believe it preserves my face from many a blister and coat of tan.

The Melorose Nail Luster and Nail Polish, are two absolute necessities to any woman who values dainty appearing hands, and I appreciate them to the utmost.

BANK CASHIER DEAD.

President of International Receivers Had News From Watsonville, Where Pollock Was Visiting.

John Lopizich, president of the International Savings Bank received word yesterday morning of the sudden death from heart failure, of W. S. Pollock, cashier of the bank, who was visiting his parents in Watsonville.

Pollock, who had been with the bank for the past four years, started on his vacation a week ago, accompanied by Mrs. Pollock. They had decided to visit his parents in Watsonville. When he left Los Angeles he was in seemingly good health and all advices received by his friends and officials of the bank were very optimistic. The cashier was apparently enjoying himself.

Pollock was born in San Francisco, but he resided in Los Angeles twenty-seven years. He was for twenty years with the local offices of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and left there to take a position with the Security Savings Bank, where he remained three years, severing his connection with that bank to become cashier of the International.

He was a Mason and a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West, Knights of the Maccabees and the Woodmen of the World.

The body is to be brought to Los Angeles this morning, and will be taken to the parlors of Bresee Brothers. Arrangements for the funeral services will be in charge of the Masonic fraternity and the details are held in abeyance, pending the arrival of Mrs. Pollock, with the remains.

Santa Ana.

FULL CROP OF CANDIDATES.

SANTA ANA ASPIRANTS MAKE THEIR WANTS KNOWN.

Congressional Situation Has Not Developed to the Point Where the Riverside Postal Ballot Can Be Considered as Final—Estudillo and His Senatorial Plans.

SANTA ANA, June 15.—The indications are that there will be a full crop of candidates for the Republican nomination for State Senator from this district, which comprises Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties. During the last Legislature it was well-known that State Senator Miguel Estudillo of Riverside was sparring with a view to re-election, and that Assemblyman Clyde Bishop of Santa Ana had his eyes on Estudillo's job. Bishop tried to make Orange county one assembly district, while Estudillo thought to add Imperial County that he might gain an advantage over Bishop. Estudillo's plan carried.

While Estudillo's name has been mentioned casually as a candidate for Congress, it is not thought here that he ever had any show for getting into the race. Anyhow, the Riverside Republicans have used a post-card vote to pick S. C. Evans as their candidate for Congress. With that, a petition was started in Riverside asking that Estudillo run again for State Senator. In the meantime, John N. Anderson of Santa Ana, who served in the Senate before Estudillo was sent there, had entered the race as a Progressive, which is the side of the fence upon which Estudillo now stands. This last week still another Progressive is reported as going into the race. He is Lew H. Wallace, a banker of Newport Beach, a nephew of Lieut.-Gov. Wallace. Bishop has not yet announced his intentions, but he probably is waiting to see how things shape up.

T. E. Stephenson today started his nomination petition for Assemblyman of this district, and so far he is the only candidate to announce himself. J. W. Newell of Placentia was given an indorsement for the position by a meeting of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League at Fullerton several months ago, but as yet Newell has not made known his intentions.

There are to be two Supervisors elected in this county next fall. The terms of H. E. Smith, Republican, of Santa Ana, and D. S. Linebarger, Democrat, of Fullerton, end. Smith is already in the fight for re-election, and has City Trustee W. L. Grubb of Santa Ana as his opponent for the nomination. Linebarger will not run. There will be two or more candidates for the Republican nomination in his district.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SELLING.

Early this morning "Gimpie" Wilson of El Toro was put in jail on a charge of selling liquor illegally in no-license territory. The officers declare that Wilson has been peddling liquor for months, but many residents of El Toro feared to report him because they thought he might resent interference to the extent of burning their hay or in some other way doing them damage. Yesterday officers from Santa Ana went to the place and bought liquor, and last night the place was raided. Six sacks of bottled beer and several demijohns of wine were secured. Wilson was caught as he was attempting to flee through the back door. He is a cripple.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Orange County Dried Fruit Association is making efforts to sell its hold-over dried apricots. The association has twelve carloads of the product on hand. It is hoped to sell this before the drying of the new crop begins next month.

City Marshal George S. Wilson, who was chief deputy under former Sheriff Lacy, is critically ill at his home in this city as the result of pulmonary trouble. Wilson has not been well since last February and has failed rapidly. Thursday he was taken to Elsinore Hot Springs by his wife, but his condition became worse and today he was brought home.

MORTGAGE SALE

I am instructed by the owner, Mrs. H. Anderson, to sell on Friday, June 21, at 11 a.m., beautiful apartment site with nice little 4-room California house in rear. It has gas, electricity, shade trees, nice lawn, and abundance of flowers. This is one of the ideal apartment sites of the city. It is 50x150 feet located high and sightly with a magnificent view and only 15 minutes from Broadway. There is a $1000 bank loan at 8% against the property. This can be paid off at any time or run on as purchaser may wish. This splendid apartment-house site located at 1002 Everett St. Paved sidewalks, gas, electricity, sewer, in fact this property leaves nothing to be desired as an apartment-house site. It must be seen to be appreciated. The owner's salary will not permit her to keep up payments and interest. Unfortunately she must let go. Don't forget the day or date, FRIDAY, JUNE 21, at 11 a.m. Take any Sunset boulevard car, get off at Everett St., 1 block north.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

DEATH ROUTED BY A SPEEDER.

Pasadena Man Takes Oxygen to a Dying Child.

Old Settlers Meet and Indulge in Reminiscences.

School Board Refuses to Call Teachers to Testify.

[Office of The Times, 12 S. Fair Oaks avenue.]

PASADENA, June 16.—By driving his automobile over city streets and along country roads at the rate of a mile a minute, J. C. Cook, manager of the Pasadena Motor Car Company, arrived at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. W. Young in Sierra Madre, just in time to save the life of her 11-weeks' old daughter, Thursday evening. The high speed was attained in order that a tube of oxygen might be in the hands of the attending physician at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. Cook returned to Pasadena today and told of the successful result of his wild ride. It took him just eight minutes to cover the eight miles separating his Pasadena garage from the home of his sister, situated near the foot of the Mt. Wilson trail. When he arrived the doctor had given up all hope of saving the little one's life. Mr. Cook insisted that the oxygen be given a trial, and assisted the physician and his sister in applying it. Heart action was quickened by the restorative measures, and this morning it was announced that the baby would probably recover. Two minutes after receiving the telephone call from his sister, asking for help, Cook was leaving the drug store with the tube.

Another quick run was made in the same case by the family physician, who made a night trip in his automobile from Long Beach to Sierra Madre in 1hr. 18m.

OLD SETTLERS MEET.

The annual reunion and picnic of the Pasadena Pioneers' Association was held yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Giddings, No. 1318 East Colorado street. The affair took place in the large yard, under the spreading branches of an old mulberry tree.

There was a big attendance, and the day was pleasantly spent. No set programme had been arranged. Reminiscences were the order of the hour. Many of the old settlers told in an interesting manner of the early days in Pasadena, and a story by one of them was sure to remind someone else of another.

Among those who had something to say of the pioneer days were State Senator Charles W. Bell, P. G. Worcester, C. C. Brown, Walter Cooley, former Gov. Workman and J. R. Giddings. Senator Bell had one of the most unusual tales of all to relate. It dealt with a sleigh ride he took along Orange Grove avenue a good many years ago. This is believed to have been the only sleigh ride ever enjoyed in Pasadena.

The speaker dwelt upon the surprise of citizens when they woke up one morning, after a week of cold and rainy weather, to find the ground covered with snow. The Senator, who had no thought of political honors in those early days, made the most of the opportunity. He brought out his cultivator, removed from the implement certain parts and rearranged other parts until he had a good imitation of sleigh runners.

Bell was so delighted with the result of his work that he didn't have the heart to enjoy his ride alone. A young woman of his acquaintaince was invited to go along, and her voice fairly rang with happiness as she accepted. The team was a handsome, spirited pair of grays. They pranced down Orange Grove avenue, and the driver and his fair companion were the envy of the town. But something suddenly frightened the horses. They ran away, and a smash-up followed. No one was injured, but the cultivator was put out of commission. The team ran several blocks after shaking free from the novel sleigh before being stopped.

NEW HOME FOR BANK.

A beautiful new business block is to be erected at the southwest corner of Colorado street and Broadway by the Pasadena National Bank, as a home for that institution. It will be of handsome brick and stone construction and, while only one story in height, will be one of the most beautiful buildings in the city. It will be modeled after the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, Los Angeles. The lot upon which it will stand, measuring 60x125 feet, is now occupied by a frame building, which will be torn down. This work will be started within the next thirty days. The bank has secured a ninety-nine-year lease on the property. The new building will be ready for occupancy March 1, 1913.

WANT HIGHER PRICE.

The Pasadena Lake Vineyard Land and Water Company today issued a statement in which it says the valuation of its plant as fixed by the city, for the purpose of making it a municipally-owned affair, is too small. Engineer Burdette Moody, acting for Pasadena, sets the valuation at $621,622.31. Engineer F. C. Finkle, acting for the company, sets the valuation at $1,450,778.87, an increase over the city's figures amounting to $829,156.56. Mayor Thum said today that the city's figures were the more nearly correct, and that they represented a just valuation. The statement made by the company is addressed to stockholders. The depreciation figure of the offer made by the city was $168,252.80, while the figures covering depreciation as set by Mr. Finkle are $158,575.19.

POSTAL CLERKS AT THE SEASIDE.

REDONDO BEACH INVADED BY A MERRY THRONG.

Tennis and Baseball Were Features Enjoyed by Athletic Members, While Dancing and Bathing Diverted Those Who Were Not of the Strenuous Type—Short Stories.

REDONDO BEACH, June 15.—Railway Postal Clerks of Los Angeles held their annual picnic here today. About 150 were in the party which arrived early in the morning and spent the entire day in merrymaking.

A tennis match was held in the morning at Hotel Redondo grounds. In a game between Jess Deitrich, and Charles Weirkoop and Jack Fisher and Karl Buck the two former won by a score of 6 to 4. The winning side played Fred Walker and Ed Kincaid and the latter team won by a score of 6 to 3.

After lunch the postal clerks tried their skill at baseball when the Santa Fe team played the Southern Pacific. The latter team won by a score of 18 to 12. The Santa Fe battery was Bert Morgan and C. Graybill, pitchers, and Charles Wynkoop, catcher. The Southern Pacific battery was Jack Fisher and J. Felix, pitchers, Fred Huff, catcher.

Following the ball game the postal clerks engaged in a number of swimming and running races. Many danced during the afternoon and evening at the pavilion. The picnickers returned to Los Angeles at a late hour.

The committee in charge of the picnic arrangements was Fred Huff, Jess Deitrich, Mrs. Fred Walker and Mrs. R. H. Pettis.

SCHOOL PICNIC.

The South Park Grammar School of Hollywood held a picnic here today. About 125 children were in the party and spent the day enjoying beach sports.

WRITER WRITES.

Mrs. Harold Bell Wright, wife of the famous novelist and her three sons are occupying the Carpenter cottage on the Esplanade for six weeks. They came here from their ranch near El Centro yesterday. The novelist who is writing a new book will spend the week-ends here and the remainder of his time at San Gabriel, where he is gathering material for his book.

SEASON OPENED.

Today was the formal opening of the season here. There was dancing, afternoon and evening in the pavilion and George Freeth the Hawaiian gave exhibitions of surf board riding during the day. Tomorrow the Schoneman and Blanchard band will give concerts afternoon and evening and Madam Alice Farle, a soloist will sing. There will be vaudeville acts afternoon and evening by Sampson & Sampson, the Roman Gladiators. George Freeth will give exhibitions of surf board riding and Tommy Witt the child diver will give an exhibition in the bathhouse.

GREAT RIVALRY.

There is great rivalry in the contest for Queen of the Eagles Carnival to be held here July 14 to 21. The latest contestant is Mrs. Harry Broaski a young matron popular among the club women here and in other circles. The contestants so far are Miss Helen Blanchard, Miss Ada Schallert, Miss Irene Wellington, Miss Dollie Connolly, Mrs. Harry Broaski and Mrs. O. Wygal. The first count of the votes has not been made.

AN EL MONTE MAN PASSES.

Resident of the County for Many Years. He Contributed to Its Material Advancement.

EL MONTE, June 15.—Herbert A. Burdick, one of El Monte's oldest business men, died this morning, after a lingering illness. Mr. Burdick was born in Cortland county, New York, February 18, 1835. He was reared in Wisconsin and Nebraska, and at the latter place was married to Miss Sarah Elizabeth McDowell, a native of Michigan. Mr. Burdick is survived by a widow, one son, Lester Burdick, constable of El Monte, and Miss Thisha Burdick, a clerk in the County Assessor's office.

Mr. Burdick was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, A.O. D.W., and the Fraternal Brotherhood. He was a member of the Seventh Day Adventists. For many years Mr. Burdick was a member of the Board of Trustees of El Monte school district, and showed untiring zeal in connection with the establishing of the Union High School.

The funeral services will be held in the El Monte Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, June 16, at 2 o'clock.

Long Beach.

LOWER COURT IS REVERSED.

Long Beach Tangle Further Tangled by Decision.

Psychological Doctor Has an Advantage of Foes.

Negro Fells Motorman and Car Runs Wild.

LONG BEACH, June 15.—Dr. W. R. Price, founder of the new practical psychology, who has been in the limelight more or less for the past two years by reason of suits and judgments against him secured by former followers on charges of fraud and misrepresentation, is happy over the Supreme Court decision reversing the Superior Court verdict in the case against him of J. M. Sewall, and involving the stock of the National Gold Dredging Company.

The reversal is in the nature of a vindication of the psychological, and according to his attorney, John E. Daly, will play "merry hob" with a number of people who have been keeping his client in legal trouble, as a number of acts have been committed while this appeal was pending, which will now have to be accounted for.

It is claimed that by executions based upon the Superior Court decision, J. M. Sewall has secured $15,580 worth of stock for only $680, and that taken altogether, the value of the property taken under such execution amounts to $39,580, upon which Sewall has allowed a credit of only $1000 upon his judgment. Dr. Price says he intends to follow up all the cases involved to the end, determined to have not only a complete vindication at the hands of the court, but to be restored to all his property.

Among other results of the judgment secured by Sewall, he brought action to set aside transfers of property in this city and San Pedro, made by Price to Mrs. Price, and levying an execution on it bought it in. It is alleged for $150. He sold on execution 250 shares of psychological temple stock, belonging to Mrs. Price, for $10, when the shares, it is alleged were worth $10 each and he purchased ten shares of Citizens' Bank stock and one share of building association stock for $30. Under another execution Sewall secured 1000 shares of Temple stock standing in the name of Clinton Johnson for $400 and 245 shares of building stock issued by A. J. Holt of Oklahoma at a nominal figure. Sewall by these purchases of stock under execution on the judgment now reversed, gained control of the Temple, sold it to his own mother for $2000 upon a note, which, it is alleged, the company allowed to go by default and then allowed the corporation to be dissolved and put out of existence by failure to pay the State license tax.

Under the Supreme Court decision Sewall must now restore all this property or pay Dr. Price its value. "It is a long lane that has no turning," was Dr. Price's remark when he received the news. Regarding the gold dredging business, which started all the trouble, Dr. Price says the men who took away the property after his company got into trouble has organized and bonded a new company and already this year have taken out $150,000 in gold along the American River, proof that Price's judgment was good in the promotion of the original company.

DOESN'T BELIEVE IT.

Juan Terrazas, son of Gen. Luis Terrazas, who with his household of forty persons fled from Mexico some months ago and are residing in Long Beach, when shown the dispatch this morning relative to the confiscation of the Terrazas herd of cattle by the rebels, shrugged his shoulders and doubted the truth of the report. He admitted that his father had a large herd of cattle between Juarez and Chihuahua, but he believed that they were safe.

MOTORMAN FELLED.

Passengers on an East Seventh-street car were terrorized last night when their car began running wild after Motorman Kelly had been felled to the floor by an irate negro passenger. Another motorman riding as a passenger sprang to the controller and after checking the wild flight assisted in subduing the negro, who was brought to town and turned over to the police. The negro, Carl Thompson, boarded the car on the wrong side of the street, and when admonished by the motorman, struck the latter on the head, felling him to the floor. Thompson was arraigned this morning on a charge of battery and sent to the County Jail for twenty days. Motorman Kelly was not badly injured.

MERGER PROPOSED.

Negotiations have been commenced by the Sunset telephone company for the purchase of the Home properties in this city, and the operation of only one company. It is not likely there will be any serious objection to the consolidation by Long Beach citizens. Both companies have been notified to file with the city a statement of their properties and earnings pending the adoption of a rate-regulation ordinance.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Fire at noon destroyed a large barn belonging to Mrs. L. M. Clarke on Cherry avenue, near Fourth. The residence was saved by neighbors, who used lines of garden hose effectively. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Miss Florence Ada Dillon, a former Long Beach girl, and daughter of the late Judge H. C. Dillon, appeared in concert tonight at the Auditorium, under Chamber of Commerce auspices and received a big ovation.

Donatelli and his Italian band opened the summer season of concerts on the beach today and scored a big hit. The strenuous leader has always been a favorite in Long Beach and was given an ovation when he swung into the opening number, one of his own compositions.

Charles Wallace of the State Bank of Newport, who has recently undergone two operations at a local hospital, is reported today to be in a serious condition.

The steamer Robert G. Hind arrived from the north today and will go to the Craig drydock for extensive repairs and an overhauling.

August F. Garriott, a merchant recently from Indiana, died last night of oedema of the lungs. He went bathing in the surf on Thursday and contracted congestion of the lungs in an acute form. He was 47 years of age. The remains were taken to Pasadena for burial.

WANT TO SELL BONDS.

Southern Counties Gas Company Petitions the Railroad Commission for Privilege of Barter.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The Southern Counties Gas Company petitioned the Railroad Commission today for authority to issue bonds to the amount of $443,000. They are the unsold portion of an issue of $1,000,000 dated April 1, 1911. The bonds carry 6 per cent. and are to be sold at a price not less than 90.

The Southern Counties Gas Company operates gas plants and distributing centers at Glendora, Azusa, Covina, Monrovia, Sierra Madre, Arcadia, South Santa Anita, El Monte, Whittier, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana. It proposes to extend its field of operations and to purchase from the Southern California Edison Company for the price of $400,000 the gas plant and distributing system in Pomona and the pipe line and distributing systems in and adjacent to the towns of Claremont, Lordsburg and San Dimas.

The company seeks permission to use the proceeds of its bond sale for the purchase of these properties.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK BEGINS.

Azusa High School Will Hear Baccalaureate Sermon Today and Other Exercises During Week.

AZUSA, June 15.—Commencement week of Citrus Union High School begins tomorrow with the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Robert Grieves, pastor of the Christian Church of Glendora. Class night exercises will be held Thursday evening in the school auditorium, with class songs, will and prophecy, and a play entitled "At the End of the Rainbow."

The commencement exercises will be held Friday evening, with a salutatory by Margaret Johnson, oration by Lester Powell; class history by Evelyn Davis, and valedictory by Sarah Daniels.

The twenty-five graduates are Georgie Miller, Evelyn Davis, Twinkle Bliss, Ethel Reynard, Enid Handyside, Wallace Bliss, Margaret Johnson, Peyton Calvert, Margaret Ellis, Lester Powell, Annie Clark, Earl Whitcomb, Isabelle Grijalva, Earnest Daniels, Irene Bouldin, Richard Fitzpatrick, Sarah Daniels, Herbert Whitted, Helen Hendrick, Grace Lawrence, Fannie Granville, Winifred Jeffrey, Mildred Clapp, Ruth Kennard and Ethel Askin.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Tomorrow morning C. H. Lee will occupy the Baptist pulpit, giving the congregation an account of the northern Baptist convention, from which he has just returned.

Among the Azusa people who yesterday attended the annual picnic at the Soldiers' Home, at Sawtelle, were J. S. Turner and Mmes. Gatton, Turner, Case and Sorage.

Low rates at Hotel del Coronado.

Covina.

MAY IRRIGATE BALDWIN PLAINS.

SECTION SOUTH OF COVINA WILL BE RECLAIMED.

Fifteen Thousand Acres of the La Puente Rancho to Be Furnished With Water Through Huge Conduits Along the Shoulders of the Sierra Madre Range.

COVINA, June 15.—Will the great stretch of unirrigated lands south of Covina, known as the "Lucky" Baldwin plains, be irrigated with Owens River water from the Los Angeles aqueduct?

Fifteen thousand acres of this La Puente rancho still remain without water, and there is a movement now in progress that may mean the bringing of a huge conduit along the shoulders of the Sierra Madre range, through Pasadena and all foothill towns up to the upper San Gabriel Valley.

Members of the department of public service of Los Angeles city are now in touch with the officers of irrigating companies, and the coming week will see all irrigating companies in joint session with Los Angeles officials for the purpose of devising some method by which the Owens River water may be prorated among the co-operative companies of the valley.

The Covina Irrigating Company, the Columbia Land and Water Company, the La Puente Water Company and five other smaller concerns in the Covina district, have been asked to send representatives to a big meeting to be held next Thursday. Already the irrigating companies of Azusa and Glendora have taken action. A committee has been formed from the valley companies, to be known as the "Owens River Water Committee." The personnel includes J. R. Elliott, superintendent of the Covina Irrigating Company; W. Bowman and A. P. Griffith of Azusa. Attentative project is to take 2000 California miner's inches for six months at 2 cents the inch, or 2000 inches for one year at 1 cent the inch. This water will augment the gravity supply from the San Gabriel Canyon, and the pump supply, of which there is already a huge amount developed.

SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Commencement exercises in the High School auditorium on Friday evening, were marked by a simplicity that is gratifying to the city, and the twenty-two graduates were tendered high honors and unstinted praise. Earl Philleo, president of the class, delivered an address of welcome, and the oration was delivered by Mark B. Custer. A distinct feature was the original poem on California, written and delivered by Miss Maud Fairly. Ellen Beach Yaw's song, "California," was sung by the girls' High School glee club. The graduates are as follows: Ruth Maude Arthur, Helen Broadwell, Marjorie Capron, Hazel Clifford, Raymond Crenshaw, Mark Custer, Claire Didier, Louis Didier, Walter Eason, Maud Fairly, Irma Fickewirth, Hessa Graham, Mae Hepner, Edith Hull, L. Boyd King, Hazel Mann, Earl Philleo, Pearl Elsie Rebhan, Muriel Sherwood, Charles Speer, Leanta Stafford and William Wilson.

NEWS BRIEFS.

At a meeting of the ranchers on the south of Covina who own 435 acres of newly-set orange trees, it was decided to name the new district "Valencia Heights." With the exception of a few acres of lemons the district is all set to Valencia oranges.

The funeral of Francis J. Hastings, a retired grain dealer of Cambridge, Mass., was held here Friday afternoon. The pallbearers were T. F. Griswold, W. M. Griswold, W. H. Collins, W. W. Nash, J. C. Hutchinson and M. Leonhardt. Burial was in Oakdale Cemetery.

No trace has yet been found of the two Mexicans who robbed the store of Ward A. Hays while the proprietor was engaged in waiting on other customers. The Mexicans secured three suits of clothes, and were last seen boarding a car for Los Angeles.

SIERRA MADRE HAS NEW JAIL.

Marshal Udell of the Picturesque Foothill Town Wears a Smile Since it Was Installed.

SIERRA MADRE, June 15.—Marshal Udell of Sierra Madre wears a broad and constant grin these days while patrolling his bailiwick. Recorder Perry chuckles with glee when he draws a complaint. No longer will the marshal hike to Arcadia or Pasadena with his prisoners. No more will the Recorder be disturbed from his peaceful slumbers to bail some transgressor of the law. The march of modern progress has at last reached this town. There has been installed in a former star chamber of the City Council a brand new steel jail, which was recently shipped from one of the more wicked cities of the East.

The old regime has changed and woe unto the wicked, for Marshal Udell is gayly dangling his keys and with eager and vigilant eye looking for his prey. The new steel cage is about 12x14 feet, and contains two iron cots, bedding has been placed therein, sanitary conditions have been perfected. The door stands ajar welcoming its first inmate.

Recorder Charles H. Perry, who is also City Clerk, Tax Collector, Assessor and all that goes with the office sits quietly at the door of the main entrance to the new City Jail. When business is dull and his nerves require relaxing, he quietly slips into jail, rolls a cigarette and reclining on one of the new mattressed cots, dreams of his happy days back in Chicago, when composing music for some now famous opera singers.

In has been found that the jail will serve many purposes when idle. City records can be locked up here when the safe combination is changed or lost. There being no pound for stray animals, it has been suggested it may serve this [illegible] paper reporters are [illegible] if too inquisitive. THESE DOCTORS CAN CURE YOU

Drs. Shores & Shores Have Treated 100,000 Patients in Twenty Years—They Are Skilled Specialists

There are no long waits for beneficial results when you treat with Drs. Shores. They know the symptoms of chronic diseases, and apply the proper remedy at once. Their fees are low, but you cannot get better medical service at any price. Thousands of people right here in Southern California have been treated by these wonderful doctors and where a cure is possible they cure to stay cured. Don't waste time in experimenting with doctors who have not had the same facilities and experience, but come to the doctors who really know, and whom you can rely on to give you the best treatment, most skilled service, and yet be easy on your pocketbook. Now, Drs. Shores especially invite those who are skeptical to come. They will tell you very quickly just what your trouble is, and if and how you can be cured. Drs. Shores are each regular graduates and licensed physicians and are strictly reliable. CALL OR WRITE.

Free to the Sick

Drs. Shores offer a thorough medical examination free to all who apply this week with catarrh, deafness or any other chronic or nervous disease, to demonstrate their superior skill. Terms for treatment low and uniform.

Electricity—Medicine

Drs. Shores' offices are equipped with modern appliances and apparatus; remember, all medicines are furnished free. SPECIAL DEPARTMENT FOR TREATING WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

True Specialists

Drs. Shores have spent many years in the study and treatment of Catarrh, Asthma, Chronic and Nervous Diseases of Men, Women and Children. They have treated thousands, an experience rarely ever granted any specialists, and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price, not because they don't know how, but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and, in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to studying CATARRH, CONSUMPTION, CHRONIC AND NERVOUS DISEASES. There is where they excel and there is where they can serve you better than most anyone else. Don't be a permanent invalid. They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to cure it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat, the Lungs, and they know what to do for these troubles.

A Remedy No Family Should Do Without

No matter how healthy a human being may be it is safe to say that not many months are passed without some obstruction of the bowels, in other words, constipation, even if only temporary. The bloating, the dull feeling may start after the evening meal. If a laxative is not taken that night it is certain that sleep will not be sound, and you will awaken unrefreshed.

Hence, it is important for you and for all the members of your family that a good, reliable laxative be always kept in the house for just such emergency. It is sure to be needed, and when needed you want it at hand. No family that is careful of its health can do without such a remedy. But the question of which remedy to have on hand is also of vast importance.

The laxative most highly recommended by the majority of intelligent Americans as being best for babies and grown [illegible] Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. MYERS FUNERAL TODAY.

Body of Upland Physician Will Be Sent to Ohio Tonight for Interment—News Briefs.

UPLAND, June 15.—Short funeral services are to be held at the Draper funeral parlors Sunday afternoon over the remains of Dr. A. Myers, who died at his home in this city, June 12, after a short illness. The body is to be sent to the old family home, at Hamilton, O., for interment, and will be accompanied by a son. Dr. Myers had resided in Upland for the past eight years.

HATHORN FUNERAL.

A. R. Hathorn, one of the older residents of Upland, passed away at his home on First avenue. Short funeral services were held at the Methodist Church Friday afternoon, conducted by the pastor. Undertaker Flinn of Upland prepared the body for shipment, and accompanied by the widow and son, it was shipped on Saturday to Hamilton, O., for interment. Mr. Hathorn was an old-time friend of Dr. A. Myers, their homes here were within a block of each other, and their deaths occurred but about twenty-four hours apart. Mr. Hathorn had occupied a number of places of trust during his residence here, and he had gained many friends by his sterling honesty and upright character.

REFUSES TO MOURN.

About the only local interest which attaches to the report of the grand jury, just made public yesterday, is over the recommendation of the abolishment of the office of public administrator. This office is held at present by H. D. Blakeslee, of Upland, who defeated W. E. Westland, then of Highland, now of Upland, for the place. When seen at an early hour today, Mr. Blakeslee said he had not seen the report of the grand jury, but that, in case the office was abolished, as recommended, his feelings would not be greatly injured thereby. The report of the jury highly commended Mr. Blakeslee's administration.

ANNUAL BANQUET.

Sixty members and guests of the Woman's Club sat down to the annual banquet given at the clubrooms on the night of the final meeting for the year just closed. After a splendid repast, served by a local caterer, there was a series of speechmaking, among the speakers being Mrs. George Barlow, the retiring president of the club, who acted as toastmistress; Mrs. Adda Manker, whose subject was "Our Guests;" M. F. Palmer, "Our New Citizens;" Rev. R. C. Stone, general remarks; C. P. Fuller, "Our Country;" Ernest Fischer, general remarks; Mrs. Mae Cable, "Dreams of the Future;" E. B. Reynolds, remarks on general improvements, and greetings from the Upland Chamber of Commerce, of which he is secretary; H. C. Kennedy spoke on the "City Beautiful," and the fixed programme of the evening closed with a general summing up by Mrs. E. L. Westland on all the remarks of the former speakers. After this general conversation was enjoyed by the guests for a time, and the affair closed a most pronounced success.

BOUNDARY LINE WILL BE FIXED.

REPRESENTATIVE AT WASHINGTON WIRES ASSURANCE.

Republican Platform Is to Contain a Plank Demanding the Appointment of a Commission to Establish a "Scientific" Boundary Between the Two Countries.

EL CENTRO, June 15.—A telegram was received today from George L. Melton, from Washington, giving assurance that the administration understands the necessity for co-operation with the Mexican government in the distribution of the waters of the Colorado River. Mr. Melton, who is the secretary of the Imperial Valley Irrigation District, has been at the national capital for a number of weeks, in the interest of the district.

In his telegram, Mr. Melton states: "It is announced that a plank in Taft's platform will demand the appointment of a commission to establish a new 'scientific' boundary-line between Mexico and the United States, particular application to the mouth of the Colorado and use of its waters for irrigation purposes. Our demands have been heard and Imperial Valley is on the map."

AUTOS FOR STUDENTS.

An innovation to be adopted at the beginning of the coming school year will be the running of an automobile bus to carry pupils to and from the Central Union High School at El Centro. The auto will be put on for the accommodation of the pupils in the western portion of the High School district, whose homes are at some distance from the school. Pupils in the McCabe, Date and a portion of the Eucalyptus school districts will be carried to and from their homes each day. Others who live five or more miles from the school will be allowed a transportation fee of $5 a month.

The school will open the third Monday in September in a portion of the handsome new group of buildings now in course of construction.

BRIEF MENTION.

The men and boys of the Sunday-school of the State-street Christian Church were the guests of the ladies at a lawn social given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Mayfield at the corner of Sixth and Olive streets, Friday evening. The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns, and supper was served at small tables on the lawn.

Miss Anne Madison has been passing the week at Lake Tahoe, attending a convention of county librarians. Miss Madison is in charge of the Carnegie library at El Centro.

Mrs. Ira Aten and Mrs. Mary Garren have returned from San Diego, where they attended the State Women's Christian Temperance Union convention.

FLOOD WATERS COVER VALLEY.

Blythe Residents Compelled to Desert Their Homes.

River Reaches the Highest Point in Its History.

Salton Sea Is Not Threatened, Say Experts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BLYTHE, June 15.—Flood waters of the Colorado River, which was at the highest stage in its history, covered Blythe and adjacent territory in the Palo Verde Valley tonight to a depth of four or five feet.

Two breaks in the Olive Lake dyke near here complicated the situation tonight and resulted in the desertion of their homes by many, in addition to the hundred families previously estimated as having been driven from their residences to seek safety on higher ground.

The misery of the flood sufferers was increased by the presence on the higher spots of many rattlesnakes and other poisonous reptiles driven out of the lower desert points by the influx of water.

LEVEE BREAKS AGAIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEEDLES IS THREATENED.

NEEDLES, June 15.—Three more breaks in the dykes along the Arizona side of the Colorado River above Needles increased the danger of residents of that section tonight.

The new fissures appeared in the government and the Cotton Land Company's dykes, which were unable longer to withstand the increasing height and current of the river.

It was believed by many that other breaks had occurred, but the limited transportation facilities from one point along the river to another made definite information an impossibility.

WATCH IMPERIAL INTAKE.

EXPERT SAYS DANGER SLIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, June 15.—Although it was believed there was no danger of the flood waters of the Colorado River working their way again into the Salton Sea, the reclaimed stretch of desert which lies many feet below the level of the sea, forty men were stationed at the Imperial intake today to patrol the levees and make immediate repair of any possible damage.

The water gauge at Bowker's gate on Volcano Lake showed a level of 34.6 feet tonight. The top of the levee is forty-one feet high. Experts declared there was no possibility of a rise of six feet in the river.

J. C. Allison, chief engineer of the California Development Company, after inspecting the levee system which protects the Imperial Valley, asserted there was no indication that the waters would again flood the Salton Sea. He stated that the reason the unusually high waters were not threatening the levees here was that new channels had been created and that the run-off elsewhere was more rapid than ever before.

HIGHEST IN YEARS.

LEVEES ARE HOLDING OUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) June 15.—Higher than it has been here since the summer of 1884, the Colorado River flood waters reached the foot of the levees in the Yuma Valley today.

It was believed that the levees in this section would not be endangered unless the water rose more than four feet higher. It was estimated that about four days would elapse before the crest of the flood now at Needles, Cal., would reach Yuma.

MORE LEVEES BROKEN.

DAMAGE IS EXTENDING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 15.—The Colorado River flood situation assumed graver aspects tonight upon the receipt here of a revised government estimate that the crest of the swollen waters was due June 26, when 31 feet were expected to be registered at Yuma, Ariz.

Late reports tonight were to the effect that the damage by flood was constantly extending. Levees near Ehrenburg were said to have been broken by the flood and 100 miles farther north, near Searchlight, Nev., the buildings of the Riverside Ranch Company were reported under water.

BOATS REQUIRED.

ARIZONA SIDE THREATENED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, June 15.—Boats were required today to rescue the inhabitants of the town of Blythe, the chief town of the Palo Verde Valley on the Colorado River. The entire town and surrounding country is under from four to five feet of water.

The river, at the highest flood stage within memory, is cutting its way rapidly through dykes toward the Salton Sea, the great sink flooded by the Colorado River when it last swept into the Imperial Valley, the reclaimed desert which lies from 50 to 150 feet below sea level.

The town of Rannells, also in the Palo Verde Valley, lies in the path of the spreading flood, and appears to be doomed. Men familiar with conditions along the Colorado River say the damage wrought by the stream in the last two weeks will mount up to millions.

On the Arizona side the situation is even worse than on the California side. Work gangs sent out to make an effort toward stemming the flood tides are threatened with starvation. The waters have cut off supplies, and attempts were made today to send provisions into the Mojave Valley in wagons, which will try to make a wide detour around the flooded section.

Tickets should read "Coronado."

TO CHANGE SPECIFICATIONS.

By Substituting Sandstone for Marble, Architect Hopes to Let Contract for Santa Barbara Building.

SANTA BARBARA, June 15.—By substituting native sandstone for marble for the exterior trimmings, and by other alternative possibilities, the supervising architect of the Treasury Department expects to be able to announce the award of the contract for the Santa Barbara postoffice building within a few days. This intimation was received today from Washington, and relieves the tension of the local people, who had feared another long delay. It was the second time bids had been called, and all of the second lot of offers exceeded the appropriation of $110,000. It appears now that the bids included alternative propositions, under which the contract can be let within the available amount.

BIXBY BUYS.

F. H. Bixby, of the well-known Long Beach family, has been here this week to inspect his recent purchase, the 5000-acre Cojo rancho, near Pt. Concepcion. Bixby announces that it is the intention of his company to ship all of the live stock from the Long Beach ranch to Cojo, in order that the Alamitos acreage may be devoted wholly to intensive farming. The Cojo tract is admirably adapted to grazing.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Members and engineers of the State Highway Commission have inspected the Rincon causeway, which will provide the sea-level connecting link in the highway between Santa Barbara and Ventura. After spending nearly $40,000, raised by popular subscription, construction ceased, as the money ran out. About $12,000 more is needed to complete the viaduct. The State Commission has been asked to take over and finish the improvement, as a part of State highway. No decision will be made until the commission meets late in July.

A red hot time is expected at a special meeting of the Supervisors Monday, when the Goleta Committee of Twenty will confront Supervisor Albert W. Conover with written charges of extravagance in paying $10 per day for a foreman and $7.50 a day for an asphalt expert. Conover has invited the committee to appear and he adds that "politics" inspires the rumpus. The proposition to improve the roads of the Carpinteria Valley will be up for final adjustment at the same meeting.

HAWAIIAN ORCHARDS RAVAGED.

Weinland, After Year on Island, Declares Mediterranean Fly is Menace to Industry.

BANNING, June 15.—Henry Weinland, son of Rev. W. H. Weinland, of Banning—who left this city a year ago for Honolulu, reports the fears of California fruit growers as being well founded concerning the ravages of the white fly in all kinds of fruit. Weinland is in the service of the California State Horticultural Commission at Honolulu and is actively engaged in swatting the Mediterranean fly. At present he is in California.

Weinland declares there is no greater menace, and consequently of more interest to California fruit growers, than the white fly, which is puzzling the horticulturists of many lands. He states that the fly was first known in Hawaii in 1910, and in the interval to this time has extended its ravages to all but one of the five important islands of the group. The fly has literally destroyed hundreds of acres of fruits such as are commonly grown in Southern California, and the Hawaiian and United States authorities have united in a systematic campaign against the pest, with fair results as many orchards producing maggots of the fly last season are this year free of the pest.

There is no effective parasite to combat the fly, Weinland declares, and the inspectors are fighting it by gathering infected fruit as it ripens and burning the same in a public furnace which has lately been provided.

BIG LAND DEAL CONSUMMATED.

Byrne Tract Near San Jacinto Brings More Than One Hundred Thousand Dollars—News Briefs.

SAN JACINTO, June 15.—The biggest land transaction of the year in San Jacinto is reported this week in the sale of the Byrne tract for $101,000. This body of land consists of 1780 acres, situated three miles northwest of San Jacinto. It is all within the artesian belt, and, with the exception of 300 acres, is pasture land. A portion is covered with a dense growth of cottonwoods. The purchasers are McGary and Poorman, extensive dairymen. It is reported that the tract will be used for a large dairy ranch. Hundreds of acres are adapted to beet culture, corn, alfalfa and other crops necessary to the successful operation of a dairy farm.

Mrs. Harriet Waggener this week sold her thirty-acre-improved place on the mesa to E. R. Benson of Eagle Rock, Los Angeles county, California, the consideration being $10,000. As part of the purchase price Mr. Benson transfers to Mrs. Waggener property at Eagle Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie of Santa Ana have purchased the J. H. Schain ten acre improved place at Fruitvale for $4500 and will take possession at once.

BONDS AUTHORIZED.

With the application of the Southern California Utilities Company to the State Railroad Commission for permission to sell bonds to the sum of $10,000,000 the first definite public information of the movements of moneyed interests that have been busy in the San Jacinto Valley and mountains for years was given out. There have been many rumors of what was doing in the way of big deals among land and water corporations, but nothing definite could be learned from the tight lipped capitalists concerned.

What the expenditure of $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 in developing water and power in this immediate vicinity means to the territory concerned is difficult to over-estimate. The imagination has ample scope for the greatest visions and still be within the bounds of reason. Great manufacturing power, an electric-lighted valley, irrigationists watering their orchards and their alfalfa fields with electric-driven motors, dairymen turning their churns by pressing an electric button, passenger and freight trolley lines connecting the valley with Redlands, Riverside and San Diego—these are some of the many advantages that may be realized in the consummation of the $10,000,000 bond issue.

In the meantime scores of men are busy on the streets of San Jacinto placing poles and stringing miles of wire for the Sierra Power Company, a concern that promises to have its power lines in operation for use of irrigationists during the present irrigation season.

LAST BIRTHDAY OF OLD NORMAL.

Graduates of Thirty Years Ago Say Good-by.

Next Celebration in Brand New Assembly Hall.

Buds and Blooms Gathered in Sweet Rivalry.

The sweet girl graduate of the days of bustles, low-necked bodices and poke bonnets, met the sweet girl graduate of 1912 last night in the old Normal school building up on the hill.

When the girl graduate who started attending Normal school in 1882 met the radiant young creature who has just learned how to teach the "young idea how to shoot" there was nothing lost in comparison by the girl of 1882. She was as furbelowed, as dainty and as high-bred as her younger sister, albeit her complexion may not have been just as blooming and a close scrutiny might have discovered some tiny "crow's feet" near the corners of her still bright eyes.

Last night the girl of the past and the girl of the present met at a reception at which exercises were held in the nature of a last farewell to the old pile which has housed 3500 budding school teachers in its years of service. It was the thirtieth birthday of the school and 700 of the alumni attended the reception and entertainment. There were about 600 feminine guests to 100 masculine.

The birthdays of the school are celebrated every five years and as the old school will be abandoned within the next two years, last night's reception was a good-by to the old school.

President Millspaugh was the busiest person at the reception, as he shook hands with all the graduates he knew personally, besides acknowledging introductions to those who graduated in the earlier days.

In a short address Dr. Millspaugh reviewed the history of the school and told of the great things that are expected of it in the future when the new home will be located on twenty-five acres of ground out on Vermont avenue.

After the address the guests were treated to a presentation of a clever little satirical comedy entitled "The Pedagogue," of which Isabelle McReynolds Grey and Helen Charles are co-authors.

The characters in the play were as follows: Poppies—Julia Smith, Sue Shank, Elizabeth Blair, Miss E. Ross, Mona Harraman, M. McHugh, H. Darling, G. Nuffer, M. Schryer and F. Asherst: fairies—Marjory Maughlin and girls from training school; the Girl—Irene Harnly; the Boy—Anne MacDermott; Pedagogue—Mrs. Isabel Gray; Teacher—Loilid Reynolds; Model Class—S. Gough, G. Phelps, B. Brewer, B. Prince, B. Beal and P. Massey; other girl—Evelyn Stone; other boy—Emma Williams; Butterflies—Edith Ealyer and children; Dryads—Marguerite Wetherby and children.

HORTICULTURAL MEETING.

Claremont Organization to Hold Its Semi-Annual Convention in Ganesha Park, Pomona.

POMONA, June 15.—Arrangements are all completed for the semi-annual meeting of the Claremont Horticultural Club, to be held at Ganesha Park Monday. The sessions will begin at 10 o'clock in the forenoon as a number of noted speakers are on the programme, and it is desired to have two of the addresses delivered before luncheon.

Van Vliet Leroy is chairman of the Programme Committee, and the speakers will be Dr. Cyril J. Hopkins of the University of Illinois, who is a leading soil expert, and well versed in all branches of agriculture and horticulture. He was brought to Southern California by the State Horticultural Commission, and has been attending the State fruit growers' convention at Santa Barbara. C. P. Lipman, an agricultural expert of the University of California, will speak on successful fruit culture; H. S. Fawcett, who is an authority on citrus fruit diseases, will speak on "Orange Culture in Florida." Having studied ctrus culture there for six years, he will show that the problems which confront the Florida growers are paralleled here in Southern California.

Dr. A. J. Cook, formerly president of the club, and now State Horticultural Commissioner, will address the meeting on "Quarantine," and will tell what is being done to protect California against the introduction of injurious insects. E. O. Essig, a graduate of Pomona College and now secretary of the State Horticultural Commission, will speak of the general work that is being done by the commission. This meeting bids fair to be the best ever planned by the club.

The newly elected officers of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal Church are Mrs. W. H. Schureman, president; Mrs. George S. Phillips, first vice-president; Mrs. S. D. McIntyre, second vice-president; Miss Lillian Fox, secretary; Mrs. Mel Campbell, treasurer. The Guild has just ordered new furniture for the Guild hall.

Francis Bichowsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bichowsky of West Holt avenue, who is the author of the Pomona College senior class play, "The Girl of Indian Hill," and who will be graduated from Pomona College on Wednesday, will leave in August for Harvard, where he will pursue advanced studies, having won a fellowship in chemistry.

TROPICO.

TROPICO, June 15.—"Flag Day" was celebrated with more than usual interest in Tropico this year. Under the direction of the Woman's Relief Corps, Miss Frances M. Richardson, the "flag lady," told of "The Growth and Triumph of the American Flag." A large crowd was present to hear the lecture, which was an eloquent story of the greatest country of all ages.

Burbank's
Spineless Cactus

Owing to the great demand, Mr. Mertes announces he will be here one more week to give you a chance to order.

27 Varieties to Select From

The greatest fodder and fruit bearing crop in the world. It will produce 300 tons of fodder per acre, or 100 tons of fruit per acre.

The fruit is delicious raw or made into jams, jellies, syrups, etc., and produced at less than one-tenth the cost of other fruits; it usually sells at the same price as oranges.

There never can be a crop failure.

Dairy and Cattlemen Take Notice

Burbank's Spineless Cactus are the richest food known in sodium potash and magnesia, the principal salts found in milk. These valuable organic salts are found in cactus more abundantly than in any other fodder. The fruit contains 6 to 14 per cent. sugar, besides a small amount of protein and fat, also aromas and flavors.

The planting season for 1912 is now open. Order today. A limited number to each person.

There have been many imposters selling a so-called Burbank's Cactus; they are half spineless, slow grower and injurious to cattle.

All shipments direct from Luther Burbank and his farms.

They cannot be bought anywhere else in the world. See samples. Prices as low as 40c each; 10, $2.50; 100, $20; 1000, $140.

NEWPORT BEACH HAS ROCK FOR PROPOSED JETTIES.

NEWPORT BEACH, June 15.—At the request of Major McKinstry, the United States Government Engineer, a committee from the Newport Chamber of Commerce, has been prospecting for a supply of rock near at hand suitable for the building of the jetty at the entrance to Newport Harbor. This committee reports a cliff a mile long and from 100 to 300 feet high composed of rock suitable for the purpose, as the rock is sandstone with traces of iron and is intensely hard when exposed to the air. From the ledge to the bay where it will be required for use is only a short down hill haul.

The public recognizes the fact that the time for dredging Newport Harbor, the widening of the harbor entrance and the building of jetties, is now at hand and the early completion of this work is necessary to meet the rapidly increasing demands for the numerous ocean and coastwise steamers and for tidewater terminals for other railroads that will soon come to the southwest coast.

Other transcontinental railroads will not permit the enormous oriental trade of the Pacific to be handled by two railroads with terminals at tidewater.

A short time previous to E. H. Harriman's death he purchased the "Iron Chief Iron Mine" embracing thousands of acres of high grade iron ore, located in Riverside county about fifty miles from Mecca. A company with a capital of $10,000,000, has been incorporated to develop this property; build a branch railroad to the mine, erect a blast furnace for the manufacture of pig iron and erect a steel plant. This will make possible the making of armor plate, structural steel, railroad rails, stoves, cooking utensils and all articles made from iron and steel, and the employment of thousands of men in their manufacture.

The building of a blast furnace deserves the instant attention of the people of the Southwest. The different commercial organizations should combine to secure its location at either Newport harbor or at San Pedro and either of these are the only really available sites. The wide approach to Newport harbor makes that place especially desirable, as it is nearer the base of supply of iron ore and there is a large area of land for all buildings, ample room for tracks and switches and land is cheaper than at other places.

FIRST GRADUATE THERE.

The first graduate of the University of Iowa sat at the banquet tables in the Hayward Grill yesterday noon and recounted tales of the days of its inception to the alumni of the University of Iowa Club of this city. E. Edson Smith of Santa Ana who graduated in 1859 was the first to receive a degree. There were about seventy-five members of the club at the dinner, which was presided over by Judge Willis. Among other speakers, Judge Willis introduced Dr. F. L. Pickard, president of the university from the year 1878 to the year 1887, who has been passing the winter in Los Angeles.

FINANCIAL NEWS SUMMARY.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—President Finley of the Southern Railway announces the purchase of 45 locomotives, 487 cars and 26,200 tons rails.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. said to be back of $150,000,000 merger of electric power company in Pennsylvania.

Chairman Wilcox of the Public Service Committee expressed personal approval of the B.R.T. Company's financial plan to issue ten million forty-nine-year 5 per cent. bonds to be used as collateral for short term loans.

Eastern steamship corporation controlled by friends of Charles W. Morse gets Dominion Atlantic Line.

German financiers predict early increase in Berlin bank rate.

Twenty rails declined .65 per cent.

Twelve industrials declined .55 per cent.

After a somewhat higher opening, which was induced by the firmness of American issues abroad, prices again displayed a reactionary tendency during the first hour of today's session, but later some strength developed as the result of short covering with the consequences that price changes from last night's closing were not material.

There was little news of marked influence in circulation, but the weakness of the agricultural commodity markets was regarded favorably, particularly as the crop aspect is considered to be the chief factor as far as the stock market is concerned, that is, looking at things in a broad way.

Advices as to the state of general trade are quite cheerful, with bank clearings somewhat about the average and collections better, though not above fair.

Estimates are being put forth relative to probable earnings of the Steel Corporation for the quarter ending with June and the same range from 25 to 25½ million dollars.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Old hay is about cleaned up in this market and the jobbers are quoting new hay prices, lowering the price from $3 to $5 a ton, the prices becoming effective yesterday. As the harvest progresses, slight drops will occur, but predictions are that the drop within the next thirty days will not amount to more than $1 or $2.

In produce there was a large volume of business, prices remaining practically unchanged.

There were enough tomatoes to supply the demand, which was not large. Tomatoes sold on the street at $1.50 a four-basket crate and shipping stock brought $1.85.

The first shipment of summer apples of the season came in, from the North. It consisted of ten boxes, of the Red Astrachan variety, and sold at $2.50 a box.

Apricots were plentiful, but they were fairly well cleaned up for Sunday. Peaches were scarce, selling on the street at $1.65 a box. Cantaloupes were scarce and predictions are that they will be scarce all this week. The few cantaloupes on hand were disposed of early in the day.

No report was received from shipments of overdue bananas. Owing to broken levees about New Orleans, bananas are coming around by the North, causing a delay of about seven days. The market was about depleted yesterday, there being no fancy stock on hand.

New potatoes were plentiful, but only about one-tenth graded to fancy. The fancy brought 65 cents a lug box and poor stock sold as low as 40 cents. Green corn was scarce, at $1.25 a lug box. Sweet potatoes were also scarce, but the demand was light.

There were no changes on the produce exchange. Receipts were: Eggs, 490 cases; butter, 75,960 pounds; cheese, 13,581 pounds; potatoes, 47 sacks; beans, 50 sacks.

THE COPPER INDUSTRY.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York and other exchanges, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

No London metal market Saturday.

The directors of the Tennessee Copper Company meet for dividend action July 20, and 17½-cent copper should help a decision to place stock on a quarterly basis of $4 per annum.

The United States Smelting Refining and Mining Company has established a branch office of its exploration department at Seattle, Wash., with D. D. Muir, Jr., engineer in charge. Apparently the United States Company is preparing to get a holding in Alaska, as it announces it is prepared to examine for purchase any meritorious metal properties in the Northwest and Alaska.

Hayden, Stone & Co., say:

"Amalgamated copper, being now exclusively a securities' holding company, its revenue figures have comparatively little significance, these being entirely dependent upon the amount distributed by the Anaconda company, whose shares constitute its chief treasury asset.

"As a matter of fact, as we pointed out a week or two ago, Anaconda paid last year slightly more than it earned; consequently, the income reported by Amalgamated exceeded slightly the real earnings behind its shares.

"However, all this is now past history. What concerns the Amalgamated stockholder are the earnings behind the shares, with the metal at current prices and the amount that he is likely to receive, in the event of a dissolution of the company, which, by all indications is something that is ultimately well assured of taking place. The Amalgamated added to its holdings of Anaconda stock last year, through the dissolution of the Butte Coalition, 26,000 shares and has now in its treasury almost exactly two shares of this for one Amalgamated outstanding; consequently, if Anaconda earnings are figured at $4.50 a share, Amalgamated may be said to be earning around $9. In addition it has 154,000 shares of Greene-Cananea, equivalent, at current prices, to about $1 per share on Amalgamated.

"These and its holdings of United Metal Selling Company, seem to constitute practically all its assets, as it has apparently invested its surplus in these holdings of treasury stock, its current liabilities, including $12,500,000 notes, slightly exceeding its current assets.

"To all intents and purposes, then, Amalgamated's liquidating price may be figured at just about twice the market price per share of Anaconda."

"Ray Consolidated's May output was a shade over 3,000,000 pounds, decidedly the largest figures it has ever reported for a single month. Judging from its last quarterly report, it is probably safe to assume that the cost of production is now not far from 9c a pound. Briefly, this means that with but half its mill producing, Ray is earning today pretty close to $2 per share.

"In the list of events of the week of more than passing importance was the decision of Judge Sessions, in which the petition of Godfrey M. Hyams for a permanent injunction restraining the carrying out of the milling scheme of Isle Royale and Tamarack was denied.

"Interest in this controversy centered largely in the affairs of Isle Royale, which for some little time has been at a disadvantage owing to a lack of stamping facilities.

"By the terms of the plan to which Mr. Hyams took exception, the Isle Royale is to purchase for the sum of $140,000 a stock interest in the Lake Milling, Smelting and Refining Company, which in return will insure the use of two stamps, thereby permitting an increase of some 1400 to 1500 tons in the daily rock shipments. It had been planned to supply the first stamp commencing last month and the second during the last quarter of the year, from which it would appear that the company has already suffered a loss of earnings as a result of the injunction proceedings. Meanwhile, however, development work has been pushed forward, and now that the management is unhampered the initial increase in rock shipments may be expected."

Boston News Bureau says:

"Superior & Boston will shortly increase its ore shipments to the Old Dominion smelter. The management has decided to resume operations at the Limestone at once. This shaft was sunk a little over 300 feet, and on the third level a promising ore body was opened up for over 100 feet. No ore was ever stoped from this level, but assays average better than 6 per cent. copper. There is a good hoist at this shaft and the railroad passes within fifty feet of it, so that it will be only necessary to hoist the ore from underground and dump it into cars waiting at the siding for this purpose. The shaft is of 1½ compartments. Work was discontinued when the large McGaw shaft was started as it was thought that the Limestone property could be developed through the McGaw workings.

"It is also proposed to extend a crosscut from the third level of the Limestone shaft under Quo Vadis Hill, and this exploratory work will be watched with much interest."

Last Offering of Coblentz at 15 Cents

We offer a limited amount of the stock of the Coblentz Oil Company to you at 15 cents per share. We believe this to be a clean-cut, square deal oil speculation. Coblentz is still in the speculative stage, else it would not be available at this low price. We cite below our reasons for recommending this stock. Read this advertisement carefully and be guided by your own business judgment.

It Is Not Over Capitalized

The Coblentz Oil Company is incorporated under the laws of California. Its authorized capital stock is $400,000, par value $1.00 per share. At the present time there is nearly 200,000 shares of stock in the treasury. This places a very modest valuation on the company's properties.

Well Located Properties

The property consists of a twenty year lease on forty-eight acres of ground in the Santa Maria field adjoining the New Pennsylvania, a successful dividend payer. The largest well on the New Pennsylvania is the nearest well to the Coblentz property, about 600 yards distant from Coblentz well No. 1. The Pennsylvania well above referred to has an earning capacity of approximately $75,000 per year. This well has been producing 300 barrels of twenty-five gravity oil daily for nearly three years, having a remarkable record for consistency of production.

Successful Oil Men In Control

The officers and directors are: T. R. Finley, President and Manager; Frank Smith, Vice-President; Edward Morris, Secretary; First National Bank, Treasurer. Mr. Finley is also President and Manager of the New Pennsylvania Petroleum Company.

A Home Company Financed By Home People

The Coblentz Company is almost altogether made up of Santa Maria people who have put up practically all of the money for development thus far. Local people have been glad to purchase the stock because of the evident value of the property as proven by the neighboring New Pennsylvania developments.

Property Is Well Equipped

The property is equipped with full Standard rig, tools, houses, tanks, casing and other requirements. The hole is cased with 12½, 10, 8 and 6 inch pipe. The company has over a thousand feet of 4½ inch pipe on hand with which to continue drilling. The equipment is worth about $30,000.

Dead Work Nearly All Completed

The hard grinding work has been done. The well is down 3750 feet. President Finley states that they anticipate getting oil within the next 600 feet and probably within 300 feet. He says: "We base this assertion to the relative location of our well to New Pennsylvania No. 6, which is 1700 feet away. From a dip in the slope it is safe to say that 600 feet on the outside will reach the sands encountered in that well which were productive of one of the best wells in the old field."

In Good Financial Condition

At last report the company's indebtedness was but $2500 and a few thousand dollars additional will be necessary to complete well No. 1. The treasury stock which we are selling for the company will no doubt take care of this amount and provide a surplus, leaving the company in good, strong financial condition.

Coblentz Is To Be Listed

The company expects to list the stock on the San Francisco or Los Angeles Exchange just as soon as this well No. 1 is completed, as the same management did in the case of the New Pennsylvania.

Coblentz will bear the most intelligent analysis. With 200,000 shares of stock issued your purchase at 15 cents per share puts a valuation on the property of about $30,000. The equipment alone is worth this money. Remember we have only a limited amount of stock to offer at this price. It is a lower price than that at which the home people subscribed for their shares. This is why we call Coblentz a square deal oil speculation.

Speculative Possibilities

In buying this stock you are speculating on what the next 600 feet of work will produce. President Finley writes us that there is no doubt in his mind but that when it is finished Coblentz will get the same quality of oil as did New Pennsylvania No. 6, and this oil will sell for not less than 75 cents per barrel. The completion of this well, should it be as good as its nearest neighbor, means that this stock will jump to a value of between 50 cents and $2.00 per share.

Price Will Advance June 22nd

The foregoing is a concise statement of facts as we have them from reputable sources. We believe that this is the kind of stock that will appeal to every one who is looking for a stock which offers a reasonable chance for abnormal profits. The company is clean and we believe that the officers can be relied upon to give each shareholder a good run for his money. While next Saturday is the date set for advancing the price of stock, remember only a small amount of stock is available at this low figure and you should, therefore, send your order by return mail.

READING DECLINE IS A DIVERSION.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET DULL ALMOST TO STAGNATION.

Bear Pressure Helps Out Fall of Reading—News from Chicago Is All that Interests Board Room. Steel Is One of the Few Issues that Hold Firm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—Except for further weakness in Reading, today's stock market was dull to the point of stagnation. The decline in Reading was accelerated by bear pressure and there is also the general idea that nothing of especial benefit to the roads' shareholders is to be expected for some months. The board room manifested some interest in political developments at Chicago, but other news had little bearing on securities values.

Of the better-known issues United States Steel held firm and estimates of the corporation's earnings for the quarter soon to end were issued from unofficial quarters. Some forecasts were high as $26,000,000, or something like eight million in excess of returns for the first quarter of this year. In any event it is expected the result will fully cover dividend requirements of the common stock.

Today's bond market was steady with moderate sales, the aggregate amount par value being $476,000.

United States two's coupon and the three's and four's coupon and registers declined ¼ per cent. on call during the week.

PRICE OF WHEAT DROPS OFF MORE.

RAINS IN NORTHWEST CONTRIBUTE TO DECLINE.

Close Is Easy Despite Week-End Coverings—Corn Weakens Because of Moisture and Warmth in Chief Producing States—Provisions Are Let Down a Bit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Soaking rains in the Northwest, including the spring crop country beyond the Canadian line, made a lower market today for wheat. Despite week-end covering the close was easy, 3-8 to 3-8@½ down.

September wheat ranged from 103 3-8 to 104¼, with the close at 103⅝, a decline of 3-8 from last night.

Corn weakened because of well-proportioned moisture and warmth over the chief producing States. The fact that cash demand was slow discouraged the bulls and so, too, did liberal receipts. September corn fluctuated between 71¼ and 72, closing ¼ net lower at 71 5-8. No. 2 yellow 75@75¼.

Outside limits touched for September oats were 40 3-8 and 40⅞, with last sales ⅛ under last night at 40½. An expected larger run of hogs next week had considerable effect in putting down provisions. At the end of the day pork was less costly by 22½ to 25 and the rest of the list off 5@7½ to 12½.

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—Following is result of special replies from our 466 paid correspondents: Cool weather for greater part of the week made planting growth in States east of the Mississippi River below normal, but towards week's closing rains fell and temperatures rose, restoring conditions favorable to rapid growth. The rains were beneficial in all States save Georgia, South Carolina and parts of North Carolina. They were not hurtful save in Southern Georgia and Eastern and Southern South Carolina, where some grass is complained of and cultivation is slightly delayed. The condition does not yet appear serious. In the Mississippi Valley rainfall was highly beneficial and fields are quite clean. Warm weather alone is needed to stimulate rapid growth.

Texas reports continue excellent, the crop of the entire State being in fine condition. The cotton is growing fast and the fields are well tilled. The plant is small, but blooms have appeared in many central counties. In Oklahoma more rain would germinate seed planted late which is estimated in localities to be ten per cent. of the area. Save in the matter of plant growth, the developments of the week were almost wholly favorable. The lack of growth is prominent in correspondents' comments because the plant is small for the season.

By States:

Alabama—Low temperatures retarded growth which was not normal for week, but cultivation proceeds and fields are clean. Some cotton good size, some very small. Rains had been beneficial in northern and central counties.

Tennessee—Cool nights and dry ground made growth slow. Rain at close of the week gave just needed stimulus. Fields clean.

Mississippi—Low temperatures chief source of complaints. Some weevils appearing in infested districts. Crop clean and well cultivated. Rains of Thursday gave needed moisture.

Arkansas—Cool. Dry winds made growth slow, but general rains Thursday gave needed moisture. Plant small but well cultivated. Conditions not favor rapid growth. Little planting still in progress on lands from which water has receded. Plant in good condition. Warm weather needed for growth.

Georgia—Reports show irregularity. Some grassy fields, some well cultivated. Some large cotton, some just up or just planted. Growth slow owing to cold. Dry weather is needed.

South Carolina—Owing to cool weather temperature running very low plant. Some few grassy fields owing to excessive rainfall, but reports good and warm weather would cause very rapid growth.

North Carolina—Plant has good color, but low temperatures made growth slow. Rainfall sufficient. Some cotton unusually large. Expect rapid growth with warm weather.

Oklahoma—Light showers of great benefit to cotton, but many districts with 10 to 15 per cent. not up, need more rain. Plant healthy and soil conditions good.

Texas—North has fine stands, excellent soil condition and small plant making splendid growth. Central continues to do well. Some blooms appearing. In localities rain would be acceptable. Southern counties show excellent growth and condition although crop still late. In west rain would hasten growth but otherwise there is no complaint.

Logan and Bryan say:

"On strong cables, higher spots in Liverpool by 12 English points and continuation of good demand, sales amounting to 8000 bales for the half day. American market sold 9 to 15 points higher on and after the opening call. Heavy realizing was in evidence at the advance. Interests who have been good buyers of late, were conspicuous sellers and the market broke sharply, 18 to 19 points under the weight of the long cotton thrown over and developed a nervous tendency.

"Weather conditions showed some improvement in that the eastern belt generally had no rains over night except light scattered showers, but as an off-set Texas remained dry and hot with high winds reported.

"Indications over Sunday are for showers all sections, except West Texas where most needed. The market has had an advance in a short time of over three dollars a bale and some reaction is natural and to be expected. In fact, market would be more healthy and in better position to respond to the strong underlying conditions in the spot situation by reason of cleaning up on long contracts that have been accumulated on the advance."

Walter S. Halliwell, for many years one of Kansas City's prominent citizens, finds himself unable to longer resist the call of Los Angeles, and with his wife, son and daughter-in-law, is here to establish a permanent home. Halliwell is one of the builders of the famous Kansas City Convention Hall, reared in the record-breaking time of ninety days, and for years has been a leading spirit in the commercial circles of his home city.

BIBLE INSTITUTE GRADUATION.

The spring term of the Bible Institute will close next week, the day classes being abandoned for the examinations, but the evening classes will continue. On Monday evening the Fishermen's Club will meet; Tuesday evening, the Girls' Lyceum Club; Thursday evening, graduating exercises, and a reception to faculty and students, by the women's auxiliary; Friday evening, Bible class by Dr. R. A. Torrey. Excavation for the erection of the new Bible Institute building, on Hope street, will begin next week, the old buildings having been removed.

TO HONOR MISS SANFORD.

Miss Maria Sanford, professor emeritus of English in the University of Minnesota, is to be the honor guest of a dinner to be given early in July by the alumni of the institution. Former residents of Minnesota are also invited to attend. Miss Sanford is nearly 80 years old and was associated with the University almost since it was instituted, and tonight through the administration of three presidents Miss Beck, secretary of the Alumni, of No. 1014 West Thirtieth street, has charge of the arrangements for the banquet.

Pick and Drill Mine

This is What Shows on the 800 Foot Level

The 1st assay from the south drift, 150 feet from the shaft showed $8.25 in gold.

The 2nd assay, 170 feet from the shaft, $16.24 in gold.

The 3rd assay, 180 feet from the shaft, $21.75 in gold.

This shoot has widened from 6 to 19 inches and is getting stronger and wider with every round of holes.
Assays from stringers approaching the parallel ledge go $18.55.

The north and south drifts on the 600-foot level showed 261 feet of ore shoots from 2 to 7 feet in width, averaging better than $20 per ton. The Bonanza conditions on the 600 level are now being absolutely proven on the 800.

BUY LOT FOR LIBRARY.

Beaumont Will Apply for Carnegie Assistance and Construct a Commodious Building—News in Brief.

BEAUMONT, June 15.—A triangular lot in the center of the business district, bounded by D street and Grace and California avenue, has been purchased by the Beaumont Library Board and will be used as the site for a handsome new library building to be erected in the near future. An effort, which it is believed will be successful, has been started to secure a large donation for the building from the Carnegie library fund. The library now contains nearly 800 volumes.

ENGAGE SUPERINTENDENT.

The Board of School Trustees has re-employed Prof. C. S. Dodds as superintendent of the city schools for next year at an advanced salary. Contracts have been made with the following new teachers for next year: Miss Manchester, of Utah, Miss Thompson of Kansas, and Miss King of Banning, Cal. Mrs. H. R. Redmond and Miss Grace McCoy, who taught here last year, were re-employed. Several more teachers are yet to be selected.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Dr. H. M. Ward of San Bernardino, was in the city yesterday, viewing the proposed site of a large sanitarium, which he expects to establish in Beaumont if he is able to make satisfactory negotiations for the land he desires. In addition to the sanitarium Dr. Ward proposes to establish a college of osteopathy here.

N. C. Beebe of this city has purchased of C. C. Pool, of Chicago, a tract of fruit acreage in Cherry Valley, west, two miles north of Beaumont. The land is improved with a three-year-old apple orchard. The consideration was $400 an acre.

The poultry industry is growing rapidly in this section, an average of forty cases of eggs a week now being shipped from Beaumont. Until within the last year both poultry and eggs were shipped in here for local consumption. One shipment of live poultry consisting of 450 broilers was made from here this week to a Los Angeles commission firm. Many orchardists in this section are going extensively into the poultry business in connection with the fruit industry.

Cherry shipments were commenced this week from the Glen Evrie Heights orchards, near this city. The fruit is of fine quality, but the yield is less than usual, owing to the damage from frost.

STRATHMORE.

STRATHMORE, June 15.—Work has started on the harvesting of what is believed to be one of the largest single fields of brewing barley in California, the ranch hands of the Strathmore ranch being engaged in cutting a 1500-acre tract of that grain at the present time. Particularly interesting to the people of this district is the fact that this is the last year the big Strathmore ranch is to be in crop, this fall the intention being to place the big tract on the market in shape suitable for small orchards. This will add about 3000 acres to the available orchard area of the foothills.

BATHING SUIT LEGISLATION.

TRUSTEES WOULD ENLARGE SCOPE OF INCLINATION.

Long Skirts Now Provided by Law Are Uncomely, According to the View of the Municipal Lawmaker, and He Will Move to Further Unveil Beauty Lines.

VENICE, June 15.—Comes now again the Venice bathing suit to disturb the peace of mind of the City Trustees as summer draws on apace. Monday evening, at the regular meeting of the city dads, Trustee McCarver will unbosom himself of a resolution to allow bathers to wear surf costumes two inches shorter than now allowed. He is moved to do this because of the importunities of the bathers within the last week.

At present he or she who displays the knee-caps while togged in ocean clothes is technically guilty of a violation of the city laws. Bathing suits generally shrink. Young bathers find that their bathing costumes do not keep pace with their growth. And so it is that the letter of the law is not enforced in this respect.

But Trustee McCarver thinks, with hundreds, that the long bathing skirt is a thing to be detested; an unbeautiful, flapping garment which makes the wearer wretched and the public's lip to curl. Hence the intention of the Trustee to make an effort to encourage a return to the beautiful in surf costumes.

It is also probable that the ordinance forbidding bathers in costumes to lounge in the sand within twenty-five feet of the cement walk without a coat or cloak will be amended somewhat before the summer season is well on.

TRUSTEE INJURED.

Trustee Stamps is at the residence of his father, William Stamps, in Los Angeles, suffering from bruises which he sustained Thursday, the news of which reached Venice today. Trustee Stamps had been spending the day with his parents, and was cranking his machine, preparatory to returning to Venice. He had failed to throw off the gear, and when he started the engine the machine spurted ahead, threw him down and ran over him. He sustained scalp wounds and bruises and abrasions about both legs. He will be unable to return to his home here for several days.

DICK FERRIS ARRESTED.

Dick Ferris was arrested on the charge of speeding this morning, and haled before Recorder Rennie to answer to the charge. The court sternly asked the prisoner when his spectacular career of starting revolutions, sending up balloons, auto racing and speeding was to stop. At the same time the Recorder's eyes twinkled with mischief.

"But, judge," said the culprit, a little, weazened German. "I am not Meester Ferris of Los Angeles; I am from Glendale."

The judge smiled. "I know you are not, Dick, and I will let you depart until Tuesday on your own recognizance." And the prisoner, thankful that he was Dick Ferris of Glendale, left.

PERRIS.

PERRIS, June 15.—The Southern Sierra Power Company has all the necessary machinery and appliances installed and the power is here as promised. The motor at the big pumping plant at the Kendall ranch, north of town, commenced operations this morning.

Work has commenced on the million-gallon concrete reservoir on the Emil Firth lands, northeast of town. The reservoir will be 106 feet in diameter and fifteen feet in depth. The cost will be about $6000.

F. E. Brown arrived Monday from Los Angeles. He was accompanied by W. H. Daun, industrial agent for the Santa Fe; W. A. Peck, president of the Anaheim Sugar Company, and Mr. Stark, agricultural expert of the Anaheim Sugar Company. The party visited the beet lands near Lakeview. The Santa Fe may extend its line from the Lakeview station to the beet fields.

Daniel Francis, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams, died at their home, north of town, Wednesday afternoon. The body was interred in Olivewood Cemetery, Riverside.

BUSINESS RUSHES ON HEEDLESS OF POLITICS.

Rumpus in Chicago and Complex Situation Generally Having No Effect Here, Where Prosperity's on the Front Seat Handling the Reins — And We're Doing Better Now Than Ever Before!

POLITICIANS may come and go, but business in Los Angeles goes on forever! Political parties and offshoots and factions may rip and roar and paw and tear, but all the rumpus they can stir up throughout the country doesn't check prosperity here. Even the row in Chicago, involving the most complex and exciting national situation in many years, isn't felt by business in this city according to the men in closest touch. Business is better here now, they say, than at a corresponding period of any other year. Money is easier, real estate more active, great building enterprises more numerous, and growth more substantial than ever before. Trade in all its branches shows healthy increase, and the spirit of optimism abounds.

The army of the bogie men has lost a soldier. Another ghost is laid, another stock wail of the professional pessimist is exploded. "Presidential year, great political excitement, capital timid, business unsettled, everything going to the bow-wows," so has run the prattle of this calamity howler.

Every four years this fear has clutched the heart of merchant and banker; every four years he has wondered if, after all, there might not be something in it, and unconsciously has slowed down, with the inevitable result that business during the quadrennial periods of political excitement has shown depression.

But here in Los Angeles a new spirit has arisen, and business is conducted upon a different and a more secure foundation. Men are less afraid of the intangible; they want to know the whys and wherefore, and they must be shown.

Is business in Los Angeles poorer in view of the fact that the country is more vitally concerned in great political questions than in half a century? What is the psychology of politics and business? These are the questions for which an answer was sought by The Times yesterday and it came quickly from the men who know. Their answer is an enthusiastic, thrilling, unanimous vindication of the business sense of the people of this city. In every line of endeavor there is an unmistakable upward trend. More trade, more money, more people. Los Angeles looks on at the political show with just as much interest, but without vital concern. As one man aptly expresses the condition, "politics no longer rules business in this part of the country."

The word which comes from the lips of local business men should afford the greatest encouragement to every citizen, for it means a summer of unrivalled prosperity, followed by a fall and winter across which no political shadow will be tolerated. It is good news, and it spells a bigger, better and more prosperous city and community.

HOTELS RUNNING AHEAD.

Hotels are among the first to feel a business depression, and no physician is more keenly alive to the state of the public pulse and temperature than the men who run the "putting-up places." This is especially true here, where the hotels form a more important part of the life of the community than in many other cities. It is apparent, therefor. that John S. Mitchell, manager of the Hollenbeck, knows whereof he speaks when he says:

"The political situation is not affecting local hotel conditions. Business is running ahead of the same period last year, and so far as receipts are concerned we would not know that the political surface was ruffled if we did not have the newspapers to advise us of the fact."

Again, E. W. Merchant, proprietor of the Hotel Trenton, more distinctively a tourist house:

"Bless you," says he, "we are a kingdom by ourselves out here, independent of politics and of Presidents. So far as business is concerned, it does not matter whether we have one President or two Presidents, or no President. Business is getting better all the time, and the old-fashioned notion that everything but politics stops in a Presidential year is gone. At least it is gone in Southern California. Politics makes no difference to us."

EATING MORE, TOO.

Eating is a pastime which maintains its popularity regardless of political ructions, but it is an interesting sign of the times to listen to M. L. Godfrey, manager of a string of cafeterias, when he declares that the eating habit is a growing one in Los Angeles, and there is no indication of economy along this line.

"A few years ago," remarked the help-yourself expert, "Presidential conventions and elections were looked upon with dread by business men in every line. It was a time when everything was supposed to go to pot. Our business is running away ahead of last year, and the political situation is not having the slightest effect upon it."

Lawyers are brought in close touch with the various phases of human endeavor and, as a rule, attain a broad outlook. C. Hughes Jordan of Works & Jordan, H. W. Hellman building, can't see any depression. "We have more prosperity, more people, more building, and more money than ever before. It will take more than complex politics to stop Los Angeles in her onward march. Our people are deeply interested in the political problems of the day, but they are not permitting themselves to be diverted from their business. Politics is having no effect upon the wonderful growth and development of this city."

In the bank the pulse is laid bare. This is the inner sanctum; the business world's holy of holies. Jay Spencer, cashier of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, says:

"So far as I am able to observe the political situation is having no deterrent effect upon general business conditions in Los Angeles."

NO TIGHTENING.

Folks do not buy real estate and make investments when business conditions are disturbed. The real estate man knows just a bit in advance of any one else when the public begins to fidget. E. P. Bryan of Bryan & Bradford, has lived a good many years in Los Angeles and understands these things.

Usually," said he, "money tightens up about this time in a Presidential year. Investors are wary, and there is a tendency to await developments. It is not so this time. Money is easier than in ten years; the banks have more; investors have more; big deals are made with confidence. The parties are so divided that no one dares predict disaster if his particular side is not successful. Los Angeles is not affected by politics and business is improving."

Dick Wick Hall, manager of the Mesa Improvement Company, West Sixth street, sees the same optimistic trend:

"Oranges and hay and vegetables are growing just the same as though Taft, or Roosevelt or Clark or some-one else was already elected. We deal in land, and in spite of political turmoil our clients continue to go back to the soil and invest their money in nature's products, confident in their ability to till the soil without danger from political sources. The real estate situation is in no way affected by the political turmoil."

COMING AND GOING.

F. E. Batturs, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, wouldn't discuss politics, but he gleefully admitted that his lines are hauling more prosperous citizens from hither to yon and back again than ever before. "More are coming from Arizona and the Imperial Valley to pass the summer in Southern California, and more Southern Californians are planning to take their vacations in the north and East and Europe, and the Orient than in any previous year. No, the public does not spend its money on railroad tickets and vacations when it is alarmed or unsettled. I don't know anything about the political situation, but business is good."

"I might argue all day," said Postmaster Harrison, "about the growth of the city, her new buildings and all the rest of it, but the best evidence I know of that Los Angeles is not worrying over political conditions and certainly that no 'slump' is evidenced is found in our postal statistics. The receipts for May, 1912, were $462,516.26, as against $396,351.25 for the same month a year ago, an increase of 20 per cent. The Los Angeles office has just been allowed an increase of thirty-seven clerks and twenty-nine carriers, and we are so busy that it is difficult to arrange the vacation periods."

BIGGEST WEEK.

Turning to the retail district Manager Kilner of the Broadway Department store, was asked to what extent business has fallen off since the political war broke. Kilner looked a little dazed, and as though not quite sure his interrogator was "all there."

"Business falling off? Why, great scott, man, this week was the biggest week in the history of this business, barring the Christmas period. Yes, it is true that these are strenuous times politically, but politics is politics, and business is business, and the time has passed when politics is permitted to rule business, at least in this part of the country. The business trend in this city

DIES IN DASHING PATROL.

Day Clerk of Hotel Earl Roy Takes Poison After Locking Himself Into the Office.

John Grant, for two years day clerk at the Hotel Earl Roy, No. 239 East Fifth street, died in the police patrol as it was dashing around the corner at Fifth and Hill streets on its way to the Receiving Hospital.

Half an hour before, the man had swallowed a quantity of cyanide of potassium after bolting himself in the office of the hotel. When the landlady, Mrs. Alice Williams, knocked upon the door, Grant opened it, remarking:

"You're too late; good-by; I've done it.'

He dropped to the floor unconscious and Dr. G. W. Finch, No. 301 East Fifth street, was summoned. Grant was breathing only slightly when the patrol arrived.

Mrs. Williams said that Grant had threatened several times while intoxicated that he would commit suicide, but she only considered it an idle threat. As far as she or other inmates of the hotel know, Grant had no relatives. His father died here about two years ago.

Darrow's Trial.

JOHANNSEN'S TELEGRAM PUTS HIM IN CORNER.

State Labor-Union Walking Delegate Testifies for Defense, and District Attorney Produces Dispatch in Witness' Own Handwriting Disproving Sworn Statements—Sensational Grilling Brings Disclosures.

DIST.-ATTY. FREDERICKS didn't withdraw from the Darrow case yesterday. He "stayed with it" and subjected Anton Johannsen to such a grilling that the walking delegate for the State Building Trades Council appealed to the court for mercy. Judge Hutton told him he would extend every necessary protection to him within the rules of law. The friend of M. A. Schmidt, who was jointly indicted with the McNamaras for the murder of twenty newspaper employees, refused to answer questions and got himself badly implicated in the removal of a State's witness. He disclosed many things that the labor-union bosses have long tried to keep secret. He will be on the stand again tomorrow, to be followed by O. A. Tveitmoe, if the defense thinks best.

Capt. Fredericks was in fighting trim yesterday. After considering all night the advisability of letting the present case go by the boards because of rulings he deemed well-nigh ruinous, he suddenly decided to make no reply to Earl Rogers's apparently successful play of the day before, but go ahead under the unusual procedure.

That the plan was eminently successful was later shown. It is true that Johannsen denied Darrow knew of the spiriting away of the witness and several times declared that the attorneys for the McNamaras knew nothing of his own philanthropic plan to get Mrs. Caplan away from the "terrible persecutions" of the Burns operatives. But when a cipher telegram sent by himself to Attorney John R. Harrington was shown the witness, Johannsen crumpled in a heap. The dispatch was to the effect that he had succeeded in getting the wife of one of the indicted men to Reno and nothing was to be feared from her. This dispatch went to Harrington, who was one of Darrow's associates. The defense will perhaps insist that Harrington did not confide in Darrow. But Harrington will probably be a witness for the prosecution later on.

When court opened in the morning there were numerous speculations as to what course the State would take after Rogers had laid bare his tender conscience and his strict construction of the ethics governing the legal profession. As he explained to a newspaper reporter, no one but a lawyer of a strict sense of what was due his client could appreciate his position after having served the prosecution as a special deputy and thereafter allowed himself to be retained by the chief counsel for the McNamaras.

STATEMENT BY COURT.

It was evident that this fine appreciation of the duties of an attorney were appreciated by the court. For when the session began he said: "Capt. Fredericks, it is possible in my remarks yesterday afternoon I created a wrong impression. When Mr. Rogers called upon me in my chambers it was not to discuss any phase of the case, but to outline his own embarrassing position. I trust I make myself understood.

"I have nothing more to say," replied Capt. Fredericks, with some dryness. "No doubt the court had some basis for his ruling of yesterday afternoon. If the plaintiff is to be interrupted in putting on his case, I naturally would like to know how far the court intends to let this go."

"This is a very natural inquiry, Capt. Fredericks," said the court. "I grant the procedure is an unusual one. But, under the circumstances, I think the defense is entitled to show that Darrow knew nothing of the alleged removal of Mrs. Caplan."

At this juncture Attorney Rogers arose and begged the permission of the court to retire upon the ground that evidence was to follow which he, as a former investigator of the dynamiting horror, was not justified in bringing out. He left the courtroom with bowed head.

JOHANNSEN AND DARROW.

Darrow then began to interrogate Johannsen in an effort to show that gentleman's regard to Mrs. Caplan's unfortunate position led him to commit a crime—the removal of a witness under subpoena away from the jurisdiction of the court.

Johannsen stated he is organizer for the State Building Trades Council and admitted knowing the defendant in the case on trial.

"You were subpoenaed before the grand jury?" asked Darrow.

Los Angeles' Acropolis.

Southwest Museum building to be reared on picturesque hilltop near Sycamore Grove, from the official plans drawn by Hunt and Burns and adopted by the directorate. Work is to be begun this summer.

In Modern Athens.

SPLENDID ACROPOLIS TO HOUSE TREASURE.

Striking Buildings for Southwest Museum to Be Begun This Summer—Severe Type of Spanish Architecture and Patio Plan Adopted—To Extend Scope and Become Dominant Factor in Educational Science.

UPON a commanding hill-top site, with a matchless view of mountain, valley, city and sea, the Southwest Museum will begin the erection late this summer of a unique set of museum buildings. The striking edifice, fashioned along the severest lines of Spanish architecture, will house $200,000 worth of educational exhibits; a collection which has already won an international reputation, and which promises to become in some respects the most unique and wonderful in the country. The buildings will ultimately cost $300,000.

Along with its commercial expansion, its splendid business and public buildings and its remarkable growth in population, Los Angeles has been expanding just as rapidly along the higher lines of education and culture. Its schools, its institutions, its churches, the desires of its people, all trend toward the building of a city which shall be not only a commercial metropolis but a center of culture and art.

It is in full keeping with this sentiment that the Southwest Museum is about to rear a magnificent monument in architecture, an acropolis that will be the nucleus of the most far-reaching movement in the higher education yet launched in the West.

The Title Insurance and Trust Company has just conveyed to the Southwest Museum, incorporated, the seventeen-acre, $50,000 hill overlooking Sycamore Grove from the northwest, the last hill on that side of the Arroyo Seco Valley. It is said to be the noblest site occupied by any public building in America.

The front buildings will be eighty feet above the car line and 140 feet above Sycamore Grove. Automobile roads, winding paths and elevators will make it of easy access, although the outlook would repay even a hard climb.

SEVERE SPANISH TYPE.

The buildings will be according to the modified style of Spanish architecture, which must of necessity become the style of the Southwest. The museum will follow the old Alhambra by taking the older and severer lines, the noble strength and simplicity, but without a touch of the later ornamentation. Nothing will be spent on filagrees or frills. The keynote will be the simple grandeur of power. It was proposed at the inception of the enterprise that these buildings should be the finest architectural lesson in the West and on the most conspicuous site.

The conveyance of the site, free of incumbrance, releases to the museum the $50,000 cash bequest of Carrie M. Jones for the first building.

According to the plans drawn by Hunt & Burns and adopted yesterday by the directorate of the museum, this first memorial hall will be a two-story building about 140 feet long with four exhibition rooms, 70x30, a four-story tower with rooms twenty-nine feet square for library and other purposes, curator's room, store-rooms, work-rooms, engine-room, etc. The material will be reinforced concrete, fireproof, earthquake proof and time proof.

The walls will be three feet thick. Built into them will be the exhibit cases. The floor space will thus be left absolutey free and there will be full scope for the mural decorations. It is proposed to make these decorations one of the most striking features of the museum. When completed they will depict the great missions of the Southwest, as they were and as they are today, an accurate and interesting object lesson.

The lighting of the exhibit hall will be according to the principles now in use in the best new European museums, but never adopted in the West.

ON PATIO PLAN.

Another unique feature will be the patio plan—a succession of courtyards running up the hill with halls of exhibit on the four sides of each court, which will be 175x120 feet each. There will be a zaguan, orrest room, on each of three sides, with the ambulatory extending the full length of both sides.

In the first patio will be a little open-air theater, shielded from wind and sun, embowered with trees and flowers and shrubs; not a stark Greek theater of 10,000 empty benches, but a sylvan auditorium where 300 people will not look lonely and where 500 can find room.

The courts will be a veritable California garden. The whole effect will be unlike anything else in the world. Here the children can learn readily and accurately from the great scientific exhibit, amid delightful surroundings. Curator Alliott expects to entertain many thousand children every year. The patio will be twenty-five feet above the floor of the theater. Surrounding it will be cypresses, pines and willows. Along the walls will be placed statuary and educational sculpture replicas. Some of these will come from the famous collection at Quirigua, Guatemala, the most remarkable collection in South America.

Ultimately the buildings will be extended along the courtyard. There will be science halls, a library of Arizona and the Southwest, and halls of archaeology and art.

A temporary trail has been cut up Museum Hill and benches placed along the way. The actual breaking of ground for the buildings will be done this fall, by which time contracts will be let. It is proposed to hold fitting ceremonies when the first stone is laid. Miss Fremont, daughter of the Pathfinder, will raise the "Rocky Mountain Flag" her father unfurled on the crest of the Rocky Mountains in 1842. Many of the foremost citizens of the Southwest will participate.

THE ULTIMATE PURPOSE.

Curator Alliot and the other officers of the museum feel that a great deal of valuable work has been accomplished in the past nine years, but they have ambitions far beyond present achievement. It is expected later to add a second set of buildings of the true mission type, to be called the Junipero Serra Hall. It is then hoped that all the Hispano-American people of this section will co-operate with the museum to make the institution a great hall of records for the Spanish era in California, to preserve valuable relics of the romantic age of the Southwest.

Scattered among the private homes of the older Spanish families in this city are priceless relics of the discovery period in California. These would be safer, as well as more valuable, if housed in a museum, but heretofore have not been available because the museum had no permanent home.

The work of establishing a scientific and educational collection be-

Financial Speed, Too.

DOLLAR FOR EACH MILE CLEAR AROUND WORLD.

Motorcycle Speed Officer H. L. Gardner,

Who has brought the city more than twenty-five thousand dollars in fines through his arrests.

THE THREE YEARS that H. L. Gardner has been a motorcycle speed officer he has turned into the coffers of the city in the shape of fines, about a silver dollar for every mile the earth is in circumference. Figuring sixteen ounces to the pound, this money represents about three-quarters of a ton, or 1500 pounds. Piled one on top of the other, these $25,000 would make a silver column overlooking the tallest building in the city, for they would extend more than 200 feet in the air.

Gardner is the oldest speed motorcycle officer on the police force in point of continuous service. He was appointed early in June, 1909, and since then has ridden with five other officers. The first was "Pat" Coe, who was retired after his serious accident on West Pico street. Then Gardner rode with Frank Harland, C. A. S. Hickok, H. C. Hickok, O. L. Gilpin and Jack Wallace.

To make the arrests which netted the city more than $25,000 in fines, besides several thousand dollars in suspended sentences, Gardner rode more than 35,000 miles. He covers from 800 to 1100 miles a month. In making that distance, almost once and a half around the world, Gardner consumed almost 1200 gallons of gasoline and 550 pints of different kinds of lubrecating oil.

It would take one man more than a year to serve the number of straight jail suspended sentences which have been imposed by Police Court justices upon men and women Gardner was instrumental in having arrested. In those three years Gardner never met with a serious accident.

Delicate Question.

WHO'S AMERICA'S LEADING WOMAN

NATIONAL FEMININITY TO NAME A NEW HEAD.

Focal Point of Interest in Coming Convention at San Francisco Is Election of President of General Federation of Women's Clubs of the United States.

Within two weeks the eyes of women everywhere will turn to California and to San Francisco as the locus of the most notable gathering of national figures in the feminine world ever assembled on the Pacific Coast—the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of the United States which opens in the Bay City on the 25th inst.

In the two-weeks' programme no one event will be of greater general interest than the choosing of a new head for the vast organization to succeed Mrs. Philip N. Moore. A curious phase of the situation is that the logical candidate for the place—Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, first vice-president—is made ineligible under the traditions of the federation, because she is a resident of the hostess State, living in this city. Mrs. Cowles knew quite well that she would lose this distinguished honor if the convention came to California, yet it was as much through her untiring efforts as anyone's that San Francisco was selected for the biennial.

Several other names are prominently mentioned as potential candidates for the presidency. Among them the two perhaps most prominent are Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, wife of the Mayor of Philadelphia, who is the second vice-president, and Mrs. Philip Carpenter of Yonkers, N. Y., formerly president of the Society of New England Women, the Women's Lawyers' Club, the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Sorosis.

Mrs. Carpenter is well-known in California, her father, the late Rev. Thomas H. Rouse, having been for some years pastor of the Congregational Church of San Mateo. She is the daughter-in-law of the late Chief Justice Carpenter, of New Hampshire, and is herself a member of the New York Bar. She was four years a member of the directorate of the general federation and has held important committee chairmanships in past conventions.

She is the official candidate of the Sorosis and, as such, has the indorsement of the New England Society, the New York Browning Society, the National California Club, the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, the New York State Federation and other allied organizations.

Mrs. Philip Carpenter,

Daughter of the late Rev. Thomas H. Rouse, pastor of the Congregational Church of San Mateo, and one of the best known club women of New England, who is prominently mentioned as a candidate for president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the forthcoming convention in San Francisco.

HIT BY STRAY BULLET.

Marciano Lopez, a laborer, was struck in the right side of the head yesterday by a stray bullet, while working in a field, near the corner of Stephenson avenue and Mott street. He was painfully, but not dangerously injured. At the Receiving Hospital Dr. W. E. Carter found that the bullet went through the man's hat, pierced the flesh, struck the skull, and rebounded. He went home after the wound was dressed. Who fired the shot and whence it came the police have not learned.

BUSINESS RUSHES ON.

is upward. Politics is not making a particle of difference to local business, and although the campaign is young yet I do not anticipate any uneasiness because of the impending election."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

"From my point of view conditions were never better in Los Angeles than they are today, nor were the prospects of the future ever more promising," said President Osborne of the Chamber of Commerce. "It's all bosh to say that the Chicago political mixup and the Presidential year is hurting business in this region. Our banks are in splendid condition and the city is steadily moving forward. In addition to the regular productive enterprises and industries, by which I mean our agricultural and horticultural productions, and our manufacturing output, which have been most gratifying, there is a continual influx of people and capital from other parts of the country, which is evidenced by constantly increasing bank deposits and bank clearings. For two years, in addition to the great business blocks that are always in progress of building, we had an average of fifteen residences a day completed, and that has increased, as I have observed in the last two or three months, to more than twenty residences a day. At the same time, we see very few places for rent. The same may be said of Pasadena, Long Beach and the Santa Monica Bay cities, and it is also true of San Diego and other Southern California towns.

"The future is rosy with the prospects of the completion of the Panama Canal, which will place Los Angeles in line as a great foreign, as well as domestic commercial center. The completion of the aqueduct will give us stability as to an ample water supply, and until we become a city of two or three millions of people, we will have a large increase in acreage in Southern California made fruitful by the surplus water of the aqueduct. I can see nothing but increased prosperity for Los Angeles and Southern California, and indeed, for all California for the next half a century."

NO INTERFERENCE.

Los Angeles is on the eve of the greatest era of prosperity in her history and I do not believe that the chaotic political condition of the country at large has interferred or will interfere after the two conventions complete their work with the prosperity of this community," said President Andrews of the Realty Board. "We are so far removed from other industrial and financial centers that we are not dependent upon them. Every condition indicates that Los Angeles is entering on a period of the greatest development in her history and the realty men will participate with other business men and citizens in general, in the benefits that are to be reaped as a result.

"Conditions were never brighter. The banks have lots of money to lend for legitimate investments and the bank clearings are larger than ever before. The great undertakings that are now under way in the building line, the development of our great harbor, the nearing completion of the aqueduct the manufacturing projects outlined for the city—all these are bound to attract men of large means to this field of investment. Real estate conditions in the city, county and various parts of Southern California were never more active or encouraging. Many of the great ranchos of Southern California are being subdivided and cut into townsites. Residence property sales are first class and in fact, every line of business is booming in this rapidly-growing metropolis of the Far West."

BANKER'S VIEW.

"It will take more than a Presidential year, augmented by a 'big stick' and a 'steam roller' to check the prosperity and growth of Los Angeles and Southern California in general," said Vice-President Hellman of the Security Trust and Savings Bank. "Although we are in the midst of the most bitter political fight in the history of this country, Los Angeles is steadily forging ahead, and business conditions here were never more rosy. The city is launched on an unprecedented era of prosperity and a bitter political mixup certainly will not impede it. The bank clearings are the most substantial basis of forecasts, and judging from the record for this year, I firmly believe that this will be one of the greatest business years in the history of the city. Another positive indication of prosperity is the building permits, which for the first five months of this year represent approximately as great a total valuation as the permits for any previous six months in the history of the city. If this marvelous growth continues, the total valuation of permits for 1912 should be from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 in excess of those for any other year.

"There is a general activity in all lines of business and the orange growers and ranchers also are enjoying great prosperity. The completion of the Panama Canal, and the development of the harbor and completion of the aqueduct will greatly add to the prosperous condition of Southern California. Let the politicians fight it out. Los Angeles moves on just the same."

HOLDING THE BALANCE.

"The business interests of the United States have become so important and this importance is so clearly realized by the two dominant political parties that I think there is little fear in business circles that no matter who wins there will be any disastrous results," said S. J. Whitmore, vice-president and general manager of the Alexandria. "There was a time when business interests looked upon the Presidential year as a bad one in which to begin any project, but that was before the political parties themselves realized that the balance of business must not be disturbed, no matter who won.

"In Southern California, especially, we do not feel any slackening of business as a result of the Presidential contest. Los Angeles has grown so large and the development of the entire southern portion of the State has become so far advanced that we are to a great extent self-supporting and independent of the East, where the political agitation is the greatest. There are so many vast enterprises now under way in Los Angeles and Southern California that they will alone keep the volume of business at the high-water mark without any support from the East. We are already beginning to feel the effect of the Panama Canal. Investors are looking to Los Angeles and Southern California for their ventures. They see that with the completion of the canal and the wonderful growth of Los Angeles that there is no political power in the country that can put a stop to the growth and advancement of all interests here."

LOOKING THIS WAY.

"It will take more than a Presidential year and a scrappy political convention to hurt business in Los Angeles," D. A. Hamburger said. "I do not believe that the results of the Chicago convention will change the prosperity of Southern California. The one asset we have here is our climate, and that is invincible, to that we owe our present prosperity and the continuance which in more or less degree will be with us forever. There are millions of persons scattered all over the Western Hemisphere who are learning of Los Angeles and of its elegant homes, wonderful prosperity, and they are continuing to come into this region of the country until it will be more than crowded. There is no spot on the face of the earth that offers so much every day in the year as does Southern California, and with the double tracking of our great transcontinental roads, the curtailing of time in transportation of passengers between the two seaboards, Los Angeles will continue to gain in an immeasurable degree in population.

"It stands alone without a rival of any city in this country, and for this reason is immune from commercial conditions affecting other places. In the last few years we have built up an empire in the West; our crops have been so bountiful and our products of the earth have been so great that they have furnished us with sufficient funds to become more or less independent of the East. The panics of the future that may create havocs in other parts of the world, will pass us by lightly. The monetary conditions of the country have changed—instead of all the reserves being hoarded in New York as they were some years ago, they are now distributed all over the country. The banks that kept their reserves entirely in New York are loaning their money closer at hand. The large institutions which lend money throughout the United States look upon Southern California as one of the best places to invest it. Hence I can only see prosperity for all time to come. The past year has been one of extraordinary gain for this section, as has been evidenced by the clearinghouse receipts, the building permits and the postoffice receipts, which are always the barometer of success or failure. Business has more than exceeded our expectations, and we are planning for bigger and greater things constantly."

DESPITE VERBAL BRICKBATS.

Fred Baker, president of the Baker Iron Works declared that "business is increasing steadily in Los Angeles irrespective of poltics, conventions, verbal brickbats and a general political unrest. A presidential year doesn't hurt business as much as in the past. The business men realize that a change of administration isn't going to throw the country to the dogs. That Los Angeles and Southern California are prospering is evidenced in many ways. The great undertakings that are now under way in the building line, the development of the harbor and the splendid condition of our banks indicate a prosperous condition. How our leading financiers are putting their money into big building projects shows how much confidence they have in the future of Los Angeles. If these men did not realize what this city has in store they would not undertake as much as they have. The announcement of important sales and the plans for new sky scrapers are becoming matters of constant news. Our business is steadily improving and indications of great prosperity are evident on every side. Bank clearings and building permits are increasing every month and the increase in population is truly wonderful."

B. O. Miller, manager for W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., is confident that never before upon the eve of great political conventions has the business mind been so little disturbed. "I fail to see that politics is having any effect upon local real estate conditions, and do not believe that the fact that this is a presidential year will affect business in Southern California."

GIVE US MORE!

Local conditions being so satisfactory how about the larger business which has its fountain head in this city but reaches into the nethermost parts of the world? The lumber trade should give good indication of more general conditions and to Frank Curran, assistant manager of the E. K. Wood Lumber Company, the query was propounded, "How is business, and what effect if any is politics having upon it?" If politics is responsible for the story told by Manager Curran there is pretty sure to be a demand for more politics.

"Never before," says the lumberman, "have such orders been placed as during the past few months; 325,000,000 feet of silo material alone for the building of silos in the Northwest. Must be that the farmers are not losing much sleep over political conventions, or Presidential elections. Enormous export orders are being received from China, and other countries; the Harriman system is using quantities of material. Business is better than last year right now and after the conventions I look for a summer of prosperity undisturbed by the fact that a Presidential campaign is on."

HANGING FIRE.

Greatly vexed are the Chinese that the United States is slow in recognizing their new republic. As they have been nearly three hundred years in overthrowing the Manchu dynasty, the Chinese should not mind waiting a few weeks for the world to properly appraise their achievement.

WHO'S WHO.

The publishers of Who's Who are now telling us for the thirteenth time about who counts in America. They have corralled and branded only about nineteen thousand of the herd. As this leaves several million of us still unaccounted for we trust the majority will bear their elimination with all humility.

AHEAD OF THEM.

A great interdenominational church and social conference has been held at Newark, N. J. Such meetings have a good effect in arousing the social conscience of church people, but it usually happens that society at large takes notice of its general needs considerably ahead of any conclusions reached by bodies of this kind.

CLEANING HOUSE.

This is the season for city house-cleaning, the police notifying owners of vacant lots to clear them of all rubbish and weeds. This not only makes the property more sightly and improves the general appearance of the city, but such cleanliness is the best safeguard against fires. Every man should be a good housekeeper.

PROTECTING THEM.

It is announced that the United States officials will no longer admit picture brides from Japan. Marrying a lady because she takes a good photograph would certainly be unsafe for the American temperament, however happily it may work for the Orientals. Americans do marry, however, without a very much more extended acquaintance than impressions from a photograph and if some law could be enacted for their protection society would be served a good turn.

HIS GREAT MISTAKE.

Because he believed that he was always making mistakes, a young man committed suicide on South Broadway Wednesday morning, and this, of course, was the greatest mistake of all, because it left him [illegible] margin of life for trying again. It would [illegible] a wonderful state of consciousness if the race should one day arrive at a point where each man knew every hour to be as much his opportunity as a whole incarnation or as a grand cycle of time. The mistakes men make should not be subjects of despair, but texts of improvement.

UNTOLD WEALTH.

Local officials burned $25,000 worth of opium Thursday. This is not a large sum of money to go up in smoke under ordinary circumstances, but when the quality of this smoke is considered it must be recognized that the dreamers who used it for putting their lives to sleep would have all been millionaires so long as the drug lasted. A young man once decided to give up opium smoking and go back to his old mother whose heart had long since been broken by his wretched life. Acting on his good impulse he wrote her for money to come home, saying in a few words that he would try to build his life over again. On his way to his unkept hallroom from the postoffice he met an evil associate who persuaded him to have one last smoke. As soon as he had drawn a few deep inhalations of the poison he borrowed 25 cents and, rushing to the telegraph station, sent his mother this message: "Pay no attention to letter; am sending a million dollars by the next mail."

OLD YET NEW.

It sometimes happens that a great master in one country must wait long to be translated into the tongue of another land. It therefore transpires that the English-speaking world is now listening with charm to a new voice, and yet its Russian author has already crossed the divide. This man, whose eminent works are now being translated into English and who has recently been made the subject of a delightful biography in this tongue, is Dostoievsky, described by one writer as an adorable, a magnificent and a profoundly sad figure in letters. His chief message seems to foreshadow a superman who is not a god man, but a man god. The latter admits of evolution as well as incarnation and must have a wide appeal to all of those sincere students of life who see in the good and wise men of the earth not so much of an effort to live what Dr. Van Dyke has called "the human life of God" as an improved human system by which the race may come upon a greater natural science for better living. The man god comes not from the sky, but from the earth. Through aroused sensibilities, through refinements, through higher ideals, through better workmanship, through a selfhood that is assertive yet unselfish, the man god approaches the state of purer and greater knowing wherein life is a maze of consciousness, extending to and lighting with ineffable light every point within the compass of what is human or divine. The finger of all prophecy points to such a combination. The light of every dreamer is focused upon such a consummation. There should be no quarrel with the prophet concerning the manner in which his message is delivered; no quibbling with the blessed dreamers over the terms they use; the end sought by every one of them is swallowed up in light.

Why not make Mayor Alexander the whole "works"? Then he would certainly bring harmony.

LEST WE FORGET.

The question as to who shall be nominated for President at Chicago, as important as it is, is not of so much consequence as is the declaration of principles to be formulated. That feature of the work of the convention will no doubt be provided for, but, thus far, it seems not to have attracted much attention. In chasing after the fads of populism the progressives seem to have lost sight of the everlasting foundation of Republicanism—protection to home industry. But the Democrats have not lost sight of their doctrine of free trade. They have dressed up their idol in a garment which they call "tariff for revenue only," and in that guise are parading it up and down the land.

It is not to be said that free trade may not be a wise policy in some countries. It is not to be said that no country should have free trade. It is not to be said that there is anything intrinsically wicked about free trade. It may be admitted that in a country of limited area and dense population, a country that produces but a small proportion of the food of its people, a country that does not furnish the raw material for its factories, a country where the most of the people are engaged in manufactures and which must rely upon exporting its goods to foreign countries for a market—it may be conceded that in such a country free trade is a necessity.

But in this country, which produces food and raw material in abundance, which exports grain and meat and cotton, and in which there is an eager home market for every product of loom and furnace, free trade would be an economic blunder. In England free trade is builded upon foundations of logic. In the United States it is upreared upon shifting quicksands of error. In England the factory worker depends for his food upon the meat and bread which free trade enables him to purchase with his limited wages. In America the factory operative sits at a table provided with luxuries, which the higher wages paid to our operatives enables him to purchase. "Tariff for revenue only" would bring the life of the American workingman down to the European level, and introduce to his home the want and hunger that lie behind the ambush of Democratic victory.

THE SEA POWER.

In "The Influence of Sea Power Upon History," published by Capt. A. T. Mahan of the United States Navy in 1894, occurs the following significant and prophetic passage:

> "If a Central American canal be made, and fulfill the hopes of its builders, the Caribbean Sea will be changed from a terminus, and place of local traffic, or at best a broken and imperfect line of travel, as it now is, into one of the great highways of the world. Along this path a great commerce will travel, bringing the interests of the other great nations, the European nations, close along our shores as they never have been before. With this it will not be so easy as heretofore to stand aloof from international complications. The position of the United States with reference to this route will resemble that of England to the channel, and of the Mediterranean countries to the Suez route."

The history of Holland offers an illustration of the tremendous effect of a development of the sea power upon the growth or decay of a nation. When Holland was an important factor in European politics her soil supported but one-eighth of her people. Fishing was the principal industry of the Dutch. They discovered a process of curing the fish. This gave them material for export. They became traders. The wheat and naval stores of the Baltic, the trade of Spain with her colonies, the French coasting trade and much of the carrying trade of England was in the middle of the seventeenth century done in Dutch ships. The whole prosperity of the people of Holland rested on the sea power. "Their food," says Mahan, "their clothing, the raw material for their manufactures, the very timber and hemp with which they built and rigged their ships were imported."

A disastrous war with England in 1653 and 1654 lasted eighteen months. The shipping business of Holland was stopped, the sources of revenue which had always maintained the riches of the state, such as fisheries and commerce, were dry. Workshops were closed, work was suspended. The Zuyder Zee became a forest of masts; the country was full of beggars; grass grew in the streets, and in Amsterdam 1500 houses were untenanted.

At the present day, even more than in former centuries, the sea power of a nation is the measure of its strength and the greatest factor in its prosperity. Steam has revolutionized conditions, so that oceans which formerly divided countries now bring them nearer to each other. The Suez Canal linked India and East Africa to Europe. The Panama Canal will inspire a mighty development along the west coast of South and Central America and stimulate the growth of the Antipodes. Senator Swanson in a recent speech in behalf of increasing our navy, said: "The development and prosperity of every nation are largely dependent upon its foreign commerce. For any civilized nation to be denied access to the seas for the sale and purchase of commodities would mean its financial bankruptcy and ruin." Especially is this true of the United States, whose exports exceed that of any nation. Our great crops of tobacco, cotton, wheat and corn would find no profitable sale unless we had access to the seas to sell them in foreign markets. Our vast meat products would spoil on our hands but for foreign trade. Our immense manufacturing and mining interests would languish except for the great outlet found in foreign countries for our surplus.

The sea power of a nation depends upon its naval strength. The commercial supremacy of Spain was destroyed when the Spanish Armada went to the bottom of the English Channel. Trafalgar did more for England than Waterloo. The victory of Nelson did more for England than that of Wellington. Admiral Togo's fleet wrested the commercial dominion of the China seas from Russia. Dewey's guns at Manila crashed open the doors of Asia and of Orient islands to our commerce. It is the Italian navy and not the Italian army that has seized Tripoli from Turkey. The naval supremacy of Great Britain enabled her to wrest Canada from France, to conquer and rule India, Egypt, and Africa, and to make one-fifth of the habitable globe subject to her laws and tributary to her dominion.

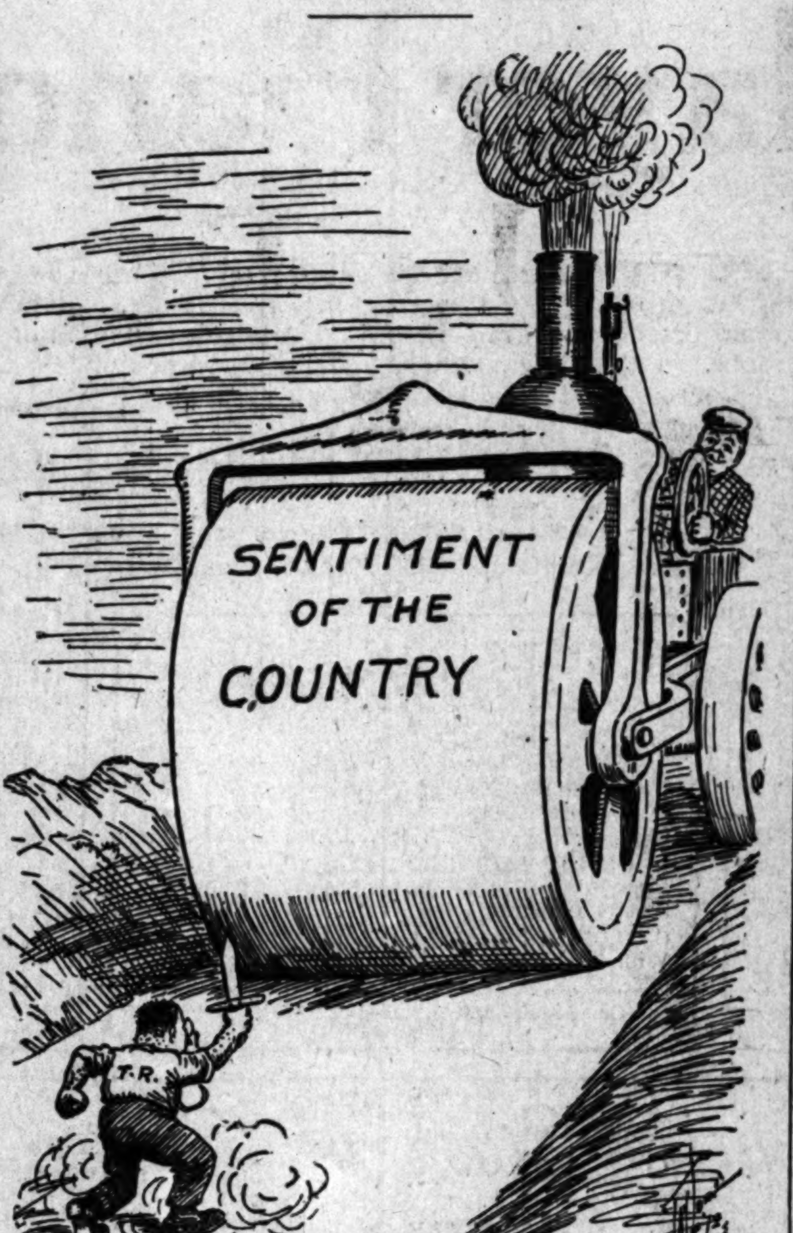
It is a lamentable fact, but it is a fact nevertheless, that equal opportunities in trade are acquired and held only by the great naval powers. The six great powers of earth are the United States, Great Britain, Germany, Russia, France and Japan. All of the continent of Africa has been partitioned among the European powers. All of Asia except Japan is under European domination. South and Central America have escaped spoliation only because the United States has announced the Monroe doctrine, and shows the ability to enforce it.

Naval power and not treaties of arbitration are the best preservers of the world's peace. Russia and Japan signed The Hague arbitration treaty and then flew at each other's throats to determine which should be the successful despoiler of China. The pledges made by Russia and Great Britain to Persia did not prevent them from dividing that helpless nation—Persia had no ships, and the Boer republic had no ships, Egypt and Tunis and Tripoli had no ships, and the ships of Turkey are a negligible quantity.

Our vast extent of territory, with forty-eight States, homogeneous in interest and institutions, with 90,000,000 of intelligent people, with immense wealth, with a militia from which if needed 10,000,000 of soldiers could in three months be equipped and drilled, with only Canada on the north and Mexico on the south, exempts us from the necessity, which exists in Europe, of maintaining a large standing army. Our seaports could in a few months be so fortified as to make invasion practically impossible. We are weak only on the sea where it is our duty to be strong. The development of a navy requires time. It takes two years to build a Dreadnought. One Dreadnought is a better preserver of peace to the nation that owns it than two Hague conferences. Germany is now building twelve battleships and we are building six. High speed and large guns and larger coal supply are the qualifications of the battleships now under construction by Japan, Germany and Great Britain.

The Panama Canal will restore our merchant marine to its former proportions. Our construction of Dreadnoughts of the latest type should keep pace with that of the other five naval powers. We cannot afford to lag behind them. "The best security for peace is adequate preparation for war."

The Real Steam Roller.



"LET THE PEOPLE RULE."

That's a great slogan in our days. It is on the lips of many of the politicians and in the minds of many of the people. And lots of people really believe that politicians of a certain stripe are possessed of a burning zeal that the said people shall rule in all things great and small. Yes, and millions of the people have acquired the notion that they are ruling in all things important and indifferent. Moreover, these deluded ones are laying the "flattering unction to their soul" that ours is the first time in history when the people ever "had a look-in" to rule.

It reminds one of the Little Marchioness in one of Charles Dickens's tales. Do you remember how the little thing made orangeade? She took a great glass of water, a little bit of orange, and no sugar, and mingling the drop of orange juice with a quart of water, there was added to the compound an unlimited amount of "make-believe." The little girl declared that if there were only enough "make-believe" in the beverage it was awfully good.

We have all sorts of devices, all put forward, all put into operation by politicians of a certain brand to enable the people to "rule." One is the direct primary—the most effective and admirable plan to rule the people ever devised by the political boss! This device involves two elections instead of one, with State-wide campaigns to be carried on in each instance. It knocks out of existence the precinct caucus and the district convention in which the people had some "show for their white alley." Under that old system the voter who had any desire "to sit in the game" had an opportunity to do so, and if he did not embrace the opportunity that was his lookout. He could at least help to select his bosses. Under the new system the boss selects himself.

Now, Fiery Hotspur, do not become possessed by hysteria! We are talking right along in the tracks of every-day facts, and with cold-blooded reason. And you know it. There is in this State today a little self-appointed committee that fixes beforehand who shall run for every office at the next election. There is a similarly self-constituted subcommittee in every political subdivision in the State that performs the same kind office for every candidate who runs in that district. It is precisely the same way in the municipalities big and little all over the State. And California is no exception. Wherever "progressive" policies have control, the same conditions prevail.

Now, Mr. Voter, if you have been hypnotized and think your glass of political beverage is the real thing, and not made palatable by a large quantity of "make-believe" on your own part, just put the question to a practical test. Just try to run for office without the brand of the machine O.K. on your back, and see how far you will get. How far? About as far as a snail that has been run over by a locomotive. The party Juggernaut will break your back, crunch your legs to a jelly and knock your political brains out, just as sure as you raise your voice and proclaim yourself a candidate for any office between dog-catcher and Governor.

How will they do it? This way. You will make your race all by your lonely. You will have to defray the expense of your own campaign with the opposition of every machine-made candidate on the ticket against you. Who defrays the expenses of the machine candidates? The machine and its political backers. Do you not see that it is impossible for one candidate out of his own pocket to compete with the whole ticket running on a jackpot?

Again the people are filled up to the lips with a cup of political orangeade mixed with a strong dose of "make-believe" as to that mythical thing the politicians talk about, known as "the interests." The myth is in your mind, Mr. Rooseveltian Voter. If you think "the interests" have nothing to do with the politicians hollering that the people shall rule, look at the primary elections in Illinois, Pennsylvania and other States. These primary campaigns cost $1,000,000, $2,000,000, and nobody knows how many more million dollars. Where did the money come from? From Millionaire Munsey? from Millionaire Pinchot? from Millionaire Perkins? from Millionaire McCormick? from the harvester trust? And nobody this side of heaven knows what other trusts.

Up to the Curate.

[Tit-Bits:] It was a shy young curate who was once asked to take a class of girls about 15 or 16, which had formerly been taken by a woman. The young clergyman consented, but insisted upon being properly introduced to the class. The superintendent accordingly took him to the class for this purpose and said:

"Young ladies, I introduce to you Mr. Chira, who will in future be your teacher. I would like you to tell him what your former teacher did so that he can go on in the same way."

A miss of 16 rose and said:

"The first thing teacher did was to kiss us all around."

"I REMEMBER."

BY TOM FITCH.

Tom Peasley of Nevada was a fighter of the brave days of old and he always managed to keep on the right side of the law. He was a Democrat until Sumter was fired upon and then he became an aggressive Union man. A Confederate flag was hoisted on the roof of the building on the ground floor of which was a saloon frequented by southern men. Tom spied the emblem while walking along C street in Virginia City. He climbed the stairs, tore the flag down, threw it across his left arm and, with his revolver in his right hand, walked into the saloon, where half a dozen Confederate sympathizers were standing at the bar. "Do any of you gentlemen," said he, "want this rag bad enough to fight for it? If so, come and try to take it away from me. Otherwise I will take it home and carpet my outhouse with it."

Nobody volunteered to remove the souvenir from his possession and he departed with it. But he did not devote it to the use named. He saved it until election morning, when he nailed it to the floor of an election booth. Everybody who voted had to trample on it, and the number of rebel sympathizers who voted at that precinct fell far short of the registration.

"Sugar-foot Jack" undertook to remove Tom from the scene of human activity and, armed with a double-barreled shotgun, he paraded C street late at night, looking for his victim. Tom was informed of the purpose of his pursuer and went forth to meet him. When they came within sight of each other Tom was quicker than Sugar Foot and shot him while the latter was in the act of raising his weapon.

In the Presidential election of 1864 a lawyer named McQuaid, who had offices fronting on C street, hung an engraving of Abraham Lincoln head downwards over the railing of the balcony in front of his office. As the Broom Rangers' procession approached the entrance to McQuaid's office Tom sprang in front of it with a cocked revolver in each hand, ordered it to halt, and kept it halted until Mr. Lincoln's picture was placed right side up, when he allowed it to proceed.

Tom's death was as dramatic as his life. He was sergeant of arms of the State Senate, which was in session at Carson City. One Mart Barnhart had sent him a challenge to fight a duel. Tom crumpled the challenge up, threw it into the spittoon and kicked the second who brought it out of the room. That night as Tom was seated in front of the stove in the barroom of the Ormsby House with his heels on the railing around the stove Barnhart approached, stood over Tom and said, "Peasely, what was the reason you would not accept my challenge?" Tom looked up without moving and replied, "Oh, I don't know, are you always on the fight?" "Yes," replied Barnhart, applying an abusive epithet to Tom as he shoved the muzzle of a dragoon revolver against Tom's side and discharged its contents into Tom's body. Then he struck Tom on the head with the barrel of the pistol and broke his skull. Tom sank upon the floor, and Barnhart stood over him laughing. Suddenly Tom sprang to his feet like a lion. Barnhart ran to an unoccupied cardroom opposite the bar, entered it and placed his back against the door. Tom followed him. With his left hand he smashed the panel of the door, thrust his pistol into the orifice, fired two shots into Barnhart and killed him. Then he fell to the floor and said to the barkeeper, "Billy, take off my boots before I go, and tell Sandy Baldwin to pay that hundred-dollar bet to my brother Andy." His boots were removed and in five minutes he was dead. He had bet one hundred dollars with his friend, Sandy Baldwin, that he would not die with his boots on. Baldwin paid the money to Andy like the dead game sport he was, and Andy donated it to the Sisters' Hospital.

It was during the campaign of 1880 when every sidewalk was plastered with signs reading, "Garfield got $329 from the Credit Mobilier and was in the De Golia pavement steal." The explanation was that he borrowed $329 from Oakes Ames and did not receive that sum as a Credit Mobilier dividend, and that, while De Golia was his friend, he had nothing to do with the pavement contract.

I was canvassing Maine that year in company with James G. Blaine. There were afternoon meetings and we had a royal time. Sometimes I was interrupted by questions and I always welcomed the interruptions, for the sympathy of the audience is always with the speaker, and if his answer is not half so witty or so wise as the question, he is accorded great applause.

It was at one of these meetings that a long-goateed hayseed, who was the very image of the caricatures of Uncle Sam, arose in the middle of the audience and said, "I would like to ask you a question."

Now a questioning Maine Democrat is the bete noir of Republican spellbinders. He is a relic of the paleozoic age of politics. He is an undeveloped protoplasm who clings to the Devonian rocks of the days of Andrew Jackson. He is still fighting the United States bank and eulogizing the resolutions of 1798. I trembled when he smote my shield, but what could I say except to reply: "Certainly, sir, you may ask your question."

"Did you ever," said he, "in all your life know any man to borry just $329?"

"I cannot just now," I replied; "call to mind any instance of that sort, but I do not wish you to be disappointed, and I will provide you with a transaction of the nature you mention. If you will be good enough to loan me $329 I will accept the money and give you my note for the amount."

It was not a very bright answer, but it served the purpose. The audience cheered. The ancient agriculturist stroked his whiskers and sat down.

My interlocutor made a speech that night at a Democratic meeting where he delivered himself of a diatribe against Gen. Garfield. "The Republican candidate for President," said he, "is a corrupt politician. As a general in the army he was entrusted with the command of the City of Mobile. Did he try to build up the prosperity of that distracted town? No, muffriends, he plunged it in debt. He organized the Credit Mobilier and plundered poor Mobile. There is even a darker period in his history. He took advantage of the friendship of his friend, De Golia, and while they was all a sittin' on the pavement in front of De Golia's house, he talked to Mrs. De Golia as no man ought to talk to the wife of his friend. There are ladies present and I will not repeat what he said. But I can say and I do say that if I had been Old Man De Golia, Garfield would never have left that pavement alive."

The referee of the Wolgast-Rivers meal-ticket function having been selected, the country will now attend to such small matters as naming a Republican candidate for the Presidency. "Mr. Chairman, I rise to nominate a man——" (Cries of "Name him!" "Cut it out!" "Is your hat in the ring?" etc., etc.)

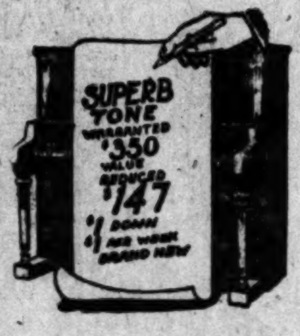
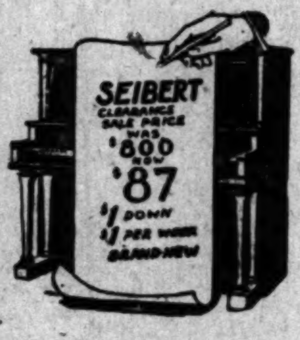
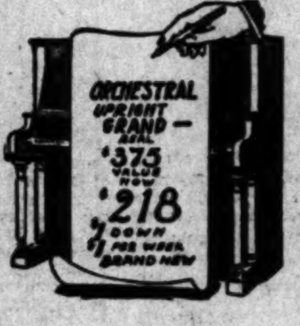
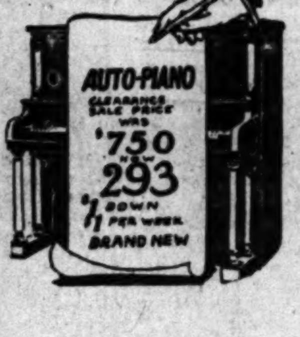
Player Pianos Now for Nearly Every Home

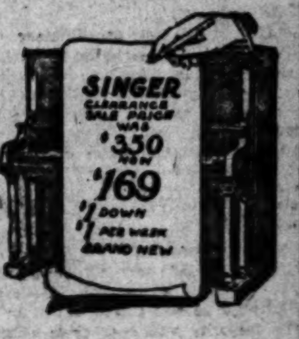
Study This Carefully, Note the Prices and See How Really Easy It Is to Make Home a Musical Home

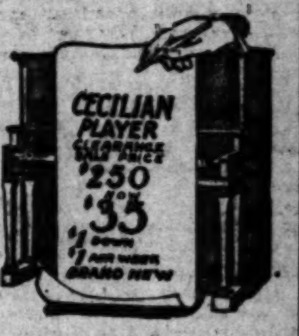


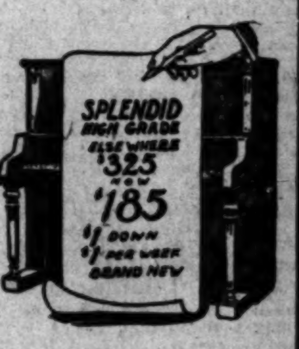


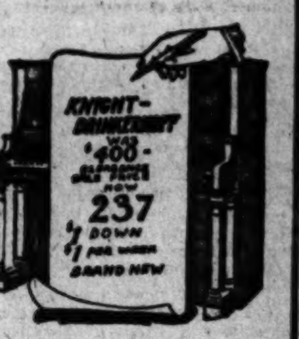












The extraordinary proposition to sell latest guaranteed pianos at reduced prices and on payments of only $1 a week will have to end in a few days, for by that time all the pianos in this undertaking will have been sold, and hundreds of homes will have benefited by this opportunity.

We found many callers who wanted to buy even finer pianos than those in this sale if provided on correspondingly easy terms and so we have arranged to close out before our Great Annual June Exhibition all the most valuable and the very highest grade upright pianos and some of the most costly Baby Grands in stock. We have reduced prices wherever possible and the payments will be only $2 a week.

You simply agree to pay at the rate of $2 a week, or so much a month, or as best suits your convenience, and one of the finest of Deckers, or Kimballs, or Webers, or Steinways, or even a Chickering, though in a plain case, is sent to your home right away.

No Use Crying "Cheap"

We have learned that some dealers in trying to compete with this sale have tried to make people believe that the instruments sold by Eilers Music House upon the wonderfully low terms of a dollar a week were not good instruments—in other words, were "cheap goods." This is not the case. Every instrument in the sale is high grade—and so guaranteed, a regular catalogue style—such as any mansion would be proud to own—a credit to every home.

And now the nation's very proudest names, the most exclusive makes, the very best that money, no matter how much, can buy are placed within easy reach of every real home. Not only are the prices reduced but payments are only $2 a week.

Study These Great Names

Think of securing choice of numerous genuine Weber made grand and three Weber upright, brand new, at such greatly reduced prices, and paying only $2 a week. A couple of Steinway, Knabe and Steck grands, same terms. Beautiful highest award Kimball uprights and two Kimball baby grands, $2 a week. Three of the nation's highest priced and most valuable make, the Chickering, payments $2 a week. Several splendid Deckers, and four fine Lesters same terms. The remaining beautiful Hallett & Davis pianos, and two of our superb Sohmers. All at reduced prices and $2 a week.

See the best pianos to be bought elsewhere at $625. Here they are only $487 now, payments $2 a week. See the pianos for which some of your friends have had to pay $550 and then come and find similar values here for only $378. See the beauties reduced to $446, $418, $385, $327, and plainer cases for still less. There never was such a cutting down of prices on such uniformly costly and most valuable stock. Make an effort now. You'll not regret it if you secure one of these pianos.

The magnitude of this undertaking and our determination to sell every one of these pianos before commencing our Annual June Exhibition makes this possible.

Player Pianos Reduced, Too

Simultaneous with the great distribution of new Pianos at $1 a week, while we are still supplying genuine $400 styles for $233, and plainer ones for only $215, $186 and $165, a great co-operative Player Piano purchasing league has been formed. This was arranged under the auspices of the Eilers Music House in conjunction with the four greatest Player Piano manufacturers of America. This, too, brings many advantages to the buyer, and makes possible great savings, as well as most extraordinary easy terms of payment.

Splendid brand new Player Pianos—instruments in the usual way of figuring surely worth $650 each—are now priced only $485, and to be paid on payments of $2 a week. Plain styles only $467.50.

Values which could not be obtained in the usual manner for less than $800, is now brand new, only $575; plainer cases $30 less and all on payments of $2.50 a week.

The New Acmelodic

And now the latest of all the Kimball Acmelodic Player Piano, the like of which no one expected to purchase for less than $1250, is now to be had in choice of fanciest mahogany, mottled French walnut finish, and also in superbly figured quarter-sawed oak cases for $776, and payments are arranged at only $3 a week.

There is also the elegant little Baby Bungalow Piano, priced brand new only $365, on payments of only $2 weekly. A range of assortment and design that has never heretofore been presented in any musical instrument house in America.

Music Roll Service

A free music library service is included in these prices; so is a bench, delivery free, no extras, no waiting, no task to be performed.

In the meantime we are continuing also to close out all our Player Pianos, which have been superseded by the late Player Pianos de Luxe, and the others mentioned above. At the reduced prices at which we are offering these they represent the most wonderful values imaginable.

All At Reduced Price

Every Weber Player Piano is to be sold, as stated, at prices exactly $330 less than the combine dealers are expected to ask.

Every Steck Player Piano is to be sold at prices reduced as stated, namely $285.

Every Wheelock Player Piano is to be sold at prices reduced as stated, namely $235.

Every Stuyvesant Player Piano is to be sold at prices reduced, namely $185.

$100 Music Rolls Free

With each of these instruments sold we now give free, in addition to the immense saving made possible during the sale an actual $100 worth of Metrostyle and Themodist music rolls.

It is undoubtedly safe to say that this will be the last opportunity for any one to secure one of these contract-protected-price Player Pianos at such reduced prices.

How much happier, brighter, better home is where there is music! And now only a little payment each week, or equivalent by the month, does it.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Southern California Edison Company yesterday appealed to the Board of Public Utilities to rule on the question whether a consumer of electric energy has the right to do what he pleases with the current after he has bought it.

The City Engineer was informed by Engineer Goodrich yesterday that the Wilmington Harbor plans had been sent from New York on the 2nd. inst. and another set the 11th inst., but he has received neither and has telegraphed for duplicates.

The Chief of Police asked the City Council yesterday to adopt a resolution asking the convention of Chiefs of Police to meet in Los Angeles in 1912.

A property owner on Rampart street yesterday asked the Board of Public Works to allow him to put his own men at work in cleaning up and repairing that street, if the board can not give the property owners relief.

Mrs. Caroline F. Ford, who fatally shot her husband over a year ago, will attempt to break his will, he having on his deathbed cut her off without a cent.

BUYS POWER; MAKES LIGHT.

UNIQUE POINT PRESENTED TO UTILITIES BOARD.

Has Business Concern Right to Do What It Pleases With Electric Current After It Purchases the Same—This Is Question to Be Solved by Commission.

Has the purchaser of electric current the right to do with it what he pleases after it is delivered to his premises? Can a business concern contract with an electric company for the purchase of a large amount of electric energy and then devote as much as he pleases of this current to lighting purposes, even to the point where a greater amount is used for light than for power?

These are the questions which have been presented to the Board of Public Utilities by the Southern California Edison Company and upon which it asks a ruling of the board. The company presents a case wherein a prospective large user of power expects to use a portion of this energy for a lighting plant, making the claim that he is at liberty to do with this energy what he sees fit after having bought it. The company states that it is entirely probable that the consumption of energy in this case for lights would greatly exceed that used for power purposes.

The company has also asked the Board of Public Utilities to make a ruling that where power consumers take advantage of the 20 per cent. reduction rate for power used when the peak load is off—that is, during all hours except from 4:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.—the consumers shall be required to put in their own time switch, which entails a cost of $25. Under the new schedule which allows this advantage to users of surplus power, the company expects to receive many applications, and it wants the Board of Public Utilities to provide for the proper inspection of time switches and make the ruling stated above about installing time switches.

Rose Hill Troubles.

The Board of Public Utilities and Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Pacific Electric Company, yesterday forenoon inspected the Rose Hill district, where the improvement association of that district is demanding that additions to car service and various stops and a five-cent fare to the city limits be granted by the railway company, as conditions of the granting of a franchise to cross Mission road and other streets.

Residents of Garvanza are to hold a public meeting tomorrow night at the public library on Ruby street, at which it is expected Shoup will be present, for the purpose of discussing the need of double car tracks on Avenue 64. Shoup maintains that there is no need for a double track on this street and no prospect of future development of the district that would justify it; but he is willing to "be shown," and one phase of the meeting will be the presentation of plans for the general development of the neighborhood.

Plans Gone Astray.

The City Engineer received a telegram yesterday from Engineer Goodrich, New York, stating that the full report concerning the Wilmington Harbor improvement had been forwarded to Secretary Fleming of the Harbor Commission on the 2nd inst., another set on the 11th Nothing of the kind has been received, and Hamlin yesterday telegraphed to Goodrich to send duplicates. Yesterday a document labeled "Typewritten Preliminary Discussion of the Wilmington Harbor Layout" was received by Engineer Hamlin and also a duplicate thereof was received by the Harbor Commission. Neither were available for newspaper men, as Hamlin's were securely placed within his private office and the Harbor Commission is punctiliously carrying out the ethics of letting the Board of Public Works make public what it wishes as to plans held by the City Engineer.

After Police Chiefs.

Chief of Police Sebastian yesterday filed a letter to the City Council asking that body to adopt resolutions to be forwarded to the nineteenth annual convention of chiefs of police, to be held at Toronto, in July, inviting the convention of 1913 to meet in Los Angeles. Chief Sebastian will attend this convention and work to bring the next one to this city. He has had printed attractive postcards setting forth the attractions of Los Angeles. The convention has 280 police chiefs as active members and it would bring to this city from 500 to 1000 visitors from all parts of the United States and the larger cities of Canada.

District Unsatisfactory.

Burke brothers and J. K. Burke, extensive property owners on Slauson avenue, yesterday filed with the City Clerk a protest to the City Council against the quality of the work done on the improvement of Slauson avenue and also a protest against the assessments for this work. They allege that the Santa Fe Railway Company, which owns rights of way adjoining and along the north side of Slauson avenue, has not been assessed in the same proportion as other property owners, but that its assessment is grossly disproportionate. They ask that all owners be assessed on an equal basis. The Streets and Boulevards Committee will inspect the work tomorrow.

Finish in Ten Days.

The Board of Public Works yesterday ordered the serving of a resolution upon the Pacific Electric, demanding that the company complete within ten days the repairing on its tracks and the street surface on Sunset boulevard, between Marion and Douglas streets. The city engineer reported that the company had been ordered to make these repairs on April 17, within twenty days, and that the work is not yet completed, but that material is left in the street to the inconvenience of the public.

Would Do It Himself.

Charles O. Middleton yesterday sent to the Board of Public Works a vigorous protest against the condition of Rampart street, between Sixth and Temple, and said that if he cannot get relief from the board he wants permission to put his own men at work on the street to clean it up and make the necessary repairs. "This offer is not made in a spirit of carcasm," says Middleton, in his letter. The board declares that this part of Rampart street has never been accepted by the city.

At the Courthouse.

SLAYS HUSBAND, ASKS PROPERTY.

PROBATE COURT HAS APPARENT PARADOX TO CONSIDER.

Her Victim Cut Her Out of His Will on His Deathbed, Declaring Her Unworthy—She Alleges Estate Is Community Property—Order to Show Cause Granted.

Mrs. Caroline F. Ford, whose slaying of her husband, Albert P. Ford, president of the Merchants' Fire Dispatch, arrest, trial and acquittal and subsequent attempt to destroy herself, form a unique record in the court, will contest Ford's will.

Attorney Nesbit obtained from Judge Willis yesterday an order to show cause returnable July 2 in Department Two, why the will which was admitted to probate May 30, 1911, should not be revoked.

A citation will be issued to bring the executor, H. J. Coates, into court when the battle will start in behalf of the widow for what she regards as her share of the $30,000 estate. Ford had his will drawn up April 27, 1911, as he lay dying from the wounds inflicted by his wife. He cut her out of the will, asserting that she was not worthy of being considered.

As it is community property, she alleges she is entitled under the law to one-half, subject to testamentary disposition. If she succeeds in breaking the will, she will get $7500 more than she otherwise would under the probate of the will. The will was admitted to probate without contest, but later Mrs. Ford went into court and obtained an allowance of $50 a month.

ELEMENTS IN DIVORCE, ONE IS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

A personal difference and the influence of his wife's mother weer the elements in the divorce action of Raymond B. Curtis in Judge Monroe's court yesterday.

Curtis is a contractor. His married life endured only six months. Mrs. Curtis had a tendency to neglect her household duties and rush over to her mother at No. 153 North Anderson street, he said.

After a recurrence of the dispute, the wife left the cottage at No. 110 Concord street and did not return. Curtis found she had packed the silverware, knives and forks and trinkets. He shut up the house the same evening and went to his mother, who lived near by.

"Why didn't you stay in the house in anticipation of your wife's return?" asked his attorney.

"She didn't leave enough things there for me to 'batch' on," replied the young husband.

ABANDONS HER BABY. COURT DRAWS CONCLUSION.

Because Mrs. Cora E. Lesley made no defence to the allegation of her husband, R. V. Lesley, and inferring from her silence that if the charge had not been true she would have appeared and protested, Judge Monroe granted Lesley a divorce yesterday.

The story revolved around the child she abandoned. The fate of the infant is shrouded in darkness. A nurse who attended Mrs. Lesley believed it had been placed out to be taken care of. The couple formerly resided at Gild Hill. Mrs. Lesley left her husband and went to Indianapolis. She returned to him last October, and in the spring Lesley told her to go to her parents.

HAS BIBLE AUTHORITY. WIFE-BEATER DIVORCED.

The deposition of Mrs. Marion McColrey, mother-in-law of Mrs. Anna E. McColrey, was instrumental in winning her a divorce from Charles H. McColrey before Judge Monroe yesterday. The wife testified that her husband was cruel, beating her on occasions.

In the deposition made at Peoria, Ill., the mother-in-law stated when she remonstrated with her son for his cruel acts, he retorted that he had Biblical authority for chastising his wife.

"There is no doubt of the merits of this case," remarked Judge Monroe," if McColrey's mother testifies as she has to the mistreatment of the wife."

INVOLVES PATENT. INJUNCTION IS DENIED.

The injunction asked for by the Southern California Securities Company was denied by Judge Dehy yesterday in the suit against the National Electric Crematory Company to set aside the election of officers and to declare illegal an issue of 2500 shares of stock. Judgment was given the defendants for costs.

The fight appears to have been among the stockholders for control. A valuable patent is involved, and it was testified tha tthe crematory company has obtained many contracts but cannot carry them out owing to the fight for control of the board of directors.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WILL FILED. Albert Barrows, who died at Redondo Beach on the 6th. inst., left an estate valued at $40,000. The will, dated May 18, 1896, was filed for probate yesterday. The estate goes to the widow. Among the securities named are notes, secured by mortgages, $28,100; stocks, $11,500.

PROBATION OFFICERS. Walter J. Desmond, a Long Beach attorney with offices at No. 405 Consolidated Realty building, was appointed a member of the Probation Committee to succeed the late Henry C. Dillon, by Judge Wilbur yesterday.

SHOWS LENIENCY. James Tilton, alias Riley the Rat, whose adroitness in filching purses has made him noted in police circles, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny at the recommendation of the District Attorney, in Judge McCormick's court yesterday, and was sentenced to six months in the County Jail. Tilton is a victim of tuberculosis and it was believed a long imprisonment would prove fatal. He was charged with having snatched a pocketbook from a passenger on a trolley car. He jumped from the car, and dodged into a saloon, where he was arrested. He was charged with grand larceny, which carries a heavier punishment.

AN OPPORTUNITY. The checkered career of W. J. McCandless received a new impetus in Judge Monroe's court yesterday. McCandless was divorced and remarried. When he was brought into court and pleaded his inability to pay an order of $15 a month, Judge Monroe remarked that if he were able to get a new wife, he certainly could afford to pay for the support of his children by his first wife. He was sent to the County Jail and had been there two months. He paid $15 yesterday and was given until September 1 to make good. The court gave him to understand that he was releasing him on that ground.

CAN'T DIVIDE DAMAGES. Judge Houser held yesterday in the condemnation suit of the county against Charles Burton Scoville for the construction of the new Arroyo Seco bridge that there can be no benefits to the land owned by Scoville offset against the damages on account of this construction. He also held that the damages should be as to one entire tract and not assessed separately as contended for by Scoville. He found that not special but general benefits can be assessed against the land. Scoville asked $13,000 damages. The amount will be determined by a referee.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Man Alleged to Have Robbed Another Returns to Get His Own Watch and Is Arrested.

A dislike for notoriety is the reason given by T. E. McCullen, No. 908 South Main street, for refusing to prosecute Frank Webster for alleged burglary. In a complaint sworn to by Detectives Fitzgerald and Varey, Webster was accused in Police Judge Frederickson's court yesterday of having stolen $20, a revolver and a watch from McCullen. A sentence of 100 days was suspended.

It was testified that Webster and McCullen met while drinking. The latter took the former to his room. While McCullen slept Webster took his gun, watch and money, returning to his own room a block away, according to the detectives. In his haste to get away, Webster left his watch on the dresser in McCullen's room. When he returned to get it, he was taken into custody by the night clerk of the hotel where McCullen lives.

Expensive Glass of Beer.

Jose Manuel was fined $30 or thirty days in the City Jail yesterday for having attempted to drink a glass of beer purchased by another man and left standing by him on the bar in a South Main-street saloon. Manuel resisted arrest, with the result that both eyes were blackened and his coat was almost torn off his back.

Always the Same Plea.

C. M. Hoyt and Judge Frederickson had seemingly met before, for when the court asked him how he pleaded to a misdemeanor charge, the defendant replied:

"Not guilty."

"I thought so," replied the court. "You always plead not guilty when you come up here."

The court will hear the facts Tuesday.

Pre-empties the House.

Leo Luzinski was fined $25 or twenty-five days by Judge Frederickson yesterday because he shot holes through a partition in his room at No. 1157 South Los Angeles street. Patrolman H. J. Kirk testified he heard the shots two blocks away.

When he reached the house the other tenants were leaving by front and back doors. Luzinski denied all knowledge of the shooting.

Fined Just the Same.

J. J. Tierney was fined $15 or fifteen days in the City Jail yesterday for having tried to "bum" a nickel from a stranger.

"I only wanted to get a nickel to ride home on," pleaded Tierney.

"Did you get it?" asked the court.

"No, sir; the cop got me before I could get it," replied Tierney.

COUNT NOW HOTEL CLERK.

Here is the longest name in the hotel profession of Los Angeles, added yesterday by the arrival of Count Jules Leopold Portier de Villeneuve as clerk at the Hollenbeck. Jules is a direct descendant of one of the famous old families of France and one of his distinguished ancestors was the great French Admiral Villeneuve. Villeneuve is a Count, but the only indication of historic ancestry which he carries is a signet ring handed down from generations, and his bearing. "My title counted in the days that the family held its great estates, but those days are past and after a few years of residence in this country, the democracy of the people permeates so deeply that I am glad to admit I have learned the art of work and can take care of myself," he said. Villeneuve came here from San Antonio.

PICTURE SHOW AS EDUCATOR.

THOUSANDS OF YOUNGSTERS GO TO AUDITORIUM.

Medical Societies Provide an All-Day Free Exhibition for the Awakening of the Young Mind to the Importance of Care and Cleanliness in Many Directions.

The free motion picture show, given in the Auditorium all day yesterday, under the auspices of the Los Angeles County Medical Association and the Los Angeles Society for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, was attended by thousands of school children and many of the parents. The exhibition was a most thorough and perfect one, in demonstrating the danger of contagion from tuberculosis, illness from impure milk, stagnant water and the common house-fly, and the open-air as a preventive and curative measure for convalescents.

The story of the awakening of John Bond owner of tenement houses, was told in a most realistic manner by the pictures, and elicited applause from the hundreds of children present. Bond had been taken by the tenement inspector on a tour of his own premises, but refused to improve the condition of his houses, being unmoved by the appeal of poor Mrs. O'Brien, who was suffering with tuberculosis and infecting her whole family, including her only support—a son. Bond went on a sea voyage with his bride, the latter is called to the bedside of a sick sailor, who proved to be the O'Brien boy, suffering with tuberculosis. As a result of her contact with him, Mrs. Bond developed the disease after his death. Bond is awakened by the accusing finger of his tenant, Mrs. O'Brien, renovates his tenements, gives $10,000 to the society, and sends his wife and Mrs. O'Brien and her children to a sanatorium, where they recover.

The second series of pictures illustrates a stubborn old farmer-dairyman, who would not clean up his place, but continued to sell impure milk until disease reached his own family. The pictures showing the horrid condition of the old dairy farm and afterwards the renovated and improved establishment, brought applause from the happy youngsters.

A fine demonstration was given showing the animalculae in stagnant water, and how it was purified by boiling and filtering. Another set of pictures that appealed to the children was that showing how disease may be carried by the common house-fly. It might appropriately have been named, "From Cuspidor to Milk Bottle," and teaches a good lesson in cleanliness.

The show closed with a fine demonstration of the open-air school, the visiting nurses instructing mothers how to care for their babies in hot weather, and instructing pictures of Notre Dame, and other scenes, to somewhat relieve the large dose of health pictures. It took just one hour to show the entire series, and after an intermission of five minutes it began over again. The plan cannot fail to prove beneficial, as it will undoubtedly awaken the child-mind to the importance of care in various directions, if health is to be preserved and lives saved.

NEW USE FOR COPPER.

Mine Owner Says it Gives Strength and Resisting Qualities to Iron and Steel for Building Purposes.

An alloy of iron or steel and copper is the latest useful discovery in the building and metallurgical world according to D. C. Jackling, a leading copper authority of the county who has been passing a few days at the Alexandria.

"Like nearly all of the great discoveries, that of mixing iron and copper to produce a metal of non-corrosive qualities, was an accident," said Jackling. "Only a short time ago, the English scientists found that many of the old buildings in a certain section, containing much iron in the construction showed few signs of deterioration from corrosion. In other parts of England, this has been one of the troubles with steel structural work.

"Naturally, the discovery led to investigation and this to the fact that the iron used in the particular district contained considerable copper in its finished state. Since that time, American manufacturers have been experimenting along this line and have had no trouble in introducing copper into the structural material without impairing its tensile strength and at the same time giving it qualities which it never before possessed."

"Should its use become general, it will mean a great increase in the consumption of copper, despite the fact that only a very small percentage is introduced into the iron."

Jackling is managing director of the Utah Copper Company, the Ray Consolidated Copper Company, the Nevada Copper Company and at least five other concerns.

GRAND JURY MAY ACT.

Supreme Court Decision Permits Investigation Here of Railway Affairs in the Oil Fields.

Following the decision of the United States Supreme Court holding that conspiracy to violate Federal laws can be punished in any State where an ovet act is done to further the conspiracy, it is understood that, at a conference to be held in San Francisco tomorrow between U. S. Dist.-Atty. McCormick and special counsel Willis Mills, representing the government in the action brought to cancel patent to 6000 acres of land in the Elk Hills, Kern county, the advisability of presenting the affairs of certain railway officials to the grand jury either in this city or San Francisco will be discussed, and some conclusion probably reached.

Justice Kenna laid down the doctrine which was supported by Chief Justice White and Justices Day, Vandeventer and Pitney; Justice Holmes dissented, and with him were Justices Lurton, Hughes and Lamar. The latter declared that trial should be only where the conspiracy was entered into.

As a result of the decision Henry A. Hyde and J. H. Schneider, of California were held to be guilty of land fraud conspiracy, as found by trial in the District of Columbia. The defendants, with John A. Benson and Henry P. Dimond, were indicted in Washington in 1904. It was alleged in the indictment they conspired to get title to large areas of school lands and exchange it under the law of 1897.

It was also charged that they bribed employees of the General Land Office in Washington to expedite the change and get certain information. The defendants claimed they should not have been taken to the District of Columbia but should have been tried in their home State of California. Hyde was fined $10,000 and sentenced to prison for two years; Schneider was fined and sentenced to prison for one year and two months.

WANTS TO BE SURE.

As a representative of the Dutch government, Vice-Consul Zeehandelaar called at the Central Station yesterday to satisfy himself that A. W. Boddaert's death Thursday night was purely accidental. While in an intoxicated condition he fell off an embankment on Buena Vista street, and sustained a fracture of the skull. That day he had received a $200 remittance from Holland relatives, through the Vice-Consul. Boddaert drew $50. When found he had but $6 in his pockets. It is thought he spent the remaining $44 drinking.

Oriental Rugs at the California

At Their Actual Commercial Worth

The California Furniture Company announces the opening of an Oriental rug department that shall faithfully adhere to the same high standards that have always characterized this institution.

—An Oriental rug department in which every rug is personally selected for its individual beauty and appropriateness for the modern home.

—An Oriental rug department in which actual inherent value—not inflated curio prices —shall govern the selling of every rug.

—No purchasing in bale lots—the unworthy along with the worthy—no fictitious values— no "special sales"—but honest, one-price close-margin selling at prices that make any reductions impossible.

We want you to visit this department of the "California"—to see and study these master creations of the Orient that we have so critically gathered. Visitors always welcome.

12 Days of Stock Cleaning—of Rounding Up Odd Lots

The Broken Lines—the Remnants in All Departments—Prices Now That Come But Once a Year

WHAT values there will be here for the next Twelve days—What an opportunity for big, generous savings on staple merchandise. This is a once-a-year event, the importance of which can best be gauged by the object for which it is organized.—That of rounding up the odd lots—the broken lines—the remnants, preparatory to stock taking, July 1st. It comes this year as the climax to six months of the greatest business in the history of the 5th St. Store. And because of this there are more broken lines, consequently our 5th Annual Round-Up Sale will be richer in value-giving than ever before. Two pages are spread before you now. Look the items over carefully. Such prices come but once a year.

POSTOFFICE ON CRISP BASIS.

Discipline Like the Military Brings Results.

How Col. McClintock Runs Mails at Phoenix.

Postmaster With a System All His Own.

A military postoffice in a civilian community; an office where the crisp, terse, efficient discipline of the army prevails; where the head of every department is an officer of the day, and where the "man behind the guns," or bags, recognizes without question the authority of the directing general, as well as that of the captains, lieutenants and non-commissioned officers and responds to such authority with the alacrity of a trained soldier; a place where such a system gets results from a given number of men unheard of in other offices—such is the postoffice at Phoenix, under the direction of Col. James H. McClintock.

"Make good or make way," is a motto of the office, each department of which is under its own officer, who in turn reports to the commander-in-chief. Every division is bound to achieve certain results; if it does not there is a little impromptu "inquiry." This usually results in a quick mending of the difficulty.

A thorough soldier himself, Col. McClintock could see no reason for not adapting his training to the requirements of the Phoenix office, and as a result has brought it to a high state of efficiency. He is popular with his men and popular with the public, but there is no "monkey business" about the administration.

Besides being postmaster, Col. McClintock, who is seeking surcease in Los Angeles for a few weeks from the warming rays of an ambitious desert sun, has found time to write a history of Arizona, as well as several hundred descriptive pamphlets for use in boosting the State, preside over the Board of Trade, prepare columns of readable magazine and newspaper copy, serve as chairman of the Reception Committee whenever a distinguished citizen comes to town, make a speech whenever necessary—which is pretty often in Phoenix—and keep a firm grasp on the political situation, national and local. Earlier he was a rough rider, an explorer, a printer, an editor and a few other odds and ends, which he does not at the present recall.

Col. McClintock is what the late Bill Nye would call a "leading citizen," and those who have basked in the companionable presence, and listened to any one or two or a dozen of his inimitable stories are willing to admit that his popularitly is deserved.

CORRALS SALT RIVER.

To him belongs the no inconsiderable credit of first discovering and recommending the availibility of the site which now conserves the waters of the Salt River, and irrigates 250,000 acres in the valley of the same name; wherefore he may be termed the ground-floor father of the Roosevelt project, the greatest of Uncle Sam's efforts at the redemption of the desert.

When the Spanish war broke out McClintock helped recruit a company of straight-shooters and hard-riders, and hurried east to join the Rough Riders. He served with distinction throughout the Cuban campaign, and was then sent to the Philippines, where he participated in many engagements and was seriously wounded. After his return and recovery he was placed at the head of the National Guard of Arizona, and built up that organization into a formidable fighting machine. He was appointed and reappointed postmaster at Phoenix and it is in this office that his executive ability has had most marked expression. Col. McClintock is well known in this city. He attended the recent convention of the California Postmasters' Association, held at Camp Curry, in the Yosemite, as the guest of Postmaster Harrison and was made an honorary member.

SPECIAL TRAIN PARTY.

Lee A. Phillips acted as host for a special train party that left Los Angeles last night for San Francisco on the Santa Fe's Saint. The party from here will be joined by a delegation of eighteen from San Francisco and twelve from Stockton. At Stockton the steamer Capt. Webber will be taken for a trip of inspection through the delta lands of the San Joaquin River. The journey will be continued by boat to San Francisco, from which point the Angelenos will return home. Those who went from here are Frank E. Walsh, E. W. Camp, John Parkinson, Fred L. Baker, Isaac Milbank, Robert Marsh, Harry Grar, J. H. Bohon, Dr. Frank W. Miller, J. E. Jardine, James Martin, Dr. W. W. Beckett, John B. Miller, A. A. Anderson, J. N. Russell, Harold S. Cooke, D. M. Baker, P. D. Rowan, Carleton F. Burke, E. W. Maxson, Adolph Schwarz, Lee S. Chandler, R. J. Meir, Senator F. P. Flint, W. H. Davis, W. G. Barnwell, S. M. Haskins, A. W. Morgan, Harry E. Moore, F. H. MALTA KNIGHTS ANNIVERSARY.

The fifth anniversary of the institution of Pasadena Commandery, Knights of Malta, will be celebrated tomorrow evening, when Frank Gray of Philadelphia, Supreme Recorder of the order, will be present, he having been the official who instituted the lodge. He will remain on the Coast for some days, and will institute a new lodge in this city on June 29, being the second one here.

A Stormy Session.

Charles E. Young presented a disheveled appearance when arraigned before Police Judge Frederickson yesterday on a drunkenness charge.

"I got this ear and these other marks from a patrolman's club, and not from being drunk," declared Young.

Patrolman Toomey reported that Young resisted arrest, and in the struggle tore his star from his coat.

The trial was continued until tomorrow morning.

New Plan.

LET UNCLE SAM BUY ALL BOOZE.

LOS ANGELES MAN WOULD REGULATE BUSINESS.

Capt. Carhart Issues Pamphlet Urging Government to Take Over the Liquor Business by Means of Great Fund Created by Congress Through General Taxation.

"Buy up and buy out, obtain by purchase, the entire whiskey business of the country. To do this legally and honorably amend the Constitution if necessary."

This is the nubbin of a plan evolved by Capt. L. H. Carhart of Los Angeles, by means of which he would do away in the course of time with the liquor traffic. Capt. Carhart presents his argument in a recently issued twelve-page pamphlet.

The author has arrived at a determination that prohibition does not prohibit, but is confident that the traffic, which he terms "the unspeakable burden of society, should be extinguished by law, not condoned and legalized."

Following out his plan Capt. Carhart would have each State, by means of a commission, make and submit a true and liberal invoice and valuation of all property employed in the manufacture of alcoholic liquors by State or national consent.

After taking this initial step he would have Congress legislate a fund into existence by general taxation to cover the cost, and the right at the end of ten years, more or less, to obtain by purchase all properties of this character, and pay for the same "in good money at a fair price, and then, at the end of the period so designated, go out of the business from ocean-to-ocean, and forever remain out of it, with no recall or referendum."

For medicinal, mechanical or other possible use the author would permit the Federal government to handle the business exclusively, and light domestic wines, under specific limit he would give unrestricted freedom as a legitimate diet and beverage.

Capt. Carhart assumes to believe that if the proposition is put up to the liquor men upon this basis fully one-half of them will concur and cooperate, and that within the alloted period all who desire can choose their own way out of the traffic.

When it comes to financing this ambitious project the inventor of the plan says that reimbursement from the sale of properties bought, and later sold and converted to other and better uses, will largely return to the treasury the cash paid out. "Our government," he says, "has financed the Civil War and the Panama Canal. It can easily manage this."

The adoption of this plan, he says, would be heroic, but at the same time equitable, and would insure "fifty years of dominance and political control to the party that will take up the solution of this problem and carry it to success."

"As parties partly responsible for past and present conditions," continues the printed argument, "we cannot now justly withdraw from the long-standing compact and demand the financial wreck of others involved. Prohibition invites confiscation. Such action would be unfair, inequitable, not a square deal, and will not stand in court or be sustained by the voice and conscience of the general public.

"The conservative opposition who have always thought and acted from a very different point of view, will never offer insuperable opposition to a fair and equitable compromise with adequate compensation, where the social, physical and moral well-being of the entire public is so manifestly concerned."

Cared for the Roses.

[Indianapolis News:] James Rourk, road manager of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad, bought a big bunch of flowers for his wife at an Indianapolis store. On the way home to Connersville he bribed a dining-car porter to lay the bunch on the ice to keep them cool. When he arrived home he found business at the office, that detained him for an hour and in the interval he sent a boy for another piece of ice, on which he placed the flowers. On reaching home he presented the bunch to his wife, who remarked:

"They're pretty, my dear, but they're terribly cold."

"Cold, sure, they're cold," the husband replied. "I've had them on ice for two hours; I didn't want them to wilt."

"They wouldn't have wilted, for they are wax, just wax, with green wire stems," said Mrs. Roy

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The Exposition directors report progress. Most of the submerged land has been filled in, a breakwater has been constructed to protect it and in a short time a nine-foot fence will be erected around the whole reservation. Then, too, the good news has just come from Washington that the Federal government has granted the use of "Tennessee Hollow," one of the picturesque spots in the Presidio reservation.

If it is possible for the Seals to be in two places at once they are not only in the dumps but they are also in the cellar. The other day Los Angeles rubbed it in by making nine runs and nine hits in the ninth inning. There is absolutely no hope for the locals and the fans would feel hurt if any other team should rob them of last place.

The State Board of Control has met with opposition in ordering that State officials pay their own expenses. The Board of Equalization has asked the Attorney-General to pass on this. The local officeholders are watching the case with interest. They feel that an expense account is an inalienable right and it is unconstitutional as well as cruel to deprive them of it.

Police Chief White is a determined sort of a man. Regardless of consequences he has ordered patrolmen to be polite under penalty of his severe displeasure. The coppers are not sure that "Gus" really means it. As the man sings in the ragtime classics to the homely maid, "I'll come back to you when elephants have wings," so will policemen be Chesterfieldian when car conductors and hotel clerks acquire the habit.

To the strains of joyous music and in the presence of thousands the new Olympic Club was opened. The edifice is a dream, athletic as well as luxurious. It might also be altruistic, as President Humphrey said it was "dedicated to the interests of physical culture, the highest manhood, the best type of citizenship, to fair play and the brotherhood of man." The steam room athletes all concur.

Supervisors of every shade and degree are trying to solve the service of the United Railways. The people complain of overcrowding; the company says it has enough cars on and employees of the corporation secretly tell officials that because of the few cars platform men are ordered to rush on pain of dismissal. In a neighboring city Motorman Rush and Conductor Swift ran a trolley car over Harry Ginger and it is said that the local traction company is eager to employ them.

It is denied that Abe Reuf was killed in the San Quentin uprising and the rumor is traced to those tired of reading the daily history of his life. Newspapers and lifelong friends are quarreling over the cause of the outbreak. Some say it was due to unwise sympathy for criminals; others insist that the men are tired of being too good. The convicts say that they are sick of the food and they ought to have the last word. Despite the complaints there will be no French dinners for a while, at least.

Clubdom has lost Jules Mersfelder, the artist. Matrimonium has him. He has married his model, Miss Pearl Messick of Berkeley, and in the ecstacy of the honeymoon says: "I have taken up the simple life. I shall not go to the clubs as I did. There will be no more Bohemia for me. I have renounced that and shall now paint and live. My wife is a beautiful girl, a musician, with a sweet voice. She draws prettily and her culture makes her a critic of my own part so much so that she gives me good advice. "Veteran clubmen who have heard all this before, say au revoir to Jules—not adieu."

Because his brother was a pugilist Wallace R. Reay swears that his mother did not like him and so presented to the aforesaid Wallace $104,000, instead of to the bruiser. Christiana G. Reay, the mother, denies this and is suing to get her money back. She says she merely wished to frighten the sporting son by pretending to give his brother the money. As the pugilist, Joseph, has been some mixer in his day, it is likely that Wallace will lose out legally as well as physically.

PLUTO.

PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.

A Century Ago Human Blood Was Cheap and Thieves Were Put to Death in England.

[Case and Comment:] In order to understand some of the differences between the criminal law of the past and present in relation to humane feeling, a few facts in the history of crime in England will be given.

In Queen Elizabeth's time there was a great decrease in capital punishment. It is asserted that in the reign of Henry VIII, nearly 2000 minor criminals were hanged annually; that in Elizabeth's time the number had fallen to about 400.

While these figures are conjectural, it is probable that there were fewer executions and less crime at the end of the sixteenth century than at any previous time in English history.

When human blood was cheap, when it had a fixed price in cattle and money, it was not strange that a murderer could buy back his life, but a thief, too poor to make restitution, was hanged. It was no greater crime to kill a person than to pick his pocket.

It was only in 1808 that a law was passed by which pocketpicking ceased to be punished by death.

It was as late as 1820 when the law was changed to the extent that it was no longer a capital offense to steal from a shop, unless to the value of £15. Until 1832, stealing of horses, cattle and sheep, stealing from dwelling-houses, and forgery were capital offenses.

It was a common sight to see a baker with a loaf of bread about his neck for dishonest dealing, being jeered and pelted in the pillory, which was also used to punish those who sold bad meat, poultry, fish and false jewelry; also those who were gamblers with loaded dice; beggars, who had pretended to collect for a hospital, fortune tellers who had promised to recover stolen goods, and petty thieves of every kind.

Sometimes there would be seen a woman on the ducking stool, to which she had been sentenced as a common scold. The gibbet, with a robber hanging in chains was a familiar object; and the heads of traitors and heretics were exhibited on poles.

MELBA TO SING YUM-YUM.

Madame Melba is to sing Yum-Yum in a presentation of the "Mikado" to be given for one of Queen Alexandra's many charities. In consenting, she told several of her friends an amusing story of her first introduction to the late Sir Arthur Sullivan. The most brilliant pupil of Madame Marchesi, she resolved to come to Europe to study. Before going to Paris, however, Mme. Melba came to London. She was introduced to Sir Arthur, and sang the great air from "Traviata," "A fors e lui" to him. He nodded approval. "You have," he said, "a very good voice. If you will study for a year you may be able to sing in my "Mikado." Out in Melbourne, where she was a pianist, she certainly did sing, but it is perhaps truthful to say that it was not until the wife of the then Governor of Victoria observed that some day she would give up the piano for singing, and become famous, that she began to arrange for serious vocal study.

SANDAL IS POPULAR.

Summer shoes are becoming closer and closer akin to the sandal. And the sandal, itself, is more popular this year at the seaside resorts than ever before. The first foot coverings were sandals. After these came shoes left open at the toes, then the wooden shoes of the ninth and tenth centuries, followed a little later by shoes with long-pointed and turned-up toes, which sometimes reached as high as the knee. Later a shoe was worn with an exceedingly wide toe, so very wide that it impeded the process of walking. Queen Mary restricted the wearing of this by proclamation. The proclamation ran to the effect that shoes should not be worn wider than six inches.

PRINCESS LEARNS TO DANCE.

Her Majesty is a firm believer in all children being taught to dance so soon as they are of a suitable age, not only for the sake of the art itself, but on account of the beneficial effect that she considers it has upon their health and carriage. Princess Mary is quite a skillful waltzer, as are the Prince of Wales and Prince Albert. Even little Prince John is now to receive his first lessons in dancing. Children's balls, therefore, at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle are likely to be rather frequent in the future. The Queen, however, realizes the importance of boys and girls not overtiring themselves on these occasions, and she considers that none of these balls should last for more than a couple of hours or so at the outside. She is herself still very fond of a waltz, though this is really the only modern dance that appeals to her. King George, on the other hand, had almost entirely lost his former liking for the ballroom.

OVERWORKS BOY, CHARGE.

W. G. Logan, a druggist at First and Cummings street, has been charged by Henry H. Lyon, Assistant Deputy Labor Commissioner, of having violated the State child labor law. The warrant, made returnable in Police Judge Frederickson's court, is predicated on a complaint which alleges that Logan employed Roy Thacker, 19 years old, twelve hours a day, for six consecutive days, May 19 to 24, inclusive.

Paris.

DREAM CHILD COMES TRUE.

Parisian Woman Finds Niece After Having Vision.

Duc d'Orleans Leaves England at King's Request.

French Submarines Are to Be Used to Fight Porpoises.

BY PAUL VILLIERS.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Wireless from Chicago to The Times.]

PARIS, June 15.—Madame Edouard Constant jested at dreams and psychic messages until a brief week ago. The story of the Constant "dream child" is just going the rounds of the salons and Madame Constant, the confirmed skeptic, vouched for its authority. It sounds just like one of Grimm's fairy tales.

One morning Madame, who is very devotional, thought she would rest in her room instead of following her usual habit to get up early and go to mass at Notre Dame. Half-waking, half-sleeping, she saw a bright figure at her bedside, the face seemingly a reflection of her own. It beckoned her from the room and knelt in an attitude of prayer. Madame Constant took this as a hint to dress and go to mass. Laughingly she told her maid all about it when Fidele found her in a dead faint. She was advised to go back to bed, but insisted upon going out to church. Imagine her surprise when, just as she was dipping her fingers in the font, a young girl, identical with the spiritual visitor, stood beside her. The girl apologized politely when Madame stared at her. The peculiarity of the resemblance to herself, coincident with the visit of the ghost girl, awakened her curiosity. She had the girl followed to her home in a poor cottage at Courbevoise. A brief investigation convinced Madame's agents that there was a romance touching her own life tucked beneath the veil of this mystery. And so it proved. The "dream child" of Courbevoise was really her niece, the child of an unfortunate love affair which had estranged her sister from the severe Constant family and ultimately led to her death from consumption induced by neglect. Papers were not lacking to prove the girl's relationship and the "dream child" is now a happy pupil at the Sacred Heart Convent, preparatory to taking her place in Madame's house as the heiress to her very considerable estate.

HINT TO LEAVE GIVEN.

That the Duc d'Orleans was given a polite hint to leave England, his presence being no longer desired by King George and Queen Mary, is the substance of the most accepted explanation of the recent sale of Wood Norton, the English estate of the Orleanist pretender.

An attempt to deny this story has been made by "L'Action Francaise," the organ of the Young Royalist party in France, which says that the departure of the Duke from Britain was due merely to "his desire to settle closer to French soil." This is taken to mean that the Orleanist pretender proposes to settle in Belgium, which already harbors the titular head of the Bonapartist faction. It is a significant fact that the Duke's sudden decision to approach the French frontier coincides with the renewed activity of the Imperialists since Prince Victor's marriage. The Orleanists are evidently determined not to be left out of the reckoning, although, as a matter of fact, the people of France are not worrying very much over the fireworks which may be discharged by either party.

In the reign of Queen Victoria the Duc d'Orleans was compelled to resign from his English clubs and leave England following a gratuitous insult to her majesty, who had come to the rescue of his house and himself when both were without a welcome in any other part of Europe. He then appeared on French soil and asked to be allowed to serve as a conscript. The French government responded by shutting him up in the prison of the Conciergerie, where Marie Antoinette spent her last moments. Upon his release, he wandered for two years an alien in Europe and then sued to King Edward for forgiveness. His penance was accepted and King George continued to receive him until quite recently. The present King of England takes a very serious view of his responsibilities, and the accepted view in Paris is that he is determined that England shall no longer be a nest for the breeding of insurrections against established governments with which Great Britain is on terms of friendly relations. Putting two and two together, this does seem a very reasonable conclusion.

NEW USE FOR SUBMARINES.

A new use has been found for the submarine by the French Ministry of Marine. The artificial porpoises are to fight and kill the natural porpoises.

It has been discovered that hungry porpoises on the French Coast have almost ruined the sardine industry, which mints millions for the people of the coast towns and the channel isles. To remedy this state of affairs torpedo boats and the submarines are being sent under "sealed orders" to scour the waters of the channel and make things so hot under water for the blunt-nosed acrobats of the waves that those who survive will take either to the Irish Sea, the North Sea or the Bay of Biscay.

France is now paying particular attention to her fisheries and to finding markets for her fish. She is now transporting by rail live fish to distant parts of Germany and Russia. The fish are placed in covered cisterns, running on wheels and the water is constantly renewed by a motor pump and an intricate system of pipes.

HEART ON WRONG SIDE.

During the trial trip of one of the new French warships a stoker complained of palpitation, pressing his hand against his right side. He was examined by a surgeon who found that the man's heart was on the wrong side, which in this case was the right side. The surgeon who made the discovery got such a start that, it is said, his heart was in his mouth.

CZAR IS AGAIN AFTER PEACE.

TO SOON ISSUE PRONOUNCEMENT TO POWERS OF WORLD.

Kaiser, King and Ruler of All the Russias to Meet Soon for Conference on Momentous Question that May Put an End to All Wars—Dancer Drops Dead.

BY GEORGE FRASER.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Wireless from Chicago to The Times.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 15.—Czar Nicholas is preparing another important pronouncement on world peace. It is understood here that it will be issued to the powers immediately after the conference of the three Emperors, which semi-official announcement may take place some time in July or August at Kiel.

The Kaiser, King George of England, the Emperor of India, and the Czar of Russia, meeting to discuss as the heads of the three most powerful modern empires, a basis of lasting peace, will give an event to history more famous than possibly the meeting of the three Emperors a century ago, which emphasized but a pause in the cruel work of deluging Europe in war.

PATHOS OF FAMINE.

From Nijoi-Novogorod comes a pathetic incident of the famine which devastated twenty provinces of this empire through the worst crop failure Russia has experienced in years. While people were starving in Western Astrakhan, a Russian priest suggested that dances should be got up to try and keep the sufferers from brooding over their misfortunes.

The idea was at once put into effect and dances took place at the elbow of grim want. In the midst of one figure of the eye-dazing Astrakhan mazourka, a young girl reeled and dropped dead. Her friends thought it was but an improvization in the usual movement. They danced around death for five or six minutes without realizing the truth.

MODELS OF MOSCOW.

A part of the Russian exhibit to be shown at San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be two models of Moscow. The one will show the city as it appeared when the troops of Napoleon were encamped within the burned metropolis of old Russia. The other will be "Moscow rebuilt."

The people of this most interesting city are taking a leaf out of the book of California. They will have an exhibition of their own shortly, which will be, to a certain extent, international. Another effort is being made to enhance the civic beauties of Moscow.

Qualified as a Mother.

[Washington Star:] Dr. Harvey W. Wiley said the other day in Washington of a cannery concern:

"These people, when we objected to some of the poisonous chemicals used in their canned peas and asparagus, laughed at us. They said we were ignorant and inexperienced. They pointed out that they had been many years in business and that they turned out many millions of cans a year.

"It reminded be of a woman whom I once saw in my young days, feeding a babe a few months old on bits of fried fish and pickle.

"'Don't do that,' I said. 'Don't do that madam! It's most unhealthy to give fish and pickle to so young a child.'

The woman frowned upon me.

"'Huh,' she said, 'don't you try to teach me how to feed babies. Why, young feller, I've buried seven!'"

WISHED AWAY HER WARTS

"At one time my hands were covered with ugly warts. I don't think anyone ever had them worse than I did," said a young lady who works in one of the downtown offices in New York. "I was extremely sensitive about the appearance of my hands. The thought of those warts worried me night and day. I tried all the remedies I could think of and all that my friends recommended. One day at dinner with a young lady who had been abroad for two years, we made a wish over a wish-bone. I lost. She said, 'Tell me your wish,' and I told her it was to be rid of my warts. She answered instantly, 'It shall come true,' and she gave me this prescription: 'Go to any druggist, get two drams of Traxit (Triple Strength,) bathe the wart in warm water just before retiring, dip a wooden toothpick into the Traxit and touch the wart lightly.' Within a week I was perfectly free from warts. I regard it as the most wonderful thing in the world and when I see anyone troubled like I was I invariably recommend it. I have never known it to fail. It seems strange that anyone should go through life suffering the humiliation of warts when they can be removed at such a trifling expense and in such a short time."

SUMMER CAMP PLANS.

Playground Commission Arranges Outings for Both Boys and Girls in San Gabriel Canyon.

Arrangements were completed yesterday by Charles B. Raitt, superintendent of the city playgrounds, for the summer camp to be maintained in San Gabriel Canyon this season for the benefit of the boys and girls of this city.

The camp will be established about a mile from Follows' Camp, in one of the most picturesque parts of the canyon, where there is ample shade, good fishing and a concrete plunge. Tents will be taken up to accommodate thirty-five to fifty at a time, with four boys to a tent.

Athletics will be a feature of the camp, a fine field being provided for games. There will be "hiking" divisions, undertaking short tramps at first and finally the best walkers will be selected for trips to some of the high peaks.

The dining tables are to be so constructed that in the evenings they may be used to form a stage on which impromptu entertainments will be given, with a phonograph for the orchestra.

The camp will be opened July 5, and the first lot of boys will be in camp from July 5 to 18. Another lot will be there from July 19 to August 1. The girls will have the camp from August 2 to August 29.

Preference will be given to attendants at the public playgrounds in receiving applicants for these camp vacations. The entire cost for the two weeks' outing will be $7.50, which includes transportation.

This is the second year of the playground commission camp, and if this proves as successful as that of last year steps will be taken to secure permanent grounds in some mountain canyon to be improved with camp buildings. Last year camps of thirty-five at a time were maintained at Corona del Mar.

The boys' camps this year will be in charge of C. H. Blesse, of the public playgrounds, and the girls' camp will be in charge of Mrs Maude Hammond, who has charge of girls' work and recreation at the playgrounds.

IT CAUSED NO SURPRISE.

Pasadena Captures Grand Prize at Portland and Prize Was a Check for $1000.

PASADENA, June 15.—Fifty thousand people and the judges agreed that the Pasadena float entered in the Portland floral parade was by all odds the finest thing in the line, and the awarding of the grand prize of $1000 is recognized as a material tribute to the Flower Capital of the world.

The float was really a marvel of beauty. A large seven-passenger touring car was covered with banks of locust leaves and ferns. Caroline Testout roses and pink and white carnations were the flowers used, the tonneau and sides being a mass of bloom. Over the hood was erected a great crown of Caroline Testouts, symbolical of the Crown City. Besides the driver, five beautiful girls rode in the car. They were Misses Cora Van Kirk, Mary McDonald, Violet Maurer, Frankie Bowens and Frances Magill. Mrs. R. C. Bartow, who was sent by the Pasadena Tournament of Roses to prepare and enter the float, worked on it for ten days and was naturally much elated when her product achieved first honors.

TIMELY CHANGE OF PLEA.

Prosecuting Attorney Alleges Sharp Practice in Conduct of Disturbing-the-Peace Case.

The lie and charges of sharp legal practices were bandied back and forth in Police Judge Frederickson's court yesterday morning between Assistant City Prosecutor Nimmo and Attorney R. J. Adcock, who are on opposite sides in the J. J. Tilley alleged disturbing-the-peace case. The attache of the City Prosecutor's office accused Attorney Adcock of taking undue advantage of the court and "putting one over on the prosecution." Adcock declared the accusation was false, and Justice Frederickson ended the dispute by remarking: "I don't blame Mr. Nimmo for having his suspicions. That is as far as I care to go."

Several days ago Tilley, who was accompanied in court yesterday by his mother, wife and two children, pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace, forcing his attentions upon three actresses, especially Miss Mabel Howard. When the court showed a disposition to put the case over until yesterday that he might hear what the young woman had to say, Tilley begged for immediate sentence.

He appeared in court yesterday with counsel, and asked permission to change his plea to not guilty. After that had been done, the validity of the complaint was attacked, and the prosecutor was given permission to amend it.

In the interim it became known that the three actresses would leave the city tonight, en route to Salt Lake City, consequently could not appear against Tilley, whose attorney had demanded a jury trial.

After leaving the courtroom, Miss Howard said that Tilley's mother and wife apologized to her and her companions for his conduct at West Fourth and Spring streets.

SHE'S NOT A DEMOCRAT.

In the official list of signers to the call for a conference of Women Democrats, sent out from the conference headquarters, appeared the name of Mrs. Frank Cattern. Mrs. Cattern objects. She is a loyal Republican, she declares, and never authorized any such use of her name.

The Prize Winner.

Pasadena entered a float in the floral parade at Portland the past week and took first honors and the grand prize of $1000. The Crown City was in no sense surprised at the outcome for it is admittedly the Flower Capital of the world.

SPLENDID ACROPOLIS.

gan nine years ago when James S. Slauson, Charles F. Lummis and a few others founded the Southwest Society of the Archeological Institute of America. Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Henry W. O'Melvenny, Dr. Norman Bridge and Maj. E. W. Jones have been vice-presidents of the society since its institution.

The Southwest society has not only revived and reformed the thirty-three-year-old institute, but has been instrumental in founding the scientific body which will control the San Diego Panama-California Exposition of 1915. Four years ago this society incorporated the Southwest Museum under the law of California.

THE LUMMIS ANNEX.

The new museum buildings will have an important annex. More than two years ago Charles F. Lummis conveyed to the museum his priceless library and collection of Spanish-America. He is now preparing to convey to the museum in trust, the beautiful home in which the collections are housed. This fireproof castle, only four blocks from the central buildings, is one of the show places of the city.

The city plan to park the whole Arroyo Seco will enormously increase the beauty and public utility of the entire museum plan.

The officers of the Southwest Museum are: Gen. Chaffee, president; Mrs. Clara M. Burdette and Joseph Scott, vice-presidents; W. C. Patterson, treasurer; Charles F. Lummis, secretary and founder emeritus; Hector Alliot, curator; Gen. Chaffee, Lummis, Robert N. Bulla, M. H. Newmark, Mrs. Burdette and Scott, directors.

The Southwest society, the founding body, has 414 members, and is the largest society of its kind in the world. Its officers are: M. A. Hamburger, president; Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Henry W. O'Melvenny, Dr. Norman Bridge, Maj. E. W. Jones, vice-presidents; W. C. Patterson, treasurer; Charles F. Lummis, secretary; James A. Foshay, Charles Cassat Davis, James Dix Schuyler, Dr. J. A. Munk, Herbert T. Goudge, Dean Mason, M. A. Hamburger, Robert N. Bulla, Hector Alliot and Charles F. Lummis and Joseph Scott, Executive Committee.

Its department of educational extension has for director Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the School of American Archeology and director of exhibits for the Panama-California Exposition. Dr. Alliot is in charge locally. The committee includes Dr. Bridge, Joseph Scott, Dr. Munk, and the secretary and curator. This department is doing important work in "humanizing the study of man" in clubs and public schools in Southern California, and as far east as Colorado.

Following the summer session of the School of American Archeology in Santa Fe in August, the Southwest Museum will conduct excavations in one of the most important prehistoric Pueblo ruins.

Much as has been accomplished by the museum, Curator Alliot feels that it is only a beginning. In addition to the present valuable exhibit, there are 200 cases which have never been opened. More important yet, there are remarkable and valuable private collections which may be added to the museum's exhibits when the new building is completed.

Knows All—and Then Some.

BIG BALLY-HOO SPIEL TICKLES THE TOURISTS.

Tireless Dispenser of Knowledge and Pleasing Fiction About Los Angeles Is City's Greatest Booster—He Knows More About Men and Things Than the Corner Cop—Ingenious Coloring Thrills.

THAT RUGGED PRODUCT of great tourist centers, the Bally-Hoo artist, captain of the yap wagon and rubberneck coach, has reached nearest perfection in Los Angeles.

Here he has flowered to such a degree that he has become an institution and is the fountain head of such a world of detailed knowledge of the city that he easily puts the corner policeman to shame.

He is on speaking terms with a thousand persons and odd characters ranging from the heathen of Chinatown and the Mexican peon at the Plaza, who seems to be eternally afflicted with an acute attack of hookworm, to the snappy up-to-the-second real estate broker who sees in his passengers prospective buyers.

There are about ten of him who have been long enough in the business to be recognized wherever they go about the city. They carry 500 passengers each day over a route of twenty-five miles, which begins in the center of the business district, extends through the wholesale district to Chinatown and the older parts of town, crosses the great retail district, goes out into the beautiful residence district, and ends at the starting point.

OVER A MILLION MILES.

One of these Bally-Hoo men who has been at it seven years here travels fifty miles every day. This means he has gone over 127,750 miles in his yap wagon and has carried close to 100,000 passengers, to whom he has told his glowing story of Los Angeles.

The distance these ten or more Bally-Hoo men have traveled in their rubberneck coaches would total over 1,277,500 miles. They have talked to over 1,000,000 persons and they firmly believe that they have done their share and more toward the tremendous growth of this city.

From start to time of finish, the Bally-Hoo man is seldom quiet. He talks continually and can say his piece two-thirds asleep or with his eyes shut.

The tours, as they are termed, generally start at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Two round trips are made every day in the year, rain or shine.

THE SQUATTER.

If business is a little slow there is the "squatter" to be utilized and this word in his dictionary has become almost indispensable to the Bally-Hoo man. The "squatter," is generally plural. A man and a woman are engaged to climb up to the empty yap wagon and take a conspicuous seat about fifteen minutes before the starting hour. These people act as bell weathers to the hesitating sightseer. From long experience the Bally-Hoo men have [illegible] climb out and get fifty cents where others are going. The squatters remain in their seats till the coach is about half full and then climb out and get fifty cents [illegible].

With his coach or automobile filled, the Bally-Hoo man climbs up in the front, takes his megaphone in hand and gives the signal to start up Spring street.

"We are now going north on Spring street," he bawls out. "It doesn't matter what time of the year it is elsewhere, this is always Spring." After this opening there is always a laugh from his passengers and the Bally-Hoo man begins to warm up. He likes an appreciative audience, the bigger the better.

"[illegible] the the retail business section of the fastest-going city in the world," he continues. He is interrupted by a stop as from a hotel comes a signal from the porter that there are [illegible] waiting. The big auto swings up to the curb and a young couple, proclaiming by their manner that they are bride and groom, climb aboard.

The coach rolls up Spring street and the Bally-Hoo man continues calling out the names of the larger buildings. Arriving at First street and running to the Plaza, he cries:

"This is the center of the city. Everything is either north, south, east or west from this point.

"Just ahead of us you will see the old Pico House, one of the first hotels in Los Angeles. It was at one time the finest hotel in California. It was named after Gov. Pico, the last Spanish Governor of California, who lived in Los Angeles."

SEEING THINGS.

As the big machine swings along Los Angeles street toward Chinatown, the Bally-Hoo waxes enthusiastic.

"We are now coming to Chinatown where there are over 5000 Chinese. It is the second largest Chinatown outside of China. There are their joss houses to the right. The most of those Chinamen you see are peaceful merchants, although now and then you may see one of the terrible hatchet men, the Black Hand of the Chinese.

"Right over there is where two Chinamen were killed by the terrible hatchet men last week. Ladies and gentlemen, never come to Chinatown at night without a guide and a protector. I am a guide and a protector."

Just then out of the door of a little adobe house near the Plaza comes on the jump a Mexican garbed in glowing costume, followed by another Mexican dittoly attired and waving a big tin knife. With a screech the first Mexican dashes along the front of the adobe house and disappears around the corner, followed by the man with the blade. Around the corner they slacken speed and re-enter the adobe house and wait for the second yap wagon to pass. It is a part of their day's work and they are all paid for it.

The effect on the sightseers is always electric. The bride convulsively clasps her husband around the neck and other women in the party lay hands on the first and nearest male.

TEMPERAMENTAL.

"That is nothing, ladies and gentlemen," sings out the Bally-Hoo man, "but one of the regular temperamental disturbances that occur between members of this hot-headed and hot-blooded people. In a half-hour from now they will be good friends again and their troubles forgotten. Just ahead of us is the Los Angeles Mission, after which this city was named. That road coming out just by the side of the mission is the first view of El Camino Real that you have had.

"We are now on Main street, going south. The building to the right is the new Federal building, erected at a cost of several millions of dollars. Just back of it is the County Jail, where the McNamara brothers were lodged during their trial. To the right, up this street you will see the Los Angeles County Courthouse, where the famous dynamiting case was tried."

As the auto rolls along Spring street to First and to First and Broadway, passing the new Times Building, the Bally-Hoo man calls out:

"This is the new Times Building, being erected on the site of the old building, which was destroyed by dynamite almost two years ago. The Times is the largest newspaper in the world and its Sunday issue is so big that two copies make a man-sized load.

"We are now going south on Broadway, the shopping center of Los Anles. These big shops are among the best in the United States, and it is through them that Los Angeles has earned the distinction of being the best shopping center in the entire West. On the left is the City Hall."

The same descriptive sing-song is continued down Broadway to Seventh. Each building or great store is pointed out, and some peculiarity told.

On Seventh street the run is made quickly to Westlake Park and here the Bally-Hoo man tells of the city's beauties.

"It is not our largest park, but is our most beautiful one," he says.

Out through the beautiful streets of the Wilshire district goes the auto laden with strangers and the Bally-Hoo man works hard as he calls the names of the owners of the magnificent homes they pass. He knows some special history about each prominent name. He knows the homes of all the capitalists, knows whether they made their money in the East and came here with it, or made it in oil, real estate, orange groves or mining, and tells frankly about each.

DRAMATIC, TOO.

He tells of the price of frontage on some of the most exclusive residence streets and private parks. He reels off lists of figures about the cost of the different houses that must have taken months of study to acquire. On West Adams street the trees lining the thoroughfare—the Bally-Hoo man even tells the passengers the names of the different palms, the pepper, acacias and all the rest. He reaches his climax when he arrives at Singleton court.

He drives his truck down the long avenue of palms to the entrance and has his passengers step off. Then in a subdued tone he tells a stirring history of the residence which still remains as the destructive fire left it about five years ago. Here his data is a little erroneous, but as his tale is intensely dramatic and his hearers know no better he gets away with it and the passengers talk in whispers when leaving.

ON YOUR RIGHT YOU WILL SEE A "JOSH" HOUSE, THE MAN IN THE DOOR IS ONE LUNG LEE, THE TURRIBLE HATCHET MAN!!
I WONDER WHERE I KETCHUM SOME WASHIE?

Through Chinatown.

In St. James Park and Chester Place the names of the owners of the many beautiful homes are called out and short anecdotes told of each.

A run up Figueroa street to Washington and thence by Hope to Ninth brings the sightseers to Hamburger's. Here the Bally-Hoo man gets in a little more boosting and dwells on the fact that Hamburger's is the biggest department store west of Chicago.

The Bally-Hoo man is a booster. He is continually on the lookout for new facts and figures with which to entertain his passengers. The bigger the better. He revels in bank clearings and building permit figures and often generously adds a few ciphers when warmed up to his work.

TO SHOW AQUEDUCT VIEWS.

Arrangements Made to Seat Large Crowd in Exposition Building Tuesday Evening—Punch and Plants.

To insure a hitchless entertainment when the aqueduct pictures are given at Exposition Park Tuesday evening, the Chamber of Commerce smoker committee went through the motions of seating a large audience, last night. Every chair was adjusted and the ushers were drilled. Arrangements were made for checking 2700 hats.

Park Commissioner Sherer will provide a quantity of potted plants and trees. The decorating of the rooms will be done under the direction of the superintendent of exhibits of the Chamber of Commerce. The rooms of Exposition building, bare a few days ago, have assumed a gala appearance.

Stations have been established for serving punch and wafers to over 2500 persons. Special arrangements have been made for car service.

AUTOS INJURE TWO MEN.

One Driver Arrested for Reckless Handling of His Car—Accidents in Crowded Streets.

Fred Comer, No. 828 West Fifty-second street, was arrested yesterday afternoon and will be arraigned in the Police Court tomorrow on a complaint charging him with reckless driving. He ran down A. Neimeyer, No. 1156 East Eleventh street, 44 years old, at East Ninth and South Central avenue, while, it is asserted, driving on the wrong side of the street. Neimeyer sustained a lacerated left leg and a sprained left shoulder. Witnesses reported that Neimeyer, while endeavoring to dodge two other vehicles, ran directly in front of the Comer machine.

J. D. March, No. 462 Hartford avenue, 67 years old, was knocked down by an auto driven by F. A. McAllister, No. 318 West Adams street, on Broadway between Third and Fourth streets. He sustained a broken right rib and contused shoulder and head.

FOREST-FIRE PREVENTION.

Forest Supervisor Charlton passed the week in the mountains back of San Bernardino where he looked after the new timber recently planted. With the coming of the hot, dry season, danger of forest fires multiplies and arrangements for reaching immediately the scene of such dangers were made. It is believed, with the increased efficiency of the forest ranger plans just perfected, that the loss by fire this summer will be smaller than for years. Not only the government but the water companies in the forest districts are co-operating to that end.

CONFERENCE POSTPONED.

On account of the pressure of other business, the expected interview between Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Regan and Earl Standard, the confessed embezzler of the funds of the American National Bank at Pomona, was not held. It is the understanding that it will take place tomorrow or Tuesday at the latest. Standard will then be given the opportunity to tell whether any person except himself was concerned in the theft of $150,000 of the bank funds.

FEDERAL COURT VACATION.

With the close of the Magon trial this week, the January term of the United States District Court, so far as contested cases are concerned, will close. The July term will begin the 8th prox. The vacation terms of the Federal officials are due.

Shoes for Men, Women & Childrne
Prices Slaughtered!

Type is inadequate, words fail to describe to what lengths we have gone in cutting prices on every pair of shoes in our store. WE CAN SHOW YOU BETTER THAN TELL YOU. We want you to come here tomorrow—whether you want to purchase or not, and see for yourself the genuineness of the values we are offering.

We Quit and Quit for Good

But a few more days and The Boston Shoe Market will be a thing of the past—a memory; and in the next few days the balance of our stock MUST BE SOLD. Do you value your dollars? Will you ever wear another pair of shoes? If so ——Come Tomorrow——

For tomorrow holds forth remarkable opportunities to save the biggest money on a pair of shoes ever offered. We are selling Infants' shoes from 9c a pair up. Children's shoes from 50c up. Women's shoes from 50c up and Men's shoes from $1.39 up, and the price we ask on any shoe in our store represents but ¼ to ½ the real value.

JOHANNSEN'S TELEGRAM.

"I was, several times."

"Who was representing the prosecution?"

"Earl Rogers."

"You knew Mrs. Caplan in San Francisco?"

"Yes."

"What was her business?"

"She was a tailoress and had two small children."

"How often, did she have to move?"

"As often as the Burns people compelled her to."

"Did you talk with her about getting protection from the Burns people?"

"Yes. She told me she lost her place on account of the detectives and that at her rooming-house they didn't like the advertising they got."

The witness also stated that Mrs. Caplan had told him that Rogers, when special prosecutor for the State, had asked her many insulting questions about her marriage and things of that sort.

"I advised her to leave the State and told her I would arrange it when something took me away. There was to be a convention in Chicago. I was to go. It was the last of July or first of August. I got a chauffeur and went to the mountain resort where Mrs. Caplan and her children were. We went to Reno and there took the train for Chicago, where Mrs. Caplan has friends."

"Did you get any money from me for this work?" inquired Darrow.

"No; the boys all said you were too stingy." [Suppressed laughter.]

FREDERICKS IN ACTION.

Then began the cross-examination. Attorneys who have followed Capt. Fredericks's upward career declared they never saw him so eager to interrogate a witness as yesterday morning. At first he kept his seat, but finally when propounding impeaching questions he rose to his full height and with finger leveled at the witness thundered out the questions which resulted in Johannsen's asking the court to "protect" him.

Anton Johannsen,

State labor-union organizer, a witness put on by the defense yesterday to prove that Darrow, chief counsel for the McNamaras, knew nothing about the spiriting away of Mrs. Caplan. Under cross-examination Johannsen admitted that he sent a cipher dispatch to Attorney Harrington, one of Darrow's associates, apprising him of the woman's safe arrival in Reno.

"Who were the Burns men after, Mrs. Caplan?" asked Fredericks.

"I suppose after the higher-ups," said Johannsen.

"They were after M. A. Schmidt, weren't they?"

"I don't know."

"And he was a good friend of yours, wasn't he?"

There was a chorus of objections on the part of Darrow, Appel, Giesler, and Dehm, counsel for the defendant.

The court sustained the objection.

"And you were suspected of being implicated in the blowing up of the Times Building?"

Another chorus of objections followed. Appel declared he was surprised that any attorney could think of asking such a question.

"Did you ever tell a reporter named Sawyer that you expected to be indicted?"

"I never did."

"You are under indictment charged with transporting dynamite, aren't you?"

Appel protested against the "insulting" questions directed against the witness. Johannsen, however, replied that the indictment was one of the usual ways in which the government "got after" prominent members of the labor unions.

"REFUSE TO ANSWER."

"Of course, you were interested in having David Caplan brought back to tell what he knew about the dynamiting of the Times Building?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Did you see James Brice, otherwise known, I believe, as J. B. McNamara, in San Francisco?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Schmidt, another person implicated in the blowing up of the Times Building, had a workshop in your basement, didn't he?"

"I refuse to answer."

"And Schmidt was one of your best friends?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Do you refuse to answer on the grounds that it might incriminate you?" inquired Capt. Fredericks.

This aroused Appel, who fairly chewed the carpet in his real or assumed anger. He said it was shameful to subject the witness to such questions; that the defense had merely put him on the stand to testify that Darrow knew nothing about the spiriting away of Mrs. Caplan. Appel said the District Attorney should carefully abstain from raking up old scores and trying to associate the witness with alleged criminals.

After Appel had finished his vehement objections he turned to some of his friends and smiled broadly, as if to say he appreciated the humor of the situation. Darrow was not in a smiling mood.

Capt. Fredericks then produced the transcript of the proceedings before the grand jury in November, 1910, and asked Johannsen more questions as to his relations with the dynamiting plot, the Federal prosecution, the disappearance of witnesses, the flight of Caplan and Schmidt and others questions regarding the McNamara case.

"I am not going to answer any of those questions," said Johannsen, defiantly. "They are about me personally."

Capt. Fredericks then asked Johannsen why he decided to take Mrs. Caplan to Reno on the day after she had been subpoenaed. The witness denied that the State summons had anything to do with the time of leaving and insisted that he never talked about the flight with anyone except Tveitmoe.

THE BOOMERANG.

"Not even with John R. Harrington, once associated with Clarence Darrow in the defense of the McNamaras?" asked Fredericks apparently not thinking the question of any moment.

"Oh, no."

"You didn't know whether he was in San Francisco then?"

"I wasn't paying any particular attention."

"And doubtless you never told anyone connected with the McNamara defense about taking Mrs. Caplan away?"

"No."

"After reaching Reno, did you telegraph anybody?"

"I don't remember."

"Now as a matter of fact you saw Attorney John R. Harrington in San Francisco on the day before you left, didn't you?" thundered Capt. Fredericks.

"No sir."

In a twinkling the District Attorney had the witness cornered. He showed him a telegram which Johannsen said was in his own handwriting, addressed to Harrington, apprising him of the safe arrival in Reno, and stating that he and Mrs. Caplan would board the Overland Limited for Chicago. The production of the cipher telegram was apparently a blow to the defense. Darrow tore off long sheets of yellow paper and chewed them nervously. Appel was constantly making objections. The jury appeared much interested. The spectators leaned forward to catch every word.

The noon hour gave the witness respite. But Fredericks's questions have shown the defense how completely was the McNamara case prepared, and how many supposedly buried "ghosts" have been resurrected in the present case. Several attorneys in court declared the move to allow the defense to break into the prosecution, while almost unprecedented had just the opposite effect from that intended.

After Johannsen has been released from his uncomfortable witness's chair, it is possible that Tveitmoe may not be called. The case will be resumed tomorrow.

Thirst Problem.

AS IT IS DONE IN GOTHENBURG.

LIQUOR REGULATION IMPROVES MORALS, SAYS SPEAKER.

Unattractive Saloons, Strict Regulations and Warnings Against Imbibing Have Worked Wonders in Population of Scandinavian Peninsula, Advocate Declares.

What the Gothenburg system of regulating the liquor traffic is and how it has worked in Norway and Sweden, where it originated, was told to the City Club at its luncheon yesterday by B. R. Baumgardt, who explained his advocacy of it. Personally, he said, he would wipe out all saloons if he could. As he cannot, he favors a method of regulation that has been proved to be practicable.

In April, 1865, he said, Sweden and Norway, then under one King, were the poorest countries in Europe. Today, despite the great poverty of the soil, they have increased in population and in the per capita wealth of the inhabitants. He described the government's methods of encouraging young men to become land owners and spoke of the physical obstacles that have been overcome. In 1865, however, the speaker said, it was discovered that the people were going down the ladder morally and it was resolved that something must be done.

A commission reported in April of that year that the control of the liquor traffic was the cure for the conditions found to exist and that the sale of liquor should be separated from the possibility of profit. Good, cheap, well-cooked food, too, should be on sale in all saloons, and the saloons should be kept neat and clean. To bring about these conditions the Gothenburg Dispensing Company, Ltd., was formed. All the saloons were bought and those that would not sell lost their licenses through condemnation.

The corporation is allowed to make 5 per cent. The rest of the profits, the speaker showed from printed reports which he translated, go to the maintenance of public museums, libraries, homes for consumptives, schools, children's playgrounds, free legal advice bureaus, and similar institutions. Competition has been abolished in saloons and there is no inducement to any dealer to get men to drink.

An amusing picture of saloons under the Gothenburg system was drawn by Baumgardt. There are no attractive pictures on the walls, no card tables and no place to sit down. A plain bar is in sight and behind it are barrels of liquor. There are barmaids, many of them gray-haired and sedate, and at one side sits the barkeeper, in a uniform. Every barkeeper must be a teetotaler. One asks for a drink, but before it is drawn he must pay for it, getting a ticket from the cashier. Then it is measured out to him by machinery—so much liquor contains so much alcohol and you pay for what you get. You must drink alone for there is no treating and you cannot pay for another's drink.

"You raise your glass," said the speaker, "but then your eye catches a sign. You pause. The sign makes you, for you are already rather chilled by the fact that you have to drink alone. It says: 'Young man, that drink you are about to pour into your stomach is poison.' You hesitate, and the first time you hesitate in a saloon you are on the right road. Before you, too, are two pictures—one of the liver of a man who does drink and one of a man who doesn't. But suppose you drink and then say: 'That was good. Let me have another.' The barmaid points to another sign. It says: 'Twenty-five minutes must elapse between drinks.'"

In Gothenburg, where there were 135 saloons fifty years ago, with a population of 35,000, there were now only fourteen with a population of 140,000, the speaker said. Before the introduction of the system there were 175,127 stills in Sweden and Norway, nearly every farmer owning one. Now there are only ninety-six in all. The consumption of spirits has fallen from forty-five quarts to every person annually fifty years ago, to eight quarts now, and where in 1868 there was one saloon in Sweden and Norway to every 2293 persons, now there is only one to every 12,323 persons, and this despite the fact that all Sweden has not yet adopted the system, local option prevailing here. The effect on education is shown, he asserted, by the fact that, whereas the percentage of illiteracy in Spain is 65 per cent., in Italy 45, in France 12¼, in England 9¼ and in Russia 89.9 per cent., in Norway and Sweden it is now only two-thirds of 1 per cent.

"That speaks volumes," he concluded; "it is enough."

ORCHESTRA OF FRANKENSTEIN.

THIS OUR REAL ADVANCE IN ADVANCED VAUDEVILLE.

Los Angeles Possesses Finest Regular Theater Band West of New York City—Result of "Frank's" Years of Devotion and Clarence Drown's Love of Music

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Locally, advancing vaudeville received its biggest shove ahead when Mister Beck decided to let Mister Frankenstein advance his orchestra.

The present Orpheum band, enthroned on its seventeen chairs in the palatial variety-house on South Broadway, is not only the best orchestra in the city of Los Angeles, but it is the best theater orchestra anywhere west of New York City.

It works twice a day, every day, to amuse and to upbuild taste.

Its labor for art is unceasing.

It is a bigger factor in the education of the community than Roberts and his Shasta Sheriff, Barrymore and the Oliver Typewriter Appearance, or even David Belasco's production of "Madame Butterfly."

Because these things are occasionals, whereas the orchestra, like the poor, plays a permanent engagement.

This orchestra is the one orchestra of theoretically pure instrumentation that I know of in the American vaudeville field. It may take a dog fancier to tell you the difference between the pampered pet of an actress and one of Jim Brooks's blooded pups, but there is a difference, you bet; and just so there is a difference between the Orpheum orchestra of Los Angeles and the Orpheum orchestra of San Francisco, a matter of considerable pride and swelling up in the city of the coming fair.

Any competent musician will tell you that a piano, often referred to in the perfesh as "a tinkle-box," doesn't belong. Among the orchestra elite it is as rankly unclass as a cardinal scarf with after-dark clothes.

San Francisco's Orpheum has an "orgin," which the leader—a competent musician—chooses to play in mountebank fashion, with a piece of silk over the keys.

When it came time to move south with the present Orpheum, Frankenstein had just that fight to keep the tinkle-box, the orgin and a harp out of this band. The harp, it is true, is recherche, but for vaudeville it is highly impractical. So, after Frankenstein had put his foot down with mightiness, they let him make up the orchestra, and he aggregated an instrumentation which is absolutely symphonic.

Aided and abetted by Drown, who, next to carbonized stories, loves real and genuine music. It was Frank who made the orchestra; Drown who gained him the official consent to make it and maintain it. A band like the Orpheum's, you know, isn't kept up at the expense of the old-fashioned three-piece orchestra of piano, stool and cover.

Frankenstein, when he plays, is leader of the first violins.

Here are the rest of them, and what they scrape, blow or hit: A. R. Shepherd, first violin concert-master and assistant conductor; L. D. Hammon, first violin; Robert Messinger, second violin; John F. Lockhart, viola; F. S. Gutterson, 'cello; A. V. Vieille, bass; A. Lombardi, oboe; Otto Schuchholz, bassoon; G. Iunnone, flute; Charles H. Hubbard, clarinet; Ernest Williams, cornet; T. F. Fish, second cornet; S. B. Bennett, first horn; O. Perissi, second horn; P. A. Friasee, trombone; Jeff R. Seabrook, drums and tympani.

A. F. Frankenstein has been the leader of the Orpheum orchestra for nearly fifteen years. None of his present band has been with him through his complete term of service, but Seabrook, the drummer, has been in his place since 1902.

Just one instrument is needed to make this a perfect orchestra—a second clarinet. This will probably be forthcoming this fall, and then, if increased to any size, the leader could only double on instruments already under his baton.

There seems to be nothing mysterious about Frankenstein; he is a sturdy little man, pleasant-faced, alert, always on the job, having many friends and few enemies.

However, if you want to get at the closed door which Bluebeard's whole family was forbidden to enter, ask Mr. Frankenstein his first name.

Immemorially, he has been just "Frank."

Look where he has signed his name, whether on hotel registers or express packages, and you will invariably behold the initials, "A. F."

Curiously, I asked. I got only a mysterious smile in reply.

I found that only one place in Los Angeles has a revelation of the wording Frank's mother picked out for him to wear. That place is the Masonic Temple, where—Frank is leader of the Shrine band, you know—the official charts wear a name beginning with "A" that is longer than the Mosaic law. The owner alleges that it is a European name, of such ferocious mien and imposing proportions that he would topple over under it if worn in daylight. So, like the late M. Bisson's lady friend, Madame X, Mr. Frankenstein is Monsieur A. F., and remains A. F. under all circumstances except when riding the goat, or harnessing the goat for someone else to ride.

There is a tradition that one of the initiatory ceremonies in the local Shrine is the pronunciation of Frankenstein's full name; but this is only tradition, and a Masonic secret if true. Besides, the large local membership would indicate that the tradition is an error, for the hieroglyph is evidently unpronounceable save by antiquarians, archeologists, alienists and bugs.

I have a sneaking belief that Frankenstein can't pronounce it himself. If so, and if he possesses any sense of humor, he will get a long laugh when he's dead by compelling his estate to inscribe it on his tombstone, to the hilarious discomfiture of him that loveth to lurk in graveyards and intone the platitudes on monuments.

When Frankenstein commenced work for the Orpheum, he had six men and himself.

In those fifteen years he has become the equal of six men, so that this orchestra now really numbers twenty-two.

The music-room in the new Orpheum building, a half-moon in cement and steel directly under the pit, with its chairs, tables, fine lighting, artificial ventilation and clean, fire-proof lockers, is the best lounging place for an orchestra that I ever saw.

Beyond, is Frankenstein's own room, built like a bank vault, and fitted out like a public library.

Here, card-indexed and in mint-like order, reposes more than $20,000 worth of orchestral music. It is Frankenstein's own, for a vaudeville house doesn't buy music for its orchestra, any more than it buys grease paint for its actors.

As I came in, the other day, the librarian of the orchestra had before him the complete symphonic score of Dvorak's "From the New World." He was making a concentration and abbreviation for overture use. Another brilliant piece being brought down to the time limit now is the Tschaikowsky, "Romeo and Juliet" fantasie, a splendid and fascinating composition.

The Orpheum shows begin at 2 and 8 o'clock. That's Frankenstein: The actors and animals don't commence to gabble and bark until 2:15 and 8:15 o'clock. We have thirty minutes a day devoted to musical art. And to get people to the theater early, Frankenstein is proving an even solider attraction than little Maudie Adams.

Last week he was playing a fantasie from "Dr. Fliegende Hollender," and you should have heard—maybe you did, artistic reader—the booming musical notes that lie concealed beneath the parchments of Jeff Seabrook's tympani, the finest set of bang-kettles in town. Fine tympani are as rare as fine violins, but most people think that a drum's a thing to whack, and that ends it.

Two weeks ago Frankenstein was giving them a superbly vital rendition of the vivid "Il Guarany" of Gomez, an impressionistic tone picture in the most flaming tints.

All the orchestra needs now is a position on the stage to make it plainly apparent as the real headliner and redeemer that it often is.

IN THE BIG PLAY-WORLD

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Tim Frawley and Henry W. Savage are back from the 'round-the-world tour recently taken under Mr. Frawley's chaperonage. Mr. Savage has announced that he will make no new productions until December or January, as he believes the campaign excitement will knock autumn theatricals out of the running. Mr. Savage's traveling attractions will be slightly reduced in number, but an acceleration of quality is promised.

Theaters in the Shubert time will entertain Granville Barker and his English repertoire company next season. Mr. Barker's object in coming to America is to produce George Bernard Shaw's "Fanny's First Play."

Max Rheinhardt, the father of "The Miracle" and "Sumurun," will present his two newest pantomimes in this country next season. They are "Schoene Helene" and "Turandot."

Aphie James, the widow of Louis James, is in vaudeville with a sketch called "Holding a Husband," by Arthur Hopkins.

David Belasco, who never believed in vacations, doesn't believe in them now. He is at work every day in his inaccessible studio in the Belasco Theater building, New York City, finishing his play, "The Governor's Lady."

Abe Erlanger has two mottos in his office, written by himself.

One is: "I am never stung twice by the same person."

The other: "Two minutes spent in meddling in another person's business are two minutes lost from your own."

John Drew, an inflexible old horseman, has at last fallen for the motorcar, and now drives one himself.

Lillian Nordica and Eugene Ysaye have combined for an English concert tour.

Julian Eltinge is flying to Europe for a six-days stay in London and Paris. Purpose of the visit, a little freak photography in old-world scenes.

Sam Bernard has gone to London to see a musical play called "Princess Caprice," in which the Shuberts will present him to American audiences the coming season.

Mrs. Stuart Robson and Mrs. Ezra Kendall, widows of the actors bearing those names, have combined to appear in vaudeville in a one-act comedy of stage life.

When Capt. Rostron of the Cunarder "Carpathia" attended a performance at the Wintergarden recently Al Jolson called the attention of the audience to him, and the ensuing demonstration completely broke up the show.

The contract made by Martin Beck to have Ethel Barrymore appear on the Orpheum Circuit is said to call for the stupendous salary of $3000 a week. How any firm can make money paying such a salary to a single artist on a bill of eight or nine passes belief.

"Seven Sisters," recently played at the Burbank by Laurette Taylor, has been turned into a comic opera and is now called "Three Kisses." One Harold Ford will be featured in the part Forrest Stanley played here, and the piece will travel under the management of Joseph M. Gaites.

Florence Constantino, leading tenor of the Boston opera company, heard here several years ago, is bringing an opera company of his own to the Tulane Theater, New Orleans, for the summer season.

John Cort has booked Holbrook Blinn west in Paul Armstrong's "A Romance of the Underworld."

Bertha Kalisch will be starred next season in an adaptation of Gabriel D'Annunzio's "The Daughter of Jorio." Thirty-five people will be in the cast.

Cohan and Harris are rehearsing a new piece, in which Henry E. Dixey is to be featured.

It is announced that Lina Abarbanel will create the title role in "The Gypsy," the comic opera which Frank Pixley and Gus Luders wrote at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, this winter.

Klaw and Erlanger are about to produce a play with the startling title, "Oh! Oh! Delphine!"

Paul Benjamin, here not long ago as advance agent for Gertrude Hoffman, died suddenly in Liverpool last week. Pneumonia.

A new association recently formed in New York is known as "The Gilbert and Sullivan Club."

Los Angeles friends of Max Figman will be delighted to learn that he and his wife, Lolita Robertson, are rejoicing in the presence of a sunny little eight-pound girl, born May 28.

George Randolph Chester's latest novel, "The Jingo," will be produced soon, as an extravaganza, by Harry Askin, in Chicago.

The Methodist Church of Moosejaw, Saskatchewan, was recently the scene of a musical-dramatic entertainment in which more than 700 singers and amateur performers took part.

Emmett Corrigan is appearing in vaudeville with a dramatization of Jack London's story, "To Kill a Man."

"Ben Hur" has just been produced in Australia. Did Bill Desmond play the title part? It seems probable.

The Week.

THE MAN WHO OWNS BROADWAY.

ANOTHER COHAN SHOW TODAY AT FISCHER'S LYCEUM.

"The Man Between" at the Belasco—Continuances of "Peg o' My Heart," the Mission Play and "The Girl in the Train"—Vaudeville at Various Houses.

"The Man Who Owns Broadway" will be "Pop" Fischer's offering beginning with the matinee today—an offering which is calculated to make the most blase sit up and take notice, for it is one of the very best of the Cohan shows, one of the least familiar, here, and at the same time one that everyone has been most anxious to see.

Filled with the clever Cohan wit, the smart Cohan sayings, with the twang of Broadway all through it; the atmosphere of the know-it-all set, it will appeal strongly to all. Bristling with beautiful song hits, it will at the same time make an appeal to the artistic side, and fill with delight those who love a lilting melody, lightly sung.

It calls for elaborate settings, pretty girls galore; fine principals, who must really sing and act, and gorgeous costumery—all which requisites are at the command of Harry James in the Follies organization. Therefore a fine production is assured before the curtain is raised.

"The Man Who Owns Broadway," is really the story of David Garrick, translated to modernity—a daring bit of stagecraft, admirably executed. It was Raymond Hitchcock's best starring vehicle, and in the same role, Bob Lett is certain to shine. May Boley, the popular, will be found at home again as a "real" lady, and Texas Guinan returns to the cast, after all too long an absence, as Sylvia, with several good songs, including "I'm in Love With One of the Stars," Madison Smith, Jane Urban, Reece Gardner, Herbert Cawthorne, Lon Chaney, Laura Oakley and the rest, are fitted nicely with their several roles, and many of them have individual song hits.

Bob Lett with his rollicking, "I'm the Man Who Owns Broadway," will equal his "Little Pill" song, and the many chorus numbers will serve to keep that lively bunch on the go all the time left between costume changes. The show, with its "smart" atmosphere, and its amazon march as extremes, should find a welcome from every lover of good music, lively songs and dances and bright lines.

Belasco.

The patrons of the Belasco Theater will this week see the first western production of "The Man Between," a new play by Rupert Hughes, whose comedy, "Excuse Me," was one of the successes of the local season. "The Man Between" in its original form was known as "The Bridge," and was used for starring purposes in New York, by Guy Bates Post. In the Belasco presentation, Lewis S. Stone will succeed to the Post part. The cast will also include Muriel Starr and Bessie Barriscale, who will make her reappearance on the Belasco stage after an absence of a month.

"The Man Between" has to do with the sham of class distinction in this country, and illustrates the spanning of the social gulf that frequently lies between the nation's pseudo aristocracy and the toilers who are doing the big, vital, important things. Incidentally the play touches in a new way upon certain interesting phases of the constant conflict between capital and labor. A feature of the Belasco production of "The Man Between" will be a scene representing the construction of a cantilever bridge, with a realistic representation of the numerous details of the work incidental thereto.

Burbank.

"Peg o' My Heart," with Laurette Taylor in the chief part, continues to be such a popular attraction with the patrons of the Burbank Theater that the management finds it necessary to keep it on for another—a fourth—week, commencing with the matinee today.

While "Peg o' My Heart" is being presented the members of the Burbank Stock Company are preparing for the first production on any stage of another new play by Mr. Manners. It is entitled "Barbaraza," and is quite unlike "Peg o' My Heart." It will enlist the services of not only Miss Taylor and the regular forces of the Burbank company, but in "Barbaraza" Forrest Stanley will make his reappearance after a month's vacation.

The eighth week of John Steven McGroarty's "Mission Play" will be inaugurated in the San Gabriel Mission Theater tomorrow afternoon.

The popularity of the piece seems in no wise diminishing. On the contrary, as this remarkable run is rolling up a century of performances, public favor seems to increase rather than otherwise, and each week's patronage is larger than its predecessor's. Theatrical men and other professional observers find in the "Mission Play," far removed from the city's clamor, a solid theatrical success which knows no law of triumph and which breaks all the time-honored rules by which "hits" or "flivs" may be judged.

Upon our stage during the coming week

Monday evening has been set aside as "clergyman's night," and invitations to clergymen of all creeds within a radius of twenty miles of Los Angeles have been very generally accepted. It is expected that this will be the largest showing of the "cloth" at any single concourse ever held in Los Angeles county, as representatives of not one, but all denominations, will be present.

Between now and the closing of the various schools more than 20,000 pupils will attend the "Mission Play," the educational force of which has been widely commented upon by tongues and pens.

During the week just closed, six out-of-town delegations came in bodies of larger or smaller size—and to show how wide is the appeal of the piece, there were individual visitors hailing from every State in the Union, proving conclusively that as a magnet for tourists the McGroarty historical pageant rivals Southern California's famous natural advantages.

The cast remains the same, and all the features are retained.

Majestic.

The Viennese musical comedy, "The Girl in the Train," as presented by Kolb and Dill and their company at the Majestic Theater, has proved the biggest musical comedy success of the season, and the capacity audiences that have greeted every performance of these famous German funmakers has, as might have been expected, made it absolutely necessary for a second week of the piece, commencing with the performance tonight.

"The Girl in the Train" has been unanimously praised by both the press and theater-going public as the most brilliant success during the long career of these popular funmakers and that the second week of the piece will be another series of capacity audiences is already assured by the tremendously heavy demand for seats.

"The Girl in the Train" is not only brimfull of the Kolb and Dill brand of fun, but musically it is very much in a class with "The Merry Widow" and other famous Viennese musical plays.

For the second production during their limited engagement at the Majestic Theater, Kolb and Dill will offer their brand new edition of "The Politicians."

Orpheum.

The coming to the Orpheum Monday matinee of Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook, joint stars, in their clever chatter songs and impersonations, will bring here as topliners two of the best-known stars of musical comedy—for one week only, sad to relate, as they go back East at once to take up a new musical show there. But in the brief spell allotted Los Angeles, they will have opportunity to be "just as they are" and to offer a clever line of the chatter-songs which they originated. Though much copied, these songs are still their own, and no one is able to give them in the original way in which this couple does. Besides, Miss Holbrook will have a fine line of gowns to scintillate in, and with them she is certain to entrance the men and make the women sit up. The act is one of the highest class the Orpheum has had the pleasure to offer of late, and is notable in every way.

Another newcomer also notable is Camille Ober, a little Parisian, whose vocal range is greater than that of any other singer, even topping that of Miss Yaw. Mlle. Ober has been here before, but she has had the benefit of much study since then, and will appeal now to the most artistic as well as to those more interested in popular music. She will present a number of songs, best calculated to exploit her singular vocal abilities.

The Saytons, "in the land of the crocodile," will present the first contortion act the new Orpheum has seen. But their act is so different and so superior to the usual twister-stunt that it is worthy of an Orpheum carding. The two men imitate saurians, while the woman poses as a hunter. Gorgeous scenery plays a large part in the presentation.

The Paulhan team comes with a new diversion, football on bicycles, playing regular games, full of spirit and fun. Theodore Roberts and his company in "The Sheriff of Shasta;" Ray Cox, in her inimitable songs and imitations, the Six Kirksmiths, musicians all, and Maxine brothers with Bobby, with Frankenstein's fine music and the world's news in motion views, will complete the bill.

Pantages.

"A Night in the Slums of Paris" is the highly descriptive title of the feature act of the Pantages programme for the coming week. The act is written and produced by Aurelio Coccia, the famous French stage director, the music is by Salvati, and the three scenes are from one of the best New York studios. Nine principals appear in the cast beside Apaches, gigiottes, street cleaners and peddlers.

The scene is laid in the streets of Paris at daybreak, at the restaurant of "The Mowling Cat," and at Belleville. Featured with the act is Mlle. Naise, a Parisian danseuse, a New York sensation last season, and Jules La Barbe, in "La Danse du Couteau," (The Dagger Dance.)

The action deals with a notorious female Apache, who, because of her glorious golden hair, is known as "Casque d'Or," with whom the Baron de Vaux, a rich bachelor, is infatuated. The Apaches, knowing of this infatuation of the Baron, makes use of the girl, without her knowledge, to decoy the Baron into a notorious resort where they intend to rob and murder him. The gang is rounded up by the police but not in time to save the Baron from his fate.

Another dancing number, but at the opposite end of the terpsichorean scale, is the classic offering of Marguerite Torrey, who makes her first vaudeville appearance this week with the Pantages show. Miss Torrey will be seen in three figures that have been among her greatest artistic successes, the "Blue Danube," "Humoresque" and "Egyptian Dance." The charming Pasadena girl will probably follow her Los Angeles engagement with a tour of the entire Pantages circuit.

Leon Morris's famous troupe of trained ponies is also promised. These clever little animals rank well ahead of any other pony act in vaudeville, in their star feature, the wrestling bout by the two ponies, Banner and Madison. With the pony act comes John Hedge a colored comedian not unknown to fame.

Santo Santucci, the ragtime accordeonist, has discovered a new kind of entertainment. Santucci can discover ragtime harmonies in the famous classics that have Alexander sitting behind the band stand. Santucci has been capturing the honors from the head-liners all along the line. Duffy and Dyso, familiarly known as "the Irish Lord with the waltzing trunk," and "the double-headed policeman," were captured on their return from Australia recently, and will do their share in making this the best Pantages show of the season. Dorothy Vaughn, singing comedienne, completes the list.

Empress.

Walter Law and his company, presenting the one-act drama, "On the Threshold," and Del Franco's Miniature Circus, are the two especially fine features heading the new seven-act Sullivan & Considine opening at the Empress Theater tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Law is known as one of the best dramatic actors in vaudeville today. The action of the play is laid in the drawing-room of a certain rich man's home, whose wife is none other than the daughter of the burglar who is attempting to rob the house. There is a denouncement scene near the close of the piece that is intensely dramatic; in fact, almost sensational.

Mr. Law, before going on the vaudeville stage, was leading man of "The Spoilers" and several other well-known eastern successes, and in his support will be found Yvonne Martin and T. L. Davis, both well known to vaudeville patrons.

An amusing animal act is Del Franco's animal circus, featuring a monkey funeral. Mons. Del Franco has assembled a troupe of dogs, ponies, monkeys and ant-eaters, and has trained these animals to perfection, with the result that the act always wins feature position.

Peppino, the Italian accordionist, will undoubtedly be popular with local audiences, for he is a musician of most novel and amusing methods who has won a distinct success all over this circuit.

Mort Fox, the well known Hebrew character comedian, will furnish much of the fun on the new bill, being a funmaker of the Joe Welch type.

Prince and Deerie, a team of bright young entertainers, would furnish one of the brightest spots on the new programme with their fund of snappy patter talk and clever songs and dances.

The acrobatic portion of the new bill will be furnished by the Landry Brothers, whose remarkable feats on the revolving ropes will furnish more than one thrill, and whose offering is from every viewpoint a distinct acrobatic novelty.

Adolphus.

Next Monday the Alphin-Mendel burlesque show at the Adolphus Theater will show the scenic comedy "Heinz and the Pirate." The scenery in the first part of "Heinz and the Pirate" is an exact duplicate of the wonderful scenery in the first act of the old but well-loved opera, "Pirates of Penzance," which has been revived and endured a long run in New York.

"Heinz and the Pirate" is the story of a Dutch gentleman of leisure, who has instilled in his own mind the idea of being a pirate from the excessive reading of pirate stories, so he (Heinz) charters a small sailing vessel and with a small crew starts out to sail the seas as a pirate.

A climax is nearly reached when Heinz really and truly does meet a real walk-the-plank pirate, the story from there on being the serio-comic adventures of Heinz and his ship-full of co-pirates. Heinz's meeting of a queen of one of the South Sea Islands (Hazel Douglas,) and subsequent love-making hold up the romantic end of the story. Walter Spencer, Billy Rhodes, Frances White, Rose Mendel, Al Franks and all the rest of the cast have all what is known among the show people as fat parts.

The twentieth century girls are very much in evidence as tars, pirates and dancing girls of the South Sea Islands.

Garrick.

The "Q" Amusement Company announces the first showing of the "Sunset" Weekly—their motion picture review of all the current happenings of Los Angeles and vicinity, at their Garrick Theater, starting tomorrow. Few of those unacquainted with the motion picture business have any idea of the enormous expense entailed by such an enterprise, especially as it is an exclusive "Q" shows' feature.

It necessitates a camera man's being ready at any hour of the day and night in case of unexpected happenings of importance so he can picture them while they actually happen. Each week will be shown the events of the previous week.

The securing of Hugh C. McClung by the "Q" company to produce the weekly, insures "live stuff" always, as he is not only a rustler but has a thorough working knowledge of this line of business.

Colonial.

At "The Colonial," which was formerly known as "Tally's New Broadway," a complete new bill of seven big acts will be presented commencing with tomorrow's matinee. Demarest and Doll, in the musical playlet entitled "The Girl, the Man and the Piano," will headline the programme. Another feature will be the fancy exhibition roller-skating of Collier and DeWalde. The globe-trotters, for that is the nickname given the Hyman Sisters, who have just returned from a trip around the world, their last public appearance being in Honolulu, where they were a feature attraction, will also be on next week's bill, bringing with them new songs, dances and costumes.

Helen Drew, singing comedienne, and "McNish," the bootblack yodeler, are the other numbers on the programme. The "Q" first-run motion pictures and the augmented orchestra will complete the programme.

The prizes to be given to the persons that suggested the new name for the theater will be distributed from the stage at Monday evening's performance. The management has also decided to present to every person that submitted a name in the "new-name contest" a prize, if they will be present at the first performance Monday evening.

ELLIS CLUB FOURTH CONCERT

PROMISES TO BE ONE OF BEST IN ORGANIZATION'S HISTORY.

Astonishing Increase in Membership of Southern California Music Teachers' Association the Past Thirty Days—Plans for City's Artistic Betterment.

The fourth concert of the current season of the Ellis Club will take place at Temple Auditorium, Tuesday, June 25, at 8:15 p.m., under the direction of J. B. Poulin. This promises to be one of the best concerts ever given by the Ellis Club.

The programme is varied and of a nature to bring out the full power of the male chorus. There are a few of the lighter numbers, which call for fine phrasing and exceptional pianissimo work that is rare in male choruses but usually so well handled by the Ellis Club. Among the numbers to be rendered by the chorus are two favorites by Frederic Field Bullard, "War Song of Gamelbar," "Stand Out for Charlie," an English Jacobite war song;" "Chorus of Spirits and Hours,' from Shelley's 'Prometheus Unbound,'" Dudley Buck, Op. 90; "Einzug der Gaste," march and chorus from Wagner's "Tannhauser," arranged by F. H. Schneider; "Suomi's Song" (Franz Mair); "The Rock A-bye Lady" (Eugene Field's Poem,) set to music by George L. Osgood; "Nevin's Rosary;" "About Clocks," William G. Hammond; "Venetian Love Song," [illegible] Louis Sarr; full chorus, and male quartette, composed of Eben [illegible], first tenor; Clem Wilson, first bass; Paul Adams, second tenor; Dr. J. Lester Adams, second bass. A violin obligato to this song will be played by Arnold Kraus.

Teachers Flourish.

The Southern California Music Teachers' Association has increased its membership 300 per cent. within the last thirty days. Influential and representative teachers are joining every day and are making this a force that must be reckoned with in the musical life of our city and State. The programme for the convention grows in attractiveness and is now very nearly completed. Lloyd Gilpin, editor of the California Musician, will deliver a paper on "The Needs of the Musical Profession in California."

Indorsements are coming in on the two petitions sent out, the one for a practical plan for Greater Los Angeles, and the other for concerts for the people at popular prices. [illegible] concerts will give our local people [illegible]

Affairs of the Past Week in Local Society.

ONE young matron who is contented to pass her summer vacation in Los Angeles is Mrs. John [illegible] Macomber, formerly Miss Pearl Seeley, daughter of Mrs. Charles Rivers Drake of South Hoover street. The monotony of the dull summer days are relieved each year by several energetic hostesses, who keep the social ball rolling throughout the season. Mrs. Macomber is the first to signify her intention of remaining in town and during the warm days she will preside at more than one entertaining party.

Yesterday she was hostess at an enjoyable luncheon given at Hotel Beverly Hills. Mrs. A. G. Fisher, who is the house guest of Col. and Mrs. Charles Rivers Drake, was the honoree. The table was covered with delicate flowers clustered in a tall mound in the center.

Mrs. Charles D. Goldwaithe of No. 2616 Park View was another hostess who complimented Mrs. Fisher. Mrs. Goldwaithe had a few guests in for bridge Friday afternoon.

Handsome Party.

There were scores of handsome gowns worn Thursday afternoon at Beverly Hills Hotel, the occasion being a smart bridge tea given by Mrs. George Rector and Mrs. Frederick Webb. In the sun parlor where the card tables were arranged large Japanese vases and baskets were filled with pink Enchantress carnations and baby's breath. Cards on which the scores were kept were gilt-edged, with raised letters R and W in pink. Bridge and five hundred were the games of the afternoon and handsome prizes were awarded to Mrs. Consigny, Mrs. Fayram, Mrs. J. C. Cline and Miss Ada Dryden.

Assisting ladies were Mrs. J. C. Brown, Miss Maud Richards, Mrs. P. W. Breese, Mrs. E. H. Miller, Mrs. G. W. Saurret and Mrs. E. B. Bailey. Those enjoying the hospitality of the afternoon were: Mrs. George A. Brock, Mrs. Tom E. McClelland, Mrs. Harry Harrington, Mrs. Eugene Woodie, Mrs. A. T. Jergins, Mrs. Carl Doran, Mrs. A. J. Sherer, Mrs. H. S. Hurlbut, Mrs. W. Mackie, Mrs. John D. Reavis, Mrs. E. E. Mitchell, Mrs. C. S. Ramsey, Mrs. William J. Variel, Mrs. G. Alexander Bobrick, Mrs. James H. Worden, Mrs. E. E. Burke-Schlueter Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Schlueter, No. 1446 Malvern street, was the scene of an interesting wedding Wednesday evening when their daughter, Miss Katherine Schlueter, became the bride of John K. Burke of San Francisco. The ceremony which occurred at 8:30 o'clock, was read by Dr. Lewis G. Morris of St. John's Episcopal Church, during which time Prof. Joseph Dupuy sang, "Call Me Thine Own," and immediately after, "On Wings of Song." Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Will Galloway.

The bride, attired in a real lace gown embroidered in gold over pink charmeuse, with a tulle veil fastened with clusters of orange blossoms, was given into the bridegroom's keeping by her father. Her bouquet was a shower of baby roses and lily-of-the-valley. Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss May Schlueter, who wore a gown of white chiffon embroidered in gold over pink. Her shower bouquet was of pink sweet peas. Miss Helen Mahone, a cousin of the bride, and Barbara Burke, a niece of the groom, both from San Francisco, gowned alike in pink marquisette over silk, and carrying shower bouquets of pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern, were bridesmaids. William Burke, assistant postmaster of San Francisco, stood with his brother as best man.

The entire home was lavishly decorated in asparagus plumosus, jasmine, and baby's breath, and the ceremony was performed in the [illegible] living-room under a bower of greenery. The wedding was a family affair, only the members of the two families being invited to the number of thirty, among whom were the mother and sister of the groom, who came from the northern city. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Burke will make their home in San Francisco.

Melodigrand

The Piano "Incomparable"

—Webster defines the word "incomparable":

"Beyond comparison; unapproachably eminent; without a peer or equal; matchless; peerless; transcendent."

"Incomparable" is the term of Approbation, conferred upon the "Melodigrand" Piano by the Leading Musical Authorities and Artists of Southern California.

Curiosity, if nothing more, should prompt you to see and hear the piano which has received so remarkable an indorsement from a unanimous representation of musical critics. If you desire the most beautiful tone piano in the world, you will, after a critical comparison of the most prominent makes, choose finally the Melodigrand. This is not a mere assumption—it is a positive assertion, based upon what is taking place constantly in unnumbered instances.

Prices of Melodigrands—the same throughout the world—as follows: Bungalow style $385 and $395—Uprights, $450 to $575—Grands, $700 upward—Player Pianos, $685 upward—Grand Player Pianos, $1200 upward. If you desire, we shall be pleased to send you an interesting booklet free upon request.

—Says Ignaz Haroldi, the celebrated Violin Virtuoso:

"I can say unreservedly that the Melodigrand is the most completely satisfactory and artistic piano I have known in my career. It is incomparable."

Stephens-Clerihew Wedding.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Jean Matilda Clerihew, a well-known musician of Southern California, and Andrew Flock Stephens of Newmark, N. J. The wedding took place Tuesday evening, May 28, at the home of the bride's uncle, James Sewall Rees of Newmark, Rev. James Winthrop Hogeman of New York officiating. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, was gowned in white imported voile, hand-embroidered. She carried a shower of bride roses and lily of the valley. Mrs. Edna Clerihew Wandling, sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor and Miss Margaret Clerihew and Muriel Wandling, nieces were flower girls. Frederick W. Salmon, a cousin of the groom, was best man. The groom is a nephew of D. G. Stephens of Santa Monica.

Married at Christ Church.

A wedding recently solemnized at Christ Church was that of Mrs. Daisy Bowen Lee of Huntington Park and Walter Carlyle Fraser of this city. The service was spoken by Rev. Baker P. Lee the church rector. It was marked by extreme simplicity on account of illness in the family. Ellis Fry was best man. The bride, who was unattended, was attired in a gray French crepe gown with silver trimmings. Mr. and Mrs. Fraser will reside in Huntington Park.

Surprise Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Farnham was the scene recently of a pleasant party when about forty friends gathered and surprised Mrs. J. Leason and daughter, Miss Lillian, sister and niece of Mrs. Farnham, who will soon return to their home in Rochester, N. Y. The evening passed quickly in music and games.

Mrs. Hendershott Entertains.

Mrs. F. A. Hendershott of No. 5928 South Flower street graciously presided recently at an elaborately appointed luncheon party, having as guests members of the "Bidea Wee Club." Pink flowers arranged in a mound with maidenhair fern decked the table where covers were laid for ten. Prizes for a guessing contest were awarded to Mrs. Wright Conklin and Mrs. William Vale. Others present included Mrs. J. A. Pendleton, Mrs. Charles M. Marleau, Mrs. Louise E. Spohr, Mrs. Robert P. Tuttle, Mrs. C. M. Richmond, Mrs. L. Lebo, and Mrs. Alexander.

Charming Visitor.

Miss Cecile Hoffman of San Francisco is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Allan Hancock of No. 626 South Vermont avenue.

Mrs. Potter's Party.

Mrs. Charles F. Potter was a delighted hostess recently when she entertained a number of friends with a luncheon at the Beverly Hills Hotel. There were plates laid for Mrs. Wesley Barr, Mrs. C. Eccles, Mrs. G. M. Spencer, Mrs. R. M. Updegraff, Mrs. Percy A. Lane and Mrs. Carl L. Doran.

Miss Sutton Honored.

Mrs. M. J. Anderson of the Beverly Hills Hotel has been entertaining as guest, Miss May Sutton of Pasadena.

Sorority Party.

Miss Grace Hayer of No. 3917 South Hill street had as guests recently members of the Sigma Beta sorority, whom she entertained with a Dutch supper. Hand-painted Dutch girls marked places at the daintily decorated table for Miss Mabel Kronnick, Miss Maude Moore, Miss Hazel Strong, Miss Margaret Nicklin, Miss Molly Churchill, Miss Frances Fletcher, Miss Ora Schriener, Miss Ruth Scofield and Miss Elsie Harris.

Bridge Party.

The bridge party given by Mrs. G. E. Morrill of the Rampart apartments Tuesday afternoon proved most delightful. The tables were placed in the ballroom, which was enlivened with pink roses, carnations and gladioli. Seventy-five guests were entertained and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. W. A. Severson, Mrs. R. W. Richardson, Mrs. C. C. Loser, Mrs. E. T. Weid, Mrs. Frank Sherer, Miss Howery, Miss Hall and Miss Cass. The prize winners were Mrs. Sidney Haskell, Mrs. Scholz and Mrs. Frederick Engstrum.

At Home to Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Harris, the latter formerly Miss Helen Kellogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Kellogg of this city, have returned after a pleasant wedding journey in the North and are at home to friends at the Hartman apartments.

Quiet Wedding.

Miss Margaret Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of No. 2301 Fourth avenue, and C. Christian Ganahl were quietly married Wednesday morning, the services being read by the bride-elect's brother, Rev. Father J. J. Martin of St. Louis, in St. Agnes Church. Miss Virginia Martin and P. J. McGarry were maid of honor and best man, respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Ganahl went North for their honeymoon.

Charming Visitor.

Miss Bonnie Christine Barnard, a charming debutante from San Francisco, is the house guest of her cousins, the Misses Italja and Ramona Bower of No. 1121 South Hope street. Many interesting parties have been given for the visitor, who will again this week be the honoree at a number of luncheons and teas.

Trip Ends.

Mrs. William F. Herndon and daughter, Miss Pearl, of No. 138 Whitley avenue, Hollywood, have returned from an eastern trip, which was enjoyable. The last week was passed in Chicago where they were joined by friends from Philadelphia and New York. A number of parties were given in their honor, among them being a luncheon at the Blackstone followed by a motor trip which concluded with a dinner.

Bridge Luncheon.

The bridge luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Harrison C. Henrich of No. 759 West Adams street, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Frederick M. Henrich of Chicago, was a delightful success. The home was radiant with beautiful flowers and on each table a different colored centerpiece was used, the colors harmonizing. Scores were kept on double monogramed cards and handsome water color and pen-and-ink sketches by Mr. Henrich were given as prizes.

To Entertain.

Members of the Woman's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church, will give a garden fete Thursday from 3:30 to 7 o'clock on the lawn of the parish house, Adams and Figueroa streets. There will be gayly decorated booths and other amusements for young and old. Mrs. Oge and Mrs. Willis will preside at the ice cream booth, while Mrs. Carlisle, assisted by a bevy of attractive girls, will have charge of the candies. Aprons and other useful articles will be sold by Mrs. King and Mrs. Bartley and good things from the kitchen will be dispensed by Mrs. Jay and Miss Lewis.

Approaching Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Pfiester of No. 624 South Chicago street announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Corinne Elizabeth, to James R. Mitchell, which will be solemnized the evening of June

June Clearance Sales

Suits and Dresses $24.75

Values Up to $55.00 . . . .

Nearly every woman in Southern California knows the high standard of Blackstone Suits and Dresses, therefore, when we say we are going to sell values up to $55.00 for $24.75, they know that they may come expecting much—and not be disappointed.

These, of course, are this season's models, and late models at that. You will not be shown styles of bygone days, nor will you be shown garments made up especially for "Special Sale" events. But Suits and Dresses from our own well-chosen stock.

Comprising Plain Tailored, Norfolk and Fancy Trimmed Suits of Serges, Shepherd Checks, Mannish Materials and Chiffon Taffetas.

Dresses of all the new Silks as well as the popular Serges.

—Second Floor—

Waists of Silk, Lace, Chiffon Values to $15.00 at A Clean-Up Sale $5

In the lot of specially priced Waists we offer tomorrow, there's nothing common-place, nothing ordinary. They are Waists of the better class—dressy Waists of such fabrics as chiffon, lace, messaline and the like, made over laces or nets or India silk—many with the new peplum. Trimmings for the most part are of dainty laces; some of the more Frenchy affairs show a touch of cerise or gold in their decorations.

Blues, Browns, Wistarias, Grays and White, or Black predominate. Choice, $5.00.

—Second Floor—

Silk Petticoats $3.75

The Silk Petticoat we are offering at $3.75 is no flimsy, sleazy thing that will wear through or break at first wearing, but a Skirt for service as well as comfort and style. Made of a good quality satin messaline—and made well—with deep accordian plaited flounce. All colors, plain or changeable. $3.75.

And They Fully Deserve $20.00 to $30.00 Price Marks Too!

New models all of them—clever, exclusive and charming as can be! Made of crepe meteors, chiffons, charmeuse, pongees, taffetas, messalines, etc., in all the fashionable colors including the pastel tones. You could not buy the materials for the price we are asking and the making would cost you more. It's such a chance to economize as comes none too often!—they're bargains, indeed!

None Reserved, None on Approval

Every good model brought out this season is included in this collection—whether trimmed or strictly tailored. The materials are those for which the demand is strongest—imported whipcords, all wool and worsted serges, homespuns, men's wear mixtures and the favored hair line stripes. All colors and sizes. Hamburger quality of fabric, design and making characterizes every suit in the lot.

SOCIETY.

avenue, last week, was of interest to many friends owing to the prominence of both families. The decorations were done entirely in pink and the gowns of the young attendants were also fashioned of dainty material in the same shade. The Misses Barbara Burke and Helen Mahone assisted as bridesmaids, while Miss May Schlueter was maid of honor. William F. Burke, assistant postmaster of San Francisco, stood with his brother as best man. The groom is general superintendent of the Baker-Hamilton Company in San Francisco.

Into New Home.

Mrs. E. J. Sanborn, Burton A. Sanborn and Miss Helen Sanborn are at home to friends at No. 690 South Burlington avenue.

Lakeside Gossip.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Whittier, Miss A. Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hurlburt of Los Angeles motored to Lakeside Inn Saturday and passed the week end.

Another week end party, which has been touring over the San Diego county roads, arrived at Lakeside Inn Friday, and consisted of C. A. Hooper, C. O. Nichols, Mrs. Elizabeth Colburn and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Leat of Los Angeles.

For Miss Keliher.

Miss Ethyl Hunteen of No. 1532 West Forty-eighth street gave a charming afternoon Saturday with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Harriet Keliher of Hollywood, whose marriage to E. Jeffery Gilleas is to take place Tuesday morning, June 25 at the church of the Blessed Sacrament. A flower romance entertained the guests during part of the afternoon. Pink sweet peas and fern effected pretty decorations for the living-room. In the dining-room an immense silver shoe filled with pink carnations was placed in the middle of the table. Pink ribbon streamers which were tied to the carnations fell to each guest's place. When Miss Keliher pulled her ribbon she received many beautiful presents, gifts of the guests.

The same day Miss Keliher was the complimented guest at an elaborate evening party given by Miss Loretta Young, one of the bridesmaids, at her home in Ramona Park. Receiving with Miss Young were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thurston, Mrs. L. N. Young, Miss Keliher, Miss Mabel Sullivan, Miss Mabelle Lewis and Mr. E. Jeffery Gilleas. A profusion of coreopsis and pepper boughs were used for the decorations in the den and dining-rooms. Shasta daisies grouped with fern effected pretty dining-room decorations. The game of "Hearts" was enjoyed. The score cards were yellow and white on which a silver bell was tied with white tulle. An elaborate supper was served about 11 o'clock.

The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. George C. Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Klarquist, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Learoch, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walch, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shannon; Misses Harriet Keliher, Doris Keliher, Helen Gilleas, Augusta Gilleas, Mabel Sullivan, Mabelle Lewis, Beatrice Chambers, Viroque Baker, Helen Driscoll, Ethel Huntoon and Lillian Thielau; Messrs. E. Jeffrey Gilleas, Ned Marsh, Leo McLaughlin, Ben Sellars, Frank Jenal, Harold Chambers, Leo McCarthy, Eugene P. Bayley, Carrol Heal, Otto Keliher, Jack Saich, John Phelps and Arthur Munson.

Pretty Wedding.

A pretty but simple wedding took place Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stoll, No. 148 Serrano avenue, when their daughter, Margaret Louise, was married to Alfred J. Kock at 8 o'clock before 100 friends and relatives. Miss Stoll was a beautiful bride. She was attired in a white crepe meteor gown made en traine and trimmed with pearl trimming. Her veil reached to the hem of her garment and was caught in her hair with lilies of the valley. She carried a handsome shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and maidenhair fern and Miss Bertha McGinley, the maid of honor, and only attendant, wore a pretty lingerie gown over pink satin. She carried a shower bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses and maidenhair fern. Lawrence D. Stoll, brother of the bride, was the groom's best man. Miss Katherine Melville sang "Oh Promise Me" before the bridal party was announced. Miss Marjorie Melville presided at the piano and was assisted by Mr. Piemete, a violinist.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur E. Michel under an immense floral bell made of pink and white sweet peas. Asparagus plumosus fern was massed in the bay window and formed a canopy, making a beautiful background for the bridal party. Pink roses were banked from the mantel to the ceiling across the end of the room while baskets of carnations and fern were artistically placed on the piano and tables. In the dining-room Cecil Bruner roses were used. A beautiful wedding cake made a pretty table center piece while pink shaded candelabrae and pink and white bonbons added much to the table decorations. Pink tulle fell from the chandeliers to the four sides of the table where it was caught with a butterfly bow. An elaborate wedding supper was served during which time Miss Katherine Melville rendered several beautiful selections. Punch was served on the porch.

Mr. and Mrs. Kock left for an extended northern trip. They will spend some time at Lake Tahoe and Shasta Springs after which they will receive their friends at their new home on Twenty-fourth street near Grand avenue.

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOCIETY.

South Pasadena.

COMPLIMENTARY to her nieces, the Misses Mae and Dorothy Foster, Mrs. David A. Vail entertained with a large dancing and garden party at her home, No. 1830 Spruce street, Friday evening. Assisting the hostess was her sister, Mrs. Clarendon A. Foster and Mrs. W. W. Huntington. The beautiful home had been turned into a bower by the use of a profusion of pink roses, and the refreshment table in the dining-room was beautified by a mound of Cecile Bruner roses, with pink shaded candelabra on either end. The garden had been decked with Japanese lanterns, and cosy seats, where the time was spent between the dances. Delightful music was furnished and those present were, Miss Ruth Grant, Miss Gladys Pollard, Miss Ruth Helder, Miss Esther Briggs, Miss Mary Boland, Miss Beatrice Hall, Miss Brownie Coulter, Miss Jennie Jones, Miss Mary Carnahan and Miss Margaret Bell of Los Angeles; Miss Helen Paramore, Miss Mildred Smith, Miss Mar-

Two long tables were used to seat the guests, each having for a centerpiece a mound of pink sweet peas, with four candelabra with pink shades shedding a soft glow over the scene. Hand-decorated cards ornamented with the same flower marked covers for Mr. and Mrs. William Council, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Lord, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Filley, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Schermerhorn, Mrs. Agnes Harter, Mrs. Margaret Reihl, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gates and Fred Gates. The hostess acted as toastmistress, and Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey responded to the toast, "Our Club, Beati Hora;" Mrs. William Council, "Our Husbands;" I. L. Spencer, "The Ladies, Our Hostesses," and P. A. Lord, "Henpecked Husbands." A musical programme followed the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGillivray formally announce the marriage of their daughter, Ethel Ray, to William H. Bailey of Pasadena, the ceremony occurring last Saturday. For the present the young couple will make their home in San Diego.

A veranda party was the innovation planned by Mrs. Howard Kelley at her home, No. 1521 Ramona avenue, as a farewell to her aunt, Mrs. Mary Huffman, who has been spending the winter in this city, and left yesterday for her home in Neligh, Neb. Ulrich Brunner roses brightened the home and thimble work and contests were enjoyed to a late hour, when dainty refreshments were served. Included were Mrs. Rebecca Cairns, Mrs. Estelle Johnson, Mrs. Samuel Custer, Mrs. A. J. Hoffman, Mrs. T. I. Gifford, Mrs. John Hunt, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. John V. Wachtel, Sr., and Mrs. Raymond Moore of El Centro, Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey and Mrs. B. F. Huntington. Miss Catherine Huffman assisted the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Newerf, after spending two weeks in the Yosemite, have returned to their home, No. 424 Monterey road.

A winsome bride, Wednesday, was Miss Grace Elizabeth Baer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Baer, No. 1517 Fair Oaks avenue. Her wedding to Guy Richards Crump was solemnized at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon at her home. Her only attendant was Miss Florence Gifford of this city and Dr. James H. McKellar of Pasadena stood with the groom. Rev. Daniel K. Fox, pastor of the Congregational Church of Pasadena, was asked to officiate, and the service was read in a bower of pink and white roses and ferns. At the conclusion of a honeymoon trip through the Grand Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Crump will reside in this city and be at home to their many friends after July 1 at No. 1517 Fair Oaks avenue.

Miss Josephine Gillman, the bride-to-be of Harry Tritt of Arizona, was the complimented guest at a miscellaneous shower and porch luncheon given last evening by Miss Alice Dodge at her home, corner of Pine and Huntington drive. Yellow coreopsis and asparagus plumosus ornamented the table and place cards were bridal slippers filled with orange blossoms. Included were Mrs. R. C. Gilman, Mrs. T. C. Wright, Mrs. L. Tritt, Mrs. Frank Collier, Mrs. Jonathan S. Dodge, Mrs. E. Brewer, Miss Margaret West, Miss Agnes Gilman, Miss Margaret Strain, Miss Sarah Tritt, Miss Helen Gilman, Miss Ramona Boone, Miss Jewel Boone and Miss Mae Strutzel.

Mrs. Nellie E. Keith, No. 1719 Virginia place, has as her house guests for the week-end, her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clements of Long Beach, who are returning from a trip to Elsinore.

Mrs. Frank A. Cattern, the retiring president of the Women's Improvement Association, was the honored guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. Frank A. Stephens, the new president, at her home, No. 1321 Laurel street, Friday afternoon. It was a pansy luncheon, a great bowl of the flowers gracing the center of the table, and hand-decorated cards, ornamented with the pansies, marked covers for Mrs. Frank Cattern, Mrs. Elizabeth Mumford, Mrs. John W. Monahan, Mrs. J. Brymer Jones, Mrs. George Alfred Miller, Mrs. F. C. Delano, Mrs. Leo Longley, Mrs. Harry W. Clough, Mrs. William Freeman, Mrs. E. E. Thompson and Mrs. E. L. B. Godfrey.

THE selection of a Wedding Gift is often a knotty problem. The invariable desire is to present "Something Different"—yet experience shows that few persons take the trouble to find articles that make duplication unlikely.

We are sure we can help you select something with individuality—a gift that will be unique, rich and sure to please. Every department of this Great Store has helpful gift suggestions. In Gems, in Jewelry, in Cut Glass, in Silver Plate, in Leather Goods, we have assortments from which we will assist you to find a distinctive article at a just price.

Enumeration of a few articles would but serve to lessen the importance of others by their omission. So we suggest a visit. You need feel under no obligation to purchase.

We Always Welcome a Comparison of Values.

The other guests were the members of the Sigma Kappa sorority of which Miss Hutchinson is a member, and were Miss Marian Albee, Miss Feder, Miss Campbell, Miss Florence Bowman, Miss Georgia Burke, Miss Ruth Hutchinson, Mrs. Roy Heath and Mrs. Louise Heath.

Mrs. Belle Humphrey has returned to her home in San Francisco after two months spent at the Hotel Cliffton.

Is Your Hair Getting Thin —and— Gray?

Coming out every time you comb it—is the falling hair ruining that beautiful thick and wavy hair that you are so proud of and treasure so much?

You can stop the falling out and restore those gray hairs to their natural color just as soon as you begin to use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. Don't delay—don't run the risk of losing altogether, with thin, scraggly, gray hair your beauty and youthful appearance.

Keep your hair natural colored, thick and glossy, and you will always keep your good looks. It is not a dye.

Duarte.

ONE of the happiest events of the week was the jolly outing tendered the British Club of Los Angeles by Mesdames Alexander B. Downe, Kenneth Carter, A. Handyside, John Scott, Charles A. Anderson and Francis A. Bliss at the foothill home of the later. "La Felicidad" has been the scene of many happy social events during the past few seasons and the one of yesterday afternoon was replete with delightful features. The daughters of the British Empire who graced the affair arrived at noon day and were escorted to the Bliss home among the orange trees and at 1 o'clock an out-door luncheon was served in pleasing fashion. During the afternoon many of the guests made pilgrimages to near-by points of interest and at 4 o'clock all the guests assembled for tea. Music was also a feature of the afternoon diversions.

The thirty-five members of the Duarte Reading Circle held one of their enjoyable meetings Tuesday afternoon at the lovely home of Mrs. E. S. Hulme on Buena Vista street. Choice blossoms from the garden that surrounds the Hulme home were used for decorations and the guests were graciously received by Mrs. Hulme in the large living-room. The readings for the afternoon were provided by Mrs. Mary Hoagland and Mrs. C. Henry Sarwine. Following the programme, afternoon refreshments were served. Among the guests of honor were Mrs. George C. Fetterman, Mrs. Harold Story Hulme, Miss Sadie Sucher and Miss Louise Hard.

Wednesday afternoon a number of Duarte ladies accepted the gracious hospitality of Mrs. Albert H. Johnson, which was generously dispensed at Hotel Seven Oaks in Monrovia. Those present were Mesdames Alice Lewis Costello, Andrew Ryder, Freeland H. Hunter, Eugene D. Northup, C. H. Sarwine and Kenneth Carter.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Edgar A. Moore opened her home to a large circle of ladies who are devoting much time to preparation of costumes for the players in "Princess Chrysanthemum" which is given Wednesday [illegible] children. [illegible] luncheon was enjoyed.

The ladies of the [illegible] were tendered a pretty [illegible] Friday by Mrs. John [illegible] home of her sister, [illegible] Lovely floral decorations [illegible] and 4 o'clock tea.

Broadway at Seventh

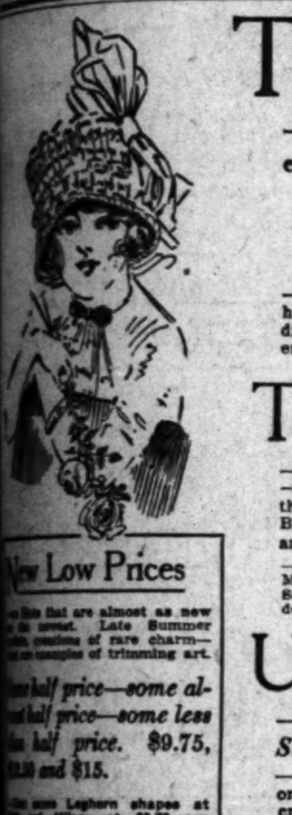
—Kodak Films developed Free, Monday—providing order for prints is left.

—Say it over and over again to yourself—so that you will not forget the socks you need, when you come downtown Monday, and you will remember the kind of socks you want and where to buy them—

—For Interwoven socks are the socks for every man—"the thin socks that do wear," because of strong sole and heel reasons—and when you think Interwoven you will naturally think of Bullock's.

New Midsummer Dresses Too Beautiful to Describe



The New Millinery Vogue

—of exquisite semi-lingerie and lace hats is being accepted enthusiastically—

A new season has been established and Monday a surprise has been planned

—The midsummer hats have entered into a conspiracy to capture the hearts of women—and they will. So many of them! So pretty! So different! They have arranged for a display that will make Miss Spring envious—and that will win new prestige for Bullock's as being —the place to come for the new style ideas, first.

The Confidant of Fashion

—When you wanted pink—light blue or white shapes — you found them at Bullock's; when the whisper was Ratine Hats, you saw them at Bullock's almost at the same time; with Blazer Hats it was the same and with so many other Features.

—And now it's New Midsummer Millinery that is really new—Satin and Moire Hats with Hemp trimmings; Semi-Lace Lingerie Millinery; Straw Sailors; Soft Milans; Hats of Corduroy and Pongee; Outing Hats; Tweedledee Cloth Hats—A wonderful display of wonderful interest.

New Low Prices

Hats that are almost as new as the newest. Late Summer creations of rare charm—examples of trimming art.

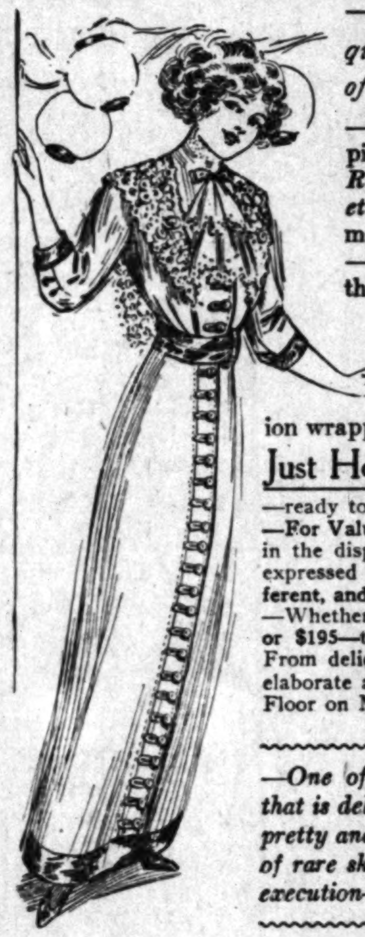
Leghorn shapes at and Milans at $3.75—are unusual. Second Floor.

Undermuslin Values at $1.25

—Gowns, Combinations, Petticoats and Princess Slips. Some of the strongest values of entire month out Monday.

—You will be surprised at the quality and workmanship—and at the elaborate character of the trimming on many of the garments. Gowns of crepe included in this list—Monday at $1.25.

—Then there are other Gowns at $1.00; Princess Slips at $1.50; Petticoats and Combinations at $1.50. Every item worthy special mention.



—mingle with demurely simple Frocks that are exquisitely attractive—and add lustre to a style exhibit of unusual brilliance upon the Second Floor Monday.

—Magnificent creations of Lingerie, masterpieces of the designer's art; splendid dresses of Ratine, and Linen; exclusive models of Linenette—in white, and every good shade for summer.

—There are ever so many of them—and yet there is not a single garment that does not impress its individuality at first glance—not one but is notable for its grace and character—and many of them have just thrown off the traveling togs that Fashion wrapped them in, little more than a week ago—

Just Here—a Most Noteworthy Gathering

—ready to delight every woman on Monday—

—For Value is another merit that clings closely to every dress in the display. Style, character, value—the three essentials expressed in scores of new midsummer designs—that are different, and exclusive—

—Whether it be $15.00 you have in mind to spend, $25, $49.50 or $195—there is interest upon the Second Floor for you. From delicately executed frocks in charming white, to most elaborate affairs of allover hand-made lace—visit the Second Floor on Monday.

—One of the afternoon gowns that is delicate and sheer as it is pretty and unusual. An example of rare skill in designing and in execution—(Drawn from life.)

—A dress that has personality to a high degree—one of many similar models that will help to make this Monday showing most exceptional.—(Drawn from life.)

Ontario.

CHIEF among the notable events in Ontario society during the week was the reception given Saturday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur McCrea in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Many of the friends who gathered to pay their respects were former residents of Drayton, N. D., where Mr. and Mrs. McCrea spent their early married life. Mrs. McCrea was gowned in her wedding dress of white satin. She was assisted in receiving by her daughter, Miss Iola and her son, Alexander, and by Mrs. B. P. Dayman and Mrs. William Feltham of Long Beach and Mrs. A. H. Johnson of Upland. The most distinguished guests of the afternoon were Mr. McCrea's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. McCrea, who celebrated their golden wedding just two years ago. The house was filled with the fragrance and charm of flowers. White and green predominated with touches of pink in the living-room and reception hall. In the dining-room dainty refreshments were served from a table which was graced by a huge basket of pink carnations and ferns, meeting the showers of greenery suspended from the chandeliers. Pink candles were used on the table and a large bow of pink satin rested on the white center piece. Mrs. LeRoy McClelland Abbott presided at the table and was assisted in serving by Miss Alta McCrea and Miss Florence Johnson. During the afternoon a number of delightful ballads were sung by Mrs. Princess Long. Mr. and Mrs. McCrea received many beautiful and costly pieces of silver. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. McCrea, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy McClelland Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stone, Mrs. Ann Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Halfpenny, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Warmer, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Warmer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Healy, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilkins, Miss Mabel Wilkins, Mrs. M. N. Johnson, Miss Florence Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Davison, Rev. and Mrs. John Oliver of Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Honberger, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. F. Douglas, Covina; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Ross McCrea of Vancouver.

The Friday Afternoon Club, the oldest and most exclusive organization of its kind in the city, closed a successful year Friday evening with a banquet at the home of Mrs. Archibald T. Hamilton, No. 521 North Euclid avenue. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Jefferson Taylor, Mrs. Richard R. Gushee, and Mrs. Hamilton. With pink and white a motif for the decorations very artistic results were obtained. Shirley poppies and pink rambler roses were used in the living and dining-rooms and on the table were bowls of pink-shaded candles. The Misses Catherine Hamilton, Bessie Sheppard, Margaret Swan, Ida Hubbell and Elizabeth Taylor assisted with the serving. Covers were laid for Mrs. Arthur W. Hobby, Mrs. Henry Edson Swan, Mrs. Jefferson

"Girls! Girls! We Can All Stop Wearing Dress Shields!"

Rip Them Out—Here's PERSPI-NO

I'll never wear dress shields again, while I can get that remarkable powder, PERSPI-NO. No sir-ee! Never again for me! I just put a little in my arm-pits, with the pad that comes with each box, and then my glory begins!

No More Perspiration Like This, and No More Dress Shields if You Use PERSPI-NO.

No matter what the weight of your clothing, no matter how hot and stuffy it may be indoors, you need never be afraid of perspiring any more in your arm-pits than you do on the back of your hand, if you use PERSPI-NO.

It's a marvelous yet a simple powder that anybody is safe in using. It keeps your arm-pits just as fresh and dry and natural as any other portion of your body.

Use PERSPI-NO and hot theatres, dance-halls, and social affairs will have no more terrors for you in arm-pit perspiration. It's good-bye dress shields forever. Satisfaction guaranteed.

PERSPI-NO is for sale at your druggist's at 25c a box, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by the Perspo Co., 2715 Lincoln Ave., Chicago. For sale and recommended in Los Angeles by All Owl Drug Co. Stores.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY ADVIC

BY MRS. MAE MARTIN

X. T.: Large pores, I know, are disfiguring. However, you can soon reduce them if you use an almozoin cream-jelly, the recipe for which I give: Put 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine in ½ pint cold water, then add 1 ounce almozoin. When thoroughly dissolved it is ready to use. This almozoin cream-jelly should be applied plentifully and rubbed in well. After using the cream-jelly a while you will find pimples and blackheads will have vanished and the skin once rough, oily and blotchy will be of a velvety softness, clear and beautiful. The almozoin cream-jelly is unfailing in protecting the skin from freckles, tan and sunburn.

A. G. B.: Dieting is a cruel method of flesh reduction and a needless torture, because with a parnotis solution, made by dissolving 4 ounces parnotis in 1½ pints hot water, you can reduce your weight without suffering or inconvenience. Taking a tablespoonful before each meal gently and gradually dissolves the fatty tissues without possible injury, and when your weight is where you want it, the flesh will be firm and the skin free from wrinkles.

Mrs. A. D.: Don't experiment with alleged "hair-tonics," because they may streak the hair. If your scalp is lifeless and scaly, you should shampoo with canthrox, then apply a little of the quinzoin tonic, made by pouring ½ pint water in ½ pint alcohol, to which is then added 1 ounce quinzoin. Occasional applications of this home-made tonic soon banish dandruff and correct unnatural oiliness. The faithful use of the quinzoin tonic will encourage the hair to grow in long and beautiful.

D. O.: Those troublesome hairs can be made to disappear like magic by applying a paste made with powdered delatone and water. After 2 or 3 minutes it should be removed and the skin washed, when it will be found that the hairs have completely vanished. No pain or discoloration of the skin follows the use of delatone.

Mrs. Max: Long, curly lashes add much to the expression of the eyes. Apply pyroxin daily to lash-roots with thumb and forefinger and your stubby eyelashes will grow long and beautiful. By putting pyroxin on eyebrows with forefinger you can make them come in thick and silky. Don't get any pyroxin where hair is not wanted

Violet M.: Falling [illegible] to age in your [illegible] woman should be [illegible] and physically. [illegible] blood-tonic and [illegible] giving you the [illegible] here: Dissolve [illegible] pint alcohol, [illegible] and add [illegible] quart. The many friends of Miss Meria Metcalf were quite surprised to learn this week of her marriage Tuesday to Edgar E. Lampton of Los Angeles. Miss Metcalf is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metcalf and has resided for some months with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowman of Ellenwood drive. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lampton of Los Angeles, and is a nephew of W. J. Lampton, the well known writer. Mr. Lampton has just recently completed an engagement as leading man and director of the Western Theatrical Company, in which company Miss Metcalf also played during the past season. Mr. and Mrs. Lampton will both continue at their chosen profession. For the present they are residing in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dickinson and family of Central avenue attended the marriage of the former's nephew, Edward Adams, at Los Angeles, Wednesday. Mr. Adams is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Adams of Puente.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cates of Eagle avenue are enjoying the week at Coronado. Ray Witham, who has

Ray Witham, who has been in a Los Angeles hospital for the past four weeks, has returned to his home in this city, where he is improving.

Mrs. C. Dake of Los Angeles and Mrs. Wells H. Bates of Philadelphia were guests of Mrs. Frederick A. Miller of West Sycamore avenue, Tuesday.

Mrs. Fetters and son, who have been guests of Mrs. Wilbur Miller during the winter, have taken apartments in Los Angeles.

Palms.

MISS GRACE MOTTS, who has been spending the winter here, returned to her home in Colloma, Wis., Saturday.

Miss Gertrude Stephens and Miss Eva Sumner were the guests of Miss Clara Stroh of Manhattan, the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Chapman spent Saturday in San Gabriel.

Mrs. J. C. Brooks and daughter, Janice, Mrs. Charles Struton, and Mrs. W. W. LaForge are visiting relatives in Chino.

Mrs. Elinor Shoeneman left Sunday for Chicago to visit her daughter, Mrs. M. A. Katz.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Messick were the guests, Saturday and Sunday, of Mrs. G. Messick of Los Angeles.

Mrs. F. W. Thatcher spent Thursday with Mrs. W. E. Smith of Los Angeles.

Tropico.

THIS week society's interest is centered in the student body, their activities, hopes, aspirations and graduation, for a class of thirty bright girls and boys bid adieu to high school work, and go forth to battle with the world and desire to achieve fame along some chosen line. Therefore, with but few exceptions, mothers, sisters and aunts have catered to the wishes of the graduating class, leaving other society events to the future.

One of the rare occasions was the unique and charming "Garden Dinner party" given by Mrs. Anna Smith at her beautiful home, "Quinta Ana," on Riverdale drive, in honor of some Los Angeles friends. Both house and pergola were handsomely decorated with roses and Shasta daisies. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock in the pergola. Those honored were: Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Chanlee, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Winengardner, Miss Bertha A. Raner, Miss Marie Raner, Mr. William Vail, Mr. Fred Raner, Mr. L. B. Valla, Mrs. Lanore Miller and daughter.

Mrs. Burt W. Richardson and young sons left on Monday for Chicago, where they will meet Mr. Richardson, who preceded them in order to have their home in readiness for a summer's sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice are passing the week in Lindsay.

Miss Mabelle Evans-Hough was the honored guest of Mrs. Mabelle Kendall in Burbank on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Maxwell, on Park avenue, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Radcliffe of Burbank on an automobile trip to San Bernardino on Monday.

Miss Marie Cole is entertaining Miss Bessie Smith of Berkeley, a college friend and classmate.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Burch, on Cerritos avenue, entertained Monday evening in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Louis Wagner, of Denver, Colo., who has been passing several weeks at her parents' home. The guests, bidden to the hospitality of the home, were old-time friends—Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ayres of Tropico; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Carter of Pasadena; Miss A. Thompson of Los Angeles, and Mrs. T. V. Waterson of Eagle Rock.

Mrs. Mary Ayres, on Palmer avenue, entertained on Thursday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Cover Melrose. Refreshments were served in an artistic "tea house" built around a large branching pepper tree. The guests present were: Mr. C. H. Sherer, Mrs. William Harvey, Mrs. Clay Seaman, Mrs. Oliver Merrill, Mrs. Cover Melrose and the members of the family.

Rialto.

ONE of the most enjoyable functions of the season was the progressive evening planned and executed by members of the Epworth League of the Methodist Church complimentary to the Rialto graduates of the High School of San Bernardino and the members of the eighth grade of the Rialto school, and as a farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Cookman, principal and assistant principal of the school. The guests were received by the members of the league. After a delightful hour the guests proceeded to the C. N. Johnson home, where they were again entertained and taken by hayrack to the E. M. Cox and E. M. Lush homes.

Miss Lou Ella Baines was hostess at a pretty evening party Tuesday, when she entertained the girls of the younger set, who will assist her in the candy booth at the Woman's Club social next week. After a short business session the young ladies were joined by Messrs. Charles Bates, Will Martin, Ray Leekley, Justin and Harry Sceiple, Carl and Irwin Johnson, Arthur Jonas, Harold Dunn, Ralph Dalgleish, Roy and Walter Masters of Redlands. A merry evening of games and music was spent. The young ladies included Misses Ruey Sceiple, Grace Bemis, Hazel and Ethel Nish, Ina Hacker, Katheleen French, Courtney Neeley, Mary McHugh, Isabelle Leekley, Pauline Farner, Marguerite Hagar of Alhambra.

One of the pleasant parties of the season was that given by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Soden Wednesday evening at the pretty F. P. Dunlap home. The spacious rooms were beautified with yellow cosmos and huge boquets of Shasta daisies. Following a lively (?) bridge contest the four small tables were arranged into a long supper table, where the hostess, assisted by her cousin, Mrs. Godby, served the dainty menu. The guests were Messrs. and Mmes. George Wood, A. L. Utz, H. L. MacRae, R. L. McRae, E. M. Lash, Homer Lash, J. D. McGregor, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas McHugh, Mmes. L. H. Van Frank, R. W. Montgomery, and Mrs. Godby of San Bernardino.

Highland.

DADE DAVIS and Sherwood La Follette entertained the members of the junior class of the Redlands High School at a delightful dancing party given at Harlem Springs on Wednesday evening. Dancing was enjoyed by about forty-five guests and summer refreshments were served during the evening.

Mrs. W. E. Nye was hostess at a charmingly planned card party where she entertained the members of the H. T. G. I. Card Club at her home on South Palm avenue Tuesday evening. Following the tournament of bridge, a collation was enjoyed. The company included Col. and Mrs. G. W. Prescott, Mrs. Elmer J. Orton, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Wishard, Miss Marie Wishard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ethan Allen, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Yarnell, Dr. E. W.

GETS-IT For Corns Really a Wonder.

New Way, Painless, Safe and Sure.

"Quit That! GETS-IT Will 'Get' Any Corn."

The new kind of corn cure; the only sure kind; the only easy, safe, painless kind is here. It's what corn-pestered people have been looking for ever since the age of shoes. Does it really do the work? Well, just one trial will prove it.

The name of this big surprise is "GETS-IT," because it gets it. You don't have to wrap your toes in bandages. There are no plasters, no salves. What is more, "GETS-IT" will never, absolutely can't, hurt or make the true flesh sore, as many other corn "things" do. If it gets on the skin, it won't, can't hurt or injure the flesh. Apply it in two seconds. It's guaranteed, or your money is refunded.

Your druggist sells "GETS-IT," 25 cents per bottle, or direct if you wish, from E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

New Tuberculosis Remedy Based on Medicine

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alterative we have a medicine that has been the means of saving many a life to years of usefulness, and in permanently benefiting a large number of Consumptives.

Any diet that keeps a Consumptive well nourished is the right one, but what is going to improve the patient? Eckman's Alterative is a medicine for the treatment of this disease which has been found beneficial in a large number of cases. We prefer to let you hear what such people say. Investigate this case:

96 Savannah St., Rochester, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: On June 3, 1907, I was operated upon for Tubercular peritonitis, and my physician gave me up as hopeless. I was then urged by a priest to take Eckman's Alterative, which I did. I began to improve and steadily gained in health and strength, and am absolutely cured."

(Signed Affidavit) EDNA FINZER.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Company and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

Knabe Supremacy

FOR over three-quarters of a century the Knabe Piano has held unquestioned recognition as the greatest masterpiece of the piano builder's art.

It has established and maintained ideals in piano construction that have set the standard for the whole world.

The Knabe stands today—the concrete expression of the fixed ideals of noble artisans who have grown gray in the Knabe service—men whose sturdiness and integrity have made possible the Knabe of today.

Those who seek the best the world of music affords must give the Knabe serious consideration.

Knabe Uprights, $525 to $650. Knabe Grands, $775 to $1575.
Reasonable allowance made for your old piano.

Artigraphic Recital

Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 2:00 o'clock, a delightful entertainment by the wonderful artigraphic player—Busoni will play Liszt's famous "Rigoletto"—and "Polonaise." Grieg will play his Berceuse—Mascagni, his Cavalleria Rusticana—Scharwenka, his Polish national dance—and other noted artists will perform for you—through the artigraphic player—the music wonder of the age. Welcome.

SOCIETY.

Burke, James Burke, Frank Horace Cole, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nye and Miss Villa Nye.

The members of the Wednesday Luncheon Club and a number of invited guests journeyed to Redlands on Wednesday, where they were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Samuel Hunt Barrett. Mrs. Barrett's guests were Mrs. M. M. Randall, Mrs. Gratz H. Barnes, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. P. F. Coy, Mrs. J. H. Evans, Mrs. H. H. Linville, Mrs. C. H. Draper, Mrs. D. H. Richardson, Mrs. Frank Briggs, Mrs. Thomas A. Ewing, Mrs. Albert Miller, all of Highland; Mrs. Fred Atkinson of San Bernardino and Mrs. Jane Hall and Miss Grace Hall of Redlands.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Benson in East Highland was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Wednesday, when their oldest daughter, Miss Ethel Frieda, was given in marriage to Jonas Byrel Williams of Lindsay, Cal. The ceremony was read at high noon by the Rev. Jacobs of Pasadena, an old-time friend of the Benson family and the home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was enjoyed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Williams left for their home in Lindsay, taking with them the good wishes of a host of friends.

Venice.

THE young women who make up the membership of a little social club recently organized in Venice are planning many affairs for the summer months, one of which, a candy pull, will take place soon. The exact date has not been decided upon, but it will probably be held immediately after the close of school, as a number of the members are pupils in the High School. Last week the young women invited a number of young men to join them at a clambake.

"Father's night" at the Venice grammar school Thursday night proved to be a delightful affair and aside from a delightfully-arranged programme of music, refreshments were served.

There will be no "honeymoon row" in Villa City this season and the newlyweds who come to the beach will have to look elsewhere for their cottages. The reason for this is that every villa in the little city is rented. For several summers the cottages along "honeymoon row" have been kept in reserve for the bridal couples, but the rush of summer visitors who swept down on Villa City this year made it necessary to depart from the regular custom and those who came first were served first. Last summer the newlyweds filled every cottage along the row and if any are counting on it this season they are doomed to disappointment. There are 200 cottages in Villa City and over 900 rooms, and with a few exceptions every one is rented. It is the best season ever known and most of the visitors are to be permanent throughout the summer and fall.

Mrs. J. McArthur and Miss Viola McArthur of Los Angeles have joined Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Nauth in Venice and all are residing in a cottage on Dwight avenue. The latter have been in Venice one months. Mrs. Nauth is the daughter of Mrs. McArthur. They will remain at the beach the entire summer.

Mrs. A. W. Curtis has returned to Los Angeles after a week's visit at the home of Mrs. Mary S. Foote at her home in Venice. Mrs. Curtis will leave June 29 for her home in Milwaukee, after having spent the winter in Southern California, but will return here in the fall.

A district association of the California Congress of Mothers will be organized in Venice June 25. A call for the meeting was issued by Mrs. Arthur Hamilton of Pasadena, president of the Congress, and arrangements for it to be held here are being made by Mrs. C. H. Ritchie. The auditorium on the pier has been secured for the day.

Prince and Princess Lazarovich Hrebelenrovich of Servia, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of Venice, have departed for Northern California. They will visit San Francisco and San Jose before leaving for their home in Servia.

Santa Monica.

DR. KATHERINE MYERS of Portland, Ore., has been passing a few days with friends at the beach.

Mrs. L. W. Hoskins has left for her home in Denver, after having spent her twelfth winter at this beach. She will return next fall.

Mrs. T. Keilgallen of Butte, Mont., has joined the summer colony at the seashore. She is accompanied by her two daughters.

Miss Julia Dawson of Butte has joined the Montana colony of seaside summer visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson of Oakland have arrived on the strand and will pass a part of the summer season here.

Dr. C. P. Thomas has returned after an absence of several weeks spent at Montreal and Atlantic City.

Miss Emma Guild of Pomona was visiting with seashore friends during the week.

Miss Nora Sterry of Los Angeles talked to the members of the Santa Monica Women's Club Monday afternoon on "Immigration." She confined her talk principally to the immigration conditions in Los Angeles and it was instructive and interesting.

Lieutenant Montague Ward, son of Mrs. Dolores Ward and nephew of Mrs. Arcadia de Baker of Santa Monica, has arrived from England to make his home in Santa Monica. At present he is stopping at the Windemere Hotel, but will later move to the home of his aunt on Ocean avenue. This is Lieutenant Ward's first visit to the United States and he is delighted with the country. He has served in the Royal Navy, but before leaving England he resigned so that he could make his home in America, so as to be near his mother who had not seen him for a number of years, and his sister, Miss Ines Ward, who is attending the Hollywood Convent.

Flag day was given appropriate observance Friday night by the local herd of Elks, a musical and literary programme being given at Columbia Hall. Dancing followed the programme. B. C. Hanna was the orator of the evening, H. W. Atwill read the flag record and C. A. Hale delivered the tribute of the Elks to the starry banner.

One of the pleasing social affairs of the week and of the opening of the summer season was the Booster ball given at the Fraser Dancing Hall on the pier Tuesday evening. This was a popular benefit, all funds going toward the band, amusement and advertising fund. The attendance was large and the net receipts highly gratifying.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carson of Third street was celebrated Tuesday afternoon, when a number of their old-time friends gathered to offer their congratulations. It was a surprise affair, therefore all the more delightful, and the afternoon was passed in pleasant reminiscences. Mr. J. B. Proctor, an old friend of the family, in behalf of the other guests, presented the couple with a purse of gold. Mr. and Mrs. Corson were married in Scotland fifty years ago. They have made their home in Santa Monica for twenty-five years and have a large circle of admiring friends.

A new and novel feature for commencement week has been planned by Miss Alice Jones, director of physical culture in the Santa Monica High School. She will hold a "gym" exhibit in the gymnasium building at the Lincoln School. The exact time for holding it has not been decided upon, but Thursday will probably be the day.

Mrs. Katherine Ruff, who has been a winter guest at the Windemere, has gone to Seven Oaks where she will spend the summer.

Covina.

YOSEMITE wonders will be depicted in fine views and with travelogue, by Dr. C. D. Williamson on Thursday evening, June 20, in the Woman's Clubhouse, and the lecture is a gift of the Civics Committee of the club, as a closing effort of the season. The doors are thrown open to everyone.

At the annual election of the Irwindale Miscellany Club, held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. W. Heath, the following officers were elected: Mrs. A. J. Miller, president; Mrs. W. W. Heath, vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Heath, secretary; Mrs. L. M. Swallow, treasurer. Mrs. E. E. Harris was admitted to membership. The club has done a great deal of local charity work during the past year.

Mrs. J. A. Elston and Mrs. O. S. Daniels have been attending the W. T.C.U. convention at San Diego.

The Parent-Teachers' Association is getting ready for a minstrel show, to be held Saturday evening, June 29. The proceeds are to be used to remodel the old school building, to be fitted as an entertainment hall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. T. Lesslie and daughter left this week for a tour through the Eastern States, the objective point being Binghamton, New York, where Mr. Lesslie will attend the convention of Spanish War Veterans.

"Bird Life in California" is the subject of an address to be delivered by Miss Gretchen L. Libby before the Covina Valley Farmers' Club in the Woman's Clubhouse on Saturday, June 22. Miss Libby is connected with the State Fish and Game Commission.

Miss Vera Edwards, teacher in the Covina public schools, will spend the summer in Alaska, where she will prepare a lecture to be delivered here during the coming winter. She will also write a travelogue to appear during the summer in a local paper.

Madame Ellen Beach Yaw entertained twenty-eight of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity last Friday afternoon at her home on Lark Ellen avenue.

Miss Muriel Sherwood and Miss Hessa Graham entertained the graduating class of the Covina High School at the Sherwood home last Saturday evening. Those present were the Misses Ruth Arthur, Helen Broadwell, Marjorie Capron, Hazel Clifford, Maud Fairly, Mae Hepner, Edith Hull, Leanta Stafford, Messrs. Mark Custer, Walter Eason, Louis Didier, Boyd King, Earl Philleo and William Wilson.

The Covina Valley Farmers' Club held its annual picnic in Walnut Wash Saturday afternoon. Among the hostesses who helped serve the basket lunch and ice cream was Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw, an honored member of the organization.

Harold Bell Wright, author of "The Shepherd of the Hills," "The Winning of Barbara Worth," and other novels, has been a guest at the home of Mrs. G. J. Reynolds of Irwindale. He will spend some time at the hill ranch of his publisher, Elsberry Reynolds, at La Verne.

Glendale.

WITH telling accuracy Cupid has been shooting his love darts into the younger society set of this city. In the near past and the immediate future may be seen the results of Cupid's unerring aim, a number of the city's most popular young people being either newly-weds or soon-to-weds. Miss Helen Ingraham, who, during the past year has been instructor at the Tropico grammar school, and Arthur Miner, both of this city, were married recently at the home of the groom's mother, in West Glendale. They will live in Long Beach.

Miss Virginia Allen and LeRoy W. Gilmore, both of this city, and members of this year's graduating class of the Glendale High School, were married this week at the home of the bride's parents. They will reside in this city.

Miss Rubie Killian of Los Angeles and Ralph Stone of this valley, were married recently at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Stone are now residing at the Faust apartments in Los Angeles.

Miss Nettie Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Watson, will be married Tuesday to William Turner of Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Fourth and Glendale avenue, only relatives being present. Rev. J. F. Humphrey will officiate.

Miss Alma Stone and Daniel Kelty, Jr., of West Glendale, will be married at the home of the bride's parents, sometime in August, the exact time of the wedding having not as yet been decided upon. Miss Stone is a graduate of the Glendale High School, and Mr. Kelty is a member of the firm of Cornwell & Kelty, hardware dealers of this city.

Miss Belle Lyons and James A. Newton, both well-known here, were married at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the bride's home, No. 420 West Fifth street, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiating. Mr. Newton is a member of the Superior Electric Company. They will live in La Canada.

A jolly crowd of Glendale people enjoyed a picnic at Griffith Park this week. The company included Mrs. C. N. Williams, chaperon; Marian Ray, Olive Williams, Ruth Williams, Glenn Stanton, Harold Williams, Donald Philips and Paul Williams.

The Mission Circle met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wood, on Orange Grove avenue. Miss N. W. Miller of Los Angeles gave an address on "How the Russians Live." Refreshments and a programme were enjoyed.

Miss Juanita Stock entertained the Gama Theta Sigma at her home in Westmoreland Place Friday evening. The guests were Miss Emily Ellias, Miss Lillian Ellias, Miss Pearl Goode, Owen Emery, George Mitchell, Granville McClure and Will Livingston.

The Alpha Lyndas met at the home of Miss Majorie Duncan this week, which event was given as a farewell to Miss Nona Thomas, who will move soon to Ocean Park. About twenty guests were present.

Pomona.

MRS. JESSIE COATES BURLESON entertained friends at tea on Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Frank W. Battle of San Jose and Miss Margaret Dilla, who left for New York on Thursday.

Mesdames Monroe Thurman and J. F. Burggraf entertained the Lady Maccabee Thimble Club Wednesday afternoon at the Thurman home on West Second street.

Mrs. D. H. Sisson has arrived from El Paso, Tex., on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Spencer.

The members of the No Name Club of this city were delightfully entertained by Mr and Mrs. Lucien H. Taylor Tuesday night.

A pretty affair at which her friends were completely surprised was the announcement luncheon given on Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham, by Miss Mary Graham, eldest daughter, when she acquainted the guests with the fact of her engagement to David Prewitt of Winchester, Ky. Miss Graham is a Stanford graduate and has lived here several years, during which time she has made hosts of friends. Mr. Prewitt is the son of Mrs. Richard Prewitt and both have passed winters here from time to time and are known to older residents. The Graham and Prewitt families lived on adjoining plantations in the Blue Grass State and Mr. Prewitt who will come here to claim his bride—the wedding occuring the last of the month—will take her to his family estate in Kentucky, where they will make their home. Mr. Prewitt last made a flying trip here during the Shriners' convention.

The invited luncheon guests, who are near friends of the prospective bride, were Mesdames T. Hardy Smith, George S. Phillips, D. B. Hendricks, Arthur M. Dole, Lawrence H. Voorhees, Misses Helen Martin, Edith Hopkins, Mrs. W. H. Graham and Misses Lillian and Frances Graham and the mother and sisters of the hostess.

Mrs. J. E. Patterson entertained the members of the music and art section of the Ebell Club at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Monrovia.

MRS. A. H. JOHNSON entertained delightfully Wednesday afternoon with a five hundred party at Hotel Seven Oaks. The reception-room was beautiful in delicate pink Shirley poppies, and ferns, and in the dining-room Matilija poppies were used. The first prize, a hand-painted bon bon dish, was won by Mrs. Augustus Pratt, the consolation, a cut glass dish, going to Mrs. Charles Dixon. In the needlework contest arranged for the ladies who didn't play cards, Mrs. R. W. Daniels carried off a pair of hand-painted salt and pepper shakers as the most skillful needlewoman, and Mrs. T. R. Crandall received the consolation, a hand embroidered dolly. After the games refreshments were served at small tables in the dining-room. The invitations numbered 125, about 100 of whom were present.

Mrs. Stewart H. Reynolds and Miss Cora Boyd entertained with whist Thursday and Saturday afternoons of this week at the Reynolds home. The decorations were in yellow and white, the color scheme being carried out in the ices and cakes served after the games. Baskets of ferns were used as favors for the couple at each table getting the highest score. The guests numbering forty on each occasion included friends from Pasadena and Los Angeles.

Mrs. E. D. Northup entertained the Monrovia Chapter of the D.A.R., Monday afternoon at her home in Duarte. It was the last meeting of the year and the time was pleasantly passed in discussing future plans and relating reminiscences of revolutionary times. Music was contributed by Miss Eileen Northup and delicious refreshments were served. Those present included Mrs. Sucher of Los Angeles, house guest of Mrs. Northup. Mmes. Browning, Petrie, Davison, Pottenger, Blamer, Reed, Castillo, Evans, Dupar and Miss Keller. About twelve of the members will attend the presentation of "Peg o' My Heart" at the Burbank Theater in Los Angeles, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. F. M. Pottenger entertained Thursday evening in honor of Miss Ethel Henricksen. Whist was played and a delightful evening enjoyed.

Mrs. L. N. Wheeler gave a childrens' party Thursday afternoon, in honor of the sixth birthday of her small son. On Friday evening the P.E.O. held its regular meeting at the Wheeler home, the members only being present.

Miss Hilda Jellison entertained Saturday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Mary, whose marriage is set for June 19. John Graham, the groom-to-be, is building a handsome bungalow for his bride on Palm avenue, which will be ready to receive them on their return from a brief honeymoon trip. Friday evening the Misses Miller, assisted by Mrs. Charles Anson, received about seventy-five of the young people of the Methodist Church in her honor. It was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower and many useful and beautiful gifts for the new home were received. The evening was passed in games and refreshments were served.

San Bernardino.

MRS. AUGUST MESPELT entertained the ladies of the First Methodist Church at her home, No. 532 D street, Wednesday afternoon. A delightful musical programme was contributed by Miss Sylvia Sloan, Miss Anna Meyer and Mrs. Jerome.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nisle entertained friends at a farewell dinner Tuesday night, at their Court-street home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kemp and children, who removed to Los Angeles Thursday.

Mrs. J. W. Probst entertained the Thimble Club of the Women of Woodcraft at her home, No. 1211 Spruce street, Thursday afternoon.

The Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club held the final gathering of the season Thursday night at Urbita Springs. The hostesses were Mrs. H. M. Mays, Mrs. Ernest Hammer, Mrs. Karl F. Tuttle and Miss Burdette Melone.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Bockoff entertained a number of friends Tuesday evening at their home, No. 1216 Rialto avenue, in compliment to their guests, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Lembrock and W. H. Land of Gilliam, Mo.

Miss Lillian Harington, who left Thursday for Chicago, was guest of honor at a delightful gathering of friends Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Patterson.

Mrs. R. F. Garner entertained the woman's union of the First Congregational Church at her home at D and Fifth streets Thursday afternoon.

Miss Lillian Mecham, a June bride-elect, was guest of honor at a shower given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Charles Wixom and Mrs. J. H. Lord, at the former's home at Sixteenth and D streets.

Azusa.

ON TUESDAY afternoon the W.C. T.U. held their annual social in honor of the birthday of Miss Jennie Cassidy, the founder of the Flower Mission, at the home of Mrs. L. Case of Azusa Heights. Mesdames J. R. Eldred and O. S. Daniels gave an account of their trip to the State convention at San Diego. All the local ministers were present, and each had a few words to say. A beautiful new banner, painted by Miss Bessie Barker, was displayed. Mrs. A. A. Dodsworth and Miss Martha Dodsworth, who have been in Long Beach for several months, came back for the meeting.

On Monday evening the Pastime Club entertained a very large number of their friends with a banquet at the Foothill Inn. This club will hold the last meeting of the season next Monday evening, with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith on San Gabriel avenue.

Last Wednesday evening Leland Poage was best man at the wedding of his old college chum, Raymond Foote of Los Angeles, to Miss Mabel Bragden. This week, Wednesday, he was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Foote.

On Wednesday Mrs. H. C. Bierwirth of Cambridge Mass., arrived here. She was formerly Miss Anna L. Fuller, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Fuller of Citrus avenue, who two years ago was married to Prof. H. C. Bierwirth of Harvard University, and who has come for her first visit to her old home since her marriage. She came now in order to be here for the celebration of her mother's 80th birthday, June 18. Prof. Bierwirth will follow as soon as his duties in the university are over, and together they will spend the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Berner and Leo Berner spent Wednesday in Alhambra, making a farewell visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Woodworth of St. Joseph, Mo., who have been for some time visiting in Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Culver and Jack Culver of Los Angeles took dinner on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bierbower.

Miss Johanna Poage was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Jewell Dennison of Downey.

On Tuesday the Irwindale Miscellany Club met with Mrs. J. W. Heath. There was an interesting programme and the election of officers.

Hon. J. Wyatt Mortimer, British Consul at Los Angeles, recently spent a few days with Fred Thorp at his home in the San Gabriel Canyon.

August Meier of St. Louis is here visiting his sons, Charlie, George, August L. and Kort.

Worried About a Wart for Five Years, Removed It In Two Days.

"For five years," said a young lady of 22, I had a wart on the second joint of the first finger of my right hand. It was rough and ugly and I worried about it constantly. I tried everything in order to get rid of it—caustic, advertised remedies, everything. Nothing seemed to affect it. I had given up in despair, when I met a charming lady just home from a trip to Turkey. She noticed the wart, much to my embarrassment, but she said: 'There is no reason why you should have your hand disfigured like that, my dear.' I told her I had tried in every way to get rid of that ugly wart but had failed. She told me that she would give me a recipe that was absolutely sure to give me relief without causing the least pain or making my finger the least bit sore. This is the recipe she gave me: 'Go to any druggist, get two drams of Traxit (Triple Strength,) bathe the wart in warm water just before retiring, dip a wooden toothpick into the Traxit and touch the wart lightly.' I acted upon her advice and in two days was greatly relieved to see this troublesome wart disappear. Since then I have given this prescription to hundreds of my friends, who have used it with the same success."

HANDS BURNING ITCHING, DISFIGURED

Cracked and Swollen. Could Not Sleep. For 2 Years Nobody Could Cure His Eczema. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured.

905 Lowell Place, Chicago, Ill.—"The trouble began by my hands burning and itching and I rubbed and scratched them till one day I saw little red sores coming out. My hands were disfigured and swollen, and troubled me so that I could not sleep. They were cracked and when the small sores broke a white matter would come out. I could not do any hard work; if I did the sores would come out worse.

"For two years nobody could cure my eczema, until one day I thought I would try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used warm water with the Cuticura Soap and after that I put the Cuticura Ointment on my hands twice a day for about five or six months when I was completely cured." (Signed) Sam Marcus, Nov. 28, 1911.

SCRATCHED UNTIL BLOOD RAN

Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Little Girl.

2046 E. Ann St., Philadelphia, Pa.—"My little girl's trouble commenced with pimples on her face. Finally she got them behind her shoulders, then in her hair. At night they seemed worse. They itched and burned, and she scratched until blood ran from them. She had long light curls and when they got in her hair I was afraid I would have to have her hair cut. She was nearly crazy. The blood ran down her face and back. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and had not used quite two boxes when she was cured. I think Cuticura Soap and Ointment are worth their weight in gold." (Signed) Mrs. E. A. Cade, Sept. 26, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

Pease Bros. Catalogue Advertising Series. No. 12

A FEW weeks ago we extended an invitation to the ladies of Southern California to visit our seventh floor. This is probably one of the most interesting departments in the store, but there are other floors that are equally interesting to some.

We want to urge you again to pay us a visit. We want to extend as broad an invitation as possible for you to visit our store and not merely look around on the first floor or seventh floor, but ask to be shown through the building. We would like to make it perfectly clear that this refers to YOU whether thinking of home furnishings now or not—for you will be some day and when that day comes we want you to think of Pease Brothers.

We show again this week a lot of articles of furniture that would make suitable wedding or other gifts.

Riverside.

PRELIMINARY to the commencement of the boys' and girls' high schools there have been a number of happy pre-commencement festivities participated in by the young people of both schools. Notable among these was the class day ceremonies of the Girls' High School on Friday evening. The High School auditorium was decorated with the class colors, green and white, masses of greenery and white lilies being effectively placed and class pennants having a share in the decorative scheme. The members of the senior class were dressed in white with green tulle bows at their necks. Each carried a white cane decorated with bows of green crepe paper, and presented a picture of real charm with background of green. Features of the programme were the class alphabet, by Miss Davis; class history, by Miss Hazel Zumbro; last will and testament, by Miss Dorothy Daniels; class prophecy, by Miss Cecelia Irvine; farewell to R.H.S., by Miss Blanche Reynolds. Topical songs interspersed the programme. The laying of the class stone concluded the exercises. Miss Gertrude Woodman delivered the oration at the ceremony. Commencement will take place at the Loring Theater on Monday evening, June 17. In lieu of receiving the customary floral tributes of admiring friends the girl graduates will carry shower bouquets.

Invitations have been received here for the marriage in Westfield, Mass., on June 29, of Miss Ethel Lyman Smith of Riverside and Lieut. Ralph Edward Haines, U.S.A. The marriage will be solemnized at the First Congregational Church of Westfield, at 4 p.m. Miss Smith is a brilliant young newspaper woman who is a native daughter of Riverside. She is a graduate of Pomona College and Mt. Holyoke Seminary. The wedding is the outgrowth of a college romance at Claremont, where both bride and groom were students. Lieut. Haines is connected with the Coast Artillery Corps of the United States army, and claims San Diego as his home city. Mr. and Mrs. Haines will be at home after July 15, at Ft. Du Pont, Del.

The Tuesday Musical Club presented a programme of distinct excellence at the Woman's Clubhouse on Saturday evening. The affair was marked by a fine spirit of social bonhommie, and the programme was of such an informal quality as to add to this spirit.

Pupils of Miss Jennie Price Jones appeared in song recital at Miss Jones's studio on Tuesday evening. The young ladies contributing numbers to the programme were Misses Helen Prescott, Winona Difani, Evelyn Putnam, Velma Kirkpatrick, Edythe Faulk, Stella Loveland. Assisting Miss Jones were Mrs. J. W. Neblett, Miss Eugenia Jones, Miss Anne Kuntz and Miss Jean Caverley.

Dr. G. F. Holt was complimented guest at a reception by members of the First Baptist Church on Thursday evening. Dr. Holt has just returned from Des Moines, where he repre-

Women's White Buck Boots

$4.00 to $6.50

This is the greatest season ever known for white boots. The question of popularity is fully answered. The only remaining question to be answered is "where to buy them"—and this will no longer be a question after you have seen the remarkable display at the Baker stores. No other such complete assortment of snappy styles in white Buck, Nubuck and Duck can be found in Los Angeles. Dozens of fresh, new models from which to make selection. Every one a big value.

"Bear in Mind"—Baker's
Values Cannot Be Beat

Women's Russia Tan Boots

$3.00 to $5.00

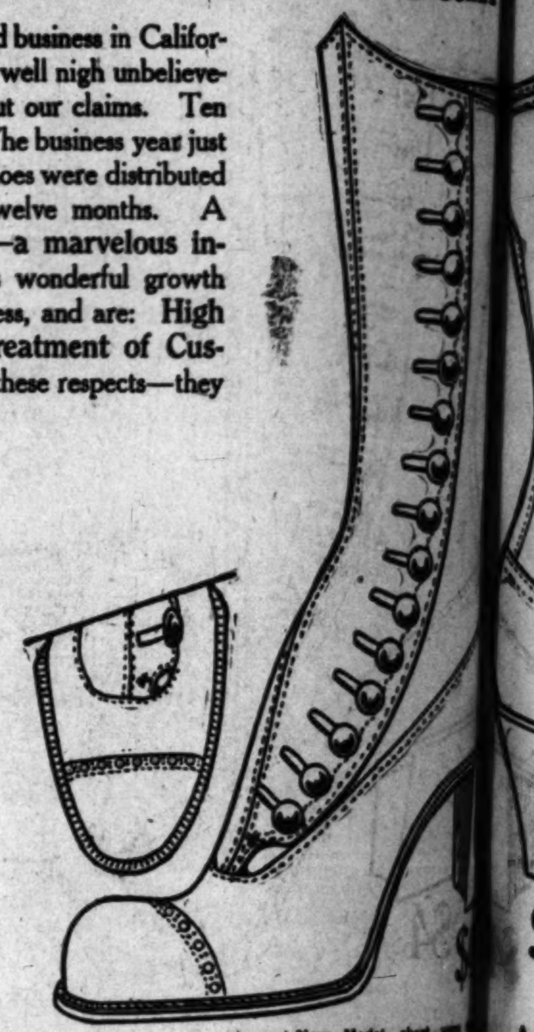
2000% Increase in Ten Years
An Almost Incredible Gain

Accustomed as we are to rapid development in cities and business in California, still, the astounding growth of the Baker business is well nigh unbelieveable. Facts, however, are undeniable and fully bear out our claims. Ten years ago our annual business was barely $50,000. The business year just closed reveals the fact that over $1,000,000 worth of shoes were distributed from the eight Baker stores on this coast in the past twelve months. A wonderful business in a single commodity at retail—a marvelous increase over ten short years ago. The reasons for this wonderful growth are embodied in the fundamental principles of our business, and are: High Standard of Quality, Big Values and Liberal Treatment of Customers. We never allow ourselves to be excelled in these respects—they are distinct characteristics of the Baker stores.



New Model short boot in Russia tan calf.

Black and White
Boots

Fashion's latest favorite in footwear is the "Black and White Boot"—patent vamp with top of white calf or nubuck. No more dressy combination can be imagined. This boot can be worn with most any costume and is particularly suited for street or semi-dress wear. The Baker policy of serving our customers with the new styles while they are new, insures finding a great variety of pleasing models in these popular boots at the Baker stores. Sensibly priced as usual.

Once a Baker Customer Always a Baker Customer

The fact that a Baker customer once gained becomes not only a regular customer, but also a booster for, the Baker stores, helps wonderfully in the building of our business. Our customers know that our advertised claims are more than fulfilled; that our styles are always in the lead; that our quality is better than an equal amount of money will buy in other shoe stores; that our values are bigger; that our asscrtments are greater; that our guarantee is absolute; that our treatment is the most liberal of any shoe firm in the United States. You, who are a newcomer to Los Angeles, or you who do not know by personal experience the Baker Stores, Baker Footwear and Baker Service are invited to call and become acquainted—to satisfy yourself that Baker's is the place to buy your footwear.

Boys' and Children's Shoes

You may not realize the fact, but it is nevertheless true, that the Baker stores sell more boys' and children's shoes than any other shoe concern on the Pacific Coast. Careful attention to the selection of proper shapes and leathers, to insure satisfactory fitting and wearing qualities, is the basis on which this department has been built. Baker's children's shoes are the best efforts of the foremost makers of children's shoes in America. They are sturdy and strong, without that clumsy appearance so often noticed in children's shoes. Buy children's shoes at Baker's and get the best.

Hanan Shoes For Men

$6.00 to $8.00

The style, fit and comfort of Hanan Shoes are their own best advertisement. But such advertising is limited to Hanan shoe wearers and their friends. There are shoe wearers beyond these, however, whose trade we want. The only way for them to know the merits of Hanan shoes is to wear a pair. In selling Hanan shoes we use no comparisons. We simply say they are the "Best Shoes on Earth." Try a pair.

High Priced Tears.

[Topeka State Journal:] Over in St. Joseph the other day the editor of the Wetmore Spectator heard a story that is too good to keep. An elegant new church had been completed and time for dedication had come. The official board desired that the building fund should all be provided before dedication, so they sent to Indiana for a minister with a national reputation for raising funds. The reverend gentleman came, and after putting in a couple of days calling on prominent members, he held a monster public meeting. He preached eloquently, wept copiously, and exhorted fervently, and raised a tremendous sum. The next day the official board, which had been deeply impressed with the minister's spirituality and earnestness, met and asked him how much they owed him for his services. Imagine their astonishment when he replied, "Three hundred dollars." The Spectator's old man will rub onions in his eyes and weep a couple of hours every day for a whole month at one hundred per.

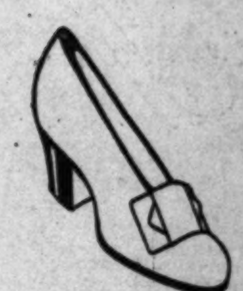
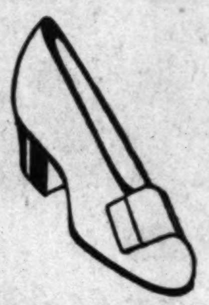
FOR DISCRIMINATING WOMEN

TO KNOW the Cousins Shoe—to be posted on the quality of materials and careful workmanship employed in its construction—is to be spared the risk and possible dissatisfaction that is unavoidable in the purchase of shoes not having an established reputation. But it is only after wearing a pair of Cousins Shoes that you will fully appreciate their superiority. The Cousins factory has lifted "shoemaking" out of the commonplace—elevated it from a trade to a fine art. There is a Cousins shoe for every occasion.

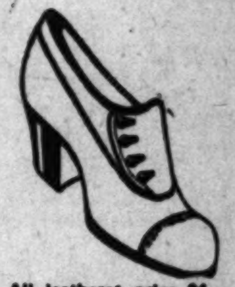
White Boots from $4.00 to $6.50
Tan Boots - - from $3.50 to $6.50
Oxfords - - - from $3.50 to $5.00
Pumps - - - - from $3.50 to $6.00



All leathers, satin and velvet; price $3.50.



Low heel pump, of patent colt and dull calf; price $4.



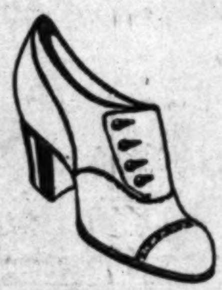
All leathers; price $4.

The styles shown this season are different—smarter, more distinguished in appearance—yet conforming, in the Cousins way, to fashion's most exacting demands. The Cousins Shoe is a factor in the effectiveness of women's apparel, throughout this country and Europe.

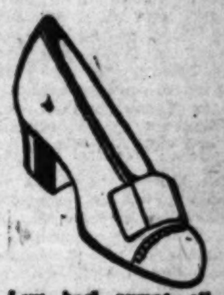
Pumps

Pumps are the accepted style feature in footwear this summer. They are dainty, they are cool—they combine comfort with smart appearance, and are most appropriate for wearing with hot weather gowns. For seaside wear particularly, low heel pumps are enjoying a tremendous vogue.

The perfection of detail, so noticeable in Cousins Pumps, can be attributed to the painstaking care that each individual workman brings to his particular task—from the selection of materials and the skillful handling of each part, to the turning out of the finished product. Cousins pumps are the standard of comparison.



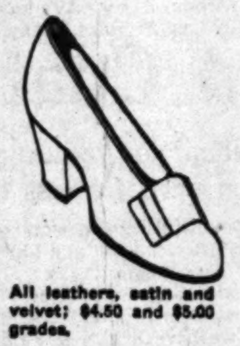
All leathers; $4.50 and $5.00 grades.



Low heel pump; all leathers; price $4.50.

Silk Hosiery

Gordon Silk Stockings, at 50c, $1.00 and $1.50 the pair, possess the sheerness that Fashion dictates, and the durability that good judgment demands.



All leathers, satin and velvet; $4.50 and $5.00 grades.

SENORA MANUEL CALERO.

ife of the Mexican Ambassador Recently Came to Washington and Is the Youngest tatelaine in the Diplomatic Corps.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNING.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—For the second time in less than a year, a bride is the mistress of the Mexican embassy, a record which none of the other foreign establishments can boast. Only one before the coming of Senor de la Barra had an Ambassador been wedded during his term of office and that was when M. Patrenotre, French Ambassador, married Miss Elverson of Philadelphia, and brought her to Washington. Senor de la Barra, who afterwards became President of Mexico ad interim, was wed during his term here, but was called to his country to take the portfolio of State during a crucial point of the Madero revolution. Senor Manuel Calero, who succeeded Senor Crespo, was married a few months before coming to Washington, and his charming bride will be a prominent social figure. The recent Ambassador, Senor Crespo, lived a bachelor existence. His family, consisting of a wife and eight children, preferred European life to that in Washington, and owing to their reluctance to break up their home in Vienna, Senor Crespo asked to be returned to his post at the Austrian-Hungarian capital.

With the coming of the young mistress of the Mexican embassy, many important changes are announced. The Ambassador was married previous to his union with the Senorita Jovita Charles, and there were eight motherless little ones needing her care. They range from 14 to 5 years and the embassy purchased some years ago by the government in I street, near, is entirely inadequate for the requirements of such a family. Senora Calero, although here but a short time, has devoted days to a diligent search for a suitable home in the hills west of the city. She decided to locate in the section of Connecticut avenue or Sixteenth street extended and the embassy will be used only for offices and for large evening or afternoon functions. The upper part of the building will be used for the clerical work and the lower floors, which are heavily and expensively furnished by the government, will be retained in their present condition. It seems the ideal arrangement for a diplomatist with a large family of young children and it will probably serve as a model for others. The ballroom, drawing-rooms and banquet hall are larger than can be obtained in the average house which can be rented, and when functions are purely official they will be given there. The Ambassador and his wife will give their private amenities in their home and it will be quite a comferable home for the children, something the embassy now crowded by business houses could not possibly be.

Senora Calero has with her for the season an old friend of the Ambassador and her own, Miss Bertha Noriega Leon, of New York City, although a native of Mexico. Miss Leon speaks English perfectly and has been an invaluable aid to the senora, who is just now essaying to master the language. Through Miss Leon, Senora Calero is getting acquainted with Washington and the country generally. They took a trip last week to New York, where they were entertained by a number of Mexican friends of the Ambassador and by the parents of Miss Leon. They also made a passing visit to Philadelphia and will soon take another trip northward, to find a suitable spot to locate the summer home. Miss Leon will remain with Senora Calero during this transition period, making occasional visits to her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Leon will also come here for a visit and aid in the establishment of the home.

Senora Calero, though in the early twenties, looks like a girl of 18 or so. She has remote ancestors who were of English origin, as her father's name, Charles, proclaims, and she has inherited all the characteristics of the Anglo-Saxon type. She is taller than the usual Latin woman, with fair skin and hazel eyes and with brown hair which waves back from her forehead. But she is intensely Latin in all her ideals and her devotion to children, so strongly marked in all the Latins, is remarkably apparent in her. Coming of a family which has many sons and daughters and she among the older ones, she has that beautiful mother instinct strongly accentuated. All her thought now is to find a home which will suit the children and be healthful and convenient to their needs and her own comfort and the demands of life in Washington are subordinated to this phase. The older son, called for his father, is at school in Mexico City, and so are the next two boys and a girl. The younger ones are at the Ambassador's home in the care of an elderly relative. The youngest child is a little girl of 5, named Luz, of whom the senora is very proud, and whom she misses very much. She writes daily and telegraphs very frequently to her home, and she is keenly anxious for the Ambassador to get affairs in such shape that he can take a few weeks' vacation in order to make a home for the children. Just now he is exceedingly engrossed and this seems a remote possibility. If he is delayed too long, the senora and her friend, Miss Leon, will undertake the trip together. For the absence of the little ones is proving very hard to their young step-mother.

"I was born in the ancient city of Saltillo," said Senora Calero, "until a few months ago. Since then my home has been in Mexico City. Saltillo is the principal city in the State of Coahuila and is the residence of the Governor and of a bishop. It is one of the border States midway between Chihuahua, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas and the northern portion of Texas and the beautiful city of San Antonio is our neighbor. Saltillo, however, lies inland but sufficiently near the border to have numerous residents and visitors from there. The city called Saltillo was afterward renamed for Cuidad Vicario for the heroine of the war of independence, but somehow the old name clung, though every honor is paid to the memory of the patriotic maiden who lived and died there. The Franciscan missionary, Andres de Leon, came to the city of Saltillo early in the seventeenth century and the municipal government has continued uninterruptedly ever since. It is a beautiful fertile country and some remarkable. I attended a convent in the city and am very devoted to my native land. My wedding occurred at my father's home in Saltillo early part of the past winter."

Senor Calero is the youngest Ambassador in that grave section of diplomatic representation in Washington. He is but little more than 40 and has since his early manhood been a member of the foreign service of his country. He studied in his home city of Vera Cruz and afterward in some of the most renowned seats of learning in Europe. He has been for some time in Mexico in the Foreign Office, though he has served in several capitals of South America and Europe. Senor and Senora Calero have already given several notable entertainments, namely, the reception to the entire diplomatic corps and the officials of the State Department and those divisions of the House and Senate dealing with foreign relations. This reception was held in the embassy and was a brilliant affair. Miss Leon assisted Senora de Lacueva, wife of the first Secretary, in dispensing dainties in the banquet hall, while the other members of the embassy staff were also present in the drawing-rooms. The Ambassador speaks English perfectly and acted as interpreter for his wife. The Ambassador has also given several dinings, one to the members of his staff and some close friends now serving in other legations and embassies and with whom he has been connected in past years.

The old problem of erecting a new embassy for Mexico appears to have been solved by the idea of having an official residence and a private one in a different section. Ever since the coming of Senor Creel, it has been agitated that the portion of the city where the Mexican government erected its official home some twenty years ago is no longer suitable for the purpose. The mansion is splendidly built, has a sedate retired appearance, even with small retail business houses encroaching on its privacy, and is quite convenient for an office. But surrounded by hotels and cut off in the back from sun and air, it is no longer comfortable as a dwelling. The Mexican government having recently passed through political vicissitudes has not been giving the matter any attention and will probably let the matter go unsettled for a long time yet. Senor Calero has a handsome private fortune and he is patriotic to a degree. He is willing to shoulder the extra expense rather than have his little ones in the heart of the city and in such circumscribed quarters. At present the Ambassador and his wife nave a bright, sunny apartment in the Highlands and their rooms overlook the city with a view extending far down the river. It is stated that the remarkably rapid growth of the capital city will have a deterring influence for a time on the purchasing of homes except in a section which precludes the commercial invasions. It is said that the first problem which will confront the successor of James Bryce will be to remove the British embassy from the business section in Connecticut avenue.

Senor and Senora Calero are, like many of their country people, devoted lovers of music. They both sing and play and are partial to the stringed instruments associated with the langorous south. The senora is a clever needlewoman and makes much of that exquisite fine lace and embroidery which is a survival of the Spanish influence. She is also fond of art and paints, and sketches well. On their return from Mexico City, whither they hope to go in the next month, they will bring their household furnishings, and their home will be among the most important here. From the Latin standpoint, it will be the most important, as the only other Ambassador sent from a Latin republic, the Brazilian Senor De Gama, is a bachelor, and entertains only occasionally.

HAPPIEST PEOPLE ON EARTH.

The Ekoi Living Near the Equator Pay No Taxes and Work Little for Nature Produces About Everything.

[National Geographical Magazine:] The Ekoi of extreme Southern Nigeria on the equator should be, and probably are, among the happiest people on earth, for tney have no taxes to pay, no wearisome restrictions to undergo, and so fruitful is the land that a few weeks labor is enough to supply them with food, home and clothes for a whole year.

The Ekoi are devoted parents, but it will take years of patient teaching before they grasp the importance of fresh air and the simplest sanitary measures for the health of their little ones.

They have curious beliefs as to the advent and death of their babes. One charming superstition forbids all quarrelling in a house where there are little children. The latter, so they say, love sweet words, kind looks and gentle voices, and if these are not to be found in the family into which they have reincarnated they will close their eyes and forsake the earth till a chance offers to return again amid less quarrelsome surroundings.

At the new year and on all great festivals the chief "societies" of men, women and children come up to the station to give a series of dances. To the Ekoi dancing is one of the main occupations of life. With them the dance provides an outlet both for the dramatic instinct and for religious fervor.

Everywhere in the bush grow giant trees, often over 200 feet in height and from eighty to 100 feet in girth. Perhaps the most noticeable of these are the cotton trees, the smooth bark and straight shaft of which give them the appearance of giant columns, on which the blue sky rests like a dome. These forest giants are objects of veneration among Efiu and Ekoi alike, and well it is to propitiate the genii of the trees, lest the latter open and imprison the unwary wayfarer, like Ariel on the Island of Prospero.

In the whole country there are no open spaces, save those which have been cleared as sites for villages or farms. The Ekoi spend their whole lives in the twilight of the beautiful mysterious bush, peopled to their fancy not by wild animals alone, of which they have no fear, but by were-leopards and all kinds of terrible half-human shapes, and by the genii of trees, rocks and rivers. Here more truly even than in old Greece the terror of Pan is everywhere.

One hears from certain sources of the hardships entailed on the natives in the making of thes plendid roads by means of which the British administration is opening up their tropical and luxuriant "bush" district. No one, however, is quicker than the natives themselves to see the advantages to be gained from such improved means of communication, whether as regard personal safety or trading facilities. On several occasions towns have offered, of their own free will, to do more than had been asked of them.

An Eventful Year.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] Nineteen hundred and twelve will be recorded as an important year in American history. Already, it has seen such a loosening of party ties, such a breaking away from partisan labels that the old alignment has become almost meaningless. And now the aspirants for the Presidential nomination in either party stand for such utterly different political ideals, economic doctrines and governmental policies that it will require a great straining of logic for the defeated candidates to give even passive approval to the campaign of their successful rivals.

THE ART OF SAVING.

Thoughtlessness Causes More Poverty Than Do Regular Expenses for Living With Occasional Luxuries.

[New York Commercial:] French thrift is proverbial and the wide distribution of wealth among the people is one of the marvels of the age. The small French investor confines himself pretty closely to home securities and the custom of issuing all sorts of bonds in small denominations helps him greatly. But this is a mere detail. It is the way he saves that is the marvel.

Money does not burn in the pocket of the average man or woman in France. The people have learned not to waste. This applies to food and clothing as well as to money itself. It is not hard to save something out of even a small weekly or monthly wage by applying French principles.

When a young man in receipt of a fixed sum each week finds himself in possession of a small surplus just before pay day, he should put it away and count himself so much ahead. Every week he should keep his expenses strictly within that week's income. If he refrains from spending a small sum for something he does not need, he will soon get ahead. It is the spending of money, even a few cents, just because it is in his pocket that keeps him poor. He may have planned a Sunday excursion and laid by the money for it. If the weather keeps him home, he should refrain from spending that money on Monday just because he has it. If he gets the habit of saving such "found" money, he will soon have something.

It is not the clothes they buy, the rent they pay or the food they eat that keep most Americans poor. It is thoughtlessness, the drinks they buy when not thirsty, the cigars which they can do without, that leave them without bank accounts.

American women go shopping as a diversion. They buy things they do not need because they are "bargains." No matter how cheap a thing may be the money paid for it is thrown away if it is not useful. That is where the French woman saves, and why the bargain sale is not a feature of French shopkeeping outside of Paris where it is sometimes introduced for the purpose of abstracting dollars from American purses. Bargains are all right if the goods are needed at the time, but ready money is a better asset than a lot of junk. Were that not so, there would be no real bargain sales. The merchants know.

Mother's Diagnosis.

[Pittsburgh Post:] Speaking of mothers, a Squirrel Hill matron is an object of considerable solicitude just now on the part of a couple of young Pittsburghers, although she doesn't know it. The young man called last night, and this was the first question he asked:

"Have you spoken of our love to your mother as yet?"

The girl shook her head.

"Not as yet," she whispered.

"Has she noticed nothing?"

"She has noticed that I've been acting queerly of late, but she thinks

A Darling.

"MOST MAGNETIC WOMAN ON THE LYRICAL STAGE."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Sari von Petrass.

Said to be the "most magnetic woman on the stage today." She has been engaged by George Edwardes, who hopes to reconcile the gay Johnnies of London to the loss of Lily Elsie.

LONDON, June 1.—London is waiting with bated breath to see "the most magnetic women on the stage," in the person of Mlle. Sari von Petrass, who is to make her debut here in the new musical piece by Franz Lehar, author of "The Merry Widow," now in rehearsal at Daly's, and called provisionally "Gipsy Love."

George Edwardes, who is putting on "Gipsy Love," is responsible for this description of Mlle. Von Petrass—who, until recently, was leading prima donna of the King's Theater, Budapest—and the famous London purveyor of musical comedy is a judge of feminine "magnetism" if ever there was one. Edwardes went to Budapest a short time ago to see the first performance of "The Marriage Market," a Hungarian musical piece, with the scene laid in California, in which Mlle. Von Petrass appeared, and was so impressed with the actress's comeliness and capabilities that he lost no time in persuading her to come to London, where she is to make a lengthy stay at, report says, a top-notch salary.

"She has a wonderful personality and a charming voice," declared Edwardes on his return, "and is the most magnetic woman I have ever seen on the lyrical stage."

As a fact, the famous manager of the Gaiety is badly off for musical-comedy stars of the feminine gender just at present, marriages with members of the peerage having considerably thinned the ranks of beauty which he commands. Lily Elsie, who married the aristocratic and plutocratic Ian Bullough, is lost to the stage; likewise Zena Dare, who espoused the Hon. Maurice Brett, second son of Lord Esher, and Gabrielle Ray and Barbara Deane, who wedded the brothers Loder.

However, Mlle. Von Petrass, who is said to speak English well and with an enchanting accent, should make up for the loss of several, for she is quite evidently "the goods." Of late years she has created such parts as "The Merry Widow," Angele in "The Count of Luxemburg," and Alice in "The Dollar Princess," besides many stellar roles in Hungarian operettas. She is a hot favorite in Budapest, and made big hits in Berlin, first in Leo Fall's most tuneful work, "Die Schoene Risette," and later in "Die Keuche Susanne" ("Modest Susan") when she played a quite different sort of part. It was Edwardes's original intention that Mlle. Von Petrass should make her first appearance here in "The Marriage Market," the piece in which he originally saw her, and which Gladys Unger of the United States is "adapting" for him, but, owing to certain complications, "Gipsy Love" is to be seen first.

Like Milk.

CHINESE DON'T TAKE TO BEER.

FAILURE OF A BREWERY NEAR HONGKONG.

Foreigners in China Generally Prefer the Imported Article. Cheap Japanese Beers Have Cut Into the Sales of Other Countries. Little American Product in Orient.

[New York Times:] Citizens of the Republic of China are not taking kindly to beer. United States Consul-General George E. Anderson, stationed at Hongkong, writes that one corporation organized in that city with foreign capital, largely from Honolulu, recently has proved unsuccessful, and that the outlook for better fortune for similar concerns is by no means inviting.

The Honolulu capitalists, Mr. Anderson says, erected a brewery of the most modern type near Hongkong three years ago and lost money from the first day of business. The concern, which had a capital of $500,000, has now gone into voluntary liquidation, and is attempting to sell its plant. Mr. Anderson points out that while this plant and its product were of the best of their kind, the plant having a capacity of 100,000 barrels of beer annually, the real obstacle in the way of the firm's success was the failure to attract the patronage of the Chinese.

"For a time," continues Consul-General Anderson in a report to the Bureau of Manufactures at Washington, "there was some reason to expect the successful introduction of beer among the Chinese of Hongkong. Sales of the company's output increased considerably, and growing popularity gave some practical ground for anticipating a change in Chinese tastes. The concern also operated an ice factory in connection with its brewery, and income from this source lent some support to the business. The fact finally became plain, however, that for the time being the Chinese do not take to beer.

"There is a considerable consumption of foreign beers among foreigners in Hongkong and in the Chinese ports, derive their supplies through Hongkong. The figures of the import and export offices of the Hongkong government, which are complete in that they represent taxation on imports of such goods, show that at the beginning of 1911, there were in stock, 95,535 gallons of ale, beer and stout. During the year importations amounted to 748,900 gallons. Of this total stock of 844,435 gallons, 322,711 gallons were exported to various Chinese ports near at hand, 325,548 gallons were consumed and 196,176 gallons were left on hand. During 1910 the stock on hand (78,894 gallons) and arrivals (605,212 gallons) totaled 648,106 gallons, of which 271,142 gallons were re-exported and 317,429 gallons were consumed.

"These two are the only years in which Hongkong's tax on alcoholic products has been applied and for which reliable figures are to be had. They seem to indicate that, in spite of the failure of the local brewery to establish itself here with a high-grade product brewed to suit the climate, there is an increase in both re-exports and consumption. This is probably accounted for by the fact that the imports of the high-grade beers, ales and similar drinks in this part of the world are largely of special English, German and Austrian brands for which foreigners here have a special liking, in which sentiment plays an important part. Many of these drinks are used by prescription to avoid the depressing effects of a difficult climate. The cheaper-grade goods come largely from Japan and as a rule do not attempt to reach the better trade.

"Several years ago, particularly soon after the Spanish-American War, American beer had a rather strong hold on this market, and several of the larger American brewing interests gave considerable attention to the trade, especially in the ports of the North and through Hongkong. Cheap Japanese beers have been cutting into the sales of other countries, however, and the trade also has been very irregular—averaging something like $400,000 gold, annually for all China at the present time, but once (in 1905) running as high as 1,200,000 taels, or more than twice its present average volume and value. All China in 1910 bought beers to the value of $393,780, of which about one-half came from Japan direct and one-fourth from Germany direct; American beers had no part whatever in the trade. The experience of the Hongkong brewing enterprise seems to indicate that the immediate future of the trade is uncertain.

While beer has thus failed to find or fill any very large Chinese want, many other foreign goods, and American goods particularly, are eagerly bought. United States Consul Julean H. Arnold, at Amoy, reports that there has suddenly arisen all over China a demand for foreign clothing, shoes, hats and underwear. Writing particularly of the American trade, Mr. Arnold says:

"During 1911 Amoy imported 159,000 barrels of American flour, or three times as much as during 1910. Famines, floods and the revolution reduced the wheat production in Central China to such an extent as to practically close the Shanghai flour mills. The price of rice during the past year has been the highest in years, which favored the consumption of flour. Favorable silver exchange and cheaper flour in America during 1911, as compared with prices the few years preceding, all helped the American imports to China. Indications point to a continuance during 1912 of the conditions favoring American flour imports into China. The China trade takes the low-grade flours, only. Strength is preferred to whiteness.

"The Hongkong native flour importers sell flour to the Amoy merchants on a long-time credit basis. One-fourth is paid down when the flour is shipped, one-fourth three months after, and the balance is collected at the end of the year, the great settling time for the Chinese people.

"American manufacturers of condensed milk are not pushing their goods in China with the vigor which the opportunities in this market warrant they should. British dealers are carrying on an extensive advertising and sales campaign, using literature and advertising matter printed in Chinese. One company furnishes its representative with a motor launch to be used in travel in the interior in his advertising campaign. Last year the imports of condensed milk in this district doubled over those of 1910. In Formosa, across the channel, $100,000 worth of condensed milk was imported in 1911. The Chinese people do not raise milch cows, but are gradually learning the use of milk, and appear to take readily to the use of condensed milk.

FOR THE NECK AND SHOULDERS

A Free Prescription That Instantly Removes Blemishes, Tan, Freckles And the Wrinkles And Marks Left By High Collars.

The Dutch neck and the evening gown too often expose the discolorations and blemishes of high collars or the effects of tan and freckles. It is easy to overcome these conditions and make the neck beautiful and white and soft and smooth—to remove, in other words, every blemish and to make the Dutch collar as attractive as it is comfortable. This prescription can also be used on the shoulders, and it is marvelously effective to beautify the hands and arms.

If you want to try it go to your druggist, get an empty two-ounce bottle, also a one-ounce bottle of Kulux Compound. Pour the entire bottle of Kulux into the two-ounce bottle, add quarter an ounce of witch hazel, then fill with water. Prepare this at your own home and then you know what you have. One application will astonish you. It is deliciously cool and soothing and is not affected by perspiration. It will not rub off.

If you put it on one hand only, or on one side of the neck, and note the difference you will see the wonderful change it makes instantly. The results are permanent, and continued use of this prescription will result in a skin as soft and smooth as a child's, a skin from which redness and roughness and freckles have been entirely removed.

Mushroom Corns, Quick Cure And All Kinds of Sore Feet.

The following is absolutely the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments, the painful mushroom corn included. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel so good you could sing for joy. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. It is not a patent medicine but is an ethical preparation.

ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

Venice.

White swan of cities, slumbering in thy nest
So wonderfully built among the reeds
Of the lagoon, that fences thee and feeds,
As sayeth thy old historian and thy guest!
White water lily, cradled and caressed
By ocean streams, and from the silt and weeds
Lifting thy golden filaments and seeds,
Thy sun-illumined spires, thy crown and crest!
White phantom city, whose untrodden streets
Are rivers, and whose pavements are the shifting
Shadows of palaces and strips of sky;
I wait to see thee vanish like the fleets
Seen in mirage, or towers of cloud uplifting
In air their unsubstantial masonry.
—[H. W. Longfellow.

Holland Sketches.

Lillian Prest Ferguson of Hollywood, who spent all last summer sketching in Holland, is about to hold an exhibition of this work at the [illegible] gallery, No. 642 South Spring street. The exhibition opens tomorrow. About a dozen oils and the same number of pastels will be shown.

[illegible] impression of Mrs. Ferguson's work is that she is an artist of much sensibility and feeling, and that she paints through a genuine love of nature and art. She is simple, sincere and direct, honestly striving to record in paint something of the beauty that enthralls her. The absence of affectation in her work is a great charm. However, it must be said, and with regret, that she has not yet mastered the materials of artistic expression. Her greatest weakness is in construction. This uncertainty leaves its impress on her brush work, which would be much more free and vigorous if the painter was surer of herself. But time and study will remedy this fault, for the artist is very much in earnest. Already her later work shows a decided advance over that of a year or two ago.

The best things in the present exhibition are the three or four oil canvases representing Dutch interiors with figures, and the pastel study of an old Dutchman's head. Mrs. Ferguson shows a keen understanding and sympathy for this species of genre, and her work, despite the fault I have just pointed out, has much of the same charm of tenderness and feeling that clings to the work of the best among the modern Dutch masters. She declares that these subjects are the natural thing to paint in Holland—that they are as insistent as the gray skies and the windmills. She herself, at any rate, seems not to have been able to get away from them. I am glad that she yielded to this temperamental appeal, for the canvases indicate the line of work which should occupy much of her time in future—that of figure studies and genre of humble life. "Old Woman Knitting," for example, besides pleasing sentiments, more pleasingly harmonious in color than many of Mrs. Ferguson's other subjects. The crone, dressed in blue, is seated at a rough deal table, her profile seen against the light—a difficult subject successfully handled. "Mother and Child," a woman bending over a cradle in which an infant lies asleep, is also tender in feeling. The dim atmosphere of the darkened room is well rendered. This picture, indeed, has many good qualities, and is perhaps the best canvas in the gallery. "Man Paring Potatoes," painted with the palette knife, is vigorous and rich with bright notes of color that are very agreeable. The man is seated on the floor before a shining kitchen stove. His blouse is red, and dinner plates ranged against the wall are blue Delft.

Other oils are "Girl With Violin," notable for a pleasing play of color; "Girl With Mirror," a maid whose hair and flowered robe are well painted, and a strong Dutch sketch of a woman in blue. One of the best is a landscape with sheep, the flock [illegible] under a sad gray sky, while [illegible] there is seen a windmill whose sails are reflected in a quiet canal. Good, too, are "Drawbridge at [illegible]" and "Street Scene in Volendam," both showing green houses with orange roofs.

"[illegible]" is the pastel study mentioned before. The man wears a tall furry hat, and a red vew waistcoat. His hard old cheeks are as red as winter apples. The eyes shrewd, sharp, kind. The picture is technically interesting, the character of the Dutchman is faithfully rendered. Another interesting [illegible] is "A Pose in the Garden," a girl with an armful of flowers against a white pillar. While the figure is not strong in drawing, the outdoor feeling in the picture has a decided charm. The light is well managed.

A series of smaller pastels of Holland street scenes, figures, etc., [illegible] mere notes on line and color, [illegible] a line of wall space by themselves. They are vigorous little [illegible].

The exhibition closes at the end of the month.

Salon of the South.

A new departure in art in Los Angeles will be the exhibition held permanently in the reconstructed Daniell [illegible], hitherto known as the [illegible] galleries.

The scheme is the idea of William Daniell. His aim is to upbuild in Los Angeles a "Salon of the South"—that is, an exhibition place whose standard of admission will be higher than that of the famous Salon of Paris. Also, it is his intention to do away with the commercial idea as far as possible. In order to further this plans a permanent jury of eight well-known painters will meet every month to decide on the merits of the pictures sent in for exhibition. The jury will be William Wendt, Jean Mannheim, [illegible] Puthuff, Benjamin Chambers, [illegible] Brown, Joseph Greenbaum, [illegible] Dunlap, Warren E. Rollins and C. Harry Allis.

The first exhibition opens tomorrow in the new Daniell galleries, in Blanchard Hall. Twenty-five pictures will be shown, some of which will be replaced by others at the end of the month. New pictures will be constantly added, but none will be hung without a favorable verdict from the jury.

Evidently art is making rapid strides in Southern California when such [illegible] ideas are in the air. The hearty co-operation of the artists themselves is an interesting feature of the plan. Now, if the [illegible] public, especially picture buyers, will fall in line, art may soon become in Los Angeles to compete with the loud noise in real estate. "'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished." [illegible] to the "Salon of the South."

How Pictures Are Painted.

"The ways of a man with a maid" are no more diverse than the ways of [illegible] with his brushes and color tubes. No two practice the same methods. H. Keyworth-Raine paints the most charming portraits in the semi-darkness of his cellar; A. D. McCormick is at his happiest when sketching 20,000 feet up in the Himalayas, "where the air is so rarefied that it makes me gasp and pant to cross one leg over the other."

The Chevalier de Martino, His Majesty's marine painter, spends hundreds of hours swaying over the tumbling sea in a basket suspended from a ship's bowsprit; P. Caledon-Cameron has done some of his best work dangling from a rope's end from a Niagara cliff, and Carl Haag painted, without the quiver of an eyelid, in the Temple area at Jerusalem, surrounded by fanatics thirsting for his blood.

Solomon J. Solomon completed his famous academy portrait of Mr. Zangwill in five hours of lightning labor; the late Sir W. Q. Orchardson's first academy canvas was begun and finished in two days and three nights, during which he never left his easel for a meal. On the other hand, it took Holman Hunt seven years to paint "The Triumph of the Innocents," and three years to put the finishing touches to "The Shadow of Death."

Miss Lucy Kemp-Welch, the "English Rosa Bonheur, makes as light of chasing a New Forest pony "as long as four hours, just to get one attitude," as of standing knee-deep in the sea, her easel pitched on a ledge of rock, in order to reproduce the reflections in the moving mirror at its base. And David Murray, R.A., spends six months out of every twelve in the country with palette and canvas, making his home in a movable wooden hut, and, as he says, "once cooking my own food and baking my own bread in the Outer Hebrides for six months at a time."

Mr. Wylie, R.A., has done most of his beautiful work in his floating studio on his yacht, the Four Brothers. The studio is in the rear of the tiny saloon, and here, perched on an iron ladder, with a plate-glass lookout around him, he transferred to his canvases the fleeting moods of sea and sky. His brother artist, Charles Dixon, R.I., paints his breezy pictures of lower Thames traffic from the vantage ground of a barge, "sharing the skipper's table d'hote, which usually consists of a herring or a piece of tough steak, in winter," he says. "I paint as long as I can stand the cold, and then tie up and get warm. One winter the temperature was so low that the paint on the canvas froze, instead of drying."—[Tit-Bits.

George P. Mulford,

Flute virtuoso and assistant conductor of Porter's Catalina Band, which, under the baton of William F. Arend, will again be the chief artistic feature of the teeming summer life of the Magic Isle.

The Busy Painters.

Helma Heynsen Jahn has just finished a notable portrait of Jotham Bixby of Long Beach. As is usually the case with the work of this artist, it is remarkably strong in characterization. Mrs. Jahn is planning to spend a year of study in Europe, and will leave as soon as her commodious studio on Hill street has been rented.

Marion Kavanaugh Wachtel will soon leave for the Yosemite. Elmer Wachtel is sketching in the country behind Ventura.

William Wendt will spend the summer in his own studio on Sichel street, going over the many canvases he will send to the fall and winter exhibitions in the East which will be held by the various art organizations of which he is a member.

Edgar Keller is living at Santa Monica for the summer, and is now sketching in the Santa Monica Canyon.

Carl Oscar Borg, who showed four pictures at the International Exhibition in Rome, is now in Paris. Some of his recent canvases will soon be exhibited in Los Angeles.

C. Harry Allis is in Monrovia, and has a studio next to that of Frederic Vincent DuMond. Allis is sketching in the wash of the Santa Anita River, DuMond is executing a few important commissions for the Santa Fe Railway.

Massachusetts' Sunday Law.

[New York Times:] An old "blue law" has been invoked in the State of Massachusetts to prevent the repairing of automobiles and the sale of motor supplies on Sunday. Unless the permissive bill introduced by Representative Charles Haigis of Montague is passed by the present Legislature, a car operated on Sunday may run out of gasoline or oil, or have a breakdown, and unless the occupants can repair it, they will have to leave the car by the roadside and trudge.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

opportunity of being heard with an orchestra and will be the means of building up a real appreciation of music in our city. Los Angeles can be made a musical center of the world if we can get our business men to appreciate the fact that music is a business and that it must be followed along business lines. A great chorus can be built up in our city if we will have rigid requirements for membership in that chorus and merit only should be the qualification. Musical standards can be established, a Los Angeles opera company can grow out of this work, for we have just as good singers in Los Angeles as in any other city in America and if we would stimulate the same pride in our singers as we do in our actors, preachers, doctors or any other profession, the same results could be attained. But the most essential thing is to arouse in our people an appreciation of good music, and that can only be done by giving them the opportunity to hear it at a price that they can afford to pay. It is just as important that music be paid for as that it be given.

U.S.C.

Miss Gladys Osborn of the senior class of the College of Music, U.S.C., will give her graduating recital Monday evening in Symphony Hall. She will be assisted by Earl Bright, 'cellist, of the faculty, and Miss Earline Lancaster, contralto. The public is invited.

Adolf Tandler.

Mr. Tandler, whose Alexandria concerts have been noted for their artistic worth, was born in Vienna, and began to earn his living by music at the age of 9 years, as soprano in several of the cathedrals.

His voice failed through overwork, and he entered the Royal Academy, where for eight years he was a special pupil of Anton Bruckner, in composition. He studied violin with Arnold Rose, and piano with Ferdinand Lowe.

After graduation he served as the youngest public conductor in Vienna, organizing and founding with Carl Hix the new Philharmonic orchestra of seventy-four men.

Moore's Band.

Moore's Band, at Eastlake Park today, will present a programme including Martorelli's "La France" waltz, Tobani's "Nautical Fantasia," the "Semiramide" overture, Kandt's "A Dream of Cleopatra," a Humoresque by Alotter, a selection from "Lohengrin," and a characteristic piece by Eilenberg.

ARTISTIC FOURTH.

Land Show Chorus to Sing at South Pasadena—Evening of Plays by Egan School.

South Pasadena is to celebrate the nation's natal day in a vigorous manner reminiscent of the days when July 4 was something more than an occasion for debates at Vernon and contests of nines at Chutes Park.

The Land Show chorus, a body of singers which scored heavily under the baton of Conductor Thomas Taylor Drill, is to be heard again, and to prepare patriotic and other appropriate numbers, a rehearsal has been called for Monday evening, June 17, at 8 o'clock, in the rehearsal hall of the Egan school, top floor of the Hamburger Majestic Theater building.

Children from the Egan school will also participate in these arroyo festivities, giving, in the beautiful surroundings of pebbled river-bed and spreading live-oak trees, a "Greensleeve" dance in antique style.

On the evening of July 3, at Gamut auditorium on South Hope street, three plays will be given by the Egan school.

They are "A Chinese Tragedy," "The Butterfly," and one act of Clyde Fitch's, "The Climbers."

In "The Climbers" Blanche Sterling will be played by Miss Sophia Caldwell; Sterling, by Patsy Calhoun, and Ned Warden by Eugene Pallette, while the rest of the cast will include Charles Wood, Edward Neff, Miss Inez Mace, Miss Violet Neitz, Miss Grace Hasemeier, Miss Corinne Leser, Miss Marguerite Foss, Max Alexander and Max Pollock.

Miss Laurette Taylor is now reading "The Piper," with a view to playing the star role in a special performance, supported by the Egan children

To Keep Skin White, Velvety, Wrinkle-Free

(Aunt Sally, in Woman's Realm.)

C. M. W. says: "My arms are so coarse and rough I cannot wear short sleeves. What do you advise?" The treatment recommended to "Anise" will doubtless overcome this condition.

A. F. G. asks: "What should I do for crow's feet and for a baggy neck?" Try a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½-pt. witch hazel. This is immediately effective in any wrinkled or flabby condition. Use daily for awhile and results will surprise you.

Anise: A simple way to keep your skin smooth, soft and white is to apply ordinary mercolized wax before retiring, washing it off in the morning. This keeps the face free from the particles of lifeless cuticle which constantly appear. The wax absorbs these wornout particles, so the younger, fresher, healthier skin is always in view. An ounce of mercolized wax may be had at small cost at any drug store. Use like cold cream.

"M. L. G." IS FOUND.

According to the Publishers, He Will Marry Author of Anonymous Novel on October 8.

Old-fashioned romance still lives, with the author of a modern realistic theatrical novel for heroine. "M. L. G."—the person for whom the sensational anonymous novel called "To M. L. G." was intended—has read the book, and is to marry the author.

The story, which aroused great curiosity, told how a woman, brought up in New York theatrical life, met a British army officer and loved him, but would not marry him until he knew all about her life. This she described in a book, rather than a letter, so that if he read it and then did not want her he need never reply.

The book was published in February, this year. Three months afterward the author went traveling in Spain. "M. L. G." meanwhile was in another country. He happened to read reviews of the book. Realizing that the book was for him he cabled for a copy, read it, and then hastened to England, where he had last seen the author, whom he had deeply loved, but who had refused him without giving him a reason. The book explained all that he had been unable to understand.

For some time he could get no trace of her. But at last he learned where she was and rushed to Spain. As in old romance, "Jouneys end in lovers' meeting," and they are to be married on October 8.

But who "M. L. G." and the author are is as much a mystery as ever. The preceding facts have just come to the American publishers of the book through the author's solicitor, with whom the publishers have, from the first, had all communication. But of the author's identity they have not been informed. All they know is that the author must be an American actress, as she represented herself in "To M. L. G.," and that probably she is none of the persons to whom rumor has assigned the authorship of the book.

In England, where the book's vogue has nearly equaled that in America, Mrs. Fiske, Marie Doro and Margaret Mayo have been suggested as the author. A prominent American playwright insisted that Maxine Elliott must have written the book, and declared that, though she is best known as an actress, she is fully equal to the realism of "To M. L. G." A Chicago critic attributed it to Elizabeth Robins. The Sunday editor of a New York newspaper rather hotly informed a representative of the publishers that he knew, absolutely knew, that Arnold Bennett had written it, even before coming to America—which argued some imagination on Bennett's part, as the New York descriptions of the book are both intensive and extensive.

The news shows that most of the guesses at authorship have been absurd, and is a slap at the cynics—the literary editors and theatrical men who have asserted that the story was all a fake, that they knew it, and that if anyone thought they, the sophisticated, could be taken in by literary green goods, they wished to protest!

This is What Makes My Hair Pretty

Newbro's Herpicide

To have beautiful, luxuriant hair always use NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE the Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer.

Dandruff causes the hair to become harsh, brittle and uneven. It not only checks the natural growth but finally saps the life of the hair and it falls out.

HERPICIDE kills the dandruff germ and clears the scalp of the scale like accumulations. By eradicating the dandruff and destroying the germ, HERPICIDE prevents the hair from falling out and gives it a lustre and glory all its own. There is no mistaking the hair which is treated to an application of Newbro's Herpicide two or three times a week. It has a sheen, shimmer and luxuriance beautiful to the eye and indicating health and cleanliness in both hair and scalp.

Herpicide is a delightful hair dressing and has a dainty and exquisite odor. You will like Herpicide. It stops itching almost instantly.

TWO SIZES, FIFTY CENTS AND ONE DOLLAR.

Sold everywhere and satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Applications may be obtained at all first-class barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

There are many imitations of Herpicide and a score of preparations claimed to be "just as good." Demand the genuine article and get it. Herpicide produces results that satisfy.

Send 10 cents in silver or postage to the HERPICIDE CO., Dept. 83B, Detroit, Mich., for a trial bottle and a pamphlet, telling all about the hair and its care, which are sent to any address postage paid.

IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Flag Day Observed.

Flag Day was observed in all the schools with patriotic exercises.

At Howard school, the children made flags representing all stages of the country's development and history, from that which Columbus planted on American soil, to the flag of the newest annexed territory, including the Hawaiian emblem, and that of Cuba.

Each child brought forward his flag, made his little speech concerning it, and planted it in its apportioned space for the decoration of the room.

Patriotic songs were also sung, and the following programme was given: Recitations, Edith Root, Thelma Swan, Lenora S. Francislaw, Charles Hay, Paul Swan, Audrey Sager, Faye Swan, Emil Lind, Margaret Schaf, Gilbert Wilshire; "How We Got Our Flag."—"The Flag of Spain," N. Scott; "The Mayflower Flags," K. Kramer, Hazel Brown, Florence Gray; "The British Colonies," Wilbur Boser, Charles Armstrong, Marion Perham; "The Liberty Flags," Willard Weddle, Raymond Whiting; "The Guesthousen," Walter Scott, Addison Moser, Paul Harzog; "The Grand Union Flag," Nade Metcalf; "Betsy Ross," Bessie Tesdial; "Betsy Ross Flag," Garnet Metcalf, Paul Snelling; "Goddess of Liberty," Angus Rapp; "Federation of States," thirteen boys and girls.

At Union-avenue school, an exhibit of school work of all grades was held, and the following programme, interspersed with patriotic songs, in honor of the day, was given: The kindergarten sang, "How Do You Do My Partner," and "How Many Miles to Babylon?" very fetchingly, in costume; the first and second grade gave some very pretty rhythm work; and the third grade beautifully enacted some folk dances; the fifth grade gave "Santa Lucia" most surprisingly well for such little folks; and the fourth grade sang, "The Star Spangled Banner," with lusty patriotism.

Mrs. Emmeline Oiler, pupil of Mrs. Agnes McPherson Fraser, gave two delightful readings, and Esther W. Mead and Mrs. Helen M. Little contributed an instrumental duet, which was enthusiastically received.

Assistant Superintendent Bettinger gave a characteristically earnest, pithy and witty address, and the school closed the exercises of the day by saluting the flag and singing "America."

A feature of the exhibit was a sand-table model of the Siege of Troy, designed by Miss Bessie L. French and executed by pupils of the elementary grades.

At Grand-avenue school, J. Schaeffer, a veteran of the Civil War, gave an excellent talk to the seventh and eighth grades on the "American Flag.—Its Origin and Significance," patriotic songs were sung, and the lessons assigned were given with special view to the meaning of the day.

At Fifty-fourth-avenue school, Mr Guinn, member of the Board of Education, and president of the Historical Society, gave a most illuminating and interesting talk on the history of the different flags which have floated over California—the Spanish, Mexican and United States—weaving in reminiscences, personal and historical, connected with California history.

Mrs. Mary Bowman, who has charge of the Coronel exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce, gave a history of the Coronel exhibit, and Mrs. Emma Francis Dawson sang her well known flag song "Old Glory."

The pupils saluted the flag and sang patriotic songs with enthusiasm.

School Exhibits.

Many school exhibits have been held during the week, among them at Sixty-eighth-street school, where the art work under Miss Rose was one of the most excellent features; at Solano-avenue school; and at Manchester-avenue and Norwood-street schools. All showed the every-day work of the schools, and at Norwood-street a small boy towed the writer about, exclaiming: "Now, isn't that wonderful for a child of that age?" as he pointed at the various wonders on exhibition for the delight and amazement of an admiring public.

Miss Nevell Bestows Handsome Portfolio.

Among the dainty gifts bestowed on Miss Ledyard at the luncheon given her by the superintendents on Wednesday, was a handsome leather portfolio, designed and made by Miss Ella Nevell, assistant supervisor of manual training. Its uniquely suitable clasp was a set of Chinese letters in silver, meaning, "Long Life and Happiness."

Superintendent Francis Addresses Northern Normal.

Superintendent Francis left for the northern part of the State, on Wednesday, to visit schools in San Francisco and Oakland, and to deliver the graduating address at Chico State Normal School.

Avenue 62 Social Center.

The last meeting of the Avenue 62 social center for this school year took place Friday evening, June 14. Although the meeting was called for adults and babies only, the crowd present was all that could be comfortably handled with the present facilities. While the babies in charge of several mothers were made happy in the kindergarten-room, the older folks enjoyed old-fashioned games, spelling matches, discussions and the splendid exhibit of home products supplied by the children of the neighborhood. Great hopes are entertained for the opening of necessary evening classes in connection with the work, next term. President S. V. Good declared that the school administration had expressed its pleasure in regard to the growth of the institution, and would do all within its power to fit the school plant to the needs of the community, provided the necessary funds could be arranged. It is hoped that the entertainment to be given June 20, will supply funds enough to start a fully equipped gymnasium. As the performance is also to be given Thursday afternoon, every child in the building has signified his desire to leave the seats for the older folks, in the evening.

Dr. Alliot Lectures.

Dr. Hector Alliot, well-known authority on archeology, lectured before the teachers' ceramic class, at Grand avenue school, last Thursday afternoon. He described the evolution of the forms of pottery, from prehistoric days up to the present time, and his address was followed with tremendous interest.

Pottery Exhibit.

An exhibit of pottery products made by Mr. Kunou's ceramic classes will be given at Grand avenue school, next Friday afternoon. This will consist of vases and jars, done in the different pottery mediums, both colored and in natural tints.

Summer Classes.

Summer classes for teachers, in commercial work, will be given by Mr. Wagner, at Polytechnic High School.

Gardening Work.

In order that children may be usefully employed during the summer vacations, rather than to waste their time on the streets and in overheated places of amusement down town, the school department is instructing its principals and teachers to urge pupils to take gardening during vacation, where the same is given near their homes. This work will be given at the following schools during the mornings, 8 to 12 o'clock: Avenue 62, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday; Avenue 54, Tuesday and Thursday; Twenty-fourth street, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; Castelar street, Tuesday and Thursday; Twentieth street, Tuesday and Thursday; Utah street, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; Macy street, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; Seventh street, every day.

Miss Gearhart Goes Abroad.

Miss May Gearhart, supervisor of drawing, left Friday for Europe, to attend the world conference on art education, to be held in Dresden.

W. E. White Honored.

W. E. White, acting principal of Hooper avenue, was the recipient of a farewell luncheon, on Friday. The gift from his teachers, of a handsome umbrella further testified to his popularity and success.

Luncheon was served in the auditorium, on dainty tables decorated with Shasta daisies, there being present besides the large corps of teachers, a number of visitors, among them Dr. Grant Karr.

Dr. Karr spoke on the idea of "The Year School," with credit given for time taught in excess of ten months, so that the teacher thus serving extra time could have leave, with pay when she chooses, for travel and study. Dr. Karr said such a scheme would do much to abolish all non-essentials in education, in the way of time and place, and put the emphasis on the main object of the schools, which is to come through with profitable ability and knowledge in broader lines. The speaker also said that a year-round school would make it possible for both teachers and pupils to take their vacations at times most agreeable to them.

Polytechnic High.

The faculty dinner next Tuesday evening, is given as a farewell to several members who are leaving to go abroad, to rest, to pursue studies, or to get married. There will be a short toast programme and then adjournment to the class night performance.

The faculty will entertain the seniors in the library Wednesday afternoon at tea. Miss Adele Humphrey, of the faculty, will toast the senior president, Bayard Taylor, will respond. There will be other speeches.

The Debating Club went to Griffith Park Friday evening for a picnic supper. Miss Edith M. Jordan and Mr. John Brewer accompanied.

The Poly annual, the "Student," will be out Wednesday. It contains 200 pages, many of them full page illustrations by students of the art department. The cover in Moorish design, which is most attractive, was drawn by Mary Dale, the staff artist. Other illustrations were designed by Paul Williams, Evelyn Mondon, Paul Ickes, Bayard Taylor, Catherine Perndt, Ester Schirman, and Carmen Denton.

Miss Ethel Magee, head of the English department, leaves Thursday night for a summer tour of Europe.

Miss Mae Owens of the domestic science department, will teach in summer school at Berkeley, in the University of California.

Miss Edith Jordan will accompany her father, David Starr Jordan, on a summer tour of investigation in the mountains of Virginia. Dr. Jordan will study the conditions among the people living near the scenes of the great battles of the Civil War.

Miss Jeanette Baldwin of the commercial department, will attend the National Education Association in Chicago, and then go to Boston for the remainder of the summer.

The commencement exercises will be held in Temple Auditorium Thursday, June 20. The following programme will be given: Farewell overture, Lawrence Seymour; "The Social Center Movement," Lydia Nielson; serenade, Clifford Truesdill, William Seidell; "The Housing Conditions in Los Angeles," Carl Shafor; "Woman's Clubs, Their Relation to Civic Welfare," Olive Yoder; toast (Faith Guy, Norman MhPhail;) "The Duties of Twentieth-Century Citizenship," Wilson Lockwood; Liebesfreus Kreisler, Dwight Shepardson; address, J. H. Francis; "Hail Bright Abode" (Wagner,) girls and boys' glee clubs; presentation of class, W. A. Dunn; presentation of diplomas, J. M. Guinn; "Coronation March" (Meyerbeer,) school orchestra.

The semi-annual election of officers for next year was held at Polytechnic Thursday morning, much keen interest in the results being manifested, for each office was sought by several students, all equally well equipped to serve successfully. The three candidates for president of the A.S.B.O. are especially strong boys and moreover, very good friends. They lunched together while the votes were being counted and after Herbert Brown was declared elected, he was seen in consultation with his defeated rivals, Jean Slaughter and Wesley Holler.

The victorious candidates for the other office are: Vice-president, A.S.B.O., Blanche Deets; secretary, Irl Brett; board of control, president, George Giovanola; vice-president, Mae Van Aelstyn; boys' self government: President, Harold Stewart; girls' self government: President, Willette Long; president boys' scholarship, Wiley S. Relle; president girls' scholarship, Margaret Adams; president, Recommendation and Information Committee, Glen Groeger; yell leader, Fred Morris.

Arrangements for senior class night are almost completed, and though an effort has been made to keep it a profound secret, from the little information which drops by the wayside, it promises to be a real vaudeville, full of fun and lively entertainment, and divided into three parts: First, a sketch written by Lawrence Seymour; second, a Spanish dance, by Olive Yoder; third, an operetta, also written by Lawrence Seymour, a member of the class, in which Ruth Mitchell will have the leading role.

Wednesday morning, Dick Morgan and William Pierson, two young dramatists of Poly, reproduced their playlets, which were given in May at the Temple Auditorium, in the Students' League vaudeville. Their performance Wednesday was witnessed by nearly all the student body, who responded with enthusiastic applause. The proceeds will be used to buy new property for the stage.

Hollywood High.

The student body officers for next year were elected according to approved political methods. Petitions bearing the names of 10 per cent. of the members of each class were handed to the committee in charge, and the school was divided into regular precincts. At the primaries, the successful candidates were Gordan Stevens and Philip Postell for president, John Ellingston and Mark Herron for vice-president. Campaign speeches were made in the assembly, and the candidates stated the platforms which they were upholding. At the final election, Gordan Stevens and Mark Herron were elected president and vice-president, respectively, a large majority of the student body participating in the election.

The Poinsettia, the Hollywood annual, made its appearance Wednesday and is a beautiful volume. The cover is unusually artistic, the photographic work good, the literary material of high merit and the joshes clever. Great credit is due Norris Montgomery, the editor-in-chief; to his efficient staff, to Philip Postel, business manager, and particularly to Miss Wood, under whose leadership the annual is gotten out.

The Wednesday assembly was turned over to the class, who were all seated on the platform. Norris Montgomery, amid the enthusiastic applause of the students, presented the annual to Mr. Kirkhoffer, to whom this years' publication was dedicated. He also gave the prizes to the winners of the short story contest, Winifred Gardner, Lawrence Morris and Margaret Kelsey.

Next Wednesday evening is graduating night, and Dr. Scheror of Throop will deliver the address. Thursday night, the juniors give a farewell reception to the seniors in the gymnasium, and Friday evening the alumni hold their annual banquet, at Hotel Beverly.

BITS OF VERSE.

Heroes.

The heroes do not always die
Where death in fearful guise appears;
In countless unmarked graves they lie,
Denied the sweet reward of tears;
In countless nooks they bravely strive,
Without complaint, day after day,
That faith and courage may survive
And hopelessness be kept away.

The heroes do not always fall
Where flags are waved and swords are drawn;
By thousands they obey the call
That duty sends at every dawn;
Denied applause, their worth unknown,
They lift the weak and cheer the sad,
Forgetting sorrows of their own
While teaching others to be glad.

The heroes do not always give
Their lives where horror's front is raised;
Denied heroic deaths they live
Without renown and never praised;
In countless nooks and corners where
They never may be found by fame
They earn the wreaths they may not wear
And tributes they shall never claim.
—[S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

The Humming Bird.

A morsel of rainbow forgot by a shower
Is dashing the dew from the cardinal-flower.
Two delicate pinions delightedly drumming
Are witching the dawn with Aeolian humming.
A dainty black needle is probing the roses
And proving that nectar the lily encloses.
But under the honey-vine's odorous cover
A true little bride waits her recreant lover.
Then, fie! feathered truant, 'tis time you were winging;
Enough of your feasting and music and singing,
And arrow your flight to that bower of rest—
Your spider-web, thistle-down, maidenhair nest!
—[Arthur Guiturman in Youth's Companion.

Discontent.

Let me do something perfect, before death;
Some least of things, so it be whole, and free
From any faltering touch; that none may see
One faintest flaw; that not one lightest breath
May dim the grace my sure hand fashioneth.
I know there is not any strength in me
To work this deed; oh, may Thy power be Fulfilled in weakness, as Thy Scripture saith!

My soul is sick of half-accomplishment,
Of deeds that are no deeds, of victories
Uncrowned by triumph; stranger to content
Until Thou work in me some excellence,
That my heart may have rest ere I go hence;
Blind voyager across the bitter seas.
—Edward Barss, in Atlantic Monthly.

Storm.

All day I stared across a bitter sea
That beat with sullen mutterings on the sand,
O waste unfriendly! Wind, and sea, and strand,
At endless strife where none may victor be!
All night I tossed, and tossing, could not free
My soul's high tide set in to shadow land
Where twin-toothed reefs, Despair and Fervor stand—
And the dulled voice of breakers waked with me.

The dawn broke red this morning, like wild fire.
But my true love hath kissed a full, red rose
And sent it to me for my heart's desire.
No storm my soul—which is my world—dismays.
"O love! O love!" Where now the slant spray goes,
Sea, wind and shore one joyous chorus raise.
—[Charles C. Jones in New York Tribune.

A Morning Glory.

Let me look deep in your rainbow bell
Holding the morn in a purple well.
Goddess Aurora surely lingered,
Flame-crowned, mist-veiled, dewy-fingered,
Pausing upon her rapturous way
Down through the stars with the new-born day,
And kissed you awake, so in looking back
You'd smile in her face on her blithesome track.

As her trailing robes float on with the day
You pine for her kiss and turn away;
Lest her lusty rival look into your eyes,
You cover your heart and hide your sighs.
But why should I sorrow, beautiful sprite,
Hiding your prismy color and light,
Aflame from her torch like new red wine?
E'er you veiled your eyes you looked into mine.
—[Alice E. Ives in Harper's Weekly.

The Earth Masque.

The majesty and marvel of these souls
Who walk beside us in the common day,
Or hail us like a cry from out of the night!
Could we but scan these souls as we look deep
Into the chalice of white hyacinths,
Drawing the perfume from their hidden hearts;
Could we but rend these mystic veils of sense
That hang before the temple's occult shrine
And know the Word made flesh, the shaft of light
That masks grotesquely in this mad world dream,
More foolish than night visions in the day,
Dear God, could we remember how to hate?
—[Alice E. Ives in Harper's Weekly.

Shot the Chute.

[New York Times:] Charles Tohler of No. 301 East Ninety-first street broke the world's record for shooting the chutes, when he glided down a rubbish chute from the twenty-sixth floor of the Hotel McAlpine into a waiting dump at the sidewalk end of the chute.

Tohler is a carpenter and his boss sent him to the roof to do some repair work. He missed his footing and fell just as a load of rubbish was shot into the chute from a handcar on the roof. The loader on the wagon saw a man's head and arms sticking out of the load of mortar, waste paper, and fragments of bricks that had just filled the wagon to overflowing. He hurriedly helped the driver of the wagon dig the man out.

When taken to the New York Hospital in an ambulance it was learned that outside of a few cuts and bruises, Tohler was none the worse for his glide.

Develop Your Bust in 15 Days

A Full Firm Bust is Worth More to a Woman than Beauty

I don't care how thin you are, how old you are, how fallen and flaccid are the lines of your figure, or how flat your chest is, I can give you a full, firm, youthful bust quickly, that will be the envy of your fellow-women and will give you the allurements of a perfect womanhood that will be irresistible. They say there is nothing new under the sun, but I have perfected a treatment that I want to share with my sisters.

What it did for me it can and will do for you, and I now offer it to you. Others offer to build up your figure with drugs, greasy skin foods, creams, dieting, massage and expensive instruments and devices. I have done away with all these injurious methods and have given a legion of women a luxuriant natural development by a treatment never before offered the public. No massaging, nothing to take, nothing to wear.

I was skinny, scrawny, flat and unattractive. Now I claim to be the highest priced artist's model in the United States, and what I did for myself I do for you.

I don't care what your age may be, I ask only that you be at least sixteen and not an invalid, and I will undertake to develop your bust in two weeks. All I ask is five or ten minutes of your time every day.

Write to Me Today for My Treatment

Develop Bust New Way

It will only cost you a penny for a postcard, and I will mail you this wonderful information in a plain cover so that no one will know your secret.

Don't let a false pride and silly sense of shame keep you from enjoying to the full the charms you should have to be a perfect specimen of womanhood. Let me help you. Your communication shall be held in absolute confidence and secrecy. Write me today.

LESLABOR Kerosene SOAP Made in Los Angeles Used Everywhere On Everything

The Soap that will help to make Los Angeles famous as a manufacturing Center.

Wanted 20,000 Boosters With $5 Each To Enter the Profit Sharing Plan of the American Soap Company

To quickly introduce throughout the United States our new brand of LESLABOR Soap, we will sell for $5.00, one box of LESLABOR Soap, containing 100 five-cent cakes (value $5.00) and give absolutely free as a premium 5 shares of stock of the American Soap Company.

This means something for nothing, being in our opinion the most valuable premium ever offered by any Soap Company. The stocks of successful Soap Companies throughout the world are not obtainable except at very high figures as they pay big dividends. There is every reason for the American Soap Company stock to become as valuable as the best, and your 5 shares of stock be worth many times the price you pay for a box of soap.

LESLABOR is the best soap in the world. A new kerosene soap, white, pure and sanitary. LESLABOR saves money and time. When using LESLABOR it is not necessary to use water softeners, bleachers, washing compounds, toilet or shampoo soaps. LESLABOR positively can be used on everything; LESLABOR will not injure the most delicate materials; on the contrary will preserve their natural softness and flexibility and positively leaves no odor. LESLABOR saves your hands and clothes; ⅓ of your soap expense, ⅓ of your time. Does more work for you at 5 cents a cake than any other soap at double the price, and has washing powers equalled by none.

If you wish to prove our claims for LESLABOR Soap before buying, call at our office for free sample and give it a trial. When you are convinced you can then draw your own conclusions as to the future value of this stock premium.

The advantage of this Special Premium Offering is mutual. The American Soap Company secures permanent customers; you secure a superior soap and a financial interest in our company. We both secure continuous profits.

Positively only one box of soap and 5 shares of stock to the same person (retail grocer or consumer.) We are obliged to make this restriction as we want boosters and that will complete this advertising campaign and will close this Special Premium Offer. Thereafter LESLABOR Soap must be purchased through the regular grocer channels.

Orders inside of city limits delivered FREE; outside of city limits, Freight Prepaid to any Railroad Station in the United States.

Write name and address plainly. Money returned if you are too late to participate in this offer.

Orders must be mailed to, or will be accepted in person at our up-town office, 706 Title Insurance Building.

Puritas, the Ideal Summer Drinking Water

Because of Its Absolute Freedom From Impurities of Any Sort Whatever.

Warm weather brings with it dangers peculiar to summer—various alimentary complaints, intestinal affections and the like, which may be extremely serious in their nature.

While germs may be contracted through food, the one great source of infection is in the drinking water supply.

And if everybody drank PURITAS instead of depending upon ordinary city water, there would be a great deal less illness in Southern California.

For PURITAS is absolutely free from bacteria, from alkaline or mineral matter, from deleterious vegetable substances—in short, PURITAS is a delightfully palatable drinking water, scientifically distilled and scientifically aerated—soft, sparkling, thirst-quenching — and, above all, healthful.

Can you afford, simply to save a few cents this summer, to be without PURITAS in your home, your hotel, your office?

Why not order a five-gallon demijohn tomorrow; the cost, to all points within the old city boundary lines, is but 40c—a trifle more to outside points. You'll surely enjoy using it—your family will like it—and you will have the additional satisfaction of knowing that your drinking water supply is PURE.

Residents of Southern California can usually obtain PURITAS through regular dealers. If there is none near you, simply write or telephone us for any quantity. Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company, Home 10053, Sunset Main 8191.

London Grocer's Costume.

[London Chronicle:] The grocer's assistant in London used to be as carefully looked after as his employer, precise regulations being laid down respecting the way he should dress. His coat had to be made "close and comely," and, as well as the breeches, was to consist only of "cloth, kersey, sackcloth, canvasse, English leather or English stuffe costing not more than 2s. 6d. the yard." His stockings were to be of woolen yarns or Kersey, he was not to wear "Spanish shoes with polonia heels," and his hair was to be cut short. He was forbidden to wear any girdle, point, garters, or shoe strings of any kind of silk or ribbon or any rose or such like goods upon his shoes. A breach of these regulations rendered him liable to eighteen hours' imprisonment in the Guildhall.

Girl Graduates Present Play.

Those gifted girls at the Collegiate School, of whose domestic accomplishments I told you last week, gave a demonstration on Friday and Saturday evenings of their histrionic ability when some thirty of them—members of the graduating class—presented a play, "Harvest Time," written by Grace Atherton Dennen, author of "The Dawn Meadow," a California story which has won wide recognition.

The play, which had a picturesque setting in the lovely garden at Casa de Rosas, where the school is located, at Adams and Hoover streets, was admirably presented by the following young ladies: Misses Edna Hauerwaas, Mary Hook, Camille Garnier, Margaret McMillan, Louise Hunt, Helen Jones, Irene Kellie, Mary Holm, Sylvia Allen, Anna Ames, Helene Weyse, Margaret Erdt, Katherine Cahoon, Juanita Botiller, Lucille Bartlett, Geraldine Grady, Louise Walker, Anna Spalty, Gertrude Nelson, Gladys Ordway, Norma Wheeler, Ruth Short, Mary Blachley, Marguerite Hocknell, Hortense Wiebers, Bertha Zadek and Marion Barnhart.

The graduating exercises will take place tomorrow evening at Ebell Clubhouse, when the above young women will receive their diplomas at the hands of the principal of the school, Miss Alice Knight Parsons. On Tuesday evening Miss Parsons and her co-worker, Miss Dennen, will give a dancing party in honor of the graduates at Kramer's Hall.

Out-Door Institute.

The Sunday-school Graded Union, of which Miss Meme Brockway is president, will hold its annual outdoor institute next Wednesday at Sycamore Park. As customary, it will be an all-day session and the Pasadena union will join with the Los Angeles organization for this occasion.

Winner of Peace Prize to Speak.

Among the brilliant women who will address the National Convention of Women's Clubs in San Francisco the last of this month will be Baroness Bertha von Suttner, author of the anti-war romance, "Ground Arms," and winner of the Nobel peace prize.

Monument to Manhood.

The monument which the women of America propose to erect in memory of the heroic men who went down with the Titanic will be the only one of its kind in the world—the only one that women have ever built in honor of men. One woman has subscribed $1000 to the fund.

Woman's College Honors Woman.

For the first time in its history, strange as it may seem, a woman gave the commencement address at Bryn Mawr this year. Miss Jane Addams of Hull House was the speaker.

Summer School of Missions.

Church women are looking forward eagerly to the inter-denominational summer school of mission study, which opens July 14 and continues until the 20th. As last year, the sessions will be held in the First Methodist Church, as that is central and in the downtown section. Eight of the largest denominations are represented in these summer schools, last year an average of 400 women attending the daily sessions.

Mrs. D. B. Wells of Chicago, who led the school last summer, will again be the leader and her daily lectures will be of unusual interest in that they will deal with "China's New Days," as presented in his admirable text-book by Dr. Isaac T. Headland, long a resident of Peking. She will also discuss "Mormonism," as set forth by Rev. Bruce Kinney in his book on that subject. Dr. Kinney was formerly superintendent of Baptist missions in Utah.

Another speaker will be Mrs. Coleman of Boston, president of the National Council of Women for Home Missions. Delegates from all the evangelical churches in Southern California will be in attendance, as leaders of mission work—both home and foreign—have come to consider these summer schools sources of invaluable education and uplift. Each year certain text-books are adopted by the missionary societies of these churches for study throughout the year, and the advance reviews given by an expert like Mrs. Wells are well worth while. Besides, there is opportunity for exchange of ideas in the conference meetings which are a feature of the school. This will mark the fourth annual session in Los Angeles.

She Saw the Old Clock.

Miss Alice Longfellow, daughter of the poet, motored to Washington recently to attend a meeting of the trustees of Mt. Vernon, of which she is one of the oldest. On her way back to Cambridge she stopped at Pittsfield, Mass., to see the old clock, "half way up the stairs," with its "never, forever," refrain that her father wrote about. It was in 1845 that the poem was written, and the clock still ticks as patiently as ever.

Woman Lawyer Takes Degree.

Miss Inez Milholland, a Vassar graduate who applied for admission to the Harvard law school, and was rejected on the grounds that no women are admitted there, graduated last week from the New York Law University, and is now eligible to practice. She will go to Europe for a vacation and on her return, plans to either open her own office or go into partnership with some law firm. Attorney Milholland is an intimate friend of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and a suffrage leader in Gotham. It is said, by the way, that there are about fifty women lawyers in Washington, D. C., who hold the LL.D. degree. Belva Lockwood, now in her 82nd year, is dean of the women lawyers.

Wife May Not Give Bond.

The Attorney-General of Texas has decided that a married woman is not eligible to hold any office that requires the execution of an official bond. Unmarried women do not come under this ruling. In Sweden there are about fifty women serving on town councils in the various municipalities. The Town Council of Stockholm, indeed, boasts seven women members, some of whom have served in that capacity for many years, and have been re-elected time and again.

Guests at Friday Morning Club.

Mrs. F. R. Warner and her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Warner, entertained a party of guests at the Friday Morning Club last Friday, and afterward enjoyed luncheon in the dining-rooms on the second floor. The guests included Mmes. Estelle Weaver Moses, W. C. Brain, E. H. Redding, Fayram, Helen Hammond Nittinger of Ocean Park, Miss Gastren and Mr. Roberts.

Dickens Fellowship Club.

The Dickens Fellowship Club met last Thursday at the Woman's Clubhouse, and enjoyed an hour with the work of the great novelist. Honorary membership to the organization was voted to Max Figman, Lewis Stone and Mrs. Frances Wallis, and plans were made for the work of next year a feature of which will be the reading during club sessions of some of Dickens's masterpieces, chapter by chapter, with after discussions by members. The final meeting of the club year will be on June 27, when character sketches from "Old Curiosity Shop" will be a feature of the entertainment, and English tea will be served.

New Orleans Club Women.

Mrs. Watts and her daughter, Miss Watts, who have been prominently identified with the women's clubs of New Orleans, but who have recently come to Los Angeles to live, were guests of Mrs. Harriet C. Sheridan at the Friday Morning Club last week.

To Entertain Visiting Club Women.

Next Wednesday an information bureau for the benefit of club women arriving from all over the country en route to the biennial in San Francisco, will be opened at the Alexandria with Mrs. E. R. Brainerd and Mrs. O. P. Clark in charge. Four special trains are expected to arrive here bearing delegates, the first being due at 1 o'clock next Tuesday, over the Santa Fe. There will be but a half-hour during which a transfer will be made to the Salt Lake Station, and the travelers taken directly to San Pedro, where they will sail for Catalina, spending the night and the following day on the magic isle, arriving in Los Angeles Wednesday evening. On Thursday at 2 o'clock, the visitors will be taken by local club women for an automobile ride about the city and environs, the start being made from the Woman's Clubhouse, No. 940 Figueroa street. Local club women are asked to assemble at the clubhouse at 1 o'clock on Thursday in order that informal greetings may be exchanged between the visiting delegates and their entertainers. The motor ride will occupy three hours, and on that same evening a reception will be given at the Ebell Clubhouse, between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock. These delegates are scheduled to leave Los Angeles Friday for San Francisco.

On Saturday and Sunday three other special trains are due, and the automobile ride will be repeated on Sunday afternoon for the benefit of these delegates. Women, who own cars are urged to not only loan the car for these occasions, but to come along and act as hostesses en route.

All the clubhouses will keep open house on Monday, June 23, from 10 to 12 o'clock.

To Keep up With Growth.

The big club, like the big church, has grown to be a difficult proposition for a single president or preacher to handle. Soon we will hear of assistant club presidents as we now have assistant pastors of churches. The work of presiding over the many departments of a great woman's club with more than a thousand members has well nigh gone beyond the power of a single head. I am told that the Ebell Club is now seriously considering the advisability of recommending the insertion of a clause in the bylaws, providing for an assistant, to share with the president, the duties and burdens of leadership.

The first vice-president, on whom this work would naturally fall is always chairman of the Programme Committee, and that in itself occupies all of her time and attention, for the providing of programmes to interest and entertain club members with all their diversified tastes, requires no small amount of hard thinking and planning.

Hollywood Club Closes.

The Woman's Club of Hollywood held its closing session Wednesday at Beverly Hills Hotel. After a well-appointed luncheon at tables beautifull with blue larkspur and Shasta daisies, the club listened to interesting reports of the past year's work by the secretary, Mrs. George H. Given, and the treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Knox.

Mrs. A. G. Schloesser, the presiding officer, made a graceful little speech introducing the new members of the board, Mmes. A. H. Gurney, A. L. Leonard, F. M. Douglass and W. B. Widner, and Miss Theodosia Macomber, and handing over the gavel of office to the newly-elected president, Mrs. Cassius Smith, who made a pleasing address, and called for toasts to the past presidents of the club, Mmes. Churchill, Davidson, Rhoades and Steadman, and Miss McCullough, which were responded to in order by the secretaries of each administration, Miss Margaret Higgins, and Mmes. L. G. Somers, Morgan T. Griffith, F. W. Bartlett and B. W. Harper. From these toasts, besides pictures of charming presidents, as seen by the eyes of their secretaries, one gathered glimpses of the proud achievements of the club,—a library and building, an art exhibit of not, and a flower show of happy memory.

The new president proposed a toast to Mrs. Calvin Smith, the president of the past year, wishing her happiness and health, which the entire club drank standing. The toast to Mrs. A. G. Schloesser, who has filled the president's chair the past two months, was wittily responded to by Mrs. J. F. Redhead, the secretary. The programme closed with a toast to "The Future," a prophecy of five years hence, including a dream of a new clubhouse, which was given by Mrs. Edward Winterer.

Death of Prominent Club Woman.

Mrs. Susan Shaw Tufts, widow of the late John Q. Tufts, who died at her summer home in Ocean Park last Thursday night, was a member of Irving Club for twenty years, and, for the past fifteen years, a member of the Friday Morning Club. She was a brilliant and well-loved club woman and leaves a family of seven children.

Cliff Dwellers Entertained.

Miss Morrison of Long Beach entertained the California chapter of the Cliff Dwelling Association last Tuesday at her new home. Several guests were present, including Mrs. John B. McGroarty, Mrs. Hallie Sterling, Mrs. G. Johnson, Mrs. R. B. Robinson and Mrs M. R. Lubrecht of Los Angeles, and Miss Nellie Agnew of Colorado Springs.

The following new members were received into the association: Mrs. W. H. Sterling of Los Angeles and Mmes. Charles Taylor and A. B. Blake of Long Beach.

Mrs. A. J. Eaton, first vice-president of the organization, who has been abroad for a year, will return home June 18, and a reception is being planned in her honor and also in compliment to Mrs. McClurg, grand regent of the association, who will be in the city next week.

Their Target.

[Boston Post:] "I wonder what those London suffragettes were throwing at?"

"Why, the papers are full of it."

"I haven't seen it mentioned."

"Why, every paper tells how they broke the plate-glass windows."

"I know it; but not a single paper tells what they were throwing at."

THE NEW BOOKS and the BOOK NEWS

By Willard Huntington W

NEW BOOKS REVIEWED.

A WIFE'S SORROWS.

MY ACTOR HUSBAND. Anonymous. John Lane Company, New York.

THE woes of a young lady who marries an actor are set forth in many lurid details in "My Actor Husband," an anonymous publication. The stage, nowadays, seems to be a favorite place for novelists to foregather. Here is a field somewhat neglected by the writers of old. The reason for this delay in using the theater as a battleground for romance is probably explainable by the fact that the subject was too delicate a one for any author to risk his popularity by writing about it. Several serious attempts to wrench the emotions loose from the spotlight have been made—principal among which was "The Mummer's Wife"—but these instances were isolated. Now it may be said that we have developed a specific form of stage fiction. A thousand actresses cast their beauty and spill their questionable morality over the pages of this year's fiction. The scenery of at least a score of recent novels consists of painted "sets." And it is not merely the unknown and meretricious novelists who have leaped headlong into the spotlight for their themes. Leonard Merrick, both in "The Position of Peggy" and "The Actor-Manager," has given us most creditable fiction. Compton Mackenzie's "Carnival" is a story of genuine power. "A Big Horse to Ride," and "Tante" both deal with the stage, and both succeed in being excellent novels. Two of the smaller fry—"To M. L. G." and "My Actor Husband"—contain spasms of merit, though neither can be counted among the epics inspired by mummers.

With "My Actor Husband" we will linger a moment this morning—not because the story is worthy of our attention, nor yet for its style, which is sophisticated and naive by turns, but because of the clear-cut and convincing pictures of stage life which it presents. If the author of this book is a real character—which I doubt—one cannot blame her for the assumption of anonymity. She is giving away the secrets of her craft. She is painting a picture of theatrical life and personages which is both accurate and astonishing. In so doing she is peeling off the tinsel which has so long encased that microcosmic world behind the footlights. Not since George Moore's brilliant and scathing essay on mummers have we had so devastating a picture of the indecencies and the arrogancies of "professional people." We get this impression despite the fact that the book is melodramatically conceived and in many places crudely executed. The book is frankly an arraignment of stage life and the people in it. There is no glamour, no flowery romance, no "lure." It paints with an almost brutal frankness the rottenness of mummery. It shows the "inside" of the theatrical game. The book would form an excellent exhibit A for those who accuse the theatrical professions of corruption.

The story is told by the wife of a popular actor—a matinee idol—and the analyses penetrate beneath the grease paint and powder. The background of the story is not the gaily-painted "drop," but the drab brick wall behind the "drop." Will, the actor husband, is a type, without genuineness or spontaneity. He is as unreal off the stage as on. He is a weakling, glorying in the attentions of women, selfish, vain, with a penchant for theatricalism at all times. The wife is of a different type. She possesses genuine emotions, and though perhaps at the start she is romantically inclined, she does not take a loose attitude toward the profession as do the majority of the women in the pages of the book. She is informed by her cynical friend, Miss Burton, that "virtue and chastity have just about as much chance in the show business as that famous little snowball of purgatorial fame. I don't know any other profession where immorality is a virtue."

Herein lies the book's hypothesis, and on the last page it is not difficult to imagine the letters Q.E.D. appended. The wife realizes that Miss Burton's crude philosophy is not without truth. When she makes a visit to the manager's office, the description of her exit from this theatrical Nero runs: "I never knew how I found my way down the stairs to the street. I did not wait for the elevator. I saw that people looked at me as I hurried along the street—whither, I did not ask myself." She was on the point of telling her husband what had happened, when following advice from an older showwoman stopped her: "If you tell your husband, he'll go straight up and knock the old beast down. That'll get him in bad."

But if she suffered from managers, she suffered more from her husband. A thrilling scene was enacted when the "business" of the play necessitated a young woman throwing herself into Will's arms. The wife watched from the wings. The sight was disturbing. The leading lady had evidently been drinking too much champagne, and became brazen. Will was not averse to this and "took liberties." In the scene where the leading lady was to give Will a chaste and gentle kiss, she she "threw herself in Will's arms—then fed upon his lips like a vampire sucking blood." This was enough to perturb any self-respecting wife; and the present one was no exception. In plain view of the audience, she leaped upon the leading lady and choked her. She drove her fingernails into the flesh of the vampire. She dragged her into the wings and beat her. This cured the leading lady of acting like a vampire. And well it might.

A baby is dragged into the pages of the book. The incident is sheer claptrap, but it helps to focus the attitude of the wife. When the child was six weeks old, Will began receiving perfumed epistles from Bohemian society women. One was written in "the large, loose, vertical scrawl much affected by smart women." "How did you learn to make love?" ran the note. Directions were given for identification. Later, at a social dinner, the wife discovered her husband holding hands under the table. The woman had "wine-shot eyes," and her breath came "in short, quick gasps." Then the wife went to the telephone to instruct the nurse regarding the child. The telephone booth adjoined a boudoir. Entered Will and his inamorata. They talked while the wife listened. There were many long, lingering pauses in the conversation. "I think these silences were hardest to bear," remarks the wife. There was a stifled cry. Anon said Will: "Powder your nose and let's go down."

Another time the wife wandered accidentally into the Grand Central Station, and glanced about listlessly. At that moment there were coming through the station her husband and the "star." They were carrying handbags! It was evident they had come from the train. Suddenly the wife remembered that the star had recently bought a country residence. Will had been absent for three days. Ah! ha!

Later, the wife got in a little work herself. She was posing for a sculptor—one John Galbraith. Once her husband found her "all unyielding" seeking solace in Galbraith's arms.

It is an interesting and sordid book. The verisimilitude of the story makes it particularly revolting. The bitter jealous juices of actual experience have been squeezed over its pages. It is at once a criticism and a warning. It is a stark, ruthless, hideous and convincing portrait in the altogether.

THE COCKTAIL ROUTE.

THE BLIND ROAD. By Hugh Gordon. Moffat, Yard & Co., New York.

HARRY was a sad man. He had considerable money. But money was not all he wished. He wanted the love of his wife. He adored her and longed for reciprocity. But he was not of the masterful type which would have fascinated for long so dashing and susceptible a creature as Carmen. Carmen was very beautiful, but she had a weakness for men and cocktails. She led her husband a merry chase. It was not so merry, either; and he was always bemoaning his fate. He was a prig, and that made matters worse. Carmen was devilish and shocked Harry beyond words. She gadded about in a fast set, played whist, went to road-houses, did many immodest things, and possessed a thirst. Harry wanted a home, a droplight, and a child. Carmen had no use for children. She refused Harry an offspring. Harry was deserving of sympathy. Carmen intimated several times they might have had all they wanted had he treated her with more severity. But Harry was a mild man, besides being a perfect gentleman. He adored the very ground that Carmen walked upon. He gave in to all her whims. He furnished her with money for gadding. His actions were enough to drive any high-spirited woman to desperation. They drove Carmen to Arnold Granden. Harry found them alone together and began to distrust. Distrust is a virulent poison, and before long it turned Harry's mind to chaos. Had she been his daughter he would have spanked her. But being her husband he could only cry out to merciful heaven. His appeals did no good. Carmen merely "showed signs of sensuality." No specifications are given. The book is very immoral at this point, because it leaves one to one's imagination. How did Carmen show her sensuality? What were these strange symptoms which developed? What form did her "grossness" take? The reader is left to his own sophistication.

Things grew worse and worse. Carmen was cutting up scandalously with Arnold. Harry hoped righteously for the best. He acted like a flub A woman with so meek a husband would have been justified in anything. One night when Harry had enough evidence to convince a pope, he accosted his wife in her boudoir. She had "her inevitable manicure set out for a final polishing of her pretty nails." "I intend to have you do as I say," he assured her. Carmen arose and laid aside the manicure things. She dropped her silver-mounted buffer, and Harry stooped to pick it up. By thus inverting his anatomy the blood rushed into his head. This, we infer, accounts for the scene which followed. He took her roughly by the arm. He assured her that he was going to rule the house for one night at least. She tried to get past him, but he grabbed the lace upon her gown. He said, "Go back and sit down." Then Carmen struck him in the face, and Harry sat her down violently in a chair. He said he was the boss. But Carmen said he had begun too late. (Carmen was right.) The interview came suddenly to a close. She began to change her gown. It shocked Harry. Thought he: "Evidently her proposed change of gown necessitated other changes also." It was an awful thought. He might have withstood the changing of the gown. But those "other changes!" He got hurriedly out of the room.

Then he went after Arnold Granden. Arnold had a pistol. It was of polished metal and had a pearl handle. Arnold shot him through the leg. Harry flung himself at his opponent's throat. During the melee, Arnold swore. The words shocked Harry. Thought he: "He is a choice associate for good women!" But Arnold's swearing availed nothing. Harry triumphed and left him battered, bleeding and half conscious. The outcome made no difference to Carmen. She escaped to Europe with Arnold and a divorce. Then Harry turned to Alice, another toreador of virtue, and we take leave of him about to ask her hand in marriage.

A silly book.

PAGEANT TEXT BOOK.

FOLK FESTIVALS. By Mary Master Needham. B. W. Huebsch, New York.

"FOLK FESTIVALS," by Mary Master Needham, is an excellent book. As the canned review says: "There is a growing recognition throughout the country of the meaning of folkart; pageants, festivals and celebrations no longer mean merely occasions for entertainment. Their correlation with history, literature, science and the fine arts has proved that these mediums for common self-expression are of great collateral value in education."

Just so. And Mrs. Needham has given us a careful survey of the history, development, and differentiations of festivals and pageants, together with many practical suggestions for their formation and an excellent bibliography of five pages. She tackles her subject with a large equipment of information and displays a genuine interest in her work. It is no mere technical hand-book, but a volume of information plus an animating spirit. She gives outlines of characteristic festivals and pageants for all holidays; describes the important European fetes; shows how the festival links the school to the community and how it is related to the playground movement; and reveals the psychologic effect of the festival.

One phase of pageantry, however, seems to have been overlooked, or at least insufficiently emphasized—namely, the modern tendency to weld the dramatic idea with the pageant idea. All present-day indications point to an amalgamation of the dramatic and the festal art. The Canterbury Pilgrims' pageant, the St. Gaudens Masque at Cornish, New Hampshire in 1905, written by Louis Evan Shipman and directed by John Blair; the annually recurrent "Redwood Play" of the Bohemian Club, and the Mission pageant-drama at San Gabriel—all are examples of the highest types of the expression of the community spirit. The mere succession of dumb tableaux is a primitive, and in many ways unsatisfactory, form of pageant. But in this twofold idea of the festival and the drama, a new standard has been set, according to which the pageant of the future will inevitably be moulded. This idea has been succinctly brought out in several of the references given in the bibliography. Can it be that Mrs. Needham has overlooked this point?

With the exception of this one ommission of what I believe to be the very basis of all modern pageantry—perhaps even its most important development—the book fulfills its mission adequately. For the student, the teacher, the social worker, the historian, and even for the director of pageants, the book will prove invaluable.

ECONOMIC THEORIES.

THE BURDEN OF POVERTY. By Charles F. Dole. B. W. Huebsch, New York.

ANOTHER contribution to the question of poverty is Charles F. Dole's chap book in the Art of Life Series edited by Edward Howard Griggs. Dole adds little that is new to this question, but he has performed the service of having gathered together a large amount of data. In clearing the field for his proposed plan for overcoming poverty, he goes after single tax, trades unionism and socialism, finds their weaknesses and offers dicta of his own.

While he has repudiated socialism in general as an inadequate means of coping with poverty, it is well worth noting that his arguments are, almost without exception, based on socialistic doctrines. It is very well for the social reformer to plead for the elimination of waste; it is well to tell us as a nation that war and drunkenness are roots of poverty; also it is indisputable that corrupt politicians waste the country's resources. Mr. Dole's arguments are irrefragible. In fact, they are not, strictly speaking, arguments at all, but platitudes.

After one has granted all of Mr. Dole's contentions the realities remain. War, corrupt politics and drunkenness are not to be eliminated by the recitation of axioms. It is well to deal with economics, but it is also advisable to deal with economics with at least one eye on human nature. The trouble with social reformers such as Mr. Dole is not that they know so little about sociology, but because they know so much. Their facts are insurmountable. But they know too much about facts and too little about life. The human spirit which manifests itself in a thousand different ways is not to be circumscribed by a system of ethics nor by sociological formulae. We may correct certain social evils, but we cannot alter human instincts. And because Mr. Dole has failed to take these instincts into consideration, he has failed to make his reformative methods convincing.

UNIQUE COMPILATION.

BELLS: AN ANTHOLOGY. Compiled by Mary J. Taber. Richard G. Badger, Boston.

A unique anthology, valuable more as a literary curiosity than anything else, is "Bells," in which Mary J. Taber has gathered together all of the principal poems in English relating to bells; excerpts from Shakespeare's plays in which bells are mentioned; passages from old manuscripts in fiction; cullings from the Bible; chapters from books; together with enough bits of history and data regarding bells of all sorts to make an interesting commentary. Chapter 3 is devoted to mottoes on church bells; Chapter 4 to bell ringing, etc.

STROPHES FROM RICE.

FAR QUESTS. By Cale Young Rice. Doubleday, Page & Co., New York.

"FAR QUESTS" is the latest volume of verse to come from the prolific pen of Cale Young Rice. Mr. Rice's verse is thin and graceful, but the most diligent examination fails to reveal the slightest spark of the divine fire. Passion is not in his wares. His verse is bloodless. The old literary guard have for many years rallied to the support of Mr. Rice's prosodic pallidities, but all the eulogists, from William Dean Howells to the Presbyterian Advance, have failed to obscure the artificialities and mere niceties of Mr. Rice's work.

HISTORY RETOLD.

THE MONITOR AND THE MERRIMAC. By Lieut. J. L. Worden, Lieut. Greene and H. Ashton Ramsay. Harper & Bros., New York.

AFTER all that has been written about the epoch-making battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac, it seems strange that some of the most realistic tales of the encounter should only now be coming to light.

In this new book several of the officers who actually took part in the battle, either on the Monitor or the Merrimac, tell the story of their own personal experiences for the first time, and, as these experiences cover the events that were happening simultaneously on both vessels, the book affords exceptional opportunity of getting an impartial idea of the combat.

Fortunately, there has been no attempt to go into elaborate descriptions of the vessels, or into the arguments that have followed the battle. All that has been done, and done again. But this latest picture of the engagement, as seen by the commander of the Monitor and by the chief engineer of the Merrimac, is bound to appeal to a much larger class of readers than does the usual run of historical sketches.

BOOK NOTES.

Anatole le Braz, who writes the charming sketches of Breton life and folklore, was a passenger aboard La Provence on the evening the Titanic tragedy. It happened that on that very evening, seated in the salon, he had written a letter to a friend, giving a vivid description of the Atlantic icefield. The following is an excerpt: "a delicious corner, truly French, with its Louis XV furniture of faded shades, and its old-rose carpet. Outside, the sirens sounds at intervals its lugubrious chant, which, in mythological times, fascinated the heart of mariners; it is changed since. We are crossing a bank of fog which doubtless repeats in the sky the bank of Newfoundland under the water, whose 'tail' the captain just announced we were traversing. I give you this nautical metaphor for what it is worth. Up north there, two roving icebergs showed this afternoon their profiles of floating cathedrals. One of them even had three spires: thus 'raising one' the Cathedral of Chartres. It was very mysterious to see them against the distant polar sky." M. le Braz's latest book, "The Night of Fires," has just been published by the Longmans.

The success of B. M. Bower's novel of Montana ranch life, "Lonesome Land," is likely to be duplicated in England, for Stanley Paul & Co., the London publishers, have obtained the English rights, and the book will be published by them shortly.

"A Woman of Genius" is the title of the new book by Mary Austin, which is to be brought out in August by Doubleday, Page & Co. As Mrs. Austin expresses it, "A Woman of Genius" is the story of "the struggle between a genius for tragic acting and the daughter of a country clerk, with the social ideal of Taylorville, Ohianna, for the villain." It is announced by Doubleday, Page & Co. that that house now publishes "The Arrow Maker," and "Christ in Italy," also by Mary Austin.

W. Morgan Shuster's "The Strangling of Persia" will tell in detail the series of events which resulted in the author's expulsion from the post of Treasurer-General in January. The facts of the book are substantiated by the British and Persian State papers, supplemented by the private diary kept by Mr. Shuster during his entire stay in Persia. To the story are added only such historical references and explanations as help to a clear understanding of the narrative. The Century Company will publish the book this month.

Two new novels are soon to appear—"Davidee Birot," the latest by the distinguished French novelist, Rene Bazin, and "Mary Pechell," a story of English country life, by Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, the author of "Jane Oglander," "The Chink in the Armour," etc.

No characters invented by the novelist are so interesting as those that turn up to police view when a crime like the recent taxicab robbery in New York is systematically run down and unravelled. The police officer in real life usually has a fine relish for these characters. When the New York police finished their work on that sensational crime, they were so interested in the plot and the characters themselves that they thought the public would be interested, too. So, working with the police materials, James H. Collins has put the whole story in a little book entitled "The Great Taxicab Robbery," which has just been published by John Lane Company. This account of how the crime was planned and carried out, the robbers run down, and their confession obtained, is as thrilling as any artificial detective story concocted by the trained story-teller. But beside that, it is a true story, and the detective methods which were employed in the solution of the mystery are fully set forth.

A new play by August Strindberg, whose earlier volume of three plays published this spring has met with so much favor, has just been published by the Scribners. It is: "There are Crimes and Crimes," a drama of great power, and of a more optimistic character than is generally the case with Strindberg.

LITERARY GOSSIP

William Heyliger, whose new book for boys, "Bucking the Line," has been published recently, prefers one thing to working at his stories. "Give me a few good trees, stick a rocker under the trees, stick me in the rocker and give me half a dozen pencils and a pad, and I am anchored for the day—that is, unless a gang of boys trails past bound for a baseball game. Should that happen, work stops for the day and I trail after the gang. On one occasion I was asked to umpire. I accepted. The game started, and a red-haired, freckle-faced boy pitched to the batter. I said it was a ball, and the pitcher swaggered toward me chewing gum. He couldn't have been more than 15 years old. 'Say,' he demanded, 'how much are they paying you to throw this game?' "

While people from all parts of the United States are summering in the picturesque Massachusetts island town of Nantucket, Mary E. Waller will be busy at work on her new novel, to be called "A Cry in the Wilderness." Unlike "The Wood Carver of 'Lympus" and "Sanna of the Island Town," Miss Waller's new book will have Canadian characters and scenes, as well as American.

After a winter spent automobiling through Europe and on the French Riviera, Melville D. Post has returned to America. He is starting soon for his ranch, where he hopes to find time to finish the novel which he has begun. "The Nameless Thing," his latest book, has gone into the second edition.

Rufus Gillmore, author of "The Mystery of the Second Shot," although a native of Boston, declares his education to have been of the "free-lunch" order. "On the day I graduated from the grammar school," he says, "I answered three want ads. The next morning's mail brought post cards from two of the advertisers asking me to call and let them see what I looked like. One was from a publisher, the other from the owner of a fruit stand. I went to the publisher first and he hired me, so that accounts for my newspaper training. But I've often wondered what I should be doing now if I had gone to the fruit stand first. Perhaps selling apples instead of words. No, I guess I'd be writing articles and fiction for the magazines just the same. This writing fever is something that everybody gets. Sooner or later the doctors will realize that the quickest way of reviving a fainting man or woman is to lean down close and ask 'How's your new play coming along?' "

Rowland Thomas, best known as the winner of Collier's Weekly $5000 short story contest, whose prize story, "Fagin," was afterwards incorporated in his novel, "The Little Gods," is returning from Japan where he spent the cherry blossom season. Mr. Thomas owns a farm on the south shore of Massachusetts.

Having completed for autumn publication a book of Christmas stories which Little, Brown & Co. will issue, John Kendrick Bangs is about to sail for Australia. He has just signed a contract with an Australian lecture bureau for a series of a hundred lectures in Australia and New Zealand. The special lecture he is to deliver is his now famous "Salubrities I Have Met," which he has already given to over 800 audiences in forty States of the Union.

James Oliver Curwood is said to possess the largest collection of big game photographs in the country. He never loses an opportunity to bury himself in the far northern wilderness, and starts for Hudson Bay as unexpectedly as most men would go rabbit shooting. Recently an editor wrote Mr. Curwood asking if he could come to New York for a literary conference, but Mr. Curwood telegraphed back: "I can't; I've just found three weeks and I've got to go hunting."

T. G. Bonney, Sc.D., LL.D., F.R.S., author of a summer Scribner importation called "The Building of the Alps," is something of a mountain climber, but more of a geologist; at all events, his skill in the latter direction is what makes this book so interesting and different from other books about the Alps. Mr. Bonney knows them from the Viso to the Salzkammergut; has wandered over most of the intervening chain between the date of his first visit in 1856 and his last in 1912; has seen and, much more, felt their grandeur, glory and contempt. This and his scientific knowledge qualify him to set forth their topography and structure, their nature and history, their forms of peak and valley and to trace their eternal war with avalanche, torrent and glacier. All this he does in graphic manner, as one who has felt as well as seen. At various controversial points he takes issue with other geologists upon the evidences of his own long and careful study.

WITH THE AUTHORS

John Masefield's volume of plays, "The Tragedy of Nan," published by Mitchell Kennerley two years ago, is now out of print, but a second edition will be ready next week. The volume also contains "The Camden Wonder" and "Mrs. Harrison." "The Tragedy of Nan" was produced in London by Granville Barker, who is an actor-manager as well as a playwright, and it is likely to be seen at a New York theater this fall.

Peggy Macallister, named for the heroine of "The Trevor Case," took three blue ribbons and one special prize at the Washington dog show recently. The original "Peggy" has carried Natalie Lincoln's detective story forward to marked success, as the publishers have gone to press this week with the fifth edition. "Peggy" the second is a good field spaniel with a record to live up to.

The disaster which sunk a submarine off the Isle of Wight is similar in some of its details to the collision described in "The Nameless Thing," the mystery story by Melville D. Post. Again, fact is stranger than fiction.

Jeffery Farnol, having completed the writing of "The Amateur Gentleman," which is now appearing serially in McClure's Magazine, previous to book publication by Little Brown & Company early in 1913, is sailing for America to arrange for the dramatization of his great success, "The Broad Highway."

The news of the rebellion in Cuba, and the rumors of smuggled arms and ammunition, bring vividly to mind the adventures of Capt. "Dynamite Johnny" O'Brien, whose filibustering adventures in Cuban waters previous to the Spanish-American War have just been published in book form under the title "A Captain Unafraid."

On October 22, 1897, following a Cabinet meeting which was devoted entirely to Capt. "Dynamite Johnny" O'Brien and his famous filibustering ship Dauntless, with which he was carrying arms to the Cubans, Secretary of the Navy John D. Long gave out an official statement which was practically an admission that the United States government had been beaten by one little fighting Irishman. At that time thirteen warships, headed by the Maine and six revenue cutters, were patrolling the coast of Florida with orders to do nothing but capture Capt. O'Brien or put an end to his activity; but he merrily continued his operations in spite of all they could do.

Coincident with Mr. Long's confession, figures were compiled showing that up to that time the Navy Department alone had spent more than $1,000,000 in trying to prevent Capt. O'Brien from aiding the rebellious Cubans. His shrewdness, however, was more than a match for all of the Secret Service operatives and other sleuths who were put on his train.

Yet Capt. O'Brien did not consider that he was doing wrong, for he regarded the law against filibustering an immoral instrument which restricted the spirit of liberty. He stands out as one of the most unique figures of recent times, and his adventures related in "A Captain Unafraid" are often more strange and thrilling than fiction.

Kate Langley Bosher, whose new novel, "The Man in Lonely Land," was published a few weeks ago, told recently how she happened to write "Mary Cary." "Watching the children of an orphanage go by in an institutional garb, my sympathies were stirred. I wondered how I should feel if my individuality were thus suppressed—to lie down, to rise, to play in a body and at the ringing of a bell. Never to wander alone at impulse, never to consult one's taste in food or dress, and, above all, nev-

THE BOOK IN LONDON.

How the Baroness Came to Write—Henry James and Browning—of De Quincey Still Living—Book Gossip.

BY HAYDEN CHURCH.

LONDON, June 2.—Baroness Orczy, in a new serial story which has just commenced in an English magazine, has taken the hero of her "Scarlet Pimpernel," and started him off on a treasure-quest in South America, where, however, he is too early by several hundred years to have a chance of meeting Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's latest character, Prof. Challenger.

The "Pimpernel's" new adventures are said to make as exciting reading as his earlier ones, and apropos of them, a friend of Baroness Orczy's told me, the other day, how she came to discover that she could write. The baroness who, of course, is a Hungarian by birth, originally intended to be an artist, and studied to that end at the Heatherley School of Art in London. While doing so, she spent a week-end as one of a house party that gathered at a mansion on the upper Thames. Of course it rained, and to pass away the time, somebody suggested that they each write a story and read it aloud. This they did, and the baroness's effort was received with so much enthusiasm by her fellow-guests that she thought it worth while to send it to a magazine. It was accepted, forthwith, and the editor, like Oliver Twist, demanded more. These proving eminently satisfactory likewise, it was not long before the baroness abandoned the brush for the pen, with what result every one knows.

Those who predicted something extra special in the way of verbal subtleties when that master of obscurity in diction, Henry James, talked about that other master of obscurity in diction, Robert Browning, at the Royal Literary Society's dinner in honor of the poet's centenary this week, have had their prophecies fulfilled. Mr. James was in great form, and delivered himself of some truly amazing sentences, which reminded their hearers of the German ones on which Mark Twain declared one could travel all day without changing cars.

Here is one of the shorter and comparatively simple ones, which James used in speaking of the three leading characters in "The Ring and the Book."

"Deeply he (Browning) felt that with the three—the three built up at us each with an equal genial rage of reiterative touches—there couldn't eventually not be something done (artistically done, I mean;) if some one would only do it!"

And here is another quite typical sentence from Mr. James's discourse, which made even its author's learned hearers look at each other in astonishment:

"To glance at these things, however is fairly to be tangled, and at once, in the author's complexity of suggestion—to which our own thick-coming fancies respond in no less a measure; so that I have already missed my time to so much even as name properly the tremendous little chapter we should have devoted to the Franceschini interior as revealed at last to Comparini eyes; the sinister scene, or ragged ruin, of the Arentine 'palace,' where pride and penury and, at once, rabid resentment, show their teeth in the dark and the void, and where Pompilia's inspired little character, clear silver hardened, effectually beaten and battered to steel, begins to shine at the blackness with a light that fairly outfaces at last the gleam of wolfish fangs; the character that draws from Guido, in his, alas! too boundless harangue of the fourth volume, some of the sharpest characterizations into which that extraordinary desert, that indescribable waste of intellectual life, as I have called it, from time to time, flowers."

That sentence, as reported in the "Times" consists of twenty lines, and

I Say to You—

Mr. Working Man
Mr. Salary Man
Mr. Mechanic

—To You and You Only

who are dependent upon the weekly pay envelope or monthly check, you are up against a serious proposition —the day when that envelope or check doesn't come. The education of your children and the comfort and happiness of your family are constantly in the balance.

It is my firm belief that the greatest step towards solving the problem of the working man is for him to own at least one acre of land sufficiently close to the city to permit him to go to and from his work. When that acre of land is paid for, he is as independent as the man whose business dealings run into millions.

One acre of good soil will produce the absolute necessities of life for a whole family. During times of sickness, labor troubles and other misfortunes that are bound to come to us some time in our lives, that little acre will help conditions wonderfully by producing these necessities. And then there is the comfort in knowing that, should anything happen to the head of the family, he would leave behind him a self-supporting little home from which the wife and children could at least make their daily living.

Mr. Workingman, look this problem squarely in the face and get into the country while prices are within your reach.

Do you realize that there is no real estate commodity where the supply is going to be more rapidly exhausted than in close-in acres? As the city grows, the value of property increases, and the day is close at hand when an acre of ground within 40 minutes street-car ride of the center of town will be hard to find.

I am not so foolish as to think that the land I sell is the only land for every man, woman and child in the country. There are many good purchases to be had within an hour's ride of the city, but I do know that there is absolutely none better than

INGLEWOOD ACRES

I have been selling close-in acres for five years, and naturally know the situation pretty thoroughly, and I say to you in all honesty that—dollar for dollar—acre for acre—size, price and location considered—there is not a better piece of real estate in all the county than Inglewood Acres. The soil is strictly clean, sandy loam, without adobe or alkali, and there is no richer ground in the State.

Inglewood Acres is supplied by Inglewood city pressure water, piped to each lot, and the streets are graded in front of every little acre. Your children can have the best of school facilities, for there are both high and grammar schools close by, and the stores and churches are right at hand. The yellow Hawthorne line runs to Inglewood Acres in 35 to 40 minutes, with cars running every 15 minutes in both directions.

If you want to know what an acre of good soil will produce, send for our folder, "What An Acre Will Grow." It will surprise you to know what these little ranches have been producing. This folder tells you just how to handle every detail of the work, too. The information is supplied by people who have actually handled a one-acre farm, and for this reason it is good, practical advice.

Our advice to you is to start on this road to independence today. If you do not start now, you will never get any place, and if it is your desire, to put yourself and your family in supreme independence of landlord, sickness or troubles, start with a 5% payment on an Inglewood Acre, and $10 to $20 monthly will make it yours.

MR. DOOLEY

ON THE CONVENTION

BY FINLEY PETER DUNNE

"WELL SIR," said Mr. Dooley, "in a few more days us Dimmycrats will know the worst until our own convintion meets. Fr'm far an' near Republicans have gathered in our hospital city to discuss th' solemn issues iv th' day, an' they ar-re now doin' it in front iv a thousan' bars. Th' gr-reat question iv how manny alternates can be accomydated on a canvas cot bed is bein' settled at this very minyit at th' Hotel Belle Aise on Clark sthreet. I ain't a mimber iv th' comity on intertainment, though I will gladly do me share if anny iv th' visitin' statesmen get out this fur with th' price, but I believe they're bein' regally intertained. A dillygate fr'm Missoury was much flattered at bein' met at th' station be a tall, stout man with a black horseshoe mustache who inthrajooced himsilf as Sinatr Lodge, walked th' dillygate down to th' lake front, an' deprived him iv iverything he had but his change iv collar an' his vote on permanent organization. An alternate fr'm Arkansas repoorts that he'd har'ly been in town ten minyits whin he was invited into a poker game with Sinitor Crane, Sinitor Root, ex-Prisidint Fairbanks, Sinitor Dixon, an' Nicholas Murray Butler. He held good hands, but was defeated.

"Am I goin' to th' convintion? What a question to ask a spoortin' charakter. If a fellow was to come to ye an' say 'Here's a free ticket f'r a combynation iv th' Chicago fire, Saint Bartholomew's massacree, the battle iv th' Boyne, th' life iv Jesse James, an' th' night iv th' big wind, an' all th' victims will be ye're thraditional inimies,' wud ye take it or wud ye not? Ye bet I'm goin'. I have a frind on th' dure. He was too important a man to be a dillygate at large, so they made him a ticket chopper, an' he's goin' to pass me in. I'll get a seat somewhere that I can see th' sthruggle f'r human rights goin' on but fur enough away so I won't be splashed.

"Iv course I'm going'! I haven't missed a riot in this neighborhood in forty years, an' onless I'm deceived be th' venal Republican press this wan will rejoice th' heart, as Hogan says. But I won't go as a Republican. I'm a hardy man, but if anny wan comes up to me an' begins 'Fellow Republican,' I'll cry out: 'Take ye're hand off ye'er gun. Ye have nawthin' agin me. I'm a Dimmycrat.' I on'y wish me Uncle Mike was alive. How he wud've injyed it! Me Uncle Mike was growing' discontinted with th' Dimmycrat party to'rds th' blessed end, but he cudden't be made to jine th' Republicans because he said th' Republican party offered no injoocements to a man iv talent. Uncle Mike's talent as a statesman was all in th' ends iv his arms or in his boots, an' he was a gran' debator. I niver knew but wan man that iver answered his argymints, an' that was a la-ad be th' name iv Costello fr'm New York. But he used a chair. If me Uncle Mike was alive today he'd be wan iv th' l'adin' Republicans iv th' whole country. He'd be a grand figure on th' flure iv the convintion. A debate between him an' Elihoo Root on some constitutional pint wud be well worth seein', with me Uncle Mike on top an' Elihoo argyin' agin crool an' onusual punishment.

"Yes, sir; 'twill be grand. 'Twill be fine if they have wan convintion an' twice as fine if they have two. If they hould two 'twud be pleasant if both cud take place in th' same hall, with maybe a little La Follette convintion dancin' round on th' outside an' heavin' a rock into th' sthrugglin' mass fr'm time to time.

"But I ain't goin' to give anny advice, Hinnissy. Whin this sthruggle began I had a mind to offer me friendly counsel as a man iv expeeryence. Ye know that manny years ago whin I was in pollyticks I occypied an' officyal position with th' centhral comity iv our own gloryous party. Me jooty was to stand outside an'take care iv th' contestin' dillygates whin they come out afther respectfully presintin' their pettyshun. Th' ordher iv procedure was first to throw out th' contestin' dillygate, thin his hat, thin his contest. Me Uncle Mike was chairman iv th' comity, an' he wud come to th' window in Finucane's Hall an' call out: 'Th' comity has decided advarse to Owgoost Schmitt iv th' Sixth Precinct. Here he comes, boys. Catch him.' So whin th' Republicans begun to adopt our fine old Dimmycratic system, thinks I to mesilf: 'They need help fr'm wan who knows th' game. They're not accustomed to this kind iv wurruk. They'll be as foolish as a team iv Baptist ministhers thryin' to play Gaelic futball. I'll put on me hat an' go over an' insthruct thim in th' rudymints.' But, be hivins, whin I wint down to th' Republican Naytional Comity an' see their magnificent wurruk I knew I was on'y an amachoor. To tell thim th' little I knew wud be like a peddler iv collar-buttons advisin' Jawn D. Rockyfellar how to make money. Why, sir, these broad-minded men ar-re takin' a postgrajate coorse where us Dimmycrats ar-re sthrugglin' with th' first reader. They don't deny a contest. They don't wait f'r it to be enthered. They larn that a man has rayjisthered at a hotel who looks like a contestin' dillygate, an' they go down and pull him out iv bed an' hurl him into th' lake.

"I've got to be fair with thim an' say this, that up to th' prisint minyit nawthin' has been done in th' campaign that I cud improve on. Th' language passed round has been magnificint. This is partly joo to th' supeeryor iddycation iv th' Republicans. Th' curse iv th' Dimmycrat party has always been its lack iv culture. Often whin confronted with gr-reat issues we've been onable to think iv annything bad enough to say about each other. But th' Republican leaders ar-re niver at a loss f'r a wurrud. I wondher who ar're th' professors iv personal abuse at Yale an' Harvard. They're good men, wholver they ar-re. Their scholars come out, as Hogan says, fully equipped for th' battle iv life on anny dock in th' wurruld. I've seen a coal heaver readin' an account iv a debate between th' Prisidint an' th' ex-Prisidint an' weepin' because his father had dhrunk up all his money an' hadn't give him an iddycation that wud fit him f'r th' station to which he was called.

"I thought I knew something about pollytickal sthrateejy fr'm th' days whin th' ballot boxes was all made with double bottoms in case iv a tie, but 'twuld be presumchuse f'r me to aven speak in th' prisince iv th' imminent men that have been conductin' th' preliminry wurruk iv th' convintion. I see me frind Aldherman Kenna that was ilicted be a vote iv twinty thousan' out iv a possible eight readin' an account iv th' New York prim'ries with a white face an' thremblin' hands an' sayin' to himsilf:

"'But weren't there any polis around?'

"All th' other details were attinded to with akel skill be thurly thrained hands. Befure I lave th' subjeck I must speak a wurrud in praise f'r th' claims made be both sides. I have niver seen betther or more thorough claimin'. It has been carrid for'ard with so much acc'racy that at th' prisint minyit th' number iv dillygates is almost twict as large as it was at th' beginnin' iv th' campaign.

"An' now all th' arly wurruk has been done an' in a few days th' dillygates, well armed with pieces iv lead pipe, will meet undher th' vast dome iv th' Collisyum to solemnly debate th' gr-reat issues befure thim. Ivrything is in readiness f'r th' grave deliberations. Th' ambylances ar-re standin' at th' dure, th' polis have been equipped with th' usual riot bats, an' th' milishy ar-re sleepin' on their ar-rms. Within a week we will know whether this grand old party will stand firmly be thim principles iv constitutional liberty handed down fr'm George Wash'nton an' Alexander Hamilton to Bill Barnes or march on to higher an' betther ideels undher Bill Flinn, or both.

"There's wan fine thing about th' convintion, Hinnissy. It's goin' to be grand f'r th' south. There will be more money in th' sunny southland this winter thin has been there since th' battle iv Bull's Run. I ixpict to read in th' pa-apers next New Year's Day: 'Although th' cotton crop was not up to th' av'rage, tobacco was killed be blightin' fyrosts, an' th' mint was pale in color an' infeeryer in flavor, all th' losses were made up be th' great demand an' excellent market f'r colored dillygates. A community with wan dillygate injyed unexampled prosperity, while a county with two or more was raised to aflooence.' Ye see, 'tis this way: Th' Republicans says to th' South, 'Ye must give our brunette fellow-citizen a vote.' 'All right,' says th' la-ads down south, 'we'll do so. We won't let thim vote down here onless they want to jine in a bonfire on iliction night. But we'll see that they have aven gr-reater rights than we have. We'll let thim vote at ye'er convintions,' says they.

"'Twas a masther sthroke. I run acrost an' old frind on th' sthreet yisterdah. His name is Zeke Gubbins, an' he was wan iv th' hayroes who jined th' ar-rmy iv occypation afther th' war. He wint in as a private with th' title iv gauger an' come out as a colonel an' collictor iv customs. He done his jooty well in layin' waste th' inimy's counthry, but whin th' sojers left th' close season was up on him. Wan day he led a party iv pathrites to seize th' statehouse, but whin th' milishy fired a salvo iv artillery at him he quit public life an' enthered business as manager iv th' customer's office f'r a crap game. I had heerd he was in poor circumstances, so whin I see him comin' says I to mesilf: 'Here's where I pretind to've met with business revarses.' But, lo an' behold! whin he come near I see that he was dhressed like a weddin' guest an' wore a dimon in his shirt front that wud put out th' eye iv a railroad fireman.

"'Well,' says I, 'ye're lookin' fine,' I says. 'I've had a good year,' says he, flickin' th' ashes iv his see-gar off on an imrald ring. 'I'm a southern planter,' he says. 'What d'ye raise?' says I. 'Cotton?' 'There's nawthin' in cotton,' he says. 'It's a spiculation pure an' simple. No; I'm heavily inthrested in colored dillygates to th' con-vintion. It's been a most forchnit year f'r us. We've had three crops—wan at th' prim'ries, wan at th' meetin' iv th' comity, an' th' third will be ripe about Thoosday,' he says. 'Where is ye'er plantation?' says I. 'In a hotel on State sthreet,' he says with a hearty laugh. 'I've got three iv thim planted there now,' he says. An' he give me a seegar so valyable that I pawned it."

A WONDERFUL RECORD.

Forty Business Buildings Constructed in Van Nuys in Past Fifteen Months.

VAN NUYS, June 15.—During the fifteen months which have elapsed since Van Nuys was established, there has been made a wonderful record in growth and improvements. At the present time there are forty buildings in the townsite used for business purposes, including a National bank, capitalized at $50,000, with deposits of over $100,000 and having over 300 accounts, a first-class hotel, a well-equipped garage, a newspaper and printing plant, drug store, the office of American Beet Sugar Company, mercantile establishments of all kinds, and lumber yards. The Southern Pacific Company has a handsome passenger station and is at present creating a park along its tracks near the station.

Within the town and closely surrounding, there are now at least two hundred residences ranging in price from $1500 to $25,000. Aside from the famous Van Nuys boulevard, which through the town is 110 feet wide and constitutes the principal street, there have been constructed miles of macadamized street. Sidewalks and curbs are in place through a great part of the town.

The present population of the community is close to 1000 people. Over 100 children are enrolled in the schools. The Methodist and Presbyterian Churches have established strong congregations and the latter will start soon on the erection of a $10,000 church building. The new $50,000 grammar school will be ready for occupancy in September.

The Pacific Electric Company is rapidly extending its Van Nuys line to Owensmouth and San Fernando. A large force of men is at work and the poles are erected for half the distance. A fine passenger station at the corner of "F" street and Sherman way in Van Nuys has been started, and this will be the center of the Pacific Electric Company's operations in the valley. The Engstrum Building Company is building a $4500 substation for the Southern California Edison Company on "C" street. The distributing system of this company will be ready for operation in a few days.

The Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce has under consideration the matter of establishing a lighting district to take in the town and surrounding territory. Ornamental lighting posts along the boulevard are contemplated in this project. The equipment for the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone Company building on East Virginia street arrived on Tuesday.

TEXAN BUYS CORNER.

R. G. Dow reports the sale of the northwest corner of West Adams and Scarff streets, 147 feet on Adams by 188 feet on Scarff, from Alfred A. Varian and S. M. Salisbury to W. M. Alexander, a new resident from Dallas, Tex., for a cash consideration of $24,500. R. A. Rowan & Co. represented the seller, and R. G. Dow, the buyer, in the transfer. Dow also reports the sale of the northwest corner of Toberman and Twenty-first streets, 67 feet on Twenty-first by 117 feet on Toberman, for $5000. The same agency reports the leasing of the garage at No. 2219 South Union avenue to the California Electric Garage Company for a term of five years at a total rental of $10,500. This will be one of the largest garages in the southwest part of the city, having over 10,000 square feet of floor space. It will be used exclusively for electrics.

BANK CLEARINGS.

While San Francisco naturally leads the State in bank clearings, its increase for May, 1912, was $16,800,000 over May, 1911, while the Los Angeles increase was over $20,000,000. The statistics are:

	May, 1912.	May, 1911.

AGRICULTURAL PROGRESS.

While some agricultural sections report only fair prospects for cereal crops, others report them as better than the average.

There is much variation, says the board, in the reports of deciduous fruit prospects, though for the apple crop in Pajaro Valley and other sections large prospects are reported. Peaches are generally reported as promising a full crop, as are cherries; pears and apricots vary in different sections, though large crops are reported in some localities.

Prospects for prunes are variable; in some sections much dropping is reported, but the quality of the crop will be better. The other deciduous fruits vary similarly, and where the crop is light, the quality promises an offset to the diminished quantity.

The introduction of the avocado (alligator pear) in receiving some attention in several localities where conditions are most suitable, both in Southern California and about Sacramento.

One thousand date palms from Northern Africa are being set out in Coachella Valley.

The beet sugar factory in Modoc county is reported to be assured and to have provided for a large acreage; in the Honey Lake region, 30,000 acres will be planted to sugar beets. The Visalia plant is to operate this season.

Twenty-one hundred acres will be planted to beans on the San Joaquin ranch in Orange county. The lima bean acreage is extended in Orange and Ventura counties, as is that for other varieties in the Sacramento section.

Cherry shipments are active, also apricots from Imperial Valley, and peaches will follow in short order. Imperial Valley has raised its largest barley crop, from thirty-eight to forty-five bushels per acre from 100,000 acres, a value of about $3,500,000, or $140 each, for every man, woman and child residing in the valley. The valley also gets $4,000,000 this year for the alfalfa (50,000 acres,) and large sums for cattle, hogs, corn, cantaloupes, dairy products ($5000 a day,) vegetables and fruits.

Irrigation is being more widely used by many farmers and fruit growers, who have heretofore got along without it. Well and pumping irrigation is receiving large attention in the Sacramento Valley and elsewhere. Reclamation of 11,000 acres of Tulare Lake land has begun.

Poultry and dairy industry and hog raising are increasing. Blooded stock is supplanting inferior stock on all sides.

Citrus fruit shipments to date are some 30,000 carloads; about 6000 less than last year up to this time. Cantaloupe shipments from Imperial will reach 3000 carloads. This season Orange county has sent East 910 cars of celery.

Homeseekers and tourists are showing great interest in the development of small acreages.

IN GENERAL.

Oil and mining industries are active. A carload of pig-iron, made by the electric process, was shipped from Heroult to Salt Lake. California has large unused iron deposits. Industrial improvements and building quasi-public and private, are very general.

CALIFORNIA FARMS.

Completed census reports just issued show wonderful increases in the value of California farms and farm property in the ten years, 1900 to 1910:

	1910.	Increase in 10 years.
All farm property	$1,614,694,584	$818,166,629
A gain of 102.7 per cent.
Land only	1,217,195,448	636,750,433
A gain of 108.9 per cent.
Farm buildings	133,406,040	55,938,040
A gain of 72.2 per cent.
Implements and machinery	36,433,158	15,181,489
A gain of 71.2 per cent.
Live stock	127,500,938	60,296,612
A gain of 89.6 per cent.

The average value of "all farm property" in California in 1910 was $57.81 an acre against $27.63 in 1900, a gain in the ten years of $30.18 per acre, or 109.2 per cent. And that is progress in California of the most satisfactory and durable kind. Given increased and increasing wealth in farms and all other kinds of prosperity follow. That is largely why the per capita wealth in California is $2235, the largest per capita wealth of any State of the Union or of any country in the world, including our own, wealthy as it is.

BELLEHURST SALES.

Among the purchasers in the Bellehurst tract in Glendale have been the following: On Kenwood street, Albert J. Whittaker, F. Ray Landis, N. Lindenfeld and M. Robinson, two lots; on Jackson street, Ad Linch, Waldo Isaacson, Lloyd Sager, Sarah H. Bacon, Oliver E. Scott, Martha N. Barnet, Miss B. M. Gunn, R. W. Gunn, G. R. Messick and Minnie Isaacson, two lots; on Isabel street, S. Granis, S. H. Bacon and Fannie E. Merritt, two lots, and Jennie B. Wilson, J. C. Wilson, Anna E. Ingraham, Mabel L. Mattise and Albert Espe; on Howard street, Dr. A. L. Shellhorn, two lots, and A. A. McDonald, Harry F. Speck, Anna Steger, Kate Thomas and J. B. Geldmacher; on Geneva street, William Owen, William C. Finley and Albert J. Ewald, two lots. The improvement work in the tract is fast nearing completion.

WILSHIRE COURT OPENED.

The Walter G. McCarty Company will open its new Wilshire Court tract today. The owners, in order to expedite grading work, offered a bonus to the contractor doing the work if he would finish it within two weeks. The contractor used a new gasoline grader which proved to be a great saver of time and labor. Wilshire Court is located at the junction of Wilshire and Crenshaw boulevards.

JOINS REALTY FIRM.

Kenneth V. Redpath, who for fourteen years has been credit manager of the Los Angeles Times, has recently resigned his position with that paper and has connected himself with the F. H. Redpath Company as treasurer and assistant general manager. Redpath is a brother of F. H. Redpath, who is president of the F. H. Redpath Company.

Big Affair.

FRUIT GROWERS HOLD THE FORT.

Grand Rally in Convention at Santa Barbara.

Five Hundred Experts Meet to Compare Notes.

Fruit Fly, Soils, Fertilization Other Themes.

Many vital facts were brought to light at the forty-first California State fruit growers' convention, held at the Potter Hotel, in Santa Barbara, under the auspices of the State Commission of Horticulture, June 12, 13, 14.

The meeting was one of the greatest of its kind ever held in the State, being attended by experts from the Department of Agriculture at Washington, investigators from this country and from foreign lands, professors from the State universities, State Horticultural Commissioners and their assistants, nurserymen and plant importers and finally, just plain fruit-growers and farmers.

Despite the great station and learning of some who attended, all met on one common ground to discuss questions of soil, cultivation, plant breeding, etc. Sometimes an expert would be questioned by another expert, sometimes the query would come from a man who owned a small orchard away off in the hills that nobody knew about and nobody cared about, but the same courteous treatment was accorded to both. All were there to learn. Individual experiences of large and small growers alike were listened to, and not one word was lost lest it might throw some light on the subject under consideration.

Undoubtedly one of the most important features of the meeting was the brilliant series of lectures on "Soils," by Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins of the University of Illinois, and the important revelations on "The Mediterranean Fruit Fly in Hawaii," by Prof. H. P. Severin of Honolulu. The former had a wide interest for all the hearers, and demonstrated many new phases in relation to the improvement of soil conditions by fertilization of land and the rotation of crops. The latter revealed many new facts concerning a dangerous pest, which threatens seriously farming in California, as well as in the whole United States.

Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins has for years been connected with the University of Illinois. He has given his life to the study of soil, and is recognized as the greatest authority on the subject in the world. He was secured for the convention at Santa Barbara by the State Commissioner of Horticulture, Dr. A. J. Cook. Dr. Hopkins is a man of broad knowledge, and by the force of his comparisons brought his hearers face to face with the neglect of the improvement of soil conditions in this country. He showed how the yields of some of the principal crops had fallen because of this neglect, how in some cases land had practically become barren, and was deserted because it would not yield sufficient returns to make its cultivation profitable. Then he demonstrated how in Illinois, where experiments have been carried on for more than thirty years, the production of various crops has been increased through fertilization and the rotation of crops. In all his talks he hurled statistics at his listeners with convincing force, and his words pointed toward the conclusion that if the work of improving soil conditions is not carried on there may come a day when the harvests from our lands will not be anywhere near sufficient to support our population, and that at the present time the neglect of the soil and plant feeding is more or less responsible for the increase in the cost of living. In all Dr. Hopkins gave four talks on the subjects of "Soils," and his address on Wednesday night with stereopticon views was in its popular treatment of the subject a brilliant triumph.

DANGEROUS PEST.

Probably no lecture on the programme brought about such fevered interest on the part of all parties or created more discussion than Prof. Severin's address on "The Mediterranean Fruit Fly in Hawaii." The session on Thursday morning could hardly be closed on account of it and the subject was continued in the evening, Prof. Severin giving a detailed description of the conditions in which the dangerous pest comes into existence in Hawaii, one of its breeding places. The Mediterranean fruit fly is probably one of the most dangerous of all insect pests and has caused great devastation in the fruit industry of Hawaiian Islands and other countries. These flies deposit their eggs in many varieties of fruits, the result being that they are shortly filled with maggots.

As yet the Mediterranean fruit fly has not been found in California, but should it be introduced only a short time would elapse before it would spread over a great territory, and a loss of millions and millions of dollars in the fruit industry would be the result.

At the Fruit Growers' Convention a committee was appointed to report on the Mediterranean fly question, and passed resolutions recommending State and Federal legislation on the subject. Prof. Severin showed in his lecture how every effort is being made in Hawaii to get the pest under control, a great deal having already been accomplished. All were extremely interested in his descriptions, and the Mediterranean fruit fly was the topic of the day.

CITRUS INDUSTRY.

Great developments regarding the citrus fruit industry were revealed in a lecture by A. D. Shamel of Riverside, on "Breeding Citrus Trees." He has been engaged in this work in California for three years, and for the first time made public some of the results of his experiments. He has found that in citrus trees of the same variety, planted on the same kind of soil and given the same kind

HOME OF ELKS OPEN FOR USE.

Antlered Herd Meets in New Clubhouse.

Palatial Mansion on Arroyo Seco Sold.

Many Permits Taken Out for Fine Dwellings.

PASADENA, June 15.—The new home of the Pasadena Elks, at No. 400 West Colorado street, is now complete and furnished, and the lodge held its first meeting there last week. The building, the grounds and the furnishings represent an outlay of approximately $100,000, and comprise one of the show places of the city. The building is two stories in height and is of a strictly colonial style of architecture, white and with a long colonnade across the front.

The interior also is finished with white pillars. One of the most noticeable features is the width of the halls and doorways.

The building has an immense lodge room with a balcony. The furniture is all of black walnut, as it is in all other rooms on the lower floor, while the living-rooms on the second floor are furnished in Circassian walnut. Indirect electric lighting is used in all parts of the building, so that no lamps are visible.

Other rooms on the main floor are a reading-room, a billiard-room and a ladies' reception-room, while the large dining-room comes a few steps lower down in the basement. There are fourteen living-rooms on the second floor and space for sixteen more on the third floor.

The building is equipped with the most modern of heating, ventilating and vacuum-cleaning equipment.

PALATIAL HOME SOLD.

Mrs. William-Anna Loring, whose son was drowned in the Titanic disaster, and who, with Mr. Loring passed the winter at No. 141 North Grand avenue, last week purchased, through the William R. Staats Company, the home of Harlow W. Bailey, one of the handsomest houses overlooking the Arroyo Seco in the San Rafael Heights district. The deal includes two acres adjoining the Bailey property on the east, and the total consideration was $115,000.

Mrs. Loring expects to add several rooms to the house and to make numerous improvements. The building, as well as many of the furnishings, are replicas of the house and furnishings at the Washington home on Mt. Vernon.

BUILDING PERMITS.

Of building permits issued last week, those for improvements to cost $1000 or more, were:

Dr. and Mrs. David B. Van Slyck, eight-room, one and one-half story frame residence, at No. 60 South Grand avenue, $6440; H. Page Warden, eight-room, two-story frame residence, No. 1150 Arroyo drive, $6539; Mrs. Mildrith Wittam, three-room frame bungalow, No. 850 Galena avenue, $1000; J. M. Sanborn, seven-room frame bugalow, No. 171 North Chester avenue, $2500; C. M. Skillen, two-story, class "C" brick building, No. 400-426 East Colorado street, $3500; E. W. Smith, five-room frame bungalow and garage, No. 577 Claremont drive, $2500; Elmer Vail, six-room frame bungalow and barn, No. 1645 Carson street, $1500; J. E. Parke, six-room frame bungalow, No. 500 Del Mar drive, $1500.

CANYON SITES IN GOOD DEMAND.

MANY SALES IN NEW VERDUGO PARK TRACT.

Half of Stock in Proposed Mountain Scenic Railroad Reported Sold—Lively Valley Town Hopes to Become City of Sixth Class Through Special Election.

GLENDALE, June 15.—Twenty-four lots were sold during the past week in the Verdugo Park tract, a section of land lying just north of Verdugo Park on the Glendale-Verdugo Park electric line. This tract, which originally contained several hundred acres, has been subdivided by the Western Empire Company into building lots averaging about 150x170 feet in size, these being practically country home sites. The prices for the property range from $1400 to $2000 per lot, and the building restrictions are $2000. Among the purchasers who are prominent at this place are Dr. R. E. Chase, C. O. Pulliam, F. H. Flower, owner of two business blocks at this place, and Mr. Bunn, cashier of the All Night and Day Bank of Los Angeles, all of whom will build.

A meeting of those interested in the Mt. Verdugo scenic railway was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Fourth street Friday evening, at which it was reported that nearly 1000 shares of stock had already been sold in the company. It is expected that the other 1000 shares which must be sold before the actual work on the construction of the incline can begin, will be sold within the next ten days. With hardly an exception the stock has been sold to local business men, an effort being made to confine the company to Glendale residents. The first work will be to erect the line about a half mile up the hill, from which point a magnificent view of the mountains and ocean is obtainable.

One of the next important steps to be taken by this city will be the establishment of the freeholders' form of charter, under which the city will be operated. For several years this step has been advocated by several leading residents. For the purpose of ascertaining whether or not Glendale had sufficient population to insure the changing of the plan of government a census was taken, being completed this week and showing that within this city's limits there are 5391 people residing, this being more than enough to insure the legality of the changing of governmental form. Within a very short time an election will be held to enable the people to express their opinion of the proposed change.

The fact was made public this week that T. W. Wright, who for the past several years has been in the realty business here, will start within a few days the erection of a two-story brick block of three store-rooms at the corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard, south of the Pacific Electric depot. This building will conform with the other business buildings in this section and will cost, it is stated, something like $15,000. The upper floor will be taken up with office rooms and apartments.

Mrs. Joseph DeGrasse has purchased "The Knoll," formerly the old Hobs place, at the corner of Ninth street and Central avenue, and will erect in the near future a handsome residence on the site. Both Mr. and Mrs. DeGrasse are theatrical people of considerable note.

The James H. Wells property, known as "Canyon Crest," at the east end of Fourth street, has been purchased by William M. Hepburn, formerly of New York City. The place consists of several acres and Mr. Hepburn intends to establish a high-class rest resort on the property, incidentally making a number of improvements.

The new $25,000 intermediate school was opened this week when the graduation exercises of the various grammar schools of the city were held in the spacious auditorium, which has a seating capacity of about 600. The exterior work of the building is almost completed. It is entirely of brick with stone trimmings, and, with the exception of the High School, is the finest school building in the city. It is located at the corner of Jackson and Third streets. During the past year the intermediate scholars have been housed in a temporary frame building, but, the contractors claim this new structure will be ready for occupancy by the opening of next term.

PROTESTS OVERCOME.

Center-Street Pier at Last an Assured Project—Venice Signboards to Be Abolished.

VENICE, June 15.—The Center-street pier is to be built at last, despite the many protests made against it by property owners in that section of the city. Augustus Stutzer is to be the builder and work will begin as soon as the necessary legal arrangements can be completed. The City Clerk has been instructed to advertise for bids for selling the franchise and this will be done immediately. The pleasure pier projected will be 1000 feet long and 50 feet wide and of reinforced concrete.

The Venice postoffice is to be enlarged and improved immediately. The government has just accepted the lease from the Abbot Kinney Company for the building on Windward avenue for another five years, but owing to the increase in business it is necessary to have larger quarters. The front of the structure will be torn out and partitions moved and replaced, so as to afford more light and room and other improvements will be made on the interior.

All signboards which overhang the sidewalks in Venice are to be taken down so that the view up and down the business streets will be unobstructed. Chief of Police Lingo will notify all merchants, real estate operators, restaurant keepers and all others who have signs hanging out in front of their places of business to take them down. For some time the signboards in front of several of the business places have been anything but pretty sights and citizens have complained to the City Trustees. This move is in line with the endeavor to make Venice a city beautiful.

The building superintendent has issued the following permits for cottages and bungalows: J. B. Merritt, five-room house, Fourth avenue, $1250; W. F. Hanes, four-room cottage, Westminster avenue, $1500; Mrs. Ann Jones, six-room house, Venice Annex No. 1, $1950; E. Higuero, three-room cottage, Rose avenue, $900; Mrs. F. Boesch, garage and dwelling on Thornton avenue, $1950; R. C. Bloomfield, garage at No. 511 Broadway, $400; Mrs. Mary E. Foote, four-room cottage, Fourth street and Broadway, $600; B. B. Search, three-room cottage, Compton and Santa Monica roads, $800, and Frank Williams, two-room cottage, Durley tract, $500.

Braun, Bryant & Austin, a local contracting firm, have been awarded the contract for the improvement of the streets and sidewalks at Manhattan Beach. It is a $167,000 contract, one of the largest and most important of the kind ever given along the beach. Over 5600 feet of street will be paved and cement sidewalks will be laid. Work will be started at once.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE.

MANY SALES REPORTED

SOUTH PASADENA, June 15.—That real estate is becoming more active since the starting of the street improvements, that building is progressing on a satisfactory scale and that the general outlook is for a good summer, is the report of a number of realty men in this city. A number of promising realty deals are reported, which as yet are not closed and ready for publication, also numerous inquiries for houses to purchase. The demand for residences to rent is good for this time of the year.

P. J. Dolan reports the following recent sales: P. J. Dolan to L. Hazzard of Los Angeles, lot on Garfield avenue, between Mission and Monterey road, extending back 560 feet into the Arroyo, with an eight-room house, the grounds highly improved with fruit trees and flowering shrubs and flowers, reported consideration, $10,000.

L. Hazzard to P. J. Dolan a twenty-six-room apartment-house on West Second street, between Olive and Grand avenues, Los Angeles, with the furnishings, lot 30x120 feet, $25,000. Dolan contemplates building an addition to the property and generally remodeling it.

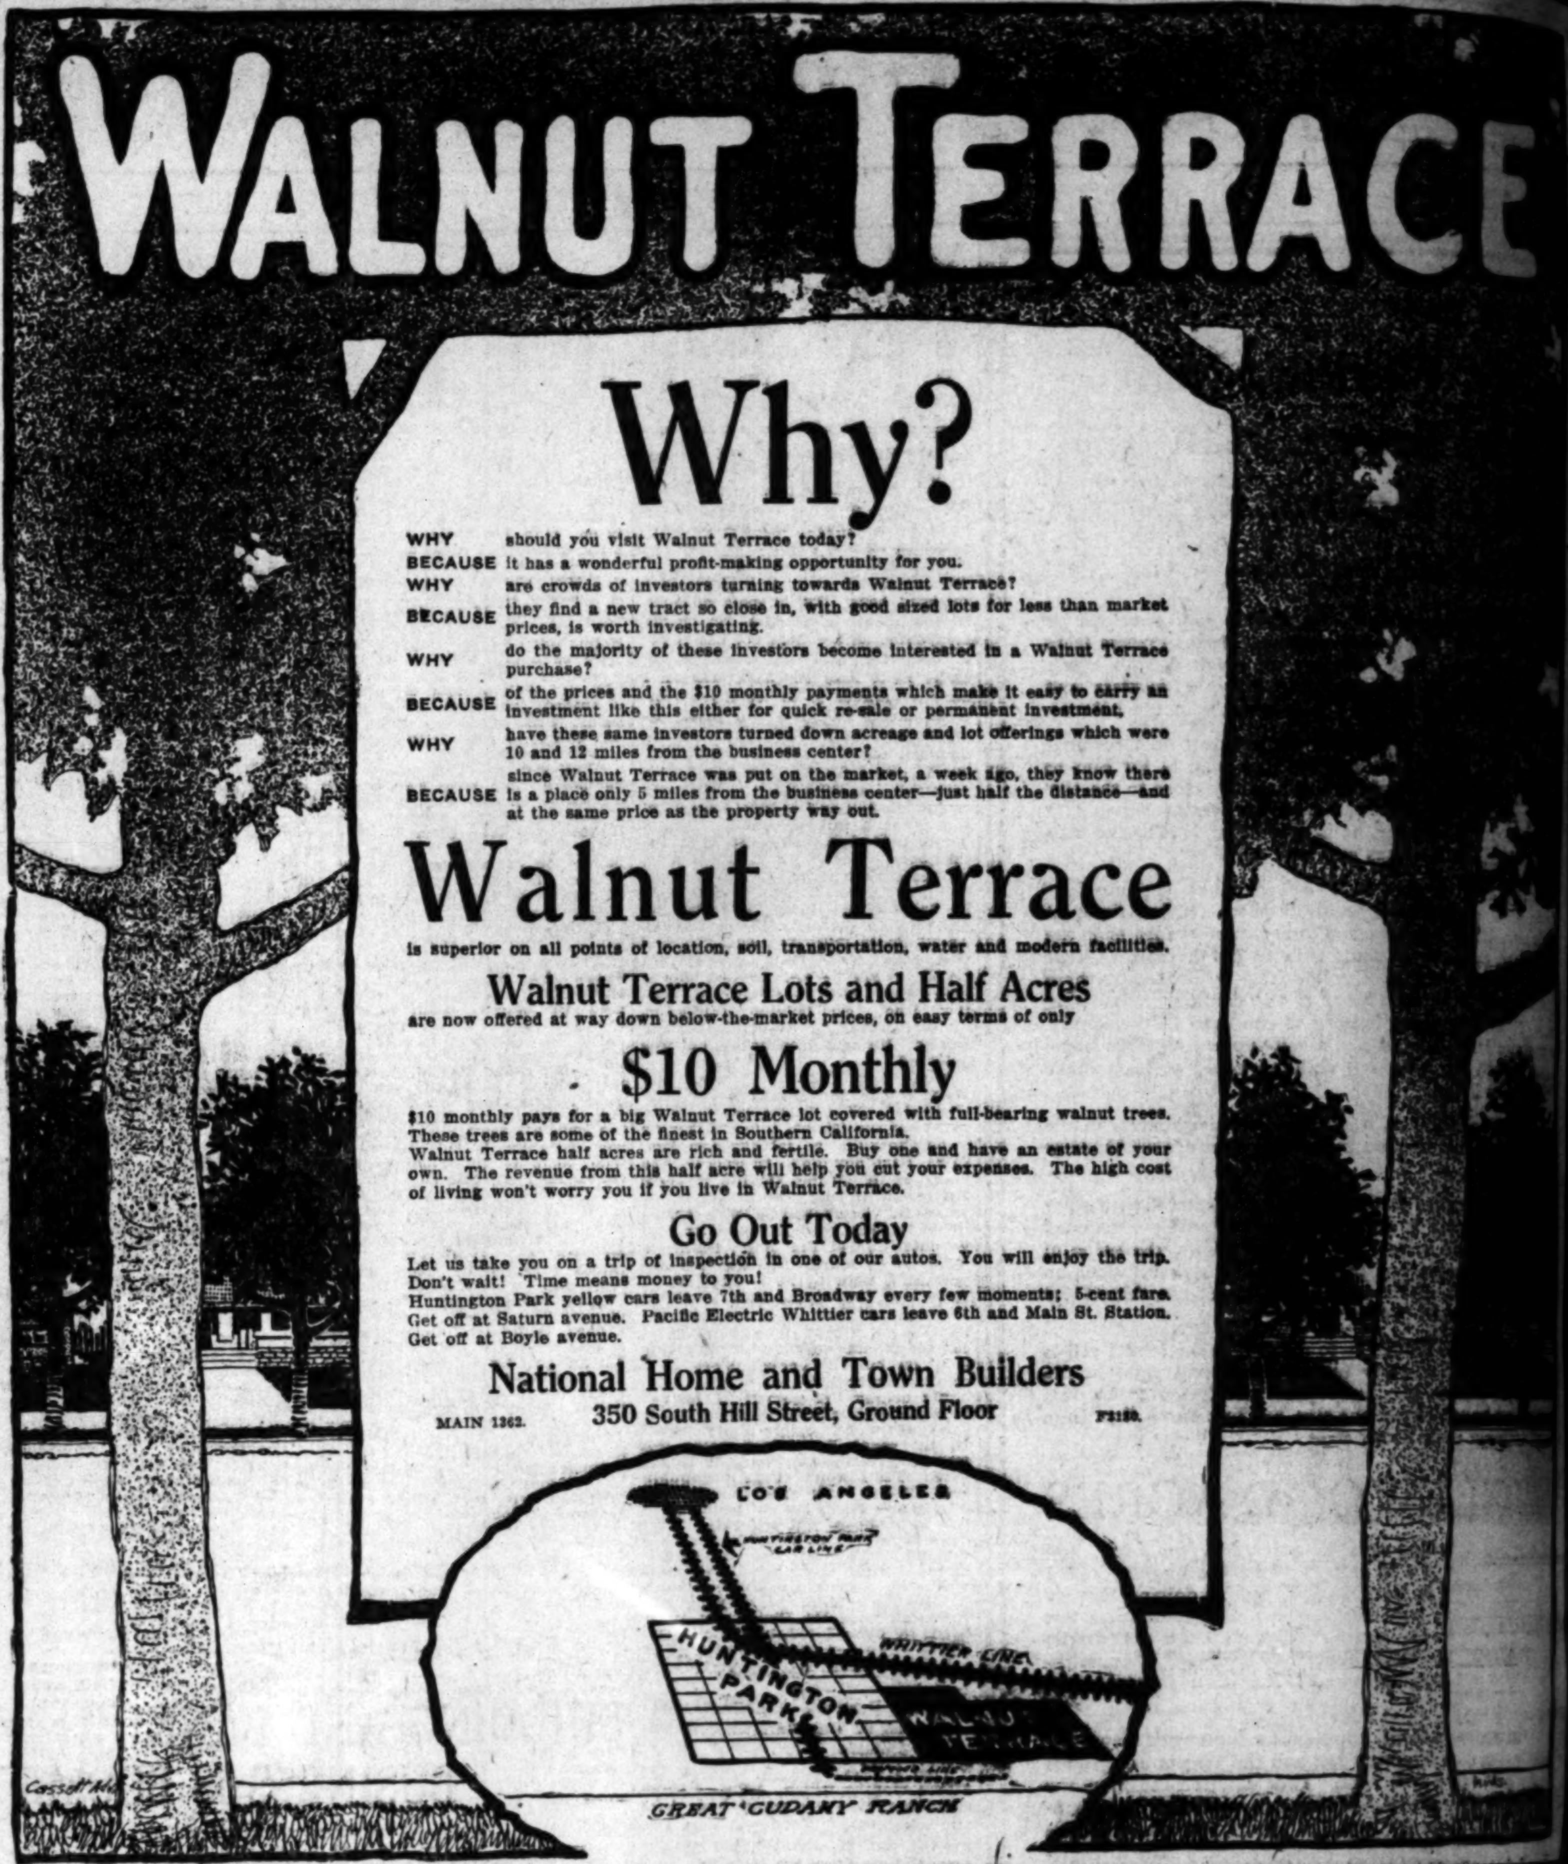
R. D. List, an old resident of this city, reports the sale of his home on Pasadena avenue, which is one of the show places of the city. He will remove with his family to Los Angeles, where he is opening up a large new residence tract on Western avenue.

R. C. Chubbic has purchased the cyclery shop of E. B. Coram, No. 1007 Mission street, and has taken possession. He will carry on a bicycle sales and repair shop, and comes to this city from Long Beach, where he resided for twelve years.

H. L. Boggess of Virginia has purchased the restaurant of E. Pinkham on Mission street, near Fair Oaks avenue, and has taken possession.

REPORT RECENT SALES.

Recent sales made by E. G. Welch and F. H. Ballinger, with T. L. O'Brien & Co., follow: W. E. Patterson to Mrs. E. S. O'Neal, No. 2281 West Twenty-eighth street, six-room cottage, lot 45x135 feet, $2800; W. E. Patterson to Annie Reynolds, six-room bungalow, lot 45x145 feet, No. 1275 West Thirty-fifth street, $4000; T. L. O'Brien to Mertie E. Francisco, two lots in the Western Terminal tract, 45x135 feet, now being improved with five-room bungalows, on Third avenue, just north of Fifty-fourth street, $1700; Annie Reynolds to W. E. Patterson, lot in Melrose Hill tract, 50x145 feet, on Institute place, just east of Western, $1500; lot of Arlington Heights, 50x150 feet, Eighth avenue, just north of Washington street, $2000; Mrs. E. S. O'Neal to W. E. Patterson, three vacant lots in Highland Park, Hamilton's subdivision, Baltimore street, near Avenue 56, 40x140 feet each, $2100.



WALNUT TERRACE

Why?

WHY should you visit Walnut Terrace today?
BECAUSE it has a wonderful profit-making opportunity for you.
WHY are crowds of investors turning towards Walnut Terrace?
BECAUSE they find a new tract so close in, with good sized lots for less than market prices, is worth investigating.
WHY do the majority of these investors become interested in a Walnut Terrace purchase?
BECAUSE of the prices and the $10 monthly payments which make it easy to carry an investment like this either for quick re-sale or permanent investment.
WHY have these same investors turned down acreage and lot offerings which were 10 and 12 miles from the business center?
BECAUSE since Walnut Terrace was put on the market, a week ago, they know there is a place only 5 miles from the business center—just half the distance—and at the same price as the property way out.

Walnut Terrace

is superior on all points of location, soil, transportation, water and modern facilities.

Walnut Terrace Lots and Half Acres are now offered at way down below-the-market prices, on easy terms of only

$10 Monthly

$10 monthly pays for a big Walnut Terrace lot covered with full-bearing walnut trees. These trees are some of the finest in Southern California.
Walnut Terrace half acres are rich and fertile. Buy one and have an estate of your own. The revenue from this half acre will help you cut your expenses. The high cost of living won't worry you if you live in Walnut Terrace.

GROWERS HOLD THE FORT.

of treatment, the yield of fruit both in size and quality varies greatly. His investigations have led him to believe that this is due more or less to bud variation.

In his paper Mr. Shamel showed how performance records of the various trees had been kept indicating quality and quantity of the fruit. He has reduced his investigations to a systematic basis, and many of the growers in various sections have become greatly interested in the work and have taken it up. A. D. Shamel was at one time teaching in the University of Illinois, and has been connected with the Department of Agriculture. He has been working at plant breeding for a number of years and organized the Illinois Seed Corn Breeders' Association, which has for its purpose the scientific breeding of the staple. He hopes to form an organization of like character in this State for the citrus fruit industry to be called the Citrus Fruit Improvement Association.

Besides Dr. Hopkins's great lectures on the subject of soil, two lectures on "Soil Bacteria" were given by Prof. C. B. Lipman of Berkeley. The interest was so great that it was difficult to close the session after the first lecture, because of the questions addressed to Prof. Lipman from all sides. After the meeting a host of fruit growers, farmers, and others, gathered about him and literally bombarded him with queries. Great interest seemed to be aroused in the growers by anything relating to soil.

SPEAKERS AND VISITORS.

The convention was called to order at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning by Dr. A. J. Cook, State Commissioner of Horticulture. The nine sessions were presided over in turn by Dr. A. J. Cook, C. C. Teague of Santa Paula, Judge Peter Shields of Sacramento, and Prof. C. B. Lipman of Berkeley. On the first day speeches were as follows: "Fungous Diseases," H. S. Fawcett of the Whittier Experimental Station; "Soils," Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins of the University of Illinois; "Frost Protection," C. C. Teague of Santa Paula; "Breeding Citrus Trees," A. D. Shamel of Riverside; "Soil Bacteria," Prof. C. B. Lipman of Berkeley; "Soils" (stereopticon lecture,) Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins; "The Avocado," F. W. Popenoe of Altadena; "New Fruits," Dr. C. F. Franceschi of Santa Barbara.

The following papers were read on Thursday; "Work of the State Commission of Horticulture," Dr. A. J. Cook; "Soils," Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins; "The Mediterranean Fruit Fly in Hawaii," Prof. H. P. Severin of Honolulu; "The Olive," Hon. Elwood Cooper; "The Olive Knot," Prof. W. T. Horne of Berkeley; "Agriculture in the Common Schools," Mrs. E. G. Ord of Santa Barbara; "The Walnut," F. E. Kellogg of Santa Barbara; "Results of Recent Investigations in Fig Culture and Caprification," Walter T. Swingle of Washington, D. C., and G. P. Rixford of San Francisco. The evening papers were followed by a stereopticon lecture on the Mediterranean fruit fly.

On Friday the programme was as follows: "Sugar Beets," F. J. McCoy of Betteravia; "Soils," Dr. Hopkins; "Fruit Rots," H. S. Fawcett; "The Law and the Nurserymen," by Leonard Coates of Morgan Hill; "Dates," P. B. Popenoe of Altadena; "Work at the Riverside Experiment Station," Dr. J. Elliot Colt of Riverside; reports of committees; "Soil Bacteria" (stereopticon lecture,) Prof. C. B. Lipman; and "The Almond," J. P. Dargitz of Acampo.

Among the prominent visitors was Walter T. Swingle of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture at Washington, whose work has been more or less connected with California for many years. He has had much to do with making possible the culture of Smyrna figs in this State, and is now exerting the greater part of his efforts toward perfecting the date industry in the State. Other prominent men from the Bureau of Plant Industry were Prof. S. C. Mason, Abboriculturist and Dry Land son, Arboriculturist and Dry Land charge of western agricultural experiment stations and extension supplementing reclamation, and Dr. O. F. Cook, who is engaged in the work of cotton breeding. A noted visitor was Prof. H. P. Severin of Honolulu, who has been studying the Mediterranean fruit fly in that district.

Among others who attended the convention were Prof. E. J. Wickson, Prof. C. B. Lipamn, Prof. W. T. Horne, all from the State University; Judge Peter Shields, Superior judge of Sacramento; G. P. Rixford of San Francisco, who has also been connected with the Department of Agriculture; H. S. Fawcett of the Whittier Experimental Station; C. C. Teague of Santa Paula; A. D. Shamel of Riverside, F. W. Popenoe and son of Altadena; Dr. C. F. Franceschi of Santa Barbara, and son, Hon. Elwood Cooper of Santa Barbara, S. H. Essig, secretary of the Horticultural Commission; F. E. Kellogg of Santa Barbara, F. J. McCoy of Betteravia, Leonard Coates of Morgan Hill, Dr. J. Elliot Colt of Riverside, R. S. Valle of Santa Barbara, Fred Reed of Riverside, and many others. Commissioners and delegates from practically every county in California were present, and numberless growers and nurserymen. In all about 500 people attended the convention. The meetings were thrown open to the general public and the long sessions were heard through by many casual visitors, who found them so interesting and instructive that they could not leave.

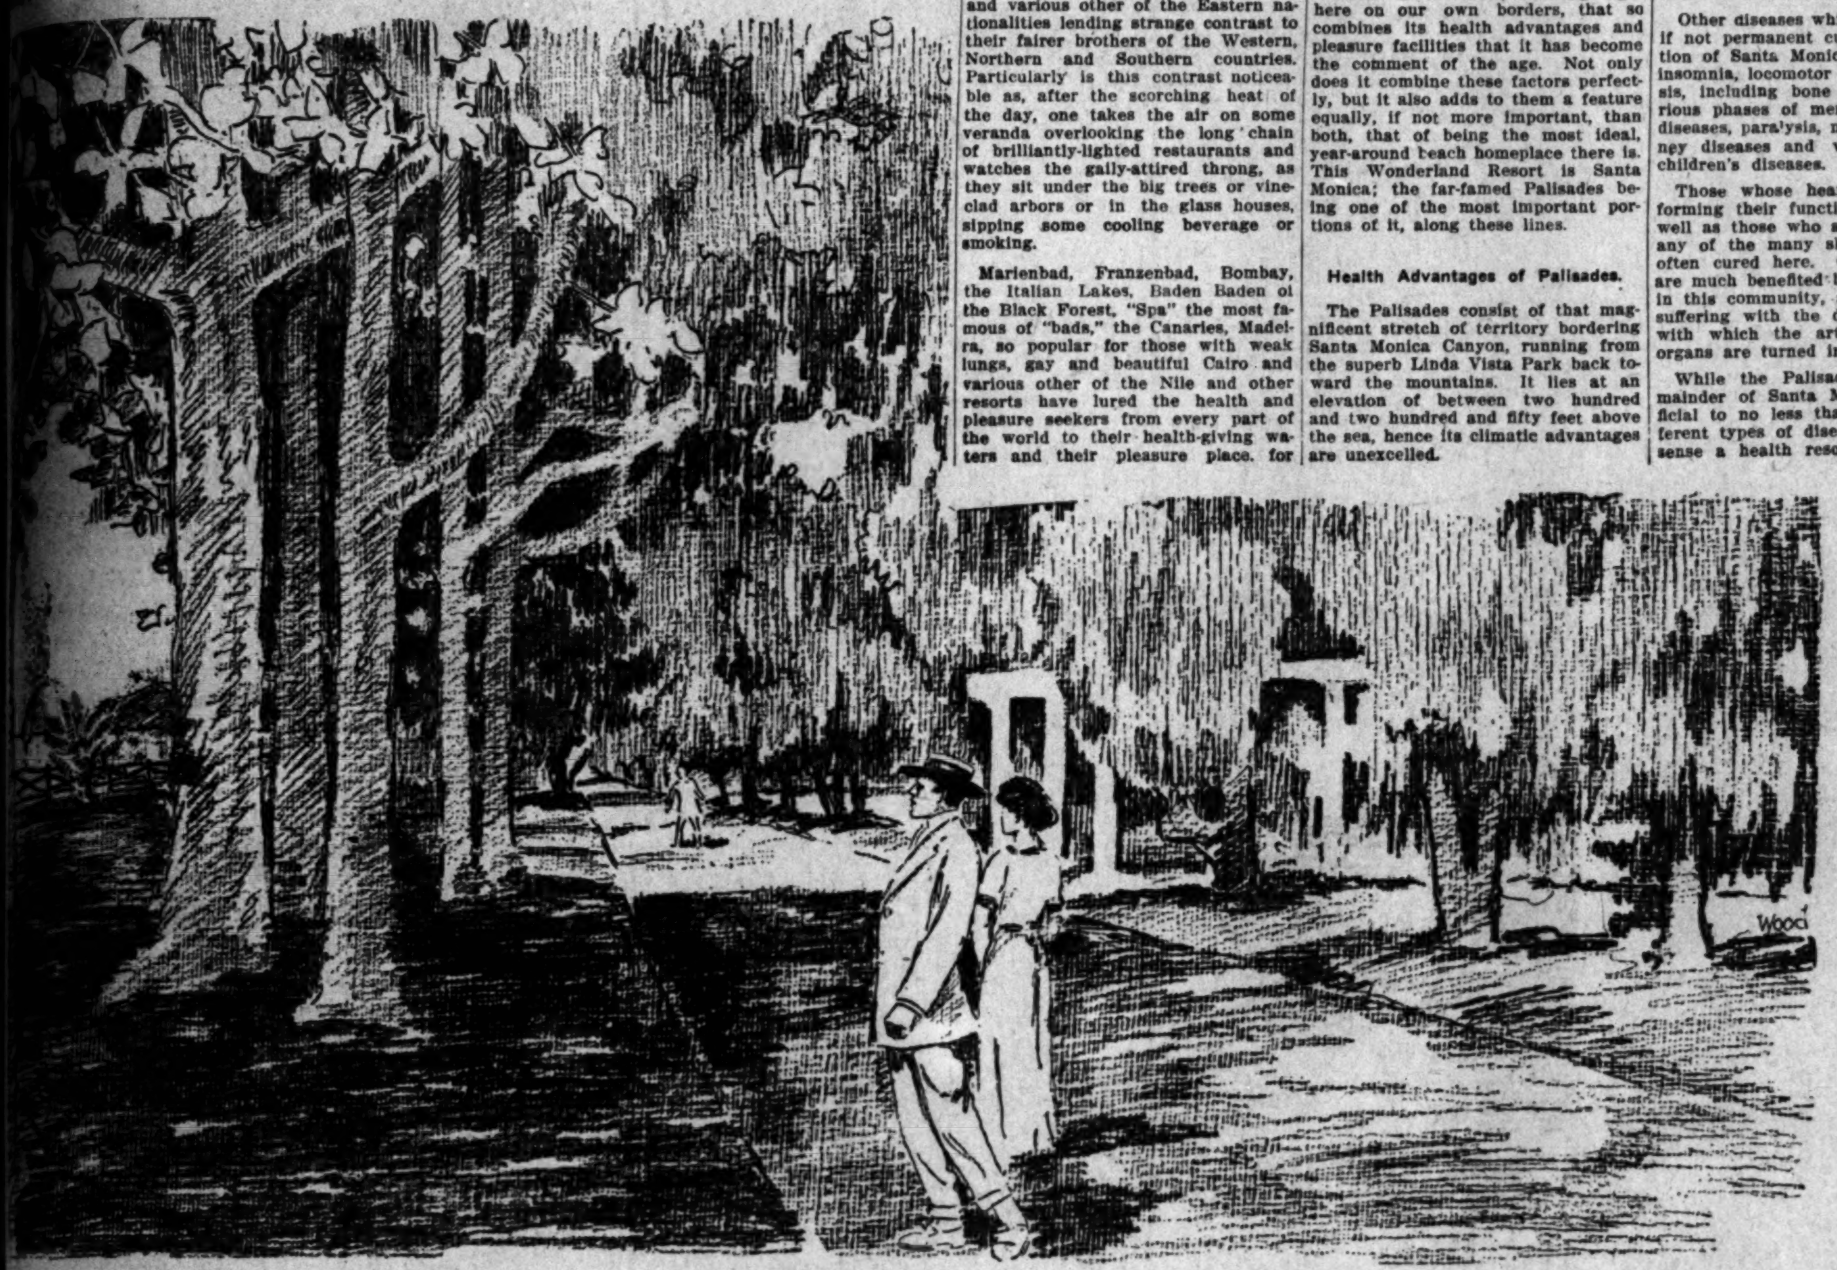
nta Monica, A Health, Pleasure and Beach Resort Surpassing Europe's Best

The Far-Famed Palisades Compare for Health Advantages With the Noted Spas of the World

the time that Rome was in the Spas of the old world chief among watering the invalid and those suf- the various maladies to which the human race is heir.

Carlsbad has been perhaps one of the most notable of all such resorts, maintaining her reputation as one of the "kill-or-cure" sorts, which eliminate all of those belonging to the class who would merely visit it to say they had been there, or, as one writer puts it, those of such a frivolous type as "the lady in the German Punch who wished to take the waters, that she might see her name upon a Kur list."



Here like in some great "melting pot" the opposites of the earth meet—Jews, Greeks, Turks, Negroes, Huns, and various other of the Eastern nationalities lending strange contrast to their fairer brothers of the Western, Northern and Southern countries. Particularly is this contrast noticeable as, after the scorching heat of the day, one takes the air on some veranda overlooking the long chain of brilliantly-lighted restaurants and watches the gaily-attired throng, as they sit under the big trees or vine-clad arbors or in the glass houses, sipping some cooling beverage or smoking.

Marienbad, Franzenbad, Bombay, the Italian Lakes, Baden Baden of the Black Forest, "Spa" the most famous of "bads," the Canaries, Madeira, so popular for those with weak lungs, gay and beautiful Cairo and various other of the Nile and other resorts have lured the health and pleasure seekers from every part of the world to their health-giving waters and their pleasure place, for centuries past, all of them while restoring health or affording pleasure, provide one with none or nearly none of the other.

There is a resort, nestling right here on our own borders, that so combines its health advantages and pleasure facilities that it has become the comment of the age. Not only does it combine these factors perfectly, but it also adds to them a feature equally, if not more important, than both, that of being the most ideal, year-around beach homeplace there is. This Wonderland Resort is Santa Monica; the far-famed Palisades being one of the most important portions of it, along these lines.

Health Advantages of Palisades.

The Palisades consist of that magnificent stretch of territory bordering Santa Monica Canyon, running from the superb Linda Vista Park back toward the mountains. It lies at an elevation of between two hundred and two hundred and fifty feet above the sea, hence its climatic advantages are unexcelled.

The coast line both along the Palisades and throughout Santa Monica, medical authority states, is especially beneficial to asthma. Here the elevation goes from sea level to two hundred feet above.

Other diseases which find great aid, if not permanent cures, in this portion of Santa Monica are bronchitis, insomnia, locomotor ataxia, tuberculosis, including bone tuberculosis, various phases of mental and nervous diseases, paralysis, neurasthenia, kidney diseases and various types of children's diseases.

Those whose hearts are not performing their functions properly, as well as those who are troubled with any of the many skin diseases, are often cured here. Orthopedic cases are much benefited by residence also in this community, as well as those suffering with the different diseases with which the arteries and other organs are turned into lime.

While the Palisades and the remainder of Santa Monica are beneficial to no less than dozens of different types of diseases, it is in no sense a health resort infested with deformed incurables, such as one finds at the rest of the Health Resorts of the old and the new world. One may walk or drive for miles in any direction and not see within the entire scope of his trip any of the distressing sights that he would perhaps come in contact with every few moments at other like resorts.

Splendid hospital accommodations are provided for those in the last stages of disease, which take advantage of every possible medical and climatic advantage that could contribute toward their recovery. Various mountain resorts throughout the mountains give great aid to those diseases which improve best in the highest altitudes.

The Palisades as a Beach Home Place.

Of all the list of Pleasure and Health Resorts mentioned in this article or otherwise known, there are none that compare for home advantages with the glories of the Palisades, Santa Monica.

Here not only does each resident enjoy the most ideal climatic advantages on earth for comfort as well as health; but he lives surrounded by an ever changing scene of entrancing splendor. On one side sweeps the great, rock-ribbed canyon; its gracefully curved sides looking as though they might form the sandy bed of some giant serpent; straight ahead down the abyss of the canyon may be seen the sea, lashing itself into a white foam against the rocks; in the background looms the endless stretch of mountains.

Some of the finest homes of Southern California have found their way naturally to this beauty spot, the Palisades, where every detail of improvements have been so planned that they meet the highest requirements of the most exacting kings of finance.

The new J. J. Davis subdivision of the Palisades, has been the sensation of the hour, so to speak, its selling has been on such a tremendous scale and its developments so marked. Four beautiful homes are already completed, approximating $10,000 each, several more are to start at once.

The sewers, gas and water meters are in, the cement work comprising the walks and curbs will be completed in three weeks. The Park Superintendent has selected the trees for the parking spaces, and they will be installed at once. E. M. Hills of this city and Santa Monica is General Sales Agent, with K. C. Heath as Santa Monica representative.

All along the strand hurry-up orders are being followed to the letter among the builders. The roof is on the new Busch casino and work is now progressing with the interior finishings and decorations, the desire being to have the completed inn ready for formal dedication July 4. The Elks are also losing no time with operations on the new Ocean-avenue clubhouse, which will be dedicated early in July, if the $10,000 worth of furnishings can be installed by that time. At the new $250,000 High School building work has progressed to a point which makes it possible to use the great auditorium next week on the occasion of the High School graduation exercises. This room will seat more than 1000 persons.

Work is starting on paving contracts in the northeastern part of the city, that, when completed will add several miles to the municipal boulevards and give many thousands of feet of concrete sidewalk and curbing in the new residential district. Bean and barley fields are here giving way to bungalows. Sewer, water and gas mains are being laid and the other utilities will be installed as incidental to the general development plan which in the end will be a solid city of homes from the Palisades to Sawtelle. The latter city is building toward the sea and Santa Monica is approaching Los Angeles. The meeting place on the city division line at Cambridge street is already a lively nest of pretty bungalows of modern design.

The realty firm of Miles & Tegner reports of the following recent transfers: To M. A. Hoover, 116 lots, all located in an area bounded by Seventh street, Fourteenth street, Nevada avenue and Montana avenue, $58,000; Charles Armstrong, 50-foot lot, $1000; S. J. Marquis, corner Seventh and Utah, $3000; J. J. Davis to J. W. Segrist, lot, $1250; Mrs. M. J. Henry, three lots, $2100; Anna Garrigues, lot, $950; Henry Engelbrecht, three lots, $11,000; C. F. Southcott to Mrs. Sarah Phelps, lot, $1700; John Kennedy, lot, $6000, and A. W. Jamison, lot, $3000.

IMPROVEMENTS UNDER WAY.

Engineers have for the past three weeks been working on the Angelus Heights tract at San Diego, a property recently acquired by the Pacific Home Builders of this city. A profile of the proposed improvements includes some unique features, among which are contoured drives and streets that will make every lot a viewpoint from which to see San Diego, the mountains and the bay. Work upon the extension of the present street-car line is progressing. No sales of the property are being made at present, and will not be until improvements are well on.

PLAN COUNTRY HOMES.

Palm Place sales are reported by George J. Cote to Alfred E. Gwynn, Louis Levisque, P. J. Brophey, P. Gugan, A. E. Weston and James Gilroy. Two of the purchasers, Alfred E. Gwynn and P. J. Brophey, contemplate the immediate erection of $5000 residences. The new home of George J. Cote is progressing rapidly and will be ready for occupation in the near future.

Coming to Front.

NEW SOUTHWEST IS BUSY REGION.

SCORES OF HOMES UNDER WAY NEAR CAR BARNS.

Solution of Transit Problems Brings Active Development to a Vast and Promising Territory. Forty Bungalows Erected in Western Terminal Tract.

The completion early in the month of the Grand avenue and Forty-eighth street line to and beyond the great terminal barns of the Los Angeles Railway Company at First avenue and Fifty-fourth street, absolutely assures the continuation of the present marvelous development activity in the new southwest. On the strength of the certainty of the railway's coming, scores of new homes have already been erected throughout the area that will be served by the line. The construction of hundreds of other homes to the north and south of Fifty-fourth street and as far west as the Mesa drive terminus of the road will follow the opening of the sightly region to proper transportation facilities.

In the immediate vicinity of the car barns the activity has been pronounced. Less than ten months ago the realty firms of Bryan & Bradford and H. G. Cotton & Co. bought fifty acres to the north and west of the car barn site and subdivided it into 263 lots, calling the property the Western Terminal tract. Today forty bungalows are completed or under way in this area, which at the time of its purchase was bare of any improvement. In all, 195 lots have been sold, mostly to those who have already improved them or who expect to erect buildings within a short time. The railway employees have flocked to the district and it is expected that most of the 500 or more men who are employed on the division will soon be housed in the immediate vicinity of the barns.

With the advent of the car barns there has been developed a brand new business section at a point which only three or four years ago would have been regarded as hopelessly out in the country. Directly to the west of the barns, on Second avenue, a large two-story store building, a two-story restaurant and apartment building and several smaller structures devoted to business purposes have just been completed.

The new Grand avenue and Forty-eighth street line goes south through the tract to Fifty-fourth street, where it turns to the west to penetrate a district rich with promise. The various lines to the barns are rapidly being laid and the great fireproof structures will soon be a hive of industry. The street and sidewalk work, together with water, gas, electricity and telephones, preceded the railroad into the section, the result being that this part of the new southwest is as well equipped with the utilities and as accessible to the heart of the city as many regions that have long been developed.

The car barns themselves are marvels of engineering skill. Of absolutely fireproof construction, the great concrete building covers a vast area. Big as the structure is, however, and it is by far the largest of the six similar structures of the company in the city, it constitutes only the nucleus of the project as it is to be. The railway company owns thirteen acres in all, extending from First to Second avenue and from Fifty-fourth street to Slauson avenue, and the whole of this area is to be covered with barns and shops. The contract for the main office building, 70x180 feet in size, was let during the past week. The present barns, covering over five acres, provide for twenty-four tracks. The early completion of the entire group of buildings will be made imperative if the present building activity continues unabated toward the western and southern city limits.

OUT FOR A GOOD TIME.

In the offices and shops and on the tracts and through the new big skyscraper of the company, hundreds of employees of the Los Angeles Investment Company are getting ready for the annual picnic to be held at Redondo Beach next Saturday, June 22. This is the yearly excursion when the president and the office boy eat peanuts out of the same bag, and when the man who signs big checks pitches quoits with the man who lays cement sidewalks. It is made a family party for every one connected with the investment company and for their relatives.

Special cars will be run to the beach to accommodate the thousands of employees and stockholders.

BANKER BUYS GROVE.

TRADES LINCOLN PARK HOME.

POMONA, June 15.—Several important real estate deals have just been consummated by J. A. Fitch. These follow: F. Schwan to Raymond Davis, vice-president American National Bank, Pomona, ten-acre grove at Cucamonga, in full bearing, four acres in Eureka lemons, balance in navel oranges, Davis turning in as part payment his beautiful home fronting Lincoln Park, in Pomona. Total consideration, $30,000.

Leonard Walker, secretary Pomona Investment Company, to a local investor, six and one-quarter-acre orange grove on the Foothill boulevard, near Claremont, trees about 20 years old, two lots at Claremont being turned in on the deal; total consideration, $16,000.

Mrs. Martha Neher to J. H. Balmat, East Holt avenue home, corner Towne and Holt avenues, Pomona, part payment, Balmat's East Fourth street, Pomona, residence; total consideration, $10,000.

G. M. Storer to Mrs. Childs, house on West Fifth avenue, $2250. Rev. Charles Wentworth, Corona, to E. J. Bright, thirty-two acres grain land, near South Garey avenue, Pomona, $3000. G. D. Hutchison, Pasadena, to E. P. Boggess, Pomona, a bungalow on West Alvarado street, Pomona.

Other deals recently closed by J. A. Fitch are: W. L. Tadlock to Dr. E. D. Stoddard, eighty-acre alfalfa ranch, near Chino, part payment Los Angeles and Long Beach property; total consideration, $46,500. A. Parker, Ontario, to W. J. Powers, Los Angeles, East Hollywood house, consideration, $3000. A. S. Booth to Edward Priestley, lot near High School, Pomona, $1000. Pomona Securities Company to F. Annable, superintendent Pomona Division Electric Railway, two residences in Ganesha Park tract, part payment Annable's Los Angeles house, $14,600. John Johnson to W. S. Bell, brick business block on West Second street, Pomona, now occupied by the Booth, Vaughan Sons & Co., consideration, $14,000.

ARTIFICIAL SILK POPULAR.

Demand for the Goods Is Greater Than the Present Output—Is Made Out of Cotton.

French manufacturers of artificial silk are unable to supply the demand, according to the United States consular service.

The production of artificial silk remains far below that of real silk. In 1909, 70,547,900 pounds of real silk were turned out by the world's producing centers, but the spinning factories where artificial silk is made were unable to deliver more than 2,976,000 pounds.

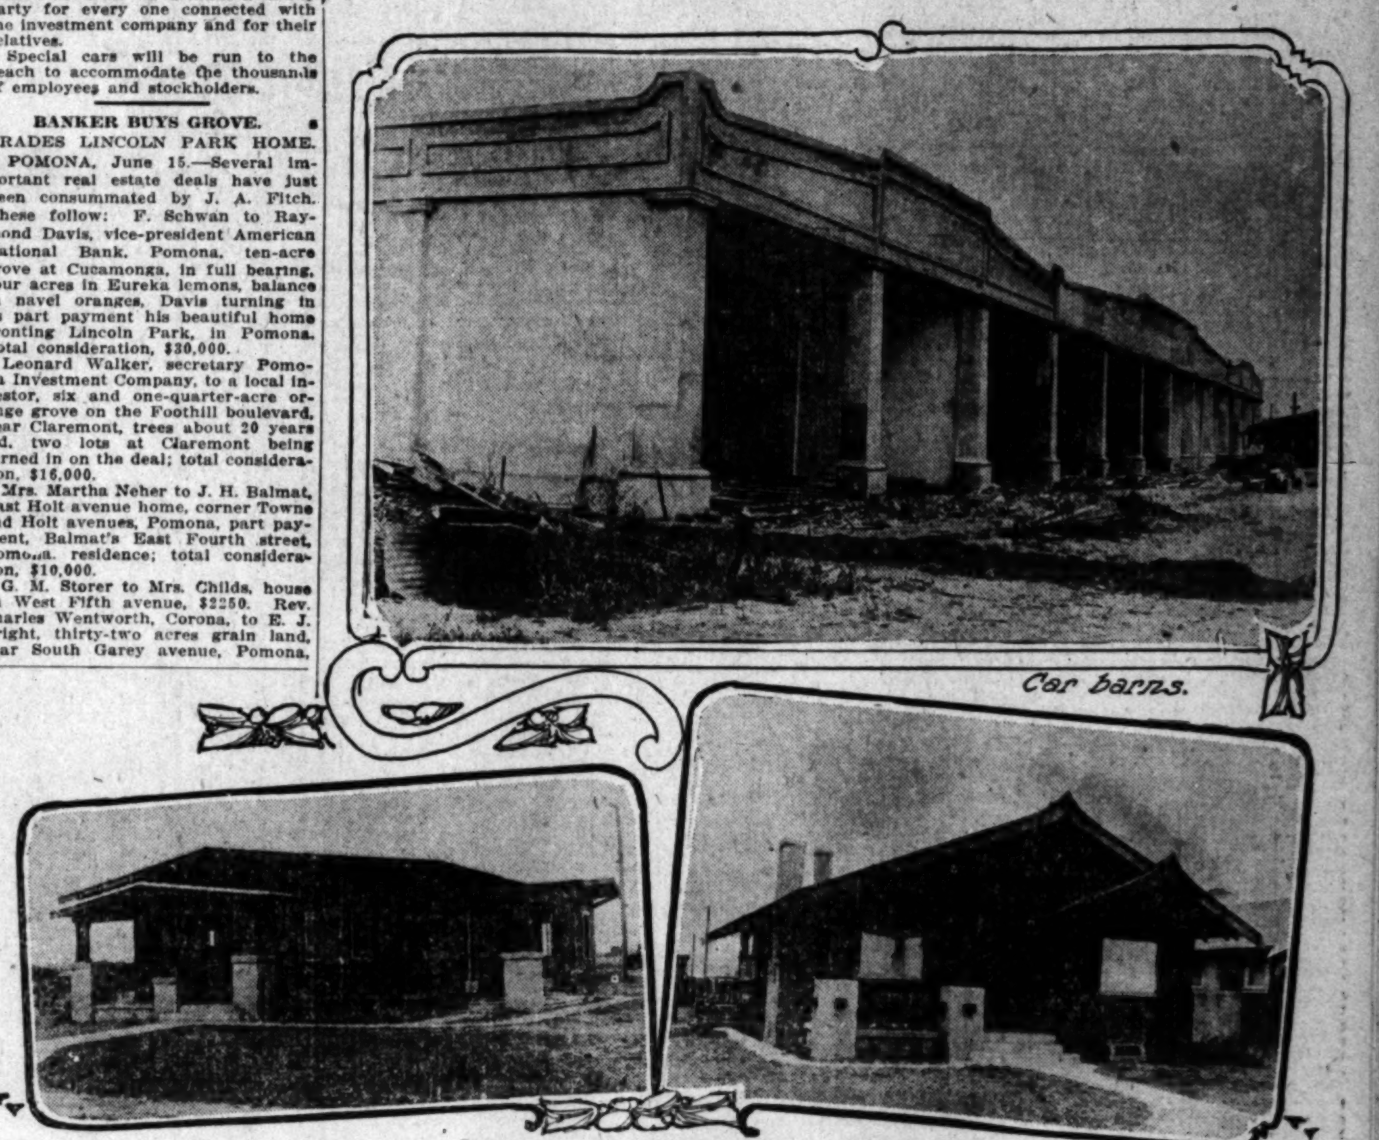
The artificial product is made out of cotton, no chemical process being used. The raw material only undergoes a mechanical change and an additional process is used to make it brilliant and incombustible. The only difference between artificial silk and cotton fabrics lies in the weaving.

The artificial silk processes are the Chardonnet, the viscose and the vegetable casein. The viscose is the cheapest. The delicacy of the work is seen in the texture. The threads are spun at one-eighteenth of a hair's diameter. This almost imperceptible filament is very strong and solid. Its base is spun glass.

Advantage of New York.

[The Argonaut:] A New Yorker had occasion to phone from one suburb to another while visiting in a western city. Upon asking what the charge was, he was told 50 cents. "Fifty cents! For that distance? Great Scott! In New York you can call Hell up for 50 cents." "Possibly," coolly answered the operator. "It's in the city limits."

Nucleus of Important Southwest Development.



Mammoth Fireproof Barns of Los Angeles Railway Company on West Fifty-fourth Street.

Central California.

NEW CAPITAL IN EVIDENCE.

Notable Development Projects Under Way.

Angeleno Hotel Man Transfers Part of Holdings.

Six-Thousand-Acre Tract to Be Subdivided.

PORTERVILLE, June 15.—Excessively hot weather is given as the cause for a cessation of activity in the realty market in this district last week, when in place of the usual string of transfers which have marked the market from week to week since January 1, but four deals were recorded.

During the past five days, however, when the weather authorities dealt out the usual early-June brand of elements, the trade resumed its wonted activity. Many new development projects are under way as a result of the new capital which has recently been interested in this district. Southern California investors controlled the market, as usual, although Central California capital entered into many transactions.

One of the largest transfers of the week was reported frim the Richgrove foothills, when G. A. Hart, a Los Angeles hotel man, who has made a fortune in this district in the past eighteen months, transferred 160 acres of his foothill orange acreage to officials of the Joseph Reid Gas Engine Company if Oil City, Pa. The names of the investors are not given, and it is reported that the transfer when recorded will be made direct to the corporation.

W. O. Platt, the general superintendent of the Reid Company of Pennsylvania, has purchased an eighty-acre tract from Hart for his personal use. It is reported that Platt will move here with his family in the early spring. He will not only assume charge of the planting of his own property, but will also take the superintendency of development for the company tract as well. Platt has announced his intention of putting out a portion of his property into lemons and the remainder into early navels.

BUYS RICHGROVE TRACT.

S. R. Shoup, of Los Angeles, who has been interested in varilus schemes for the promotion of the Ducor district, has purchased forty acres of foothill orange land in the Richgrove district for personal development and will begin his planting work next spring. Among the plans is the organization of a co-operative irrigation company, which will handle the water for several forties adjoining the Shoup property.

It is interesting to note that the activity in the Richgrove property at this time is directly due to the fact that water conditions have been found much better than was currently reported last year when this district was first opened. The first well put down in the Richgrove foothills went 225 feet to sufficient flow for orchard purposes, and water developed from that depth is expensive. Wells recently developed have shown that for the most part the conditions are almost identical with those immediately about Porterville and Strathmore.

Dr. D. L. Couch and Dr. C. C. Maynard, professional men of San Jose, in company with Will Phillips, an investor of the same city, closed a deal early in the week for the purchase of 100 acres of the E. D. Halbert property in the Deer Creek district. The tract is planted to young navel stuff, set out this spring, and the price paid Halbert for the property is said to have been in excess of $50,000. The new owners, it is said, will improve the property with the addition of numerous farm buildings, including a sweat house where their own fruit will be handled

Another large deal in which Los Angeles people are interested, was the sale of the Dr. H. M. Breen orchard, a show place of the Plano district, to T. C. Barnett and associates. The Breen orchard consists of forty acres of bearing navels in good condition, and the price paid is said to have been $50,000, practically cash. Dr. Breen will purchase other orange lands in this district and start immediately the development of a new property.

W. C. Ustca is another San Jose investor to be added to the large number of Joseans who have purchased property in this district within the past year, Ustca having bought from Will McAuliff a ten-acre tract of bearing navels in the Plano district. It is stated that the new owner has already let the contract for the construction of a fine suburban home, upon the completion of which he will move here with his family to make his future home.

J. D. Pritchard and his father-in-law, E. E. Campbell, who have been prominently identified with the development of the Klink district during the past two years, have just closed a deal for the purchase of a 240-acre tract of alfalfa and deciduous fruit lands in the Packwood district, the tract being situated a short distance east of the Packwood school. The consideration for the property, which is all raw land, is given at $25,000. The new owners will begin shortly upon the development of at least a portion of the land at once.

TO IMPROVE BIG TRACT.

One of the largest deals made in this district for the past year was completed recently, when R. J. Leavitt, of Los Angeles, who operated extensively some time ago in the Poplar-Woodville district, with several associates, purchased a 6000-acre tract lying just south of the Pixley district, and started immediately upon development work. Associated with Leavitt are a number of the officials and principal stockholders of the "Cream of Wheat" company of Minneapolis.

A small army of men and teams are at work on the property. At the present time, Leavitt states, the development plans include the levelling, checking and sowing to alfalfa of forty acres of each quarter section in the entire tract. Exploration work shows that the entire tract is underlaid with water which can be developed at from forty to seventy feet.

If conditions continue as they appear at the present the development of this tract will eventually mean the addition of several hundred small dairies to the already important central California dairy district. Leavitt was identified with development work which meant much to the Woodville district, being the first man to carry on dairying in that district on a strictly scientific besis.

FORGING AHEAD.

VALLEY COMING TO FRONT.

SAN FERNANDO, June 15.—The mission fathers would rub their eyes in wonder, as did Rip Van Winkle, if they could come to life again and see the progress and improvements that have been made in this valley. Instead of the narrow paths of their day, there are broad boulevards, on one of which, Brand boulevard, workers are now rapidly laying asphalt. This will connect with the $500,000 boulevard now running into Los Angeles.

The Pacific Electric is laying the rails as fast as possible along this stretch of 1500 feet, that is now being paved and will start immediately at the south end. In a short time this electric road will be completed and residents in San Fernando and the mission lands will be in immediate touch with Los Angeles.

The $75,000 hotel, at the corner of Brand and San Fernando boulevards, is being rushed to completion. The vault is in for the bank, which will occupy the corner store; foundations are in, most of the plumbing is done, and the work is progressing rapidly. A number of attractive bungalows are nearing completion, and J. H. Jenner has just commenced the construction of a fine house.

SELLS HOUSES AND LOTS.

The F. H. Redpath Company reports the following recent sales: Harry Holt, No. 1029 West Fifty-fourth street, six-room bungalow, lot 40x130 feet, $3800; N. E. Powell, No. 1735 West Forty-first place, seven-room bungalow, lot 45x130 feet, $4500; W. H. Coly, No. 1061 West Fifty-fourth street, six-room bungalow, lot 40x120 feet, $3800; E. F. Campbell, No. 1107 West Fifty-fourth street, six-room bungalow, lot 40x130 feet, $3900; Mrs. Y. A. Den, No. 216 North Stafford avenue, Huntington Park, six-room bungalow, lot 40x130 feet, $2500; F. BOOSTING BEARS FRUIT.

Almost daily since the return of the delegates sent by the Los Angeles Ad Club to the national convention at Dallas there has been given evidence among business and realty firms of the worth of the persistent and unique boosting methods used by the Los Angeles men during their stay there. In the past week an instance of the result achieved was found in the completion of an order sent to the Los Angeles Investment Company for 1000 sets of plans of California bungalows to be built by L. P. Gamble on a 320-acre subdivision near Houston. Gamble was in Dallas to see the convention sights and there met Ernest Ingold, assistant to President Charles A. Elder. It was through Mr. Ingold that the negotiations were made and now the architectural department of the company is preparing the thousand designs for bungalows to cost between $2000 and $4000 each.

Another instance is a communication to A. H. Wilkins, advertising manager of the Janss Investment Company, from J. J. Moss, a Dallas millionaire, announcing the intention of Col. Moss to come to Los Angeles to live. In the Moss mansion at Dallas the Los Angeles delegates were given an evening reception, and at that time the millionaire asserted a fondness for this city. He sends word that within a short time he will come here to permanently reside, closing up what is now one of the finest homes in Dallas.

BOULEVARD COMPLETED.

A Sunday auto excursion to the town of Owensmouth will attract hundreds of motorists through the Van Nuys-Lankershim lands today, and at the end of the journey the auto parties will participate in an informal celebration marking the completion of the last link of the $500,000 boulevard. The Janss Investment Company, under whose auspices the run will be made, have arranged a light lunch, prepared by Senor Romero, and there will be ample refreshing drinks. The trip to Owensmouth is entirely by boulevard, the route taking motorists out Sunset boulevard, over Cahuenga Pass, through the little town of Lankershim and then onto the magnificent private speedway that extends eighteen miles to Owensmouth. The trip is one of the finest in the county and every Sunday the roadway is thronged with parties.

CHESTERFIELD SQUARE.

R. D. List & Son have just placed on the market Chesterfield Square, a subdivision of the New Southwest, comprising 750 lots on the west side of Western avenue, between Vernon avenue and Slauson avenue, and running west to the new Los Angeles Railway car barns. The lots range from 40x130 feet to 64x152 feet, extending to an alley. In the center of the tract, ground is provided for an attractive park, which has been turned over to the City Park Commission. All poles will be in the alleys. The tract will have excellent street work, water, gas, electricity, city sewers and both telephones. Transportation is provided by the Fifty-fourth-street line and the West Forty-eighth-street line of the Los Angeles Railway Company.

BRENTWOOD ACTIVITIES.

Mrs. M. E. Hancock, who has a lot, 100x374 feet in size, at Brentwood Park, will shortly build a beautiful home, to cost more than $12,000 on the site. W. H. Cole of Los Angeles, who owns a lot, 200x300 feet in size, on Delaware avenue, in the same tract, is having plans drawn for a $10,000 home, which will probably be completed before autumn. J. A. Campbell and the Braly-Janss Investment Company are overseeing the building of many other new and costly homes at Brentwood, among them an old colonial house for Mrs. Lulu P. Munson; a Swiss chalet for Ernest Northcote; an Old English house for H. L. Covode, a chalet for Mrs. Guy A. Richards, and a chalet for Murray Paulin.

TO LIVE SIMPLE LIFE.

Edna E. Holbrook, a resident of Boston, where for years she has been a teacher in a large music conservatory, has purchased five acres in Rancho La Puente, through Sterling W. Banks, manager of the land department of Aronson, Gale Company, and will soon begin the erection of an attractive bungalow home. Miss Holbrook paid $3000 for her acreage. Other sales of the week reported by Mr. Banks are: Emma M. Crossman, five acres, $2625; William C. Anderson, five acres, $2750, and John G. Williams, five acres, $3000.

A LIFETIME IN WALL STREET.

Moody's Particular Mission Is to Tell You How to Hold on to Your Savings Like Grim Death.

YORK. June 15.—Rich and poor men consult John Moody when they have funds to invest. Navigators on the jeopardous sea of finance study his charts for hidden icebergs and sunken rocks. Years ago he was an office boy in a Wall street bank. He has been a constant and assiduous inhabitant of that weird region ever since. Were he a speculator instinctively he might have become a broker himself. Instead, he is an author, publisher, and manufacturer, as well as an investment expert. So he has rationally and safely wrought.

No man knows the perils of speculation better. None can classify the wolves that prey on lambs with a nicer technique. His ear is attuned to the heartbeats as innocence looks wistfully into the street. Also he hears the scrush of hungry and savage feet. When the slaughter is over, and even before it begins, he can describe and analyze the woeful event. That is part of his dismal business. Yet he is cheerful and optimistic, holding the sound philosophy that the supply of suckers is ever sufficient and that man has been an inborn monopolist ever since Joseph, having shaved his face and put on his best clothing, told Pharaoh his sensational plan for cornering all the crops and food stores of Egypt.

John Moody,
The investment expert.

John Moody cannot change common human. Wherefore he is no missionary. He accepts the peculiarities of humanity as he finds them and goes on with his work of specializing with the facts of things as they are. When he accumulates a surplus of his own, he tucks it away in a solid security. Like a doctor who has been vaccinated, he walks in and out of epidemics with immunity, taking temperatures, counting heartbeats and writing down remedies. His reputation, consequently, has grown to be national among business men and bankers. He has elucidated J. Pierpont Morgan for important magazines. One of his books sell for $12.50 a copy. He cannot tell any one how to make money—that is the trade of touts and tipsters. Holding tight the money once obtained is his only endeavor and preachment. Moody never attempted anything better.

ADVICE FOR SMALL SAVERS.

"How should a workingman," I asked him, "invest the $500 he has scraped together a penny at a time out of his daily wages?" The Morgan bank, wedge-shaped—a suitable suggestive type of architecture—could be seen from Mr. Moody's window.

"Ahem!" was the almost startled answer. Doubtless a technical inquiry had been expected. "He'd better put it in a savings bank," Mr. Moody replied, entering immediately into the spirit of the question. "Yes," he went on, "that would be the best plan. He might buy bonds. Some bonds are issued in denominations of less than $1000. Not all of them, however, can be unhesitatingly recommended. The little man, I must admit, is up against an inequality of opportunity. Moreover, he can hardly know even the rudimentary principles governing investments. He has been occupied in earning a livelihood, keeping his job, and putting away his scanty surplus.

"The big man, on the other hand, is more fortunately situated. His associates are in business. Bankers treat him like a comrade. He reads literature relating to finance. And bond houses are looking for him every day in the week. Their salesmen travel over the country in a hunt for persons having $50,000 or more to invest. The salesmen are not seeking the mechanic, clerk, or farmer, who has $100 or less. The good things, consequently, and the bad ones, too, not infrequently, are brought right to the desks of big men. Meanwhile, the big men have been acquainting themselves with underlying business conditions, and they know bankers who will give them disinterested advice, though occasionally it may be wrong and foolish.

"While the little man is neglected by the bond houses, swindlers are constantly traveling the country searching for suckers, and the little man is more likely to be a sucker than is the big man. So the little man receives the direct attention, such as it is. Formerly, swindlers in mining and other schemes worked through the mails. They gradually built up long lists of the names of men and women who, it was believed, would pay $100 or $200 for shares that promised a return of 10 per cent. a month. It was a safe method of robbing the credulous and the ignorant. The victims were widely scattered and could not co-operate after learning that they had been cheated. Moreover, they were too poor to fight and hire lawyers even if they could have been brought together.

SELLING LISTS OF SUCKERS.

"A promoter of a mythical mine or factory would operate his scheme so long as he could and then realize on everything of value he had and shut up shop. His lists of names would be sold to swindlers in New York for $1000 or more, and then peddled around in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, and other cities to persons engaged in different lines of fleecing the gullible public. It is a tradition that suckers will bite more than once. They are easily fooled, naturally speculative and believe that immense profits are made by the millionaires whose names they daily see in the newspapers. They keep on experimenting, this year with a mine, next year with something else, but a few of them get weary, of course, and drop out. Still it remains true, as a rule, that once a sucker always a sucker, and that no sucker ever reforms or gives up the ghost. Lists of names, therefore, are tangible assets and are still bought and sold, but not in the open market.

"The postoffice, however, has ceased to be the vehicle for bringing the swindlers and their victims into relations with one another. Government detectives have been raiding fraudulent factory and mine promoters for several years, and the mails have been closed to their circulars. It has become extremely dangerous, therefore, to steal the money of suckers by making use of the postoffice. Blacklegs of the sort I am talking about have, consequently, changed their methods. Business of all kinds, we are told, is fast being readjusted to match modern conditions. It is so with swindling enterprises. The mails being hazardous, agents are sent on the road with sucker lists in their pockets, and with instructions to find as many new and original dupes as are discoverable. A seasoned rascal will go to a small place, remain for a week, and learn the names of all the residents who have or are thought to have a little money in the bank. Clergymen,, physicians, school teachers, and farmers are the candidates on whom the traveling swindler bestows his attention. After obtaining a financial census of the neighborhood and learning local conditions, he makes an office to office, and house to house canvass. Incredible as it seems, he generally leaves town with his pockets full of money.

BEWARE OF GLIB STRANGERS.

"It is clear, then, that the unsophisticated man or woman with $100 or $500 or $1000 has need to be skeptical toward all glib-tongued strangers, no matter how fancy may be their circulars or what stories they may tell of the exploits of Morgan, Rockefeller, and the other lords in finance. A savings bank of known reliability is the safest place in the world for the funds of poor people. A wage-earner will grow in wisdom as his surplus increases. He will reason and reflect about financial matters. If he has any sense at all, he will come to understand that money drawing more than 4 per cent., or, at the outside, 4¼ per cent., in interest or dividends, is not wisely placed for a man in his dependent circumstances. When his return exceeds 5 per cent., he may be sure that his principal is in danger."

"In what way," I asked, "would you invest $5000, if that were all the money you had?"

"I should buy three railway bonds, one municipal bond, and, perhaps, one industrial bond. Now it should be remembered that some railway bonds are as safe as are the bonds of the government of the United States. But it should also be remembered that there are many kinds of railroads, and many kinds of railroad bonds. First mortgage bonds are alluring because they are the first lien on the property pledged. They come before, and must be paid before other obligations. But a first mortgage bond of a weak, little road is not so good as the third or fourth mortgage bond of a large, prosperous road that has been steadily paying interest and dividends. Besides, bonds often change in rank. The general 4s of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad were tenth not a long while ago—that is to say, nine other issues were ahead of them with respect to interest and principal. Now, however, general 4s are in fifth place—some of the other bonds having been paid off in the meanwhile—and will be in first place one of these days.

NAMES DO NOT ALWAYS COUNT.

"I recall a railroad that had a costly bridge swept away in a flood. The company became bankrupt immediately thereafter. It could not borrow money to repair the damage. Had the road been important and profitable, it would not have felt the loss. The first mortgage bonds of that particular line, as you will see, though attractively named, were not a good security. Debenture bonds are not a lien on anything, they are no more than promissory notes, but interest on them must be met before dividends are paid on the stock. The name they bear is not reassuring and such bonds are often tabooed by investors. Yet the debentures of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, the shares of which are selling at $500, and can scarcely be bought at that price, are a gilt-edged security. Any one uninformed about financial matters should, before purchasing railway or other kinds of bonds, consult a banker who is not himself engaged in the business of dealing in securities. Perhaps it would be wise to consult two or three bankers.

"I also spoke of municipal bonds," Mr. Moody went on to say. "As the name implies, they are the bonds of cities, towns and counties and are Scientific Battle.

UNIVERSITY'S WAR UPON PLANT DISEASE AND PEST

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY, June 12.—The plan of campaign for the University of California's war on the plant diseases and insect pests of Southern California during the coming twelve months was adopted by the Regents at their June meeting, as provided by the laws.

Walnut blight will be attacked in a new way—by direct spraying with fungicides. That walnut trees can be rendered immune against the blight which has caused such heavy loss of nuts has been proved by the University's work at Whittier, Anaheim and elsewhere. The method is to graft on the old trunks walnut stock which is resistant to the disease. Heretofore it has been regarded as impracticable to fight the disease by spraying, since the spread of the foliage is so great. New England experience in attacking the Gypsy moth on shade and forest trees has resulted in the devising of new arrangements for spraying very large trees, which Thomas F. Hunt of the university staff now will try in fighting walnut blight. A monograph on the walnut in California by Prof. E. Smith and his associates will be published in the near future.

Crown gall of fruit trees has now been explained by the discovery by C. O. Smith of the organism which causes the disease. By artificial inoculation he has demonstrated its character. Now he is testing various available fruit tree roots, in the endeavor to find varieties naturally resistant or immune to the disease.

The university's plant pathological laboratory at Whittier has shown the lemon growers that the "brown rot" which was a serious injury to the marketability of fruit may be prevented by disinfecting the lemon washer. Now E. E. Thomas will continue at Whittier experiments to show how other spots, blemishes, and forms of decay in the lemon may be prevented and their keeping quality bettered.

Root rot of fruit trees will be studied by Prof. W. T. Horne. Diseases of the watermelon, onion, tomato, and sweet potato will be studied by S. S. Rogers. How the health of fruit trees and other plants is affected by various soil characters and conditions will be a special field of investigation at Whittier by E. E. Thomas. There also the walnut aphis, the citrus red spider, and various other insects of much economic harmfulness will be studied by Prof. H. J. Quayle and J. D. Neuls. P. H. Timberlake of the United States Department of Agriculture will continue his investigation of insects which are parasites upon injurious insects—especially those affecting citrus trees. Several important bulletins on harmful citrus insects have been published by the university during the past year, these being the work of Prof. Quayle.

The enlargement of the university's plant disease laboratory at Whittier just completed (the Legislature had made a special grant for this purpose) has much increased the facilities for such researches as to the ailments and natural enemies of trees and plants, and made it possible to bring about co-operation with the United States and State investigators. For instance Prof. H. S. Fawcett, plant pathologist of the State Commission of Horticulture, will investigate there certain diseases of citrus fruit trees, with the advantage of experience in Florida in the same line of work.

Work has begun on a commodious laboratory at the university's citrus Experiment station at Riverside, funds for this building and for the site on which it stands having been especially appropriated by the last Legislature. The new laboratory will be thoroughly equipped, and will become headquarters for some of the work for advancing the interests of the orange and lemon industries heretofore carried on by the university at Whittier. The United States Department of Agriculture will co-operate with the university at Riverside, stationing there agricultural experts who are dealing with some of the serious problems of the citrus industry. Questions as to proper treatment of the soil in orange and lemon orchards will especially be investigated.

In charge at the Riverside Citrus Experiment Station will be Prof. J. Eliot Coit, who will go there to live, and who will carry on citrus investigations along pomological lines and co-operate with the national government's scientists.

In charge at the Whittier plant pathological laboratory of the university will be H. D. Young. There at Whittier he will carry on an elaborate series of experiments to explain and control characters of citrus fruits which affect their commercial value. He will study the relation of soil moisture to certain plant diseases, to determine whether they may be controlled by regulation of irrigation, either in amount or method of application. He will use specially constructed growing tanks, with provision for absolute control of moisture, drainage, aeration, etc., and with facilities for observation of roots in place. The regulating and observing conditions will probably excel anything of the sort ever before used.

Desert agriculture and its novel and important problems will be investigated at the university's new forty-acre agricultural experiment station on land given by the Supervisors and the citizens of Imperial county, near Meloland. Farm and station buildings have just been completed, and fencing, tools, and farm livestock supplied, and the land planted to field crops and fruits. Walter E. Packard is in charge. He has carried on agricultural investigations for the university in the Imperial Valley since 1909. The station will study the adaptation of various plants and methods of culture to the conditions prevailing there, and will investigate soil, insect, plant disease, and livestock problems in the wonderfully rich lands reclaimed by irrigation from the desert.

These agricultural investigations of the university in Southern California are an important addition to the great work of instruction it carries on at Berkeley, where a thousand students take courses in agriculture, and to the farmers' institute, correspondence, and publication work, which brings results of agricultural science home to the common use of the farmers.

LEGAL DECISIONS

MILK. Milk is the subject under discussion in the Missouri Supreme Court in the case of the city of St. Louis vs. Amelm, 139 Southwestern Reporter, 429. The following extracts are worthy of note: "Milk, an object of profound and vigilant concern to the modern lawmaker, has been always part and parcel of the daily life, the adages, and folklore of mankind. For example: We are told not to cry over spilt milk; that is, not to fret over real loss that can't be helped. The Russian has an adage: That which is taken in with the milk only goes out with the soul; that is early impressions last till death. The Swede has one denoting hospitality, viz.: When there is milk in the can for one there is milk in the can for two. In the phrase, 'the milk of human kindness,' is expressed the very heart and office of that gentle but noble virtue. The bard of bards does not hesitate to connect milk and philosophy. Deeming that neither loses dignity by the juxtaposition, he speaks of 'adversity's sweet milk, philosophy.' * * * Indeed, the universal, primal, and spontaneous mental conception we have of milk, in the first instance, is that it is unwatered. Take one case for example: Milk and honey are emblems of pastoral good luck, peace, and plenty—a large and a goodly land. Witness the phrase, 'a land flowing with milk and honey.' Ex. iii, 8; Jer. xxii, 22. But what a derisive picture would rise to harass the imagination by use of the phrase, 'a land flowing with watered milk and honey.' * * * However much the cow waters her own milk, the milkman has no right to designedly duplicate nature's gift of water by a furtive gift of his own from the barnyard pump. * * * If one is not to get a stone who asks for bread, no more is he to get water who asks for milk."

DIVORCE. To be up to date and in accord with the spring season, when "A young man's fancies gently turn," etc., etc., we deem it appropriate to publish, not a "How to be Happy, Though Married," but just a little case of warning; a kind of reminder, so to speak, of the fact that there are some thorns in the most beautiful gardens, in the hope that it may serve to check a few lovesick youths who may allow their hearts to run away with their heads, as well as serve the practical needs of some honest lawyer. It is about a married couple. Everything so far as their moral character was concerned was above reproach. They lived together for many years. (There is no record, however, of the award of a Carnegie medal.) They were faithful to each other. He never struck her in his life, which compliment seems to have been mutual. Yet he finally sued for divorce. He seems to have complained that on many occasions there were quarrels; at one time he was ordered out of the house, with the assurance that she could get along better without him, and suggesting that he take the two children along with him. She would sometimes refuse to cook his meals. Would buy groceries on his credit and sell them to neighbors. Refused to allow a doctor, which the husband procured, to attend their sick child. He wanted to sleep on sheets in the winter time which he procured, but she refused to make them up. Would cook oatmeal for him with worms in it, and then boast of the fact to the neighbors. Went to the marshal and induced him to meddle in the family affairs by attempting to force her husband to turn over to her a certain portion of his salary for family purposes. In the suit for divorce she contended that she was a "housekeeper and home builder" of the highest type, that type of woman which is set forth in the thirty-first chapter of Solomon's Proverbs, and that therefore a decree should not be awarded; but the Kansas City Court of Appeals, in reviewing the proverbs cited, refers to a line that reads, "She shall do him good and not evil all the days of her life." The judgment granting divorce was affirmed. McGee vs. McGee, 143 Southwestern Reporter, 77.

UNEQUAL COMBATANTS. Says plaintiff: "I hope and expect aid in this battle, for we are mismated, because defendant is by profession a money lender." Retorts defendant, bitterly and savagely, "No, it is I that should be pitied and helped, because I am the under dog, for plaintiff is a lawyer, and therefore he must 'quit kicking my dog around.'" Answers the Missouri Supreme Court, the arbiter of the "mismated" match: "Even a money lender, armed with the wherewithal to take care of himself in the usual vicissitudes of business life, and with the love of money strong upon him, may now and then need the aid of equity. Peradventure, even a lawyer, with a speculative turn, well equipped to take care of himself in the usual vicissitudes of business life, may now and then need the aid of equity, and reach forth an appealing hand to her—all this, though for the nonce enamored of riches, the ardor of his love for his old and jealous mistress, the law, under this record, cooled a trifle. In equity lawyer and money loaner, borrower and lender, meet upon a dead level. If the man of law were the adviser of the man of money, a confidential relationship would spring up, somewhat burdening the man of law; but, as that factor is out of this case, as they dealt at arms' length, and as neither the business of the one nor the profession of the other bears a whit upon the merits, those epithets and appellations, mere makeweights all, are beside the case, ergo,

"The man of independent mind,
He looks and laughs at a' that."

—Cantwell versus Johnson, 139 Southwestern Reporter, 365, 372.

DRUNKENNESS AND INTOXICATION DISTINGUISHED. Differences in degrees of intoxication are recognized by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Ex parte Townsend, 144 Southwestern Reporter, 628, where the court adopts this dictum in a brief of Atty.-Gen. Lightfoot: "It is extremely difficult to draw the line on a 'drunk.' There are various stages, such as 'quarter drunk,' 'half drunk,' and 'dead drunk.' There are the stages of being vivacious, 'foxy,' 'tipsy,' and on a 'high lonesome;' and it is about as difficult to determine when a young lady is an old maid as it is to tell when a man has taken enough alcoholic stimulant to pass the line between a 'jolly sober' and a 'gentlemanly drunk.'" These statements are in line with testimony, reported in another Texas case, Clinton versus State, 142 Southwestern Reporter, 591, that "there is a generally recognized difference between a person being drunk and being intoxicated. A person may be intoxicated, and not be drunk, as it is ordinarily understood. A person is intoxicated to a certain extent when he takes one drink, yet he is not drunk. One drink will not ordinarily make a man drunk. It will to a certain extent intoxicate him. Defendant had the appearance of a man who was drinking some, though to what extent I cannot say. He was not down, but was able to attend to his business." The trial court, not able to discover the "recognized difference," found him guilty; but the court on appeal held that he was not "drunk."

$100 puts You in Your Home

It is an offer that doesn't come along often even in Los Angeles, where Terms are being offered right and left. Not the Terms alone are attractive here, but the Prices as well. We will sell you a dandy 1, 1½ and 2-story Home at from $2400 to $3000. You pay $100 down and we give you possession of it. After that $24 to $30 per month pays off the principal, interest, taxes and keeps up your insurance.

You choose from over 40 different homes, all wisely planned, excellently built, lastingly finished and pleasantly arranged. You choose from these, located on as fine a popular-priced residence subdivision as ever has been planned in this city.

Rodgers Park

lies between Vermont and Normandie avenues, on both sides of Florence avenue. Frequent convenient yellow cars. Handsomely laid out in every particular. Rodgers Park has 7280 feet of park frontage. Public tennis courts and play grounds, to which all are freely invited. Model stores, wide streets, prettily planted parkings, cement curbs and sidewalks, together with a succession of artistic homes you will find here, go to make up the "tract ideal."

The lawns are in, water and gas are connected, electricity and telephones are on the tract, the shades are up, the floors are polished—everything is ready for you the minute you make your choice and decision. $100 gives you possession. We give you the free use of and a two years' free option at its present price on the adjoining full sized lot so that you have at your command an actual double frontage.

How to Reach Rodgers Park We'll be glad to have you come to our office and ride out in an automobile. Or take a Florence Avenue car on Hill Street, between Third and Eighth, to Florence Avenue; 10-minute service. Or take a Vermont Heights car on Broadway, south of Fourth, to Seventy-sixth St. Salesman at Florence Ave. or 76th St.

Choice Lots at Low Prices

At Rodgers Park you secure the wonderful advantages to be gained from the time, money and brains used in laying out this, the cream of southwest subdivisions. A lot here cannot help but spell satisfaction and future profits in the way of increased value. The Terms are as liberal as those on our houses.

WHY CAPITAL MEDDLES.

[Editorial.]

IT need not be a cause of much surprise that the trusts are backing Roosevelt. Whether he shall get the nomination, or by a bolt shall aid in the election of a Democrat, in either event the interests of Wall street will be better subserved than by the re-election of President Taft, for Taft will enforce the Sherman law, while Roosevelt will issue permits to violate it, and a Democratic President will follow the example of Cleveland, and allow it to rest in "innocuous desuetude."

The action of the trusts is such as might have been expected. There has never been an instance in the history of modern civilization where the great wealth owners have not meddled in the government. Capital perpetually vexes our politics because capitalists believe that the spirit of the age is seeking to tear their millions from their grasp, and they eagerly catch at all the support they can obtain by getting control of men who control the government. They recognize the fact that they live "in a land where the dollar is almighty, and where the sin of not being rich is only atoned for by the effort to become so." They support for Congress Democrats in Democratic districts, and Republicans in Republican districts, and they class Socialists with flies and "swat" them at all convenient opportunities.

But the next President will not be elected either by the capitalists, the I-Won't-Workers, the jawsmiths of the rostrum or the irresponsible writers for a frantic and morbid press. The result will be with the home owners, the farmers and traders and mechanics. The campaign will be a campaign of education. God send that the result may be a victory for law, and order, and prosperity, and progress and peace!

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES ON AND OFF AND STRIKES COMING.

THOUSANDS starving in big London and thousands of tons of food rotting in the ships which cannot be unloaded at the docks because of the transport workers' strike is the crime for which that branch of England's union labor must be held guilty. One hundred and forty thousand men already out on strike and all because one man is not a member of a certain labor union though he is a union labor man. That situation is more than a crime; it is an enormity. Naturally public opinion, without which in its favor no strike can be successful, is dead against the strikers in this case. On May 27 (London Standard) the food supplies being held up were (chiefly;)

Meat	300,000	carcasses
Cheese	60,000	boxes
Eggs	10,000	cases
Butter	45,000	cases
Tomatoes	20,000	cases
Bacon	10,000	bundles
Pork	13,000	sides
Fruit (very perishable)	150,000	cases

and this enormous food hold-up, with other immense quantities arriving daily and also being left to rot. Besides the hold-up here scheduled there are also thousands of bags of tapioca, rice, barley, sugar, flour, and meal, awaiting delivery, while prices are going steadily up and up. If this stoppage of London's food (7,000,000 population) was by reason of war or any uncontrollable accident, the feeling would be different, but not so; the strike leaders openly boast that their plan was and is deliberate, namely, to win their strike for "recognition of the union "by stopping the food supplies and reducing London to starvation. It does seem that the strike fever makes strikers everywhere (just as much in this country as in England or any other) the slaves of their blind passions. In the late British coal strike, for instance, the worst sufferers were innocent victims—the pottery works of Staffordshire (Arnold Bennet's "Five Towns") in whose work coal is a chief necessity. The calamitous effect of this great strike is daily becoming greater. Desperate efforts, with the police guarding strike-breakers, are being made to unload the cargoes of perishable food at the docks. Food prices rising fast and the privations of the poor are already intense. Already several factories have had to close, adding their out-of-work employees to the general stress. The electricians are likely to sympathetically strike, adding "no light" to "no food." The dockers at several ports other than London are watching for food vessels direvter from the port of London by the strike, so as to refuse to unload them. Besides the police, the military are being held in readiness to quell possible riots. A national transport workers' strike has been declared but as yet has not become general, though the dockers at Glasgow and Cardiff are enthusiastic for it. If the strike becomes general then Great Britain's entire imported food supply will be tied up. Great Britain depends upon imported foods for two-thirds of its food supply. The United States, for instance, sent Great Britain these food supplies in the ten months ended April 30, last (Bureau of Statistics records:)

Cattle, head	75,560
Corn, bushels	10,591,731
Wheat, bushels	15,277,361
Wheat-flour, barrels	2,111,849
Apples, barrels	994,149
Apricots, pounds	3,000,891
Prunes, pounds	6,586,572
Beef, fresh, pounds	8,955,670
Beef, pickled, pounds	6,808,280
Oleo oil, pounds	8,789,655
Bacon, pounds	127,325,721
Hams, pounds	139,969,793
Pork, pounds	10,575,936
Lard, pounds	148,720,561
Lard compounds, pounds	15,855,938

That partial list, added to the immense quantities of foods which Great Britain imports from Continental Europe, Canada, Australia, Argentina, New Zealand and many other countries, gives one an idea what it means in suffering when strikers—dockers—weld themselves together in the attempt to starve her into submission to that form of industrial slavery known as "recognition of the union." Such a proceeding is a first step towards civil war—a condition for which her semi-Socialist government, led by Lloyd George, her Socialist Chancellor of the Exchequer, is really to blame, by reason of prior truckling to militant trades-unionism. The River Thames, the greatest highway of commerce in the world, is at present "out of business." Two hundred great ships, Argosies from all the ports of the world, are idly anchored, with their perishable food cargoes untouched, except by decay, while London suffers and the poor starve. Even pleasure steamers on the Thames have to get a permit from the Strike Committee before they can use the docks or run. If that is not revolution, what is it? This dockers' strike has spread to carmen, seamen, firemen and members of the building trades, all of whom are receiving strike pay, except the dockers, whose position is now very serious. Pawnbrokers are refusing further pledges. This means semi-starvation for the dockers and their families. As usual in all strikes the women and children are the first and worst sufferers.

Miners in the English federated area are about to strike for an advance of wages.

The surface tramway men in the Rhondda Valleys mining region, Wales, are on strike, and the miners have to walk several miles to the work. The valleys are densely populated but not near to the mines.

Derbyshire, (Eng.) ironworkers and general laborers are forming a new trade union, "as a protest against the Socialist propaganda" of the existing Gasworkers' and General Laborers' Union. The new union is to be independent of party politics and none of is money is to be used for political purposes. That is a step in the right direction and one which will have to be followed here before American labor unionism can regain its old-time prestige—that prestige and respect which has been destroyed by Gompers, Harriman, Darrow and Co., in their "the McNamaras are innocent $200,000 (wages money)" campaign.

The enginemen on a hundred Hamburg (Germany) tugs are on strike for more pay.

Last year Canada had 104 strikes and lockouts of which only twenty-three were won by the strikers.

The hotel waiters of New York City have gone "daffy" on striking. They are not gaining, and will not gain, a single point and are losing wages and tips daily. Hotel waiting is not skilled work. The strikers' places can easily be filled without any other industry suffering. Striking by non-producers is utter folly.

Blood is being shed (following William D. Haywood's counsels) in the Newark (N. J.) strike riots. Three deaths have occurred. Not a single one of the English speaking employees of the Public Service Gas Company quit his post. Designedly led foreigners are making all the trouble at Newark as they did lately at Lawrence, Mass., and Passaic, N. Y. Some of the foreign women are the worst offenders.

Budapest, Hungary, is in the throes of a general strike in aid of the universal suffrage movement.

London railway men threaten a general strike at mass meeting of 20,000, because of certain dismissals of "rabids" by the Central London Railway.

Organizers of the I.W.W. (Haywood's gang) have stirred up 400 men and women to strike at Middletown and South Farmington, Ct. Rioting began immediately, necessitating the calling out of the State militia, after a desperate fight between the strikers, and the local police. Similar trouble exists at Lancaster and Clinton, Mass., the fight at Clinton being in the Catholic churchyard. Strike (I. W.W.) fighting also at Kearney, N. J., by Italian laborers, where the Chief of Police, single-handed, stood off 200. Twenty-one gone to prison for a year.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is threatened with a strike of engineers, conductors and trainmen on that part of the system which is electrified. The old hands (steam) want preference in employment over experienced electric car workers.

Belgium has a 15,000 coal miners strike brought about by Socialists. That's what Los Angeles would have had (though not miners,) but for the defeat of Harriman & Co., on December 5, last.

The Cost of the Coal Strike.

[Washington Star:] Will the anthracite mine workers and operators learn a lesson from their experience this year? There is surely a good opportunity to improve the methods of reaching an agreement under which work is to be done. Seven and a half weeks will have elapsed when the men return to work Wednesday, in accordance with the present understanding, since they left the mines on the expiration of their former contract period of three years. They have lost an immense sum in wages. At an average of $10 a week for each of the 170,000 who have ceased work they have been deprived of between $12,000,000 and $12,500,000. At the lowest calculation they have lost between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 in wages. The mine owners have also lost heavily in trade that cannot be fully overtaken, while the business community at large has suffered seriously. It is a fair estimate to put the full public loss, including business, wages, coal trade and general disturbance, at close upon $50,000,000. This is an enormous price to pay for a process of adjustment.

GRADER IS UNIQUE.

A new grading device, one of the largest and most unique of its kind, has been put in use on West Adams tract, subdivided by Robert Marsh & Co. This machine cuts out streets and levels them, scooping up the surplus soil and dumping it into wagons that are driven alongside. By this system the dirt is handled but once. The machine is driven along without stop, empty wagons replacing those that are filled.

In addition to immense total number of workers and the enormous aggregate pay-rolls embraced in the seventy-two trades scheduled above, the metals bill proceedings at Washington dangerously affect 47,000 iron ore miners, whose wages amount to $29,731,000 a year; the 21,603 lead and zinc miners, with yearly wages of $10,507,931, are also in danger. The proceedings not only affect the wages in iron and steel, but in every metal known to commerce—gold, silver, nickel, copper, lead, bronze, zinc, aluminum, tin quicksilver and antimony. Practically, the proceedings affect altogether over 1,500,000 wage-earners and more than $1,000,000,000 yearly wages, plus the army of salaried officials and clerks and their yearly salaries. There, in brief, is the wage and salary-earning present and grievous danger in our great and (at present) prosperous metal trades. How shall that danger be averted or its great loss, if the proceedings are carried to a consummation, be stopped? In other way, wage and salary-earning and other voters, male and other voters, male and female alike, than by voting next November only for such men for Congressmen as can be relied upon to vote, first, last and all the time, for the protection of each and every factory pay-roll and thereby for each and every factory-worker and his or her weekly or monthly pay envelope. That is the final and vital analysis—the well-filled factory pay envelope—not only in the metals trade, but in every trade.

Now let us, for illustration as to the dangers in particular, compare the wages paid in some American metals factories with those paid in like foreign factories:

	U. S. Avg. per day.	Germany. Avg. per day.
Blast furnaces	$1.95	$0.82
Bessemer steel works	2.50	.93
Open-hearth steel works	2.60	1.06
Bloom and billet mills	2.37	.97
Rail mills	2.30	.91
Sheared-plate mills	3.05	1.44
Merchant iron and steel mills	2.65	1.15
Wire-rod mills	3.50	1.45
Wire mills	2.30	1.14
Tube and pipe mills	1.95	1.05
Sheet mills	2.90	1.26
Tin-plate mills	3.21	1.49

In the American mills the "high" daily wages per man run from $2.50 to $13.23, and the "low" daily wages from $1.47 to $1.86. In the German mills the "high" is from $1.10 to $2.84, and the low, from 69 cents to 81 cents. There we can see at a glance what will happen to American wages in the metals trades if we open the door to the entry free, or at a low rate of duty, of German metals and their products. Don't let them in, say you—then you vote next November only for Congressmen who will keep the door shut against them, and, in that way, protect your own wages, and your neighbor's wages, by your votes. You failed to do that in 1892 and suffered intensely by lack of work and wages during '93-'96; it will be your own fault if you suffer so again during 1913-1916, after this warning—a warning as clear as the noon-day sun.

Berlin (highest Germany)	14.5 to 17	19 to 22
Great Britain	15.5	20

Those figures speak for themselves to the great advantages in wages enjoyed by American machine tools builders.

And so the comparison goes in industry after industry, in trade after trade, all along the line, greatly in favor of American wages as compared with those of any other country if and when American labor leaves itself alone, particularly union labor.

Be Your Own Landlord

You've been planning to buy a home some day, haven't you? But you don't seem to make much financial headway, and the home seems further away now than it did a year ago. If so, you're the very man or woman to read on through. At we have provided artistic, comfortable, complete homes of high character in a beautiful subdivision for just such homeseekers. Beautiful homes ranging from $2600 to $5000 durably constructed from the solid foundation to the tight roofs, can be had here for from $260 to $500 down. After that, 1% of the purchase price monthly pays principal, interest, taxes and insurance. Can anything be made simpler?

The Improvements
in this subdivision are such as usually accompany $10,000 homes. The wide streets are improved—there are cement curbs and sidewalks—handsome parkings. Gas, electricity, telephones—all these are accessible.

How to Reach College Tract
Come to our office and ride out in our automobile. Or take a Grand avenue car marked "To West 48th st.," on Broadway, Seventh or Grand to Gramercy Place, or Arlington street, today.

Unusual Advantages
are extended to College Tract home buyers—among them being the free use of and a free 2-year option on the adjoining 50-ft. lot. The homes are built in 1, 1½ and 2-story artistic styles and contain 5 to 8 rooms.

Why Not Buy a Lot Here?
You will find full-sized lots selling for less than you'd expect. They make ideal home sites or investments, and are selling at a rapid clip. Better see them at an early date.

Here Is the Best Investment Opportunity That Has Been Offered to Investors

By the ORIGINAL HOME BUILDERS OF LOS ANGELES for many months.

Limited Number of Shares

No Commissions

High Interest Rate

In purchasing shares now at $1.60 you will come in on the new dividend rate of 14% per annum. At $1.60 per share, this certainly makes a most attractive investment.

Only 15,000 shares are to be sold at $1.60 a share—then the price will advance to $1.65. They are selling rapidly, and you should make arrangements for yours now. Under no circumstances will you be able to buy them at the present price later than June 30.

No one individual will be sold more than 2500 shares. No commissions are paid or ever have been paid for the sale of our stock. Every dollar of your money goes to the treasury and is put to work immediately.

The terms are easy and are arranged so as to suit every one. From the following table you can readily figure the number of shares you can pay for:

5	Shares, all cash	$ 8.00,	or in payments of	$ .80	cash and	$ .40	monthly
10	Shares, all cash	16.00,	or in payments of	1.60	cash and	.80	monthly
25	Shares, all cash	40.00,	or in payments of	4.00	cash and	2.00	monthly
50	Shares, all cash	80.00,	or in payments of	8.00	cash and	4.00	monthly
75	Shares, all cash	120.00,	or in payments of	12.00	cash and	6.00	monthly
100	Shares, all cash	160.00,	or in payments of	16.00	cash and	8.00	monthly
200	Shares, all cash	320.00,	or in payments of	32.00	cash and	16.00	monthly
300	Shares, all cash	480.00,	or in payments of	48.00	cash and	24.00	monthly
400	Shares, all cash	640.00,	or in payments of	64.00	cash and	32.00	monthly
500	Shares, all cash	800.00,	or in payments of	80.00	cash and	40.00	monthly
1000	Shares, all cash	1600.00,	or in payments of	160.00	cash and	80.00	monthly

Sit right down now and figure it out. Idle money invested now will bring you more than ordinary returns. The surplus of every month can be put to work at a great advantage. Don't put this off another day. Think of the high rate of interest you receive from an investment that you must acknowledge as one of the best offered in Southern California—one that fully satisfies every want for security, income and convertibility.

Days mean dollars this month—see how many you can save. Either call at our office at once for further information or send for our free booklet, "The Maker of Homes."

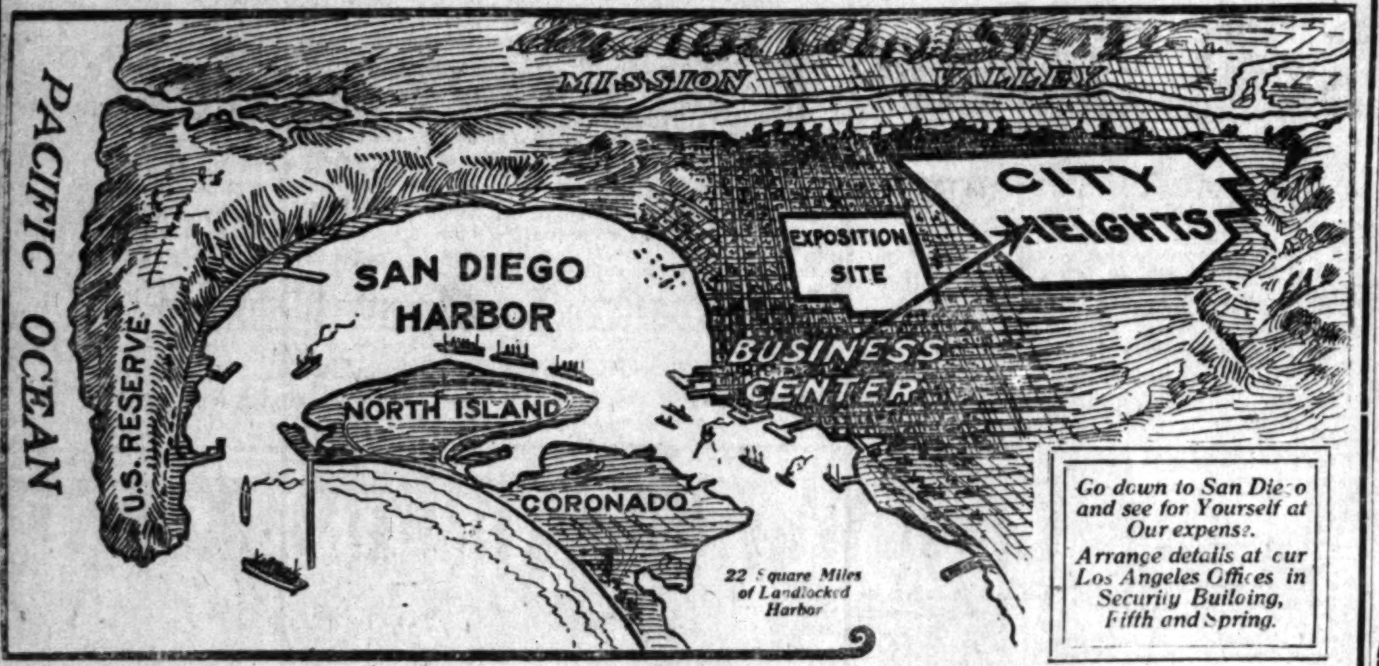
The Right Word
—Buy—

—is the word we want to say to you—the one word that will PROVE our sincerity in calling your attention to the PROFITS for YOU in CITY HEIGHTS, San Diego



Go down to San Diego and see for Yourself at Our expense.
Arrange details at our Los Angeles Offices in Security Building, Fifth and Spring.

An Unusual Opportunity

In all the history of Realty on the Pacific Coast there has probably never before been made you an offer so crammed with big Possibilities for Profit as THIS offer of CITY HEIGHTS, San Diego, regarding which we want to tell you now.

We could spread the details of this special message over page after page of this newspaper and still fail to do simple justice to this elegant tract of land—beautiful, sightly CITY HEIGHTS.

For HERE is a property situated right on the exact point of the compass toward which San Diego's greatest growth is expanding.

This is because of the Harbor to the westward and great canyons to the north and south, which force the city's growth ONE way—eastward toward CITY HEIGHTS.

Very Large Profits

have been realized in CITY HEIGHTS already. One business corner that originally cost $200 recently sold for $5100.00. We have elegant lots, finely situated, high and sightly, only a few short blocks from this corner—at $250.

Beautiful Lots for $150

Some for even less. Double track car line, 5 cent fare. Another line has already been started. All modern improvements are being installed—graded streets, curbs, walks, shade trees, gas, electricity, water.

You Pay No Taxes You Meet No Interest You Take No Risk

This company, with its assets of over $750,000.00, stands behind your every penny of investment. And you have no taxes or interest to meet while making your monthly payments. Should you buy lots at CITY HEIGHTS through our Los Angeles Offices, Security Bldg., Fifth and Spring, and then on SEEING the property, find it NOT as represented, we will return your money without quibble or question. We also will give you a free return trip to San Diego in order that you may SEE with your Own Eyes that every word we tell you about CITY HEIGHTS is absolutely True.

Easy Terms: $10 Down, $5 Per Month

Terms are so easy that you can share in San Diego's great increase in values without missing the payments. CITY HEIGHTS is growing in population at the rate of 150 per month as shown by the new water meters being installed. We believe your relish for a REAL Bargain will bring you in to see us—AT LEAST if only to INVESTIGATE and view for yourself the maps, charts, drawings, photographs and illustrated literature now displayed in our Los Angeles Offices—Security Building, Fifth and Spring.

YOU ARE WELCOME, WHETHER YOU BUY OR NOT. SO COME IN AND SEE US ANYWAY.

6% GOLD NOTE

A Safe, Sound, Attractive Savings Investment

Thousands upon thousands of dollars—the savings of hundreds of small investors—have been placed in Gold Notes. And still a continuous stream of money is being invested in this security, to draw six per cent interest for its owners.

The Gold Note, as safe, sound and attractive an investment security as can be found anywhere, commands your confidence. It is backed by the Los Angeles Investment Company's immense paid-in capital and surplus of nearly $10,000,000, a security including millions and millions of dollars' worth of choice real estate and subdivision property in or adjacent to Los Angeles.

The Gold Note is the most convenient of investments because it is issued for as little as $100 and can be purchased on installments of $1 or more. It bears 6 per cent interest, payable quarterly.

A Gold Note, issued for 90 days, is an ideal security for the investor who has to have his money back in a short time. No owner of a Gold Note has ever failed to have his money returned to him in full on demand.

WAR!

THE drums are beating, the fifes are shrilling, the flags are waving. Vast crowds line the streets; children peer anxiously into the faces of fathers whom they will never again behold. Wives search longingly for the sight of a loved one whose arms will never again infold them. Valiant mothers check their tears, their breasts swell with pride as they devote their splendid sons to a great cause.

The nimble fingers of telegraphers speak from State to State, mighty ministers confer, engineers hurry to defend vulnerable points—gunboat and convoy steam proudly to their destinations.

The bugles blare. The cavalry thunders across the field—cannon crash and smash, shrapnel shrieks, mortars cough.

From tree and rock keen-eyed sharp-shooters search for shoulder straps.

A curtain of smoke rolls across the devastated meadows and behind the veil rifle and musket rattle and crackle.

Night falls. The contest ceases, ambulances sway drunkenly to the hospital, creaking with the weight of shattered men.

The surgeons speed to their work . . . .

If you want to go clear through the Civil War from scene to scene and behold everything that transpired in the first and last great conflict that was ever caught by the camera, lose no time and subscribe to the

Long-Lost, Original
Brady Civil War Photographs

Issued In 16 Superb Sections

One Each Week for Only 10 Cents and the Coupon

These pictures are the only war-time photographs which any Government ever allowed to be taken. The war correspondent today has become virtually a war prisoner. Suspected as a possible spy, he is kept away from headquarters, from the firing line, from any scene that might betray the losses suffered, the location of forts, the extent of earth-works.

But in '61, Brady and his daring assistants penetrated to the very storm centers. There was no "censor," no orders restricting photographers, no suspicion fifty years ago. The camera was thought a toy. Photoengraving had not been dreamed of. So in these 16 Sections of "The Civil War Through the Camera" you see

The Only Great War Ever Photographed

—and the only one—it will always remain. The Civil War was also the last [illegible] scale fighting that was picturesque, personal, hand-to-hand. Think of it! In '61 no general firing was done beyond 300 yards. Brady and his followers did what will never be done again. They crept close to the trenches and the earthworks and photographed a great war in progress.

Modern field guns are deadly at three miles—often while the cannoners are entirely out of sight. But in is picture after picture taken while the enemy was not a mile away—cannoners actually working their guns under fire, in sight of ramparts and buildings sheltering hostile forces.

So, for the first time the gallantry of the boys in blue and boys in gray is reflected with absolute impartiality. Their glory is recorded to the full, no scene or action, no bit of local color or atmosphere, no dashing effect of appearance or bearing is minimized any more than it is exaggerated by this camera record.

What We Have Done for You

This paper has entered a nation-wide alliance whose purpose is to place the long lost Brady War Photographs and Elson's New History of the Civil War in reach of every American home for such a trifling sum that it will never be felt.

Each section of "The Civil War Through the Camera" is complete as a novel—and the full set of sixteen form a history of the war such as has never before been published.

Beginning with the opening gun at Sumter, these sections pass on through the fight along the Mississippi, the struggle for Richmond, the rise of Lee, the opening of the Mississippi, the crisis at Gettysburg, the bitter struggle along the Tennessee, the coming of Grant—and sweeps on to the surrender of Lee at Appomattox.

Continuation of the History of the Civil War.

By Professor Henry W. Elson of Ohio University.

The Fall of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson.

Victories at Fort Henry and Fort Donelson were required to start the movement by which the control of the Mississippi River was gained for the North. From these battles General U. S. Grant sprang into fame.

The Battle-grounds of the West — Fighting Gunboats On Western Rivers.

To carry on war effectively along the shallow western rivers there were employed armored gunboats and rams, constructed from light draft steamers. At Fort Henry and Fort Donelson and at Shiloh, as well as on the Mississippi, the Navy rendered valuable assistance to the Army and the part it played in these fights affords a tale of thrilling interest.

A Bloody Test of American Valor.

Shiloh—The First Grand Battle of the War.

Shiloh was the first battle to be fought in America that in comparison with the great conflicts of European armies could be considered more than a skirmish. With losses on each side exceeding ten thousand, American heroism and courage as with carnage.

These War Photographs, Taken in 1862 and Here Reproduced,

Show Union and Confederate soldiers and sailors who served in the great western campaigns. There are photographs of gunboats and rams on western rivers and scenes of hard-fought battles that brought to North and South alike a grim realization of the mighty struggle yet to come.

How To Obtain Section 1 of the Long-Lost Original Brady War Photographs.

Cut out the War Souvenir Coupon found in this advertisement and bring or send it at once to The Times office with Ten Cents to cover necessary expenses, such as cost of material, handling, clerk hire, etc., and obtain any one section. By mail four cents extra. There are no other conditions whatever, but as the demand will undoubtedly be enormous would urge you not to delay. If you have not secured Section 1, you may obtain it at The Times office for 10c and the one coupon.

This Coupon is a Pass to the Past

It admits you within the lines of the armies of the North and South. Its spell is magic. It turns back the pages of history. It carries you out of the present and lands you in one leap into the Civil War. Cut it out and bring it, with 10c, to The Times office for your copy of Section 2. If you have not received Section 1, we will supply you with it for 10c and one coupon; 4c extra for postage when mailed.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Three hotel bell hops have learned that politeness pays. Because of the courtesy they showed Mrs. Hannah Dwight Greene of Albany, N. Y., aged 81 years, who died a few months ago. She divided her estate of more than $60,000 equally between the three young men.

The lucky bell boys are Edwin J. Greenwood of Thayer's Hotel, Littleton, N. H.; George Hendenburg of Providence, R. I., and Frank Donegan of the Hotel Westminster, Boston.

While an old resident of Albany, Mrs. Greene spent the last years of her life at the hotels where these young men work. She was an aunt of the widow of "Lucky" Baldwin, millionaire sportsman and mining speculator, and of Charles and Samuel Bowles, owners of the Springfield Republican. Her estate represents the savings from allowances they made to her for years.

Gordon Strong, a Chicago real estate dealer, and his wife, who are childless, have determined to put twelve boys on the high road to success. As a beginning they have taken Floyd and Kenneth Keefe, 6 and 2 years old, respectively, into their own home.

Miss Charlotte Rogers, telephone operator at the New York piers of the Mallory Steamship Company, proved herself a hero during a recent fire at one of the piers. Though water and broken glass were falling all around her she stuck to her post and enabled the company to save about $50,000 in cash.

She was at the switchboard in the office, on the main floor of the shed, on the runway of the pier, when the fire started. For an hour she kept the officials of the line at the main office, at Spring and West streets, informed of the progress of the fire. She operated the switchboard under a torrent of water that came through the ceiling above her, drenching her.

Some clerks rigged up an umbrella over Miss Rogers's head after the water began coming through the ceiling above her. She stuck to her post, transmitting telephone calls and messages, until the fire was declared out and Fire Chief Kenlon left the pier. By this time officials of the Mallory Line had arrived from the main offices.

About $50,000 in currency was on hand in the office of the agent of the line on the pier, E. A. Kelley, when the fire started. Some of it was in a safe and some in the cash drawers in the ticket office. This was taken out by clerks, on orders transmitted through the woman operator, and carried to a place of safety.

King Edward's hospital fund for London will benefit largely under the will of Montague G. Jessett, a solicitor of Craiglands, Byculla Park, Enfield, who died on October 30, leaving estate of the gross value of £50,030 17s. 7d. Subject to some other bequests, he left the residue of his property, which will amount to about £40,000, to King Edward's hospital fund for London, to be applied as the president and general council may in their sole discretion determine.

While crossing the bridge over the Maurice River at Millville, N. J., late one night recently, Dr. G. H. Horner heard cries for help, and rushing to the tug dock, he saw a man struggling in the water. Leaping into the water, he succeeded in keeping the man on the surface until other help arrived and pulled both out. The man said he had become bewildered and walked off the wharf in the darkness.

Israel Greenberg, 7 years old, played on the stringpiece of the East River pier at Dover street, New York, until he tripped and fell into the water. A woman who saw him ran for aid and the first person she saw was a neatly-dressed man, carrying a valise, who had evidently come from one of the New Haven steamers. The man dropped his valise, ran to the pier and dived into the river. He grabbed the boy and got him aboard a sand barge.

Policeman Meyers found the man and boy on the barge and asked the man his name.

"You don't want my name," said the man; "that isn't necessary. Just show me a place where I can change my clothes; that's all I want." In his valise he had another suit.

The policeman sent the boy to the Hudson-street Hospital. Then Meyers led the rescuer to a seaman's lodging-house, where he changed his clothes, put the wet ones back into the valise and walked away. The boy will recover.

For many years the National Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild has held an annual plant market for the benefit of the poorer sections of the city, where the people cannot afford the usual prices asked for plants. All the plants for the guild's market are given by out-of-town people and by the city florists and the Park Commissioner. They are sold for a few pennies each, and the proceeds used to place window boxes in tenement homes. The sale this year began June 5.

President Marcus M. Marks of the Tuberculosis Preventorium at Farmingdale, N. J., has received from Jacob H. Schiff of New York a subscription of $5000 toward the construction of two more open-air camps, in addition to the four new camps recently opened at the institution.

The two new camps, which will contain thirty-two beds each, will cost $25,000. They will be equipped with steam-heated dressing-rooms, shower baths, modern plumbing, and open-air schoolrooms. Appeals for subscriptions for the remaining $20,000 and an endowment of $20,000 a year for the maintenance of the sixty-four children in the two new camps have been made.

Still in Doubt.

[Judge:] It was on the Augusta Victoria, homeward bound, that two Americans, a Frenchman and an Englishman were discussing the relative value of European and American waiters, with the balance much in favor of the trans-Atlantic variety. To illustrate his point, the American related the experience of a New Yorker in a Broadway cafe, whose bill of fare afforded a choice of mince pie, cherry pie, custard pie and apple. "You may bring me," said the guest, "a piece of apple, of cherry and of custard pie."

"Well," ejaculated the waiter, "what is the matter with the mince pie, sor?"

After the laugh had subsided, the Englishman leaned across the table. "Beg pardon, Dr. Smith, but what was the matter with the mince pie?"

The Finest Line of Gas Ranges on the Pacific Coast

We can fairly lay claim to having the handsomest line of Gas Stoves on the entire Pacific Coast, for a number of reasons. The most important one is that we have just added to our stock the famous "A B" Line of Gas Ranges—the best in the country. Listen why—

"A. B." Ranges are Positively Non-Rustable!"

Their manufacturers have succeeded at last in perfecting a Range that will not rust—just think what that means—you who have taken good ranges to the beach, only to have them rust out in a short while. The Ovens of this stove are made of Wellsville Steel, and finished with aluminum alloy—they're absolutely non-rustable.

We also claim that this range will consume twenty-five per cent. less gas, and do better work, than any other on the market.

Every range has direct-action burners—you never have to heat your oven in advance, as with old-style ranges. Come in and see these, at your very first opportunity.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST PSYCHIC
BYRON L. STANLEY,
BETWEEN SECOND AND THIRD STS.,
NEAR ANGELS' FLIGHT.
247—S. HILL STREET—247
ALL READINGS REDUCED FOR SHORT TIME.
$1.00—READINGS—$1.00.
BYRON L. STANLEY

fully appreciates that in this day of sensational advertisements there are more false claims and misrepresentations chaperoned through the columns of the daily press than the most hypential tongue could utter in a lifetime, until one cannot be blamed for doubting almost everything they read. Therefore he says to you—come to him this very day and let him give you a complete reading, telling you every hope, fear or ambition, better than you could explain yourself. He will tell you the bad as well as the good; keeping nothing hidden from you. He will tell you everything upon matters of love, marriage, divorce, business, health; in fact, he will read your life like an open book.

Before you go into anything of importance or undertake anything serious—in business or love, or marriage, or before you make any change—you should consult the master mind of psychics.

ALWAYS CONSULT THE BEST. IT IS THE CHEAPEST IN THE END. IT IS BETTER TO CONSULT NO PSYCHIC THAN ONE WHO IS NOT ABLE TO HELP YOU.

DON'T FORGET

The name STANLEY, a double guarantee. See the real life reader who really tells what you desire to know or no charge. A foolish weakling only will pay for a reading that gives no benefit. Stop and think.

Don't struggle with a burden you can divide. A troubled mind begets a morbid conscience. Sympathy, consolation and timely advice heal the worst of wounds. Be advised and relieved of anxiety.

Realizing that this city has been overrun with pretenders, and that many of its best citizens are anxious to visit a genuine psychic, Mr. Stanley has decided to place his consultation fee within the reach of all.

Finding many deserving people who were not able to pay a large fee he has decided for a short time to place his readings within the reach of all at live and let-live prices.

LEGITIMATE, SCIENTIFIC, ACCURATE DIAGNOSIS OF THE OCCULT INTELLIGENCE OF TRUTHFUL PALMISTRY, FROM THE HAND OF EACH CALLER.

If you contemplate consulting a psychic several things should be taken into consideration—ABILITY, the HONESTY of methods, the FAIRNESS of dealings, the HIGHER degree of work, the ACCURACY of each prediction, the COMMON SENSE used with it, the INTEREST taken in each case, the RESPECT shown to each caller, the fact of SECRECY in consultation, the FEE charged for services.

To whom it may concern: We take great pleasure in recommending our brother, PROF. STANLEY, as a life reader of good standing, having to our knowledge been fully developed in all the various phases of mental psychism. We cordially recommend him to any individual or society that may need his advices.

DR. JOHN WESTERFIELD,
President Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store,) by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigation along psychological lies, that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial condition, and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.
(Daily and evenings; Sundays, 9 to 5.)

PERSONAL—TO THE SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED. The writer has practiced medicine 50 years. She is a graduate in the regular school, also the homeopathic, and fully realizes the superiority of the latter. For 25 years she has been using a magnetic oil which accomplishes its work by external application. It is a germicide destroying all forms of bacteria. I have tested its merits in inflammatory and muscular rheumatism, intermittent fever, peritonitis, patient recovering after 3 physicians gave no hope, a man totally blind three years from opacity of vitrious humor was restored to sight in 8 weeks by the use of this oil. Mrs. E. Dixon, 819 West 6th street, gives a case of cataract removed and sight restored. It cures granulated lids and removes opacity of the cornea. It cures worst burns without a scar. In diphtheria it has saved cases that I should have lost otherwise. If reference is required will give the address of an ex-Governor, an ex-Mayor and a State Treasurer. This oil is sold at 1053 Blaine St. RACHEL S. TELLEY, M. D.

PERSONAL—
PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,
NOTED PALMIST AND ASTROLOGER OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.
REMOVED TO THE NEW STUDIO PARLORS, 533½ S. BROADWAY.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 28 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, talents, environments, about children, relatives, when and where to travel, what to seek or to avoid, when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc., also your good periods coming—giving dates of these events for the future.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Mary Mannering, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hopper, Maxine Elliott.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED WORK with his trained judgment must in no wise be classed with that of other readers. Therefore do not waste your money on the idiotic advice and warning of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychics—those doing dishonest work.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an expert PALMIST and WITH EACH PALM READING gives also an ASTROLOGICAL READING.

DR. J. A. LARSEN writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory thing I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and reliable of any reader in the United States."

FREDERICK WARDE says: "Your reading was most SATISFACTORY. Your knowledge and skill is REMARKABLE."

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK says: "I was greatly surprised to find how many of your warnings were well founded. YOUR READING WAS MOST MARVELOUS."

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and hand reading has brought him a LARGE AND SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention. Strict privacy. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. Therefore HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

Daily and evening; Sunday, 10 to 2.

HOTEL AND APARTMENT HOUSE LOCATIONS.

We are now offering the following locations, on which owners will build to suit tenant; on all of the following we are not asking anything unusual in regard to security.

Olive st., between Second and Fourth; one corner and one inside; inside piece 60 feet frontage; will build 100 to 150 rooms, class B building, either hotel or apartments; on corner piece will build 250-room, Class C building, hotel, giving entire building.

Corner between Seventh and Ninth sts., on either Spring or Main sts.; will build as high as 300-room Class A hotel.

Los Angeles st., between Seventh and Ninth sts.; will build Class C apartment house, 75 to 150 rooms, at an average of $7 for ten-year lease; this is a good proposition, if any one realizes the future of this street.
Corner in vicinity of Second and Flower sts.; will build 75 to 100-room apartments at $6.50; Class C building.

Seventh st., close to Union, will build 75 to 100-room apartments at $6, for life of lease.

AUCTION.

200 HEAD OF LIVE STOCK.

On the Sierra Vista Stock Farm, one mile west of CHINO.

3½ miles southeast of Pomona. Take S.P. trains to Chino. Teams in waiting.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 9 o'clock a.m.

This stock consists of 65 head of horses and mares, consisting of 20 brood mares with colts at side, all colts sired by imported French Percheron weighing 2150 lbs. A fine lot of 2 and 3-year-old colts, balance all good work and all-purpose stock, weighing from 1000 to 1500 lbs. Several fine drivers and saddle horses, including Baby Wilkes, with mark of 2:17, an exceptionally fine road mare. Standard bred stallion Dr. Cook, with a mark of 2:22. Several fine colts sired by prize at the State Fair.

65 fine dairy cows, Jerseys, Holsteins and Durhams, many now fresh, giving large quantities of milk, others coming in soon, all choice dairy and family cows.

30 fine heifers, selected from the best cows in the herd.

25 Poland China hogs, sired by Sierra Vista, 15 brood sows.

One 20-horse power Lambert engine, with Byron Jackson ppump, fully equipped.

Mr. English is closing out all of his stock on account of the fact that he is going to raise nothing but ppure bred Holsteins and Percherons. This is an exceptionally fine lot of stock, and buyers who are interested in same are requested to visit ranch prior to sale and look them over.

Owing to the size of this sale, positively no outside stock will be admitted.

Terms—$100 and under cash; over $100 one-third cash, one-third in three months, one-third in six months, with note and approved security and 8 per cent. interest. Liberal discount for cash on time sums.

Don't miss this genuine closing out sale. Good free lunch at noon.

PHONES: MAIN 754. A5807.

THE DRY SEASON IS VERY HARD ON hoofs; if you have a horse with a bad foot caused by tender, brittle, hard or contracted hoofs, split hoofs, quarter cracks, mud fever, scratches, corns, cracked heels, or grease heels there is nothing equal to WOOLFAT. It mixes readily with the water of the foot, and is very penetrating; it is not a new thing, but has been giving great satisfaction in the East for many years, and for several years here, too. Send for folder with many testimonials of horsemen, vets., and others. Or, better, try it, 4-oz. package, 25c; 12-oz. 50c; 32-oz., $1.00; by mail postpaid. Easier to keep hoofs right than to cure them. Send for it today. WEST COAST SEED HOUSE, 116-118 E. Seventh st.

REBEL LEADER GROWING SAUCY.

Orozco Sends Surly Reply to American Officer.

Col. Steever Warns Him Not to Fire Across Border.

Insurrecto Lays Down "Conditions" for Uncle Sam.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Orozco is getting "sassy" to Uncle Sam. When the Federals were reported at Ojinaga and the two machine guns and two field pieces were brought to Juarez to defend the town from attack, Col. Edgar Steever, commander of the Department of Texas, Fort Bliss, sent a formal note to Gen. Orozco, through his father, Col. Orozco, warning him against allowing his men to fire rifle balls, bombs, shells or shrapnel into American soil should there be a second battle of Juarez.

Back came the answer from Orozco by his father, telling the American commander that such an order as he requested would be a conditional one. This condition was that no Maderista soldiers be permitted to cross the river at or near El Paso to assist the Federals, that recruiting should stop among the Federals in El Paso, and that no arms or ammunition be allowed to be crossed during such an engagement.

Should this not be done, Orozco said he would not be responsible for the action of his men at such time, so great was the feeling against the United States because of the alleged discrimination against rebels in the exportation of munitions of war.

Col. Pascual Orozco stated that, while he would direct his men to avoid as far as possible firing into El Paso in case of fighting, yet if any men recruited, as he alleges, in El Paso, by E. C. Llorente, the Mexican Consul here, composed the attacking force, he would feel justified in giving his men no instructions.

The Mexican government officials deny that any men have been enlisted by them on American soil.

The arrest of Gen. Campa, who is one of the few rebels, it is said, whose aim is to help the poorer classes, is believed to have placed Orozco in jeopardy of his troops. Sixty picked men left Juarez for Chihuahua today to form a personal bodyguard.

No fighting occurred today.

IMPRISONED BY OROZCO.

Gen. Campa and Col. Alatorre, Rebel Officers, Arrested on Charges of Insubordination.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHIHUAHUA (Mex.) June 15.—Gen. Emilio Campa, one of the most dashing officers in the rebel army, who lately returned from a harassing expedition around Torreon, was placed under arrest, together with Col. Jose Alatorre, by Gen. Pasqual Orozco today. Insubordination is charged.

The officers were placed in the penitentiary incommunicado. It was said Gen. Orozco had dispatched Campa and Alatorre to the front and that, while they sent their men forward, they themselves returned to argue further with Orozco about campaign plans.

NUTS TALK ABOUT A BOLT.

California Roosevelt Delegates Adopt a Resolution that Indicates They May Kick Over the Traces.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—Aroused by the unseating of two of the Roosevelt delegates from California the California delegation held a conference today and adopted resolutions which were construed by many to indicate they stood ready to participate in a bolt if their leader, Gov. Johnson, would say the word.

Folowing are the resolutions:

"Resolved, that the California delegation will not, under any circumstances, stand for a reactionary programme, and that we are prepared to insist in going the limit in order to carry out the will, not only of the Republicans of California, but from the real Republicans of the United States. We authorize our chairman and recognized leader, Gov. Johnson, to commit this delegation in any manner that he may deem necessary or advisable in order to carry out our determination and to secure a progressive victory through the submission of the name of Theodore Roosevelt to the voters of the country."

CALIFORNIANS ARRIVE.

Shouting for Roosevelt and Headed by a Band They March to Colonel's Headquarters in Chicago.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—California's delegation, shouting for "Roosevelt," arrived today, and, headed by a band, marched to the Roosevelt headquarters, where they were given a rousing reception. The Republican National Committee was denounced by members of the delegation for unseating the two Roosevelt delegates from San Francisco.

Many banners were carried by the westerners bearing inscriptions of various kinds. Among them were:

"California refuses to try title to property before thief who stole it."

"Let the people rule."

"California for Roosevelt by 76,000."

Accompanying the California delegation are two women, Mrs. Francis Porter Collins of Los Angeles and Mrs. Charles D. Blaney of San Jose, the first women to attend a national convention as delegates.

Chester H. Rowell of Fresno was indignant at the action of the committee in declining to seat Charles S. Wheeler and Phillip Bancroft.

"There are twenty-six delegates here and every last one of them is strong for Roosevelt," said Mr. Rowell. "The State went for him by 77,000 and then the National Committee goes ahead and throws out two of our strongest men. However we are fighters and we are going to fight; we are going to get those delegates back before the convention opens or know the reason why."

Gov. Johnson made public a telegram from the State Central Committee of California to Chairman Rosewater of the National Committee, denouncing the "shameful attempt to unseat two Roosevelt delegates."

The California delegation caucused today.

HENEY IDENTIFIED.

Rosewater Recognizes Him When He Gives Description of Man the Nebraskan Takes for Californian.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—A motion was made today in the Republican National Committee during the hearing of the Texas contests to reorganize the Texas delegation.

The motion was finally tabled on the suggestion of a Taft member, shutting off a speech Francis J. Henev had started. Mr. Heney accused Chairman Rosewater of recognizing no one but a "machine-made, handpicked crook."

"The chair recognizes the gentleman retorted Rosewater. Col. Lyon declared that if the committee persisted in the way it was going there would he a repetition of "that historic incident, the commune."

OROZCO RECRUITS MEN HERE FOR LAST STAND.

Defies Neutrality Laws and Sends Agents Over International Line—Two Hundred Cholos Sign in Los Angeles and Leave for Front—Rebel Leader Plans to Force Intervention to Save Cause.

IN OPEN defiance of the laws of neutrality, agents of the Orozco government in the northern States of Mexico have boldly invaded Los Angeles to obtain men and arms to defend Ciudad Juarez against the threatened attack of the Federals.

Despite the sharp watch kept upon the international line by the American army, information was received by the Mexican secret service agents in this city tending to show that a widespread recruiting movement already has been inaugurated to bolster up the depleted forces of the so-called liberals, who are gradually retreating from Jimenez in the face of the triumphant forces under Gen. Huerta.

In the last three or four days it is estimated that not less than 200 Mexican laborers have recruited under the banners of Orozco and have been sent to the front under the guise of peaceful working men on their way to Chihuahua to work on the immense haciendas owned by Gen. Luis Terrazas, the Mexican Rockefeller, who is living quietly at Long Beach until the war clouds disappear from the southern horizon.

POSE AS AGENTS.

Posing as labor agents, anxious to "repopulate" the agricultural districts of Northern Mexico with men skilled in the use of American implements, the recruiting officers of the rebel army began to circulate among the Mexicans congregated at the Plaza and along Los Angeles street with offers of large pecuniary rewards for all who would leave their jobs on this side of the line and go to Mexico.

Those approached by these agents were soon acquainted with the real import of the "work" expected of them, and, while many refused to become implicated in a violation of the laws of this country, scores were only too glad to accept the transportation offered them, together with the hint that rich loot was in store for those who returned to their native land at this particular time.

As an example of what might be expected by the new recruits, it was announced that more than $1,000,000 worth of property belonging to Gen. Terrazas already had been "confiscated" by the rebels and millions more remained to fall into the hands of the faithful.

Another party of Mexican railroad and mining men who recently arrived from Arizona are alleged to have been sent out last night under the leadership of Juan Menendez, a noted rebel agitator and confidential adviser, who has been in this city for the last week supposedly in the interest of Orozco.

Great secrecy was maintained to prevent the departure of the party from becoming known to the Mexican consular authorities, but Senor Fernando Baz, the new representative here of the Madero government, announced last night that he was watching affairs closely and that developments might be expected in the event that the laws were again violated.

Meanwhile, advices were received in this city yesterday that nearly 200 Americans were being kept bottled up in the hills surrounding Pearson and that none were allowed to leave the country without a military pass signed by Orozco or his secretary at Chihuahua. The purpose of this move is believed by students familiar with the course of events in Mexico to indicate that the rebel army will disband and begin a series of atrocities calculated to force intervention if the army of Madero proves victorious in its march to the North.

With each cartridge worth forty cents in American money in the rebel camp, it is not believed that the Orozco treasury is sufficiently strong to furnish supplies to checkmate Huerta's advance and that a reign of anarchy such as the world seldom has witnessed will follow the breaking up of the "liberal" army.

In the final struggle to establish himself as master, Orozco is now believed to have staked everything on the possibility of obtaining fighting men and arms on this side of the line, in defiance of the Federal authorities.

WILL BE A COUNTY AFFAIR.

South Pasadena is Making Plans for a Record Breaking Fourth of July Celebration.

SOUTH PASADENA, June 15.—The first grand inter-city Fourth of July celebration and free barbecue for all cities of Los Angeles county will be held at Garfield Park, South Pasadena, and in its magnitude will demonstrate the spirit of her citizens. The park is easy of access from both the 'long' and 'short' line cars, and is an ideal place for such an occasion.

The opening exercises will consist of short speeches by prominent orators. Then will come a delightful musical programme conducted by Thomas Taylor Drill in which the land show chorus of 250 voices will render several of the selections that they sung at the recent land show. The soloists will be Florence Wadswort-Wallace, Mrs. Willis N. Tiffany, soprano; Max Alexander, tenor; O. G. Mercer, baritone; together with Mr. Drill. Frank Eagan of the Egan Dramatic school will present with his pupils a "Fairy Ballet" and "Greenleaves Dance" by children and a "Chinese Tragedy" and scenes from Shakespeare by his senior class. There will also be a band of 15 pieces. Then will come the grand free barbecue feast, prepred by Joseph Romero, and assisting him at the tables will be the Women's Improvement Association. There will be a multitude of sports and negotiations are pending for a merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, captive balloon and other riding devices and attractions for the day.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Tre funeral services of Joseph N. Cassel, who died in this city last night, will occur from the home of his son, J. S. Cassel No. 706 Magnolia street, South Pasadena, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with interment following in Mountain View cemetery, Pasadena. The deceased who was 80 years old, had recently come to this city from Nebraska, where he had been a resident for fifty years. He leaves two sons, J. S. and E. T. Cassel, both residents of this city.

Nineteen automobile speeders fell into the clutches of the local motorcycle policemen during the month of May, according to the report filed with the city Trustees. The fines paid by the joy riders totalled $293, and their average speed was twenty-nine miles an hour. The lowest speed registered by the motor cops was twenty-six miles and the highest speed was thirty-five miles an hour. Aside from the speed cases there were three minor cases handled by the motor-police. Two arrests were made for riding bicycles upon the sidewalks and one for peddling without a license.

The regular annual conference of the Free Methodists of the Southern California and Arizona districts was formally opened this week at Mineral Park in the Arroyo by Rev. W. B. Olmstead of Chicago. About fifty delegates and their families are in attendance and seventy-five tents have been pitched in the grove and meetings will be continued until June 23. Regular services are as follows: Holiness meeting, 6 a.m.; Love feast, 9 a.m.; preaching, 10:30 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.; Children's meeting 1:30; Young People's meeting, 6:30 p.m.

Three South Pasadena students of Occidental College won honors at the commencement exercises of that institution this week. Bessie Gardner of the senior class won second honors; Harold Huntington of the Sophmore class won second honors and William Hazlett won similar honors in the freshman class.

HEAVY DAMAGES AWARDED.

Pacific Suger Corporation, Which Has Suspended Operations, Is Hard Hit by a Jury.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

HANFORD, June 15.—Twenty thousand dollars, the full sum prayed for in the complaint, was awarded by a jury in the Superior Court today to Mrs. Anna Lippert as damages against the Pacific Sugar Corporation for the death of her husband at the company's sugar beet factory at Corcoran, two years ago, when he was killed by the explosion of a pre-heater. The case is of particular interest, not only because this is the first instance on record in the Kings county court in which the full amount of damages asked for was awarded, but also because the verdict affects a large number of stockholders in the Pacific sugar corporation, which is now defunct and whose property has been absorbed by creditors and other companies. Many of these stockholders are Hanford men, while still more reside in Los Angeles, among the organizers of the company being former Mayor Harper of the southern metropolis. Attorneys for the defense intimated that an appeal would be taken from the verdict, which was reached after three hours' deliberation, on the sole point of how much should be awarded as damages, all jurors agreeing on the first ballot to find for the widow.

COUNTY FAIR.

That there would be no difficulty in raising the required guarantee fund to assure the holding of a county fair here this year was instantly indicated this morning, when the Finance Committee commenced soliciting subscriptions. Within two hours over $1700 had been pledged by the business men of this city and the mark set was well within sight this afternoon before the committee ceased work. The guarantee fund is raised, as its title indicates, to guarantee the payment of any deficiency that might occur between the disbursements and receipts of the fair, and the directors do not believe they will have to call for any of it, but insist that the fund be subscribed before undertaking plans for this year's local exposition. The fair will be held the second week in October and will be one in the new Pacific Coast circuit.

APRICOT SHIPMENTS.

Apricot shipments have already been begun by the Pioneer Fruit Company from its branch house at Armona, and on June 20 the Stewart company expects to begin shipment of Tragedy plums from the Lucerne orchard. It is expected that a new record will be set this year in the amount of fresh fruit shipped out of Kings county, one packer estimating the output at 250 cars, as against 150 last season.

GLENDORA REALTY SELLS.

Active Demand For the Orange Groves Demonstrates the Excellence of the District For Fruit.

GLENDORA, June 15.—The influx of home seekers and investors continues without a perceptible change, and the record of sales made by the growers who cannot resist the temptation when a handsome profit is assured shows to what extent the exceptional advantages of the Glendora district are appreciated by those inquest of homes and first-class income properties.

Among the more notable sales of the past week are: H. W. Whisler to A. Anderson a 4½ acre tract within the city limits fronting Colorado avenue, unimproved set solid to navel and valencia orange trees, eight years old and in a good state of cultivation. Price stated, $13,000. The new owner comes from Pasadena and buys for a home and will occupy the premises at once. Anderson plans to erect a modern 12-room two-story residence and make other improvements.

W. G. Hall sold to Chas. Easton, a four-acre tract within the city limits fronting west Colorado avenue, improved with a four-room house set solid to seven-year old valencia orange trees in a fine state of cultivation. Consideration given $10,000. Easton will improve the property with a view of making it his permanent home.

O. Georgi sold to C. H. Curtis a twenty-acre tract situated on the northern slope of the San Jose hills fronting Alosta avenue and overlooking the teeming citrus fruit groves covering the expansive valley to the north. Consideration given $8000. Curtis is a wealthy coal operator of Colorado Springs, Cal., and has made the purchase with a view of erecting an elegant residence and otherwise beautifying the premises.

LIBRARY CONTRACT LET.

Figures on Vermont Square Branch Come Within Carnegie Appropriation—to be Begun This Month.

At a meeting of the Public Library Board yesterday afternoon, the general contract for the Vermont Square branch library was awarded to J. F. Atkinson, the lowest bidder, subject to the usual investigation. Atkinson's bid was $30,000. The heating contract was let to the Machinery and Electrical Company at $588.

Work on the building will be begun this month. The gift from Andrew Carnegie of $35,000 will probably be nearly sufficient to cover the entire cost of building and equipment. If the total amount proves to be in excess of this figure, the members of the board believe it can be secured from the Carnegie library fund.

The board also disposed of much routine business, including the placing of extra fire insurance and the adjustment of extra pay for overtime work by library employees. An invitation to participate in the parade of July 8, was received from the Municipal League, but action was deferred to a later meeting. The question of a site for the main library building will be taken up at a later meeting.

INNER FIELD GRADING.

Good Showing Made at Exposition Park in Construction of Large Athletic Grounds.

Superintendent of Parks Shearer has a force of twenty-five men and sixty head of horses and mules engaged in the work of grading the inner field of the race course at Exposition Park, where is to be created the big athletic field for the Playground Commission.

A considerable amount of money is being saved to the Playground Commission by having this work done by the park department instead of awarding it to private bidders, and this saving will be used for further improvements at these grounds.

Beside the $7500 reserved by the Playground Commission for the athletic field improvement, it has available a fund of $15,000 appropriated by the County Supervisors.

HIGH SCHOOL TREE PLANTING.

Innovation to Be Inaugurated at Los Angeles High—Moving Picture Concern to Photograph Ceremonial.

A unique feature of the graduating exercises of Los Angeles High School will be the tree planting by senior A class, on Wednesday. The students, holding sprays of ivy, will form a procession within doors, and march out through the main entrance, cross the lawn, circle around once, and, marching past the place prepared for the tree, will drop their ivy sprays into the ground. They will then place the tree, after which Messrs. Housh and Culver, and Miss Galpin will deliver short addresses, followed bz the class officers, Wayland Augper and Mabel Jolly. The Sunset Moving Picture Company will take pictures of the ceremonial. A reception to the alumni will be held after the tree planting, at which the alumni will present three handsome pictures to the school.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

The Garbage Problem.

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The garbage proposition in that section of East Twentieth street east of Central avenue is of more importance to the residents therein, at this moment, than all of the gyrations of Roosevelt, the witticisms of "Uncle Jerry," or the peculiar medical views of one of our eccentric Senators.

Up to a couple of months ago the garbage in this section was collected with some regularity; since then, only spasmodically, gradually diminishing collections until at the present writing the garbage has not been collected within the past four weeks.

All of our garbage cans are full, likewise other utensils never intended for that purpose, and the garbage continues to accumulate; in fact the garbage monopoly in this section has all the other trusts down and out—stifled to death long ago.

The stuff is decaying in the cans and the filthy maggots and other vermin bred thereby and the aroma therefrom are becoming intolerable.

There being a city ordinance against burying the garbage or for others except those authorized to collect it, we do not know what to do unless to move into a part of the city more favorably considered.

As moving is cheaper and more satisfactory that paying doctors' and undertakers' bills, I have no doubt but some of us will avail ourselves of the lesser evil.

With 1500 children attending the Twentieth-street school, right in the midst of this neighborhood, there appears to be conclusive argument that the garbage should be collected at once.

STRANGE CASE IN BEACH TOWN.

SANTA MONICA HAS MAN WHO WANTS TO MOVE.

From Advance Agent in Tahiti He Gets Roseate Description and the Information that the Native Chiefs Want American People to Locate. Postmaster Gets Raise.

SANTA MONICA, June 15.—Fired with enthusiasm created by communications received from Tahiti, William Kavanaugh, whose home stands at the corner of Fremont and Ocean avenues, is taking steps to organize a colony of beach people to go to the Society Islands and assist in the development and participate in the prosperity of Papeete.

William Rhinehart, who recently went to these volcanic islands as the avant courier of an organization of little landers, who are anxious to get their hands into the dirt, recently arrived on the islands and after investigation has reported back that the head of the government is more than anxious to secure American settlers and in order to encourage them to come there and encourage the natives to more intelligent effort in diversified and intensified agriculture and also for the purpose of enlarging the home and increasing the foreign demand for the tropical products of the sunset seas, he has inaugurated a liberal policy in the presentation of lands to bona fide settlers

Kavanaugh is conferring with his compeers and a meeting of those who think favorable of migrating is expected to be called within a few days, when the matter will receive full discussion and a decision will be reached relative to the organization of the proposed colony.

POSTAL PROGRESS.

W. S. Vawter, postmaster, is in receipt of notification from the department that his salary is to be raised at the beginning of the new fiscal year from $2500 to $2600 per year. Simultaneous with this substantial evidence of progress, he has made application to the city delivery department for an enlargement in the number of carriers here. This service was inaugurated two and a half years ago, with three carriers, but there has been no increase since that time. Five carriers are required to give satisfactory service, even within the present delivery zone. Should it be extended southward, as has been requested, at least eight carriers will be needed.

YOUTHFUL RAFFLES.

Herbert Schenk, aged 12, has appeared on the police horison as Raffles, Jr., and, after being given a mild sweat in the third degree, has confessed to numerous burglaries committed during recent days along the strand. Money, jewelry and other valuables have been missed from a number of houses, and the mystery of the thefts has kept the police officers and members of the detective force on the guess. The lad said he sold the stolen goods to a man in Los Angeles. Again he said he threw it into the ocean. And at another time he denied that he had stolen anything.

WEALTH WAITING.

Mayor Dow today received a letter indicating that a former resident of Santa Monica has fallen heir to a large estate in Louisiana. The communication, which was from R. E. Madison of Bogalusa, La., sought information concerning Joseph Bayer, who made his home here fifteen years ago. The information is sought by Charles E. Petrie, who has the estate in charge. Inquiry at the beach has developed the fact that Bayer, who was a carriage painter, made this city his home a number of years ago. No resident of the beach today could be found who knew the present whereabouts of Bayer, although several have an indistinct recollection of having heard that he had died.

THE NARROW PATH.

Rev. G. W. Lehigh, evangelist for the Southern California Baptist Convention, will begin a series of evangelistic meetings at the Baptist Church here tomorrow. The services will be continued indefinitely, and the members of the congregation are making preparations for a great religious awakening.

BEACH BREVITIES.

The parent-teacher associations have closed the year's work with a union meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. J. C. Wallace. Plans are being discussed for a renewal of activities in the early fall.

The members of the Fraternal Brotherhood will enjoy a Sunday picnic in Rustic Canyon.

Members of the local military company marched to Topango Canyon's mouth this evening, where they will be in camp over Sunday. The day will be spent in rifle and revolver practice.

DINUBA.

DINUBA, June 15.—Officers have been chosen for the summer sessions of the San Joaquin Methodist Episcopal Church Association, which are to be held in the newly-purchased grounds of the association on the upper Tule, a few miles east of Porterville. Rev. Harcourt W. Peck, D.D., the presiding elder of the Fresno district, will be in charge of the work, which will open July 17, and which will continue for two to three weeks, depending upon the attendance. Associated with Dr. Peck will be Oren B. White, D.D., of Los Angeles, who will be in personal charge of the Sunday-school sessions. Rev. H. B. Clark of Bakersfield will have the position of musical director and will organize a large chorus of mixed voices.

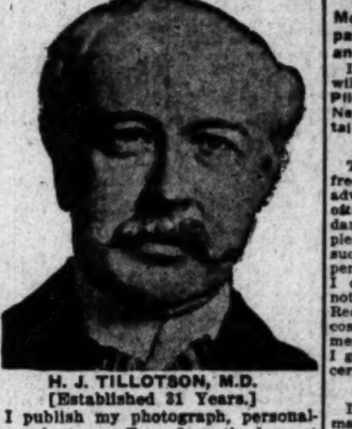
NO TUBERCULAR CATTLE.

TULARE, June 15.—County Veterinarian Pouppirt has just completed his reports for the year ending June 1, and of particular interest is his statement that Tulare county dairies are free from tubercular cattle. Assisted by State Veterinarian Keane he has tested over 2000 head of dairy cattle and other veterinarians have tested as many more. Dr. Pouppirt maintains that this immunity is due largely to the rigid quarantine which has been maintained and advises that the same regulations be kept in force for the ensuing year. Under the terms of this law all cattle shipped into this county must be accompanied by a certificate from a competent, registered veterinary surgeon, setting forth that the animals are free from tuberculosis or other communicable disease.

Piles, Fistula, Fissures and Hernia



H. J. TILLOTSON, M.D.
[Established 31 Years.]

I publish my photograph, personally conduct my office. I am the longest established, most successful and reliable, as medical credentials and press records prove. I possess skill and experience acquired in such a way that no other can share. Experience is the safe standard by which judgment should be valued.

NO MONEY REQUIRED TO COMMENCE TREATMENT. Many patients have no confidence in their doctor because he demands pay before a cure has been effected, and there are many who have been misinformed about their condition, or through unsuccessful treatment have become skeptical and think there is no cure for them. I want an opportunity to treat such cases. It makes no difference about the financial part, as I accept pay for my services as benefits are derived, when I am satisfied the patient is reliable. I will prove my ability to cure you before asking pay for my services.

Most Time Saving. Most Natural. Most Safe. No Detention from Occupation, Family or Home. A Radical and Permanent Cure.

I invite you to come to my office. I will explain my treatment for Hernia, Piles, Fistula, Varicose Veins, Pelvic, Nervous, Blood, Kidney, Bladder and Rectal Diseases.

Piles, Fistula, Rectal Diseases.

These diseases are very common; [illegible] frequently found in persons of middle or advanced age; are exceedingly annoying, often very painful, and sometimes very dangerous, and frequently unfit one for pleasure or occupation. My treatment and successes are the result of years of experience: my treatment is kindly applied. I cure Piles without cutting. If I do not cure your Piles, Fistula and other Rectal Diseases, my treatment does not cost you anything. Gentleness in treatment comes from treating many cases. I guarantee a cure of Piles, Fistula, Ulcers and all curable Rectal Diseases.

Trusses Seldom Cure Rupture.

Disregard for existing Hernias has cost many lives. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous, because of the increased liability to strangulation. I am aware that a great deal of fraud has been practiced in connection with the alleged cure of rupture. I say positively that I cure Rupture, to stay cured. I cure with perfect safety, and entail no suffering, and do not detain you from occupation.

WRITTEN GUARANTEE.

Dr. Tillotson's written guarantee means a cure or no pay for services. I guarantee to cure certain diseases or refund every dollar you have paid me. My services cost you nothing unless I cure your Varicose Veins, Hernia, Piles, Fissures, Fistula or any disease I guarantee to cure. My terms are reasonable and no more than you are willing and able to pay.

"Q" Theater and Hotel Building.

PLAN LOFTY BLOCK.

Twelve-story Theater and Hotel Building to Be Erected by Amusement Company on South Broadway.

Plans for a twelve-story theater and hotel building to be erected on the site of Tally's picture playhouse on the west side of Broadway, between Eighth and Ninth streets, are being prepared by F. C. Hurst, an architect of Phoenix, Ariz., and actual construction upon the building, it was stated yesterday by J. A. Quinn, of the "Q" Amusement Company, will be begun on January 1, 1913. The building will occupy the lot taken under a fifty-year lease from the Lang estate by T. L. Tally two years ago, the lease having been secured by the "Q" Amusement Company about three weeks ago.

The site has a frontage of sixty feet, by a depth of 165 feet and the building projected will occupy the whole lot. The structure will be of steel frame construction and will be handsomely faced with terra cotta. The first floor will contain a moving-picture and vaudeville theater and the upper stories will be given over to hotel purposes.

The "Q" Amusement Company now maintains a chain of picture houses in Arizona and controls the Garrick at Eighth and Broadway and the Banner at Fifth and Main, in this city.

EARLY-MORNING WEDDING.

Before most of their friends and relatives are awakened this morning R. Hubbell and Miss Grace Roberts are to be married at the First Baptist Church. Hubbell came here several days ago from Oneida, N. Y., to meet his sweetheart, Miss Roberts, of this city. They planned a [illegible] wedding at least as to time and the ceremony is set for 6 o'clock this morning. Immediately after the wedding they will go to Hotel Hayward, where they have invited a number of friends [illegible] ostensibly for a start on a day's outing in the mountains. They will announce their marriage [illegible] they will invite the friends to breakfast. Hubbell is an official of the Olney Canning Company, of Oneida. After three weeks of travel in this section of the country he will take his wife East.

FACT AND COMMENT.

The announcement by the police department that officers are to be detailed to serve notices on all owners of vacant lots which are overgrown with weeds, that the city laws relating to this nuisance must be respected, cannot but receive the hearty indorsement of everyone who has the best interests of Los Angeles at heart. The law is plain on the subject of weed-grown lots and all who through indifference or ignorance have failed to measure up to the full requirements of the ordinance should be brought to time. Don't "beef" about it, Mr. Property Owner, if you happen to be one of the guilty ones, but get busy with a scythe and grubbing hoe. Many have already attended to the weeds and hence will not receive the police attention, but a host of owners are in the same boat as yourself.

If the city is to be at its best at all times, this weed nuisance must be abated once and for all. There are hundreds of vacant lots in the most beautiful portions of the city that are an eyesore and a disgrace. A man owning vacant property in such an environment has no moral right to permit his lot to become a jungle of obnoxious plant growths. Weeds, like everything else that grows, thrive hereabouts and they may only be kept down at the cost of eternal vigilance. Strangers coming here in times past, have marveled exceedingly at some of the weed crops exhibited to the garish light of day in otherwise attractive districts.

A man who deliberately permits a lot to grow up to weeds is decidedly lacking in civic pride even as he is lacking in business perception, for weeds in rank profusion will prejudice any prospective buyer against a lot or a neighborhood. Furthermore, a man has no right to allow weeds to go to seed on a lot and to be blown thence over all the surrounding property.

The Law of It.

Considerations such as those mentioned were the determining factors in the stand taken by the Los Angeles Realty Board on the weed question a year ago, when the new and apparently effective ordinance now in vogue was pushed through. The lot owners who neglect or refuse to clear their lots as required by law are plainly in the wrong and should be forced into line. The whole trouble with the old-time weed ordinances was that they lacked steam. It was against the law to allow a lot to become overgrown with weeds, but one could do it with impunity in former times. Things are different now and it is devoutly to be hoped that with the club provided by the present-day enforcement clause, the officers of the law will be able to immediately compel obedience to the ordinance.

If the new law is strictly enforced, the city will, in the event of the refusal of an owner to clean up his premises, handle the business for him, assessing the cost of the work against the property itself. It oughn't to take very many examples of this nature to bring about an observance of the ordinance.

For the benefit of any who may be disposed to doubt the intention of the City Council, a section of the anti-weed ordinance is herewith quoted: "Whenever, in the judgment of the City Council, the public interest and convenience shall require that weeds, rubbish or any other material which may endanger or injure neighboring property, or the health or welfare of the residents of the vicinity, be removed from private lots or lands, the said City Council may require the owners of such private lands or lots to remove such weeds, rubbish or other material from their respective lands or lots; and, upon the default of any such owner or owners, the said City Council may, in the manner provided in this ordinance, cause such weeds, rubbish or other material to be removed from such lands or lots, and may make the cost thereof a lien and charge upon such lands or lots, and such lien shall be enforced in the manner provided by this ordinance."

You see, Mr. Property Owner, how it is nowadays. It will pay you in more ways than one to get that scythe whetted up for business.

Fireproof Loft Building on West Seventh Street to Contain Thirteen Stories—Plans Now Under Way.

The largest construction development of the past week was that embodied in the project of the recently-incorporated Standard Fireproof Building Company to build a thirteen-story steel frame loft structure on the north side of Seventh street just west of Grand avenue. Plans for the building are now nearing completion in the offices of John C. Austin and W. C. Pennell, associated architects.

The building will have a frontage of seventy feet by a depth of ninety-five feet, and will be absolutely fireproof. The exterior walls will be of brick, the street front being handsomely faced with terra cotta. The building company, which is incorporated for $300,000, includes among its directors Shirley C. Ward, J. P. Chandler, L. S. Chandler, R. B. Wheeler and C. A. Sheedy.

HOTEL NORTHERN LEASED.

Big Hostelry at Second and Clay Taken Over by Experienced Hotel Man for Long Term.

One of the big leases closed within the last few days on downtown property is that of the Hotel Northern at the corner of Second and Clay streets, near Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Crampton, former owners of the Seminole Apartment Hotel in this city and hotel people of Seattle, leased the property for a period of ten years from date of completion at a total rental of $150,000 from F. W. Braun.

Work is being rushed on the structure and it is expected that the building will be completed by the first of October and that the hotel will be thrown open to the general public a month later. The hotel will be eight stories and basement in height and will contain upwards of 200 guest rooms. One hundred and fifty of these will contain private baths and twenty public shower baths will be located on the various floors. Of reinforced concrete, the hotel will be fireproof to the utmost degree.

The main floor, with entrance from Second street, will contain the lobby which will be finished in marble, Skagliola and mahogany trim. The basement, which will open directly on Clay street, will contain the grill-room, kitchen, baggage-room, heating and refrigerating plant and the electric and elevator machinery. The cafe will be finished with tile floor, and heavy beam ceiling, while the kitchen will be in white enamel.

EXPECT NEW RECORD.

All previous records both for the number and valuation of building permits issued in a single month bid fair to be eclipsed by the totals of the present month. From June 1 to June 14, inclusive, the Chief Inspector of Buildings issued 759 permits for new structures whose aggregate cost will be $1,906,254. Applications for permits not as yet issued bring this valuation total to over $2,500,000. The best previous valuation record was that for April, 1910, which was slightly in excess of $2,360,000. The officials of the building department believe that the business yet to come into the office before the end of the month will be in excess of $1,000,000 and that the former record will accordingly be discounted by a considerable margin.

MONETA AVENUE PUTS ONE OVER.

HOT SHOT AT CITY COUNCIL IN LETTER TO MAYOR.

Declares Policy of Allowing Electric Light Companies to Tear Up Pavements Responsible for Condition of Streets that Connect With County's Good Roads.

Responsibility for the failure of the city authorities to connect with the county's good roads in a proper manner is placed at the door of the City Council in a plain letter to Mayor Alexander by Dr. Thomas Chalmers Myers, president of the Moneta-avenue Improvement Association.

Dr. Myers's letter does not mince things, but comes out squarely with the charge that the Council has played into the hands of the electric light companies in not insisting that wires be placed in underground conduits before a street is paved. The letter, in full, follows:

"I desire to draw your attention to a policy adopted by the present city administration which is considered by many to be the chief cause of delay in the construction of suitable pavements connecting with the county boulevards.

"The present city Council, by permitting to remain in force, and thereby indorsing, the ordinance which requires only two miles of overhead wires to be placed in underground conduits each year, gives protection to the utility corporations and prevents many miles of pavement from being constructed.

"For example: Moneta avenue is the main thoroughfare of the southern part of the city, and practically connects with the Harbor boulevard through Manchester avenue. It was the ambition of the property-owners to make it the model business street of Los Angeles. Mr. Cox of the Park Commission prepared plans for the proposed improvements, which included ornamental lighting, asphalt pavement, and the removal of all overhead wires. We presented our petitions and offered to assist in the construction of a municipal conduit, financially and otherwise, but all our plans were waved aside by the present City Council at the particular request of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Edison Electric Company.

"Everyone realizes that at some time or other the wires will have to go underground on business streets, and we insist that the best time to perform this work is before pavement is constructed. Our property-owners have spent $100,000 in widening part of the street and are spending a like sum in widening the remainder. They have installed sewers on part and are preparing to do likewise on the remainder. They are willing to construct a pavement at once at a cost of over $200,000, but they cannot see the wisdom of incurring such expenditures without proper protection from the marauding forces of the public utility corporations.

"The repeal of the 'two-mile-a-year' ordinance and a thoroughgoing, progressive policy in protecting asphalt pavements would speedily solve the problem of good roads within the city limits."

PAYS CASH FOR CORNER.

Local Investor May Erect Fine Hotel At Pico and Grand—West Adams Flats Change Hands.

The northeast corner of Pico street and Grand avenue has been sold for M. L. McCray to a local investor for a reported consideration of $102,500, cash. The deal, which was handled through the agency of W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., involves a property having a frontage of eighty-five feet on Grand avenue by a depth of 135 feet to a twenty-foot alley on Pico street. Part of the frontage is improved with a two-story flat building. The purchaser contemplates the erection of small stores at once and states that a substantial hotel will be built on the site in the near future.

W. I. Hollingsworth & Co. have also sold for Henry Cohen to a local investor the property at Nos. 1735 to 1743 West Adams street for a consideration of $30,000. The site is improved with one four-flat and one two-flat building, both structures of brick construction and elegantly appointed. The interior finish of both flats is in mahogany.

NEW BUSINESS CENTER.

Two Up-to-Date Stone Buildings Projected for Corner of Gower Street and Hollywood Boulevard.

A sale concluded during the past week through the agency of the Nimmo Realty Company, apparently insures the establishment of a new business district in Hollywood. At the northeast corner of Hollywood boulevard and Gower street, which was sold yesterday for G. W. Hoover to a local investor for $9500, is to be erected a two-story store building, 115x110 feet in size. At the northwest corner of the same thoroughfares a Pittsburgh druggist has made arrangements to build an up-to-date store and apartment-building.

Through the same firm John Donahue of Chicago has bought 90x300 feet on Hartford avenue, and James Rutherford has purchased 66x285 feet on Hollywood boulevard, near Gower street.

BUYS EAST SEVENTH SITE.

A lot on the south side of East Seventh street, between Crocker street and Towne avenue, has been sold by R. T. Whittlesey to John Prince for a reported consideration of $28,000. The property consists of a lot 35x112 feet in size, improved with a one-story brick building. The sale was made through the agency of Eugene H. Cordary.

RE-ENTERS BUSINESS.

Geo. Diddock, for the past twenty-five years a successful horticulturist, after a retirement from activity, has re-entered the real estate business with offices at No. 602 Pacific Electric Building. Diddock will confine his efforts to acreage exclusively, making a speciality of orange and lemon groves. Ralph Diddock, his son, will have charge of lands in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys.

JUST ONE LIKE THIS.
$5900.

The prettiest bungalow in town! That's it! Also the best value for the money we have seen. It lies on Gramercy place, fronting east, in a splendid neighborhood. It has everything a home should have; all hardwood floors, beautiful finish; especially selected lighting fixtures and built-in conveniences; three bedrooms, a breakfast-room and a fine bath, basement and furnace; last, it has a cement drive and garage with extra lavatory and toilet; in fact, it's complete and charming, and a great big bargain. Ask us to show it to you.

CLOSE-IN INVESTMENT.
$7500.

Only a short block from Eighth and Figueroa sts., we are offering a good two-story home on a lot 40x137 feet, at the extremely low figure of $7500. Here is a chance to double your money in a few years and have a home within a few blocks of the center of the city in the meantime. Twenty-five hundred dollars cash, balance three years. Act quickly. Close-in property like this isn't offered very often.

CAHUENGA BOULEVARD SNAP.
$8750.

A real colonial home of nine rooms, located on Cahuenga blvd., just off Sixth, on a lot 60x150 feet; this is a real home and looks more like $12,000 than $8750. See this with us Monday. $1500 cash, balance to suit.

WILSHIRE SACRIFICE.
$9500.

The location of this home will convince you of its real value; on Harvard blvd., between Fifth and Sixth sts., on a 60x150-foot lot, this home of nine rooms could not be duplicated for less than $12,000. It is strictly modern in every particular and almost new, but you cannot appreciate its points of excellence without making a thorough inspection. The living-room is 18x25, beautifully beamed and paneled; the dining-room and breakfast-room have all the down-to-date features; four large, sunny bedrooms, sleeping porch, garage large enough for two machines, cellar and furnace, complete this handsome property. Very easy terms can be arranged.

BARGAIN WILSHIRE RESIDENCE.
$10,500.

If startling value for your money will induce you to buy, here is the house for you. Only half a block from Wilshire boulevard, fronting east on a high, well-built-up street, it is the equal of any location in the city. There are nine rooms, two baths, a sunroom and a balcony; every room is large, sunny and extraordinarily well finished and appointed. In this last lies the excellence of the property. You won't find any home at twice this price with better finished woodwork, more handsome decorations or more tasteful fixtures throughout; the lighting globes are pure Tiffany; the bath has shower and tiled floor; the garage has man's room. No house can compare with it, either in downright value or thoughtful excellence throughout, and the price is but $10,500.

MANHATTAN PLACE HOME.
$12,800.

It's a real beauty of ten rooms, handsomely finished in choicest hardwoods, with three baths, two of them tiled. This home was purchased less than a year ago at $14,500, and now the owner is about to leave the city; hence this sacrifice. The lot is 60x150 feet, located in the best block near Wilshire blvd., has five bed chambers, large garage, cellar, furnace and automatic heater. Reasonable terms may be arranged.

HOME NEAR THE HARVARD SCHOOL.
$16,000.

Something new! Something different! Right up-to-the-minute! Cement marble dust finish, Colonial—it's a real beauty. Nine rooms, three tiled baths, two dressing-rooms, complete servants' quarters on the first floor, large cellar, furnace, Ruud heater and garage. The interior finish on the first floor is in quartered oak and mahogany, with seven-coat ivory enamel on the second floor. The sixty-foot lot commands a beautiful view of the mountains and is located near Dorchester and St. Andrew's. Terms may be arranged.

CORNER HOME NEAR WILSHIRE BOULEVARD.
$20,000.

Nearly new, and the owner paid $25,000 for this home a year ago. But she is going abroad at once and this is your opportunity to get a property which will suit you and at the same time save the $5000 which it would cost you in addition to the above price to duplicate the place. And it is impossible to get another corner in this desirable neighborhood—right at Seventh and New Hampshire. The entire lower floor is finished in oak and mahogany, with a large billiard-room on this floor. Upstairs are five large, beautiful bed chambers and three baths. A cellar, furnace, automatic heater and two-story garage with servants' quarters complete the home. $5000 cash, balance long time at 6 per cent.

A HOLLYWOOD GEM.
$28,500.

If you want the ideal California residence in the midst of a minature "Busch's Gardens," with a splendid view of mountains and sea, don't fail to investigate this one. House is new and contains ten rooms, beautifully finished in imported hardwoods, handsome tapestries, draperies, etc., with two elaborate, tiled bathrooms. Basement under entire house, with laundry, furnace and automatic heater. Lot is 150x200 feet. Garage for two cars, with man's room and lockers.

MOVE IN—MOVE IN.

Everything that is offered on the many beautiful tracts about Los Angeles is to be found on College Tract.

Do you want mountain view? There you have it—and you are ten miles nearer the ocean than you would be on the other side of the city.

In addition, your air is cleaner and purer, the breezes blow from the ocean—not toward it. Consequently you get none of the city impurities.

College Tract is young—yet old enough to have all utilities established and the foliage is well grown. There is nothing raw or new looking about it. Go and see for yourself.

College Tract is an ideal location; all the houses are new and modern; every convenience is provided; gas, electricity, sewers, telephones, postoffice, churches, assembly hall, modern stores, walks, curbs, planted shade trees; no unimproved streets in College Tract; three-minute car service; you are given FREE A TWO-YEAR OPTION on and use of the adjoining lot; fenced and in lawn.

EASY PAYMENT PLAN—Make a small cash payment and the balance monthly installments; like rent; including taxes, insurance and interest.

BEAUTIFUL BUNGALOWS, FROM $2500 UP TO $5000.

If you had to pay cash you might have to buy a $1500 bungalow. But with our easy payment plan you could buy a $3500 home, or even $4500. On regular payments, never increased by taxes or interest. You know the exact demand on your purse.

A RANCH WITH A GUARANTEED INCOME

We have something unusual to offer. It is very seldom that you can purchase property under these conditions. Read the following:

24½ acres, 2 miles south of El Monte, 18 acres full bearing walnuts; 6 acres full bearing apples, best winter varieties; all in the best of condition. The soil is a cool, moist loam and requires no irrigation whatever. Fine 2 story house, barn and other outbuildings. The owner will give a secured guarantee of a $4000 income yearly for the next four years. Price $30,000; will take a good bungalow up to $5000, $10,000 cash and balance to suit. Let us show you this property and you will be convinced of its merits.

$12,500—Bearing walnut orchard, containing 12.35 acres, trees all in the best of condition, owing to good cultivation. The location is ideal for a home, being only 1½ miles from El Monte, 12 miles from city, and only two blocks from the electric car line to Los Angeles. Water piped to the land. Terms $3000 down, balance 3 years at 7 per cent. If you want to take advantage of an opportunity of this kind, on such favorable terms, "get busy."

$52,250—100 acres, solid to alfalfa, located in the El Monte country, very deep sediment, loam soil, pumping plant on the ranch, pumps 175 inches of water with complete pipe system. Here is a money maker. Will sell 50 acres or all. Easy terms.

$4500—10 acres south of El Monte, subirrigated land, no irrigation required to grow potatoes, celery, alfalfa, etc. Terms $1000 cash, balance 3 years.

$5500—10 acres, a subdivision of the Baldwin Ranch, will grow anything without irrigation, good California house (new), barn, etc. Only 1½ miles south El Monte, 10 miles from city.

$9500—10 acres walnuts, 10 years old, near El Monte, only 5 minutes' walk to electric car, fair house, barn, family fruit, good income, as trees are in good condition. Terms, $4000 cash, balance 3 years, 7 per cent.

65 acres—This tract is a part of the famous Lucky Baldwin Ranch and is located within a few hundred yards of Puente, the thriving and coming city of the San Gabriel Valley. You can drive all the way to Los Angeles rain or shine, via the valley boulevard, which this land adjoins. The soil is a deep sediment loam and decomposed granite, and will produce enormous crops of alfalfa, garden truck, walnuts, in fact anything. Water is supplied by a pumping plant that pumps 175 inches of water at low cost. Will sell in 20-acre lots if desired. Price $475 per acre, 1-3 cash, balance 3 years, 7 per cent.

We have others.

FOR SALE—

MAGNIFICENT, NEW, 8-ROOM HOME. $2250 ACTUALLY BELOW VALUE.

Not often, but occasionally, you can find a genuine sacrifice. Most houses are advertised as "real bargains." But I do not ask you to take my word for this buy, but investigate values for yourself. Then you will realize that not one word of this advertisement is overestimated. This house is one of the show places of the Oneonta Park district. High, commanding corner lot, 125x216, Swiss chalet type; 8 beautiful rooms, finish A1 throughout. Unusually large living and dining-rooms, beamed, wainscoted, handsome built-in buffet with beveled plate mirrors, library with ample built-in bookcase; complete cabinet kitchen, four large airy bedrooms upstairs, attractive tile bath, two toilets, large front porch and upper balcony; plenty of French windows and doors; porte cochere and pergola, cut-glass door knobs; hardwood floors throughout except kitchen; cellar, furnace, attractive electric fixtures; velvet lawn and flowers. You could not pass this place without noting its attractions. High ground (meaning health and comfort;) six car lines, only twenty minutes out; splendid view of mountains and valley. I can actually prove this place cost more than $10,000. It's easily worth $11,000. For quick sale will take $8750; only $1000 down. I defy you to beat it anywhere.

OWNER, 830 SECURITY BLDG. Phone Home A3161.

FOR SALE—

A BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY HOME. 12 MINUTES FROM THE BLUE PACIFIC AND MIDWAY BETWEEN THE MOUNTAINS AND THE SEA.

On one of Southern California's famous boulevards, and set in the midst of A DREAM OF NATURE, we offer you an extremely well-built, modern 6-ROOM BUNGALOW HOME. The owner personally supervised its construction, and has since resided there, beautifying the property until it is recognized a SHOW-PLACE in the vicinity.

The lot is 75x175 feet to alley. The bungalow stands 50 feet from property line, and about 7 feet above street level, giving large lawn, graded artistically to meet an 18-inch retaining wall. Border and climbing roses abound.

There is an extra lot adjoining which together with the back of No. 1 is planted with a choice number and variety of fruits and flowers. Over 50 grapes, besides apples, berries, peaches, plums, prunes, and several others. Corrals for 100 chickens.

—There is something wrong with the man who does not plan for a home some time, sooner or late.

—History repeats itself and the man with no settled abode has always been the man who could not be depended on.

—He has no ties, no responsibilities, no background. You hardly know how or where to place him.

—He has no credit, no circle of friends, no real social life.

—He cannot even vote.

—Are you one of the wanderers?

—Or, are you already on the alert, prepared to take advantage of the first real opportunity which comes your way?

MITCHEL'S EXPOSITION PARK SQUARE

is the Place for You, Then.

—In the southwestern part of the city, where numberless houses of the best class are being put up, you will find this delightful home site.

—Any one of SEVEN car lines will take you there in TWENTY MINUTES.

—In the midst of a built-up section and ideally located with reference to education advantages, it leaves nothing to ask for.

—On one side are the Manual Arts High School and the University of Southern California. Here the boys and girls can complete their education and get a good start in life.

—Across the street is Exposition Park, with playgrounds, swimming pools and athletic grounds.

—On all sides are agreeable neighbors either already settled or building their homes.

"HIS FATHER HOUSE"

A most attractive place, too, and one to which we all look back longingly, but the trouble is there aern't enough "Fathers' Houses" to go round. Most of us "Children" have to buy our own lots and build our own houses.

An ideal place to select as a homesite is

MABERY HEIGHTS

It is so close to the business center that 10 minutes,

ONLY 10 MINUTES!

will put you there. This, of itself, is convincing. The view and surroundings, however, are exactly like those of country places miles farther from the city. The combination, therefore, cannot possibly be equaled.

Think of really living in the country and yet being able to enjoy the sights and show places of the city in the evening without a long, tiresome ride afterwards to make you unfit for the next day's work.

THREE PARKS

form the boundaries,
Elysian, Echo and Silver Lake.

THREE CAR LINES

(Hollywood, Laurel Canyon and Colegrove) will take you there. 5-cent fare. Get off at Eliza avenue.

ONLY $800
ONLY $800

buys a choice lot. Terms can be arranged. All modern improvements are in—paved streets, cement walks, ornamental shade trees. Let us take you out in our auto and show you over the ground.

FOR SALE—

HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD NEAR WESTERN.
UNRESTRICTED FRONTAGE.

$48.50—PER FOOT—$48.50

RECENT SALES HERE AT $75 PER FOOT.

Urgent need of cash by owner compels sale at this price.

Price is good for MONDAY AND TUESDAY ONLY.

Located in a strategic position facing paved Hollywood Boulevard near Western ave., which is a car-line street, and the main entrance to Griffith Park, which is soon to be developed. The opening of a 250-acre tract with a $10,000 building restriction immediately adjoining this property is only one of the big things taking place in this district. The 5-cent car fare has made beautiful Hollywood Boulevard, close under the hills and in the midst of orange groves and magnificent homes, a most attractive location for apartments. The property for one block each side of Western is the only unrestricted property in this section of the boulevard and the car line crossing and Griffith Park entrance at Western will make this a business center second only to Hollywood proper.

This is positively worth $75 a foot based on comparative values and recent sales.

This is high, level ground; lot is over 200 feet deep. Requires about $8000 cash to handle.

If you wish to see this Sunday, telephone Home 10743 before 12 m. and ask for Mr. Koehler.

WILSHIRE DISTRICT BARGAIN.
$1500—50x171.

In order to make a quick sale of a lot on Delaware Drive, I am offering it at about half price. The lot is a short distance south of Wilshire Boulevard, in a select environment that will please the particular buyer, in a neighborhood of homes of the highest class. The lot fronts on a 70-foot street. Wide parkings are planted, with large palms, and every essential that adds to the artistic and substantial nature of a home place is there. The price of $1500 is phenomenally low for a lot 50x171 in that neighborhood where lots are selling for three times the price. I will sell it on easy terms or make liberal discount for cash.

LET US SUPPOSE A CASE

Assume that a group of ten families join temporarily together and purchase a ten-acre ranch on a trolley line, suburban to Los Angeles, which would subdivide into 40 generous sized quarter acre lots.

Now suppose that each one of the ten select two of these lots. This would take up one-half of the property, or twenty lots, and they would spread the total cost of the entire property, and including the improvement unto the 20 lots. This would leave the other 20 lots all paid for and improved and their own home-places would be secured at a lower figure than they could buy on the ordinary retail basis.

Now when these ten people build their respective home-places and improve the whole property, there will be large increase in value on the remaining lots, which will then be sold for enough easily to earn back the entire original investment. Besides this, their own home-places would have doubled in value.

The Verdugo project is based on exactly this plan, except that it is carried into a field of wider operations which gives a much greater proportionate result.

Would you not like to participate in the profits from subdividing and opening the other district in which you build your suburban home?

This certainly merits your investigations.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR! ! !

BEST CORNER IN WILMINGTON!

PAYS 5 PER CENT. NOW.

We have been fortunate in securing the agency of the most strategically located business corner in Wilmington, with new, modern, up-to-date improvements.

When the Panama Canal is finished and business is done over the city docks, the value per front foot of this property will be equal to or greater than the best property in San Pedro today, which is four times the price on the property.

This property could not be duplicated today for $15,000 more than the price, and the income can be increased to double in the near future.

$25,000 cash will handle this property. The balance can remain on a long time mortgage of a low rate of interest.

THIS WILL INTEREST YOU.
The other day a bank director who invested earlier in the season doubled his original investment.
There was a reason why he did it.
First he made sure that our land banking and home securing plan was absolutely sound and formed on correct basic principles. He knew it was a guaranteed 6 per cent. investment with large profits absolutely certain.
Then he visited the property twice, and felt certain that Verdugo will be a second Hollywood, and in a shorter time.
And finally he looked up this house and found our past record (9 past successful projects) investigated our financial standing, and, well, his decision speaks for itself.
Wouldn't you like to share in the profits of Verdugo, which will be a second Hollywood? Here the smaller investor shares in profits usually only made by the heavy capitalist, and yet your principal is absolutely safe. It is a guaranteed 6 per cent. investment, with very large profits a certainty.
Verdugo bonds offer a combination of safety and large profits very rarely found together.

EVENINGS OUT ON THE PORCH
AT VERDUGO HEIGHTS.

Can you sit out on the porch these evenings, or does the damp night chill force you to sit indoors? How about a home place up above the fogs, where spring, summer and autumn nights are never damp, nor chilly, and one hates to leave the porch to get even the needed sleep?

Come with me and visit the vale of Verdugo at eventide, just before sunset, and look out over Glendale and the city of Los Angeles, on out to the Pacific Ocean, with Catalina Island looming on the horizon. As the sun goes down the towering north mountains are subdued in a sea of purple haze and gradually darken as twilight comes on.

Down below in the Verdugo Park over a mile away, we hear the sound of the guitar and singing, but so fine are the etheric conditions in this open tabernacle among the hills, that its sounds as but a rod. As the evening passes, we notice billows of fog in the lower valleys in the moonlight. It would seem as if the ocean itself had rolled in and enveloped the city, but situated as we are, 1400 feet above the sea, we escape that damp night chill, and continue to sit out on the porch in the moonlight. Although it is bright and balmy, yet we are but 20 miles from the rolling surf, and the air of our higher altitude is thus surcharged and mixed with the salty air currents and the pine and chaparral of the mountains.

This indeed is the true Southern California climate.

In the Verdugo project you can secure your home place in this beautiful spot with all street improvements at the lowest wholesale figure. And at the same time you can share in the immense subdivision profits arising from the population and improvement of this raw land into finest residential community. Your interest in the adjoining land will ultimately earn your home place free and besides this, your own property will have increased tremendously in value.

What are you going to do about this?

You have doubtless read our ads before, and have intended to investigate. Do not let procrastination rob you of this one real opportunity. Come in and let us explain our plan frankly, then arrange for a trip to Verdugo, and see for yourself this beautiful valley.

STRAIGHT TALK.

Now see here, you aren't treating yourself or your family right. You know very well that you have been intending to investigate the Verdugo project for some time past, but have neglected it. In a short time you will wake up and find that you are "just too late," and it isn't right, because this project is not one of hundreds of similar projects, but it stands distinct and alone, separate from the ordinary real estate proposition.

Where else can you actually share in the subdivision profits?

Where else does the small investor get in on the ground floor, and at the same time be absolutely safe?

Where else can you actually receive back the value you bring to the adjoining land through your improving and settling there?

Where else can you earn a homesite free with your citizenship asset?

Where else can you buy at wholesale and then share in the retail profits which follow immediately?

This is the one real opportunity that you should investigate and you should do it now.

Our office open Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Verdugo.

FOR SALE—

VERDUGO,
THE "THRONE CITY."

Your ultimate home place.

The phrase "Throne City" is not just a pretty sounding name, but there is a reason for it. Verdugo has an elevation of 1200 to 1400 feet. From there you look down over Glendale and across Los Angeles to the Pacific Ocean, with Catalina Island in the distance.

It is the "Throne Chair" of all Southern California. The situation is at the junction point of three important residence valleys, and only 11 miles from Broadway. It is not an addition to some other tract or community, but is a town site proper. It has a predestined location for a truly important commercial and social center. Verdugo, the "Throne City" is an absolute certainty.

We have told you a whole lot about the magnificent glory of the Verdugo Heights town site. Nature has proclaimed this the "Throne City." She has made the hills green and the climate more balmy and delightful, and given the territory a beautiful little babbling brook (a mighty asset in Southern California.)

It is ultimately the home place of the cultured folks who love and appreciate nature and the better Southern California climate.

Wouldn't you like to have a share in the transforming of this beautiful spot from the raw land into high class retail residence community.

Our autos leave daily (except Sunday) at 9:30 a.m., and 1:30 p.m.

FOR SALE—PLANTED APPLE LANDS. I am planting for an eastern syndicate a large tract of very fine apple land, about one hundred miles from this city; soil is the finest; water is in great abundance, and very cheap; climate cannot be excelled for the big red winter apples. Altitude 3500 feet. Will sell a portion of this land in small tracts at $350 per acre, payable $10 an acre down, balance $25 an acre per annum, and no interest and no taxes; we contract to care for the orchards for five years without cost to buyer. You would not accept $1000 per acre at the end of five years. There will be a greater demand for fine apple orchards in California in the next few years than can possibly be supplied. Only sixty acres ready for market this year, so first come first served. After that we will make reservations and selections in order. We will accept some good trade as part payments. If you want to begin to put your money into something that will bring you an income for life, investigate this. Our price of $350 per acre is for planted orchards, cared for for five years, without further cost. Is this not better than paying that price for bare land? Address S, box 127, TIMES OFFICE.

FOR SALE—RANCHES.
Our Ranch and Land Department is at your disposal.
If you are looking for a ranch, large or small, within a radius of one hundred miles of Los Angeles, near a good live city and one that is growing fast at this time. 630 ACRES OF IMPROVED LAND
FOR SUBDIVISION.
We have for sale 630 acres of land in the northerly end of the Perris Valley, for sale at such price and on such terms as makes it an exceedingly attractive subdivision proposition.
ALL UNDER CULTIVATION.
The whole tract has been sown to barley last year. Every acre on the tract is level enough to plant to oranges, lemons or olives. The general slope to the south is about five (5) feet to each ten-acre piece.
PIPE LINES.
About one-half of the tract has a pipe line to the highest corner.
WATER DEVELOPED.
There are two (2) 12-inch wells completed, estimated 30 miner's inches to each well.
LAND ADAPTED TO CITRUS CULTURE.
This tract of 630 acres adjoins old orange groves and olive groves, the latter doing well without irrigation.
ACCESSIBILITY.
The western boundary of the land is only 9 4-10 miles from the Glenwood Hotel at Riverside. Has a fine county road to and past it. The Sierra Power Co. has its pole line along the county road 1-4 of a mile south of the land. An electric line along the same road is almost a certainty.
PROSPECT FOR IMMEDIATE RETURNS.
The land will now sell in 10 and 20-acre tracts at $250 per acre.
PRICE AND TERMS.
We can sell the 630 acres at $150 per acre, 1-3 cash, balance on or before four (4) years at 6 per cent. interest. The land can be released in 10-acre tracts on a payment of $100 per acre.
The location is beautiful. The price is very low and the terms just right.

GOVERNMENT LAND—

BEST RELINQUISHMENT ON THE MARKET today.

Where people of all walks of life live on account of the climate being a great benefit to those suffering from asthma.

I am the owner of a 320-acre relinquishment of desert land in San Bernardino county; 160 acres of which can be taken as a homestead; balance as desert claim. The land is practically level, and the soil of the very best; alfalfa on the land near by, and of the same character, is selling for $22 per ton; there is a fine well already developed that will pump nearly 100 inches of water and any quantity of water can be easily developed; 40 acres of the land is cleared and harrowed; the railroad division station is within a mile, with a switch and loading track within a few rods of the land; this land is worth $150 per acre if cleared and planted, but I am not in a position to do it.

I will sell or trade my relinquishment at $12.50 per acre, which is less than I have already spent on it.

ORANGE AND LEMON GROVES—
For Sale—Exchange—Wanted.

FOR SALE—
"ORANGE GROVES THAT PAY."
FOR SALE BY FRANK WHEELER.
ORANGE GROVE HEADQUARTERS,
CLAREMONT, CAL.

We have the Best Buys in the Best Foothill districts, where ideal homes are located with every advantage at hand. Remember, navel oranges from the groves I offer for sale have during the past few weeks been selling for $3.60, $3.65 and $3.70 a box, while oranges from less favored districts have scarcely paid freight charges. It pays to buy the best, and in a district where a good income is always assured.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE BEST
"ORANGE GROVES THAT PAY."

$110.
40 acres—$80,000. Navels and Valencias. Without exception one of the finest producing orchards in California. Soil is a decomposed granite. Smooth surface. Just enough slope to irrigate nicely. Trees are nine years old. Every tree perfect, no replants. 21,000 boxes picked this year and not one frosted orange. This grove has always had perfect care and has been heavily fertilized. It is beautifully located near the foothills. Has cement curb all around the place. There is a strictly modern bungalow. Splendid barn. Lawn and ornamental trees. Three fine horses, wagons and implements included. This is a show place and would be a bargain at $3000 per acre. Owner will take $10,000 in good income property in Los Angeles, Pasadena or Hollywood. Mortgage $32,000 at 6 per cent., balance cash. Will bear the strictest investigation.

2221.
10 acres—$20,000. All navels. Free canyon water. Income from this grove last year was $5000. There is a mortgage of $9000 and the owner will take $5000 in trade, balance cash.

4129.
20 acres—$35,000. Half navels and half Valencias, near the foothill boulevard. Owner will take some trade, little cash and a long time on the balance.

1319.
10 acres—$25,000. 100 Valencias, balance navels. A magnificent grove near the foothills. 5000 boxes picked this year. Mortgage $15,000. Owner will take $4000 home in Hollywood or Pasadena.

1447.
10 acres—Valencias and navels, one of the show places on Euclid avenue, Upland. Double water right. This grove for several years has produced over $7000 per year. There is a good house, barn and garage. $5000 home will be taken in trade. $10,000 in cash. Easy terms on balance.

4126.
20 acres, half Valencias, half navels; trees only 8 years old, but as large as many at 12 years. This grove has been owned by an expert. Returns last year were $5111, and only 7 years old. It is located within a quarter of a mile of the Pacific Electric Railroad, 50 minutes to Los Angeles. It is surrounded on all four sides by a fine cobblestone curb and cement gutters; good water right and double pipe line; ideal building site. Search this country over and you cannot find a better grove; $20,000 cash will handle this; positively no trade.

4115.
Are you looking for an ideal country home, a magnificent location, near electric car line and a splendid income? Then do not fail to see this one.

10 acres—464 lemons, 450 navels, and 77 Valencias; income $7000 per year; abundance of water, stone curb around whole ranch costing $2500; beautiful new and modern residence costing $6700; $625 garage, lawn, palms, roses and shrubbery; grove has had every attention; owner will take $10,000 residence in Pasadena, Hollywood or Palisades.

1234.
10 acres—$25,000; lemons, Valencias and navels; the show place of the foothill boulevard; absolutely frostless; magnificent modern home; mortgage $8000; this is an ideal country place, and will bear investigation.

2133.
5 acres—$11,500; one-third Valencias, balance navels; 421 trees, mostly 9 years old; dustless side of macadamized boulevard; excellent soil, good water right; 4-room cottage and barn; if you are looking for a small grove you cannot beat this.

FOR SALE—
CHOICE ORANGE GROVES
IN THE FROSTLESS BELT

Our unusual success in the Covina district is the result of a careful study of the business and hard work in sifting out the best values.

READ THESE OVER CAREFULLY:

$6000—5 acres in the Charter Oak district, ¼ mile from school, depot and packing-house. Trees 3 years old, ½ Valencias, ½ navels. Four-room comfortable California house. $4000 cash.

$8000—5⅓ acres, all set to Valencias, choice location, near Covina, ¼ mile from electric car and facing on boulevard. Nice 5-room cottage, barn and outbuildings. Trees are all in excellent condition. Azusa water right, being the best in Southern California. Terms, $3000 cash, balance 7 per cent.

$13,500—11 acres of rich soil, choice location, between Covina and Azusa; 7 acres navels, 4 acres Valencias; trees are in perfect condition; 33 shares of Azusa water, one of the very best water rights; cottage and barn. This property is growing into money very fast; will double in value inside of four years. Terms, $3500 cash.

$16,500—This is a bargain; 10 acres in full-bearing, ½ Valencias, ½ navels; trees in fine shape, soil the best. Excellent water right. Fine location and only mile from Covina car. Nice 5-room cottage, barn and outbuildings. Terms, $8000 cash, balance mortgage.

$45,000—30 acres, located on a corner on the choicest part of the Covina section, set ½ Valencias and ½ navels, 16 years old; every tree is in perfect condition. This grove has always had the very best of care and will bear the closest inspection. Has 60 shares of Covina water stock, giving it an excellent water right. You cannot find a better grove in Southern California. The owner of the grove has never offered it for sale before. Terms, 1-4 cash, balance mortgage.

FOR SALE—
IF YOU KNOW VALUES.

In the best orange grove districts, we can show you a San Dimas grove that is by far the best grove now on the market within $5000 of the price. It consists of ten acres, mostly Washington navels, with about an acre of Valencias, all 12 years old. The trees are uniformly big, healthy and thrifty, well cared-for, and the naturally rich soil has had heavy applications of commercial fertilizer. You have probably noticed the light set of fruit even in the best groves throughout the orange belt this year. Yet this grove has a wonderful set of next year's fruit—in fact, one of the largest we have ever seen. The grove which can produce QUALITY, as well as QUANTITY, is the grove that will pay the largest NET returns. And that is just what this grove will do. The price is $20,000 and after a rigid inspection you will admit that the VALUE is there—and MORE.

FOR SALE—
CITRUS LAND
CITRUS LAND
In the prize-winning Bloomington district, near Riverside.
$250 PER ACRE
$250 PER ACRE

When you can buy improved land in the heart of a celebrated district for this extremely low price there is absolutely no excuse for looking elsewhere or considering mediocre offerings. The soil at Bloomington is rich and fertile and produces rapid development in trees. Good water supply piped to the highest corner in each tract. This land is surrounded by bearing trees producing great profit to owners. Land like this is worth much more than $250 an acre, considering the fact that it is in the heart of a thriving community.

Bloomington has modern conveniences, is close to Riverside, has a school, church, stores, packing-houses, an olive mill and a manufacturing institution giving employment to hundreds. In all our years of experience in handling high-grade citrus and farm land offerings we have found nothing that excells Bloomington for a quick profit money-making possibility. We have just what you want at Bloomington. Good land that cannot be beat for $250 an acre. Big town lots for $100. Town lots covered with bearing oranges and grapefruit trees, $450 per lot, and many bearing planted groves.

The new electric railway between Los Angeles and Riverside will pass through Bloomington. It has been built in Bloomington. There is already great activity in this new town, but the advent of the new railway will cause values to increase greatly. A man who wants a suburban home where he can raise citrus fruit, potatoes, poultry, etc., at the minimum of production expense, will find no better location than Bloomington. Make up your mind today to see Mr. Boyer. He can show you how to make money at Bloomington.

Do not overlook the fact that now is the time to prepare for next winter's business. Last year many waited too long, the result was a wild scramble for houses, with none to be had, everything was tied up.

We have the following houses to offer for lease, some in course of construction, and others with plans ready to start, when the right tenant is found.

Four of those locations advertised are gone—buildings leased through this firm.

HOTEL.

Plans ready, 100-room hotel, Class "A," $9 a room; 20 years' lease. Main street, near Seventh.

APARTMENT.

50 rooms, West Pico street, near Figueroa street, building to be on property line, all outside rooms, large windows in all kitchens and baths. Rent $7, 10 years' lease.

HOTEL.

We can build 150 to 200-room hotel, class "A" construction, with 1000 feet air line of Fifth and Hill sts., at $3.50 per room. This positively cannot be duplicated in the city. More information at our office.

HOTEL.

110 rooms within one block of Grand ave. and 7th st. Will start to build at once. A four-story brick. Handsome in design. Complete in detail. Superior to anything this size. Right rent to right tenant.

APARTMENT.

Three or four-story brick. Within ½ block of four car lines. On asphalted thoroughfare. A corner. Many houses in this vicinity rent for $7.50. This one only $6.50.

APARTMENTS.

60 rooms, brick, ten minutes' walk from Broadway. This is to be a very attractive house. Unusual opportunity considering the location. Rent only $6.50.

FOR SALE, FURNISHED.

A new downtown, furnished apartment house of 75 rooms, with long lease, at $7.50, furnishings at cost. Full particulars at our office. No information over phone. ½ cash will handle this.

FOR SALE, FURNISHED.

5-year lease on new 60-room hotel, on a corner, downtown, less than $6 per room rent. Well furnished and full. Small bonus. Easy terms.

We have many locations where the owners have signified a willingness to build, we are constantly searching for more.

It does not pay us to work on propositions we cannot deliver.

If you are in the market for a hotel or apartment lease it will pay you to see us, we can help you make money.

125-room commercial and transient hotel in the very heart of the city; best buy in town; long lease; reasonable rent for right party. This house will make $6000 per year. Price $12,000.

100-room apartment house, absolutely modern and thoroughly equipped, elegantly furnished, ground floor lobby, reception room, close to 7th and Olive, at the rental of $2.50 per room less than anything in that locality. $7000 cash will handle this bargain of the season.

Modern, handsomely furnished apartment house, close in, 10 years' lease, reasonable rental. Price $8000, clear. Will exchange for good property in or near Los Angeles. Positively a money-maker and never on the market before.

We have plans for an 80-room apartment house near Third and Olive, to be built for responsible tenant at very low rental, 10 years' lease.

Also have plans for hotels and apartment houses in good locations in other parts of the city.

We have a number of high-class apartment houses that we can exchange for good property in or near Los Angeles, both improved and unimproved.

DON'T YOU WANT TO TALK WITH ME ABOUT YOUR TRADES?
If you have property you wish to exchange, in the way of APARTMENTS, FLATS, RESIDENCES, VACANT LOTS, RANCHES AND GROVES, and you are willing to PRICE RIGHT, and you will appreciate the efforts of an agent who will do all in his power to trade what you DON'T WANT for what you DO WANT—an agent who will GO WITH YOU in auto to look at your property—who will tell you candidly whether he can handle your property or not—an agent who will treat you fairly and courteously whether he can be of service or not—you will do well to 'phone or write me for an appointment or call at my office. I'm generally busy, but not too busy to give your proposition all the time it merits—and a little bit more.

AFTER MUCH INVESTIGATION AND effort in going over various propositions I have found one in which I am willing to risk my money. It is not a "sure thing," offering 8 or 10 per cent., so if you are looking for that kind of a proposition don't answer this ad. But it looks good to me, and has every ear mark of success; am willing to back it up with my money, and believe it will make me independent and you too if you come in now. It will take about three months to complete and try it out here, and our fortune will be made. It will cost about $6000, half of which amount I am willing to put up. Would you risk any part of the other half, if there was a good chance for you to make a cool $100,000 for every $1000 invested? Strictly legitimate, high class and some of the best people in California are interested. Best of references. If you want a real 1000 to 1 chance and have the nerve to back your own judgment answer this advertisement. Address T, box 284, TIMES OFFICE.

AM ORGANIZING A CLOSE CORPORATION under a system that will attract and command more money for investment than any home building company, where the organizers are sure to reap large profits with no risk; can give bank indorsement of the plan if desired. A capital of not to exceed $10,000 for publicity and promotion will establish the business and return the money the first year or less, with increasing dividends thereafter. A realty firm or company already established could adopt the place and promote it for much less. Can demonstrate to those who have money to invest the soundness of this proposition and the probability of its growth in a very short time into an enormous enterprise. You must have capital to interest me, and I will guarantee my offering will interest you. State what you can do in first letter, as I shall not find it necessary to waste time to close a deal. Address W, box 353, TIMES OFFICE.

INVESTORS, NOTICE!
If a certain machine costs $10,000 to manufacture and when put in operation earns $10,000 a month net or $120,000 a year, is there money to be made in the making of them? We own the patent rights on such a machine and want a few thousand dollars additional for manufacturing purposes. Large or small amounts may be invested. Send for particulars. You may never find a similar opportunity. Address V, box 132, TIMES OFFICE.

INVEST IN ESTABLISHED PAYING MANUFACTURING BUSINESS.
Safer and in every way more reliable than the many mining, oil and building loan investments that are now so largely being offered. We are offering a limited quantity of $100 shares to home investors, a sure income. Will bear strictest investigation. For full information address R, box 174, TIMES OFFICE.

HAVE LOCATED TRACT OF LAND IN this county that is ideal for apples, pears, grapes, etc., or for alfalfa, stock or general farming. Plenty of water. Will yield $3000 to $5000 per year. Set to orchard will be worth $50,000 in 5 years. Need $2000 to develop property. Will divide all profit and furnish all labor and implements. Address T, box 127, TIMES OFFICE.

WANTED — PARTNER. I HAVE A THRIVING real estate business netting $1000 per month, with an option on 200 lots in the best selling subdivision in Southern California; 150 lots sold in 60 days. Have more business than I can look after. I will sell for less than actual value of assets. Do not answer unless you have the money and are a hustler. Address T, box 47, TIMES OFFICE.

MAN TO TAKE HALF INTEREST AND the handling of a famous medicinal mineral water to be introduced on Pacific Coast have 20-year contract, and water sells on its merit; investment of $500 required; have other interests and cannot devote entire time to same. BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

THE PRESIDENT OF A MANUFACTURING company, recently incorporated, with eastern factory and office in Los Angeles, is doing a profitable business, far in excess of expectations, desires the co-operation of a live gentleman, capable of investing $[illegible]. Such man to be made vice-president and treasurer, and his interests pooled with the president on an equal basis, which combined interest will control the company. Necessity for the additional capital being occasioned by the unlooked-for demand for their goods during their first month in business (without advertising.) The president of this company is a man of means, and is responsible, and is personally known to [illegible]. This is a rare opportunity to become interested in a live money-making business, bearing closest investigation, and what is more important, enables getting into it on exactly the same basis as the president, which fact can be shown beyond possibility of doubt. All money not required immediately, and a large portion of the [illegible] to be in the form of a loan to the company, the president loaning an equal amount. Company capitalized for $25,000; all stock issued and closely held.

PAN-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY.
The Pan-American Oil Company is in such a prosperous condition, and is such a big producer that we believe it the opportune time to introduce to investors "What a minister says about investing in Oil":

"I admire an oil man's wealth; it is clean; there is neither blood nor tears on it; it is acquired away from the scheming and cut-throat competition that characterizes ordinary ventures, where the success of one man often means the disaster and downfall of some other man, or perhaps a number of men. Nobody has been pinched; nobody has been wronged; the oil man drills into the ground, strikes oil and produces a fortune therefrom. He has the satisfaction of knowing that he has not robbed a soul, even though he becomes a thousand times a millionaire. Then too, there is another fact to be taken into consideration; the man who makes a fortune on the Board of Trade or the Stock Exchange or in building up a gigantic business house, adds nothing to the world's store of available wealth. The world in other words, is no richer because he is richer. He is richer, rather, because some one is poorer. The oil man, on the other hand, whether he makes ten or one hundred thousand dollars, adds that much to the world's wealth, and with the added wealth he contributes just that much to the possible amount of the world's comforts and pleasures!"

BY A MINISTER.

In our last advertisement we have the opinion of a banker about buying oil stock just before dividends and the necessities of a company to meet cash demands just before the company disposes of the oil. It usually is 60 days after production begins before dividends can be paid.

We feel confident that the Pan-American Oil Company will begin paying dividends in September.

Because the Pan-American must meet its cash demands, it will accept 15 cents a share until the 20 inst.

THE TREASURY STOCK OF THE L. A. Submarine Boat Company is now selling at $10 per share.
We have placed this stock on the market because of the fact that a great many people who wished to invest did not avail themselves of the previous opportunity, owing to the conditions existing during the time our stock was on the market; and also because of the fact that it would not be right to launch this boat, which is now nearing completion, without giving every person an opportunity to become a stockholder in our company and enjoy the benefit of the great increase in price which will come as a result of the successful launching of this submarine. We predict a value of $100 per share for Submarine stock and all we ask is an opportunity to show you why.
We invite you to visit our new shipbuilding yards, now completely equipped and in operation. See a submarine being built. Public opening Saturday, Sunday and Monday, June 15, 16 and 17, 1912.

PICK AND DRILL—
During the past month, while I have been calling attention to Pick and Drill, brokers and investors have asked me this question: "Why are you boosting Pick and Drill?" For the benefit of these questions I make the following statement:
Some six weeks ago I learned accidentally of the ore conditions on the 800-foot level. I spent some money and a lot of time to find out if what I heard was true. The results showed that all I heard was more than true. Without making any noise I started buying stock. Local brokers like Doran, Zinn, Crisler, Lunn, Willard and others will tell you that I bought thousands of shares from them. When I could get no more stock without advertising I started the ball rolling in the newspapers. The stock was then selling around 20 cents and in one day jumped to 47 and back the next day into the thirties. During all this time I have been a steady buyer. If you don't believe it, come in and I will show you over 125,000 shares. I have never sold a share for any of my customers and don't intend to until it reaches $1.50 or $2.00, which I am sure it will do in sixty days, and I shall probably hold a part of it for considerably higher prices. This advance is due simply and solely to ore conditions, and if the public knew as much as I do about the 800-foot level, there would be a fury of buying that would put the price up to a dollar over night. I say now, as I have said for the past thirty days, buy Pick and Drill. It's a big gold mine with infinite possibilities in copper. The United Verde was a gold mine to start with. It's the biggest copper mine in the business now and Pick and Drill is only a little ways from it.

The "Ironclad-Exide"

Is But ONE of the Famous "Exide" Group

and while it is the latest development of the "Exide" Electric Vehicle Battery, it is made for a special purpose as are the other "Exide" batteries.

Every battery of the "Exide" group, which includes the "Ironclad-Exide", the "Hycap-Exide", the "Thin-Exide" and the famous "Exide"—has been developed to comply with some service demand of electric vehicles. And every one of them has fulfilled its original purpose. To-day the "Exide" group of batteries occupies a position in the world of electric vehicle service—whether pleasure or commercial—approached by no other batteries ever made.

The "Ironclad-Exide", the "Hycap-Exide", the "Thin-Exide" and the "Exide" batteries are used by the following prominent electric vehicle makers and have been the standards of many of them for periods ranging up to eight years.

MAKES A MODEL OF HIS DEVICE.

Convict Declares He Obtains Electricity from Air.

Files an Application to Patent the Device.

Forger Wins Many Friends to His Novel Theory.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 14.—Having convinced the hard-headed Patent Office officials that he has invented a method of taking static electricity from the air and transforming it into dynamic current, Roy J. Meyers, Arizona's inventor-convict, is back from Washington. After his thirty-day leave of absence, he is once more an inmate in the State penitentiary anxiously awaiting the time when his sentence will expire to make arrangements to manufacture and sell his machines.

Meyers is serving a term in the penitentiary for forgery. He will remain there eighteen months longer unless, in the meantime, it is demonstrated beyond a doubt that he has discovered the secret for which Edison and Tesla have sought in vain. In that event there probably will be a popular demand for his pardon, which Gov. Hunt will not fail to heed. Gov. Hunt has already trusted Meyers to the extent of allowing him a thirty-days' leave of absence, with permission to go to Washington unguarded and apply for a patent.

With letters of introduction from Gov. Hunt and others, Meyers filed applications for patents on his electrical machine and another of his numerous devices. The other invention is an electric button for the control of fire hydrants. In the course of time patents will be issued on the two.

SECRET IN HIS HEAD.

When he went to Washington, Meyers had nothing in the way of a model or drawing. His secret was all in his own mind. The only machine he had ever manufactured remained at the penitentiary and on the advice of friends he destroyed every drawing he had made.

Meyers called at the Patent Office and tried to explain the principle of his invention to the officials. They were skeptical. The next day they told him that only on presentation of a working model could they receive his application. Thereupon Meyers went to work to construct a machine. His leave was rapidly passing. Besides, he had planned to get away from Washington with time to allow a short visit to his wife in New Orleans.

The machine, more crude than the one he had made in the penitentiary, was completed and taken to the Patent Office. It did not work, since a certain steel plate had not been magnetized, but the officials seemed to dimly understand the principle he was trying to explain and they received his application. Already they had received an application for a patent on a fire hydrant control button. Meyers hurried to New Orleans, stayed two or three days with his wife and was back in Phoenix with two days to spare.

Benjamin Franklin's experiment with a kite inspired Meyers to invent a machine which he says will take static electricity from the air and transform it into dynamic current. He experimented only two months before he was given leave to go to Washington and apply for a patent. The prison authorities gave him every assistance. After much careful work he succeeded in constructing an instrument that delivered a current estimated at 8½ amperes. There was no method of measuring the current exactly, but it operated a large motor, with which Meyers twice pumped the prison tanks full of water.

THE DEVICE DESCRIBED.

Meyers brought back from Washington a drawing of one of his machines, which, he says, is large enough to illuminate a city of 20,000 inhabitants. The apparatus, which is quite inexpensive, is set on a tower, like a windmill, 200 feet high. It will collect electricity from any strata of the atmosphere, but it is better to have it off the surface in air that is disturbed as little as possible.

On the tower is placed what Meyers, for want of a better name, calls an "absorber." It is a bell-like affair, at the back of which is a steel plate magnetized by a process which is the principal secret of the invention. This is the mechanism that attracts and accumulates the electricity from the air currents, the positive coming from one pole and the negative from another. By wires the accumulated electricity is carried to a transformer of the "step-up" type, on the ground. From this transformer it is conducted through wires to power machines or lamps, either incandescent or arc.

The flow of electricity is constant, according to Meyers. When it emerges into the transformer it is in the form of a direct current. The absorber will attract electricity night and day and will work whenever Convict Rival of Edison and Tesla.

Roy J. Meyers,

An inmate of the Arizona State penitentiary who has just returned to prison voluntarily from Washington where he was permitted to go to file an application for a patent on a device with which he says he can get something from nothing, or electricity free from the free air.

wireless apparatus will work. To prevent trouble in storms, when the air is charged with an abnormal amount of electricity, Meyers has devised a modified form of circuit breaker, such as is used for a lightning arrester on telegraph lines. This conducts into the ground the extra electricity gathered by the accumulator.

Meyers has found that the position of his accumulator makes a material difference. He places his machine in such a position that it will intercept the currents flowing between the magnetic poles and gets better results than when the accumulator is in an east and west position.

News of Meyers' invention was at first received with the greatest skepticism in Phoenix. Miss Kate Barnard, Oklahoma State Superintendent of Corrections, paid a visit to the penitentiary, in Florence, and told the world that "a poor convict had invented a machine that would revolutionize human industry," since it drew power from inexhaustible sources at practically no cost. She went to Gov. Hunt and asked that Meyers be given leave of absence to go to Washington and apply for a patent.

THE GOVERNOR SKEPTICAL.

Gov. Hunt was skeptical. He remembered Meyers, who had asked for permission to come to Phoenix and drive the Governor's automobile. On that occasion the Governor had declined to make him an "honor convict" because upon looking into Meyers's record, he found that he had served a term in Folsom Penitentiary in California.

Miss Barnard and Warden R. B. Sims of the penitentiary labored with the Governor several days, but he remained firm in his decision not to take the unprecedented step of giving a convict leave of absence to go out of the State unguarded. Then Miss Barnard went before the Legislature, described Meyers's invention and forecast what it would mean to the human race. With no opposition the legislators passed a joint resolution giving the Governor their consent to accord Meyers leave for thirty days, and went down into their own pockets to help make up a purse to pay the convict's expenses on the trip to Washington.

Roy J. Meyers is 33 years old. He was born in Iowa, but he never stayed in one place very long. At different times he has lived in New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Montana, California, Arizona and other States. Most of his life has been spent in working around electric plants. For a year or more he worked at the Edison Electric Company's works, in Los Angeles. While in California he was convicted of forgery and served a term in Folsom.

At the expiration of his sentence, some three years ago, he came to Arizona. For a time he was assistant superintendent of the Humboldt smelter, and he held several positions in and around Prescott. One day he forged a $50 check, passed it at a Prescott store and left the country. After several months he was located in New Orleans, where he had married the daughter of a prominent, well-to-do family. Meyers has always refused to tell the name of her relatives in order that she and they shall not be annoyed.

Meyers was brought back to Arizona and sentenced to three years and nine months in the penitentiary. With the usual time off for good behavior, he will be released in about eighteen months.

HAS MANY FRIENDS.

The quiet, unassuming manner of Meyers has won him friends. He is quite deaf and this is one reason why he is not willing to talk at any length. He says he has invented several electric appliances now in common use. Since his commitment to the penitentiary he has been granted a patent on a devise to keep a trolley wheel on the wire. This is merely two spiral springs, extending out like horns from the two ends of the wheel axle. When the wire jumps off it is caught by one of the spirals, which runs it back on the wheel.

More complicated is the fire plug control button. Meyers says that with this invention fire plugs in a wide radius can be operated simply by pushing buttons in a central station.

At the prison Meyers has a model of a combination automobile and aeroplane. It has widespread wings, shaped like those of an oriole, attached to a small automobile. The idea is that when the roads are bad the machine can fly. But the most extraordinary part of the machine is the motor, which is of an improved type. The cylinders are controlled separately by the driver. When one goes wrong it can be thrown out of gear from the seat and the others continue to work the same as before.

WANDERS FROM HOSPITAL.

Aged Man Found on the Street, Having Lost His Bearings—Auto Knocks Down Pedestrian.

William Barroe, who has distanced the Biblical allotment of life of three score and ten years by an extra twenty years, making him the oldest patient recorded at the Receiving Hospital, was brought into that institution yesterday afternoon after being found wandering aimlessly on Figueroa between Third and Fourth streets.

"I've lost my way," is all the man could be induced to say. It was learned later that he had wandered from the County Hospital.

A possible fracture of the left ankle is what James Moore, who lives on East Fifteenth street, sustained yesterday at West Seventh and South Spring streets when he was knocked down by an auto alleged to be No. 70,903.

J. T. Walker was taken to the Receiving Hospital suffering from a sprained back. He lives at No. 5875 South Flower street, and sustained the injury by lifting a heavy iron bar at a machine-shop on South Aliso street.

While cutting a steak in a butcher shop at No. 129 South Main street, Charles Gardina, of No. 153 South avenue 21, sawed the end of his left thumb nearly through.

Mrs. E. J. Spencer, of No. 1202 East Seventh street, 42 years old, a tailoress, ran a bodkin almost through her left hand while sewing, yesterday. The wound was treated at the hospital.

RESIGNATION DEMANDED.

Dean of Women of Occidental College Asked to Relinquish Position, Says It's Spite Work—Denied.

Occidental College is in the throes of another agitation. The Board of Trustees notified Miss Anna Pearl Cooper, dean of women for the past seven years, that her resignation would be agreeable to the board. Instead of quietly resigning and getting out of sight, Miss Cooper has put up a fight, and has stated that her resignation is demanded because of her espousal of the cause of co-education. President Baer says it is not, but that the matter of asking her to resign has been under consideration for the past three years; Dr. W. S. Young, secretary to the trustees, says that, while Miss Cooper may have been unduly active in the matter of co-education, that fact has nothing whatever to do with asking for her resignation, as she has not been a success as dean of women. The secretary further says that in case she does not resign, the contract is so drawn that it can be broken by either party giving thirty days' notice, or it will expire by limitation in September.

THREE ARE MISSING.

School Boy, Motorcycling Youngster and Cafeteria Employee All Drop out of Sight Unaccountably.

The assistance of the police was sought yesterday to locate three missing persons.

Mrs. J. Navarete, No. 338½ Buena Vista street, reported that Armando, her 11-year-old son, left the house last Monday morning, presumably for school. That is the last she has seen or heard of him. The boy is small for his age, and wore dark corduroy trousers, red sweater and a blue cap.

Clifford Davis of San Gabriel, 16 years old, is missing from his usual haunts. He was last seen riding a red Pierce Arrow motorcycle. It is thought he may have gone to San Diego.

Miss Mabel Bundy, No. 461 South Lake avenue, Pasadena, says her brother, Harry John Bundy, of the Livingston Hotel, South Hill street, this city, an employee of the Boos Bros., cafeteria, has dropped out of sight

HOPE TO BUILD FINE BLOCK.

Boosters for States Building Are Optimistic.

Plan Ten-story Structure in Downtown District..

Investment Company's Offer to Be Considered.

If the Federated States Building Company, which was incorporated on June 7, for the purpose of erecting a large downtown building to house the Federation of State Societies and provincial organizations, succeeds in carrying out its plans, another great structure will soon grace the skyline of the business section. The company has announced its intention of beginning an active campaign tomorrow and its officers declare that they are exceedingly optimistic over the prospects of success.

The company is incorporated for $1,000,000. The incorporators include M. M. Davison, treasurer of the federation; C. H. Parsons, secretary of the federation; C. W. Roberts, of the Missouri State Society; F. H. Nichols, cashier of the California Savings Bank and secretary of the Iowa Society; R. W. Richardson, president of the federation; W. L. Stooksbury, president of the Tennessee Society; Martin E. Geibel, president of the Pennsylvania Society; Ewald E. Selph, president of the Oregon Society; George C. Lindsay of the West Virginia Society, and H. M. Wisler, president of the Kansas Society.

The company hopes to erect a ten-story, fireproof building at a point near the corner of Eighth and Spring, and the incorporators announce that several sites are under consideration. Tentative plans for the building have already been prepared by a local architect. A perspective embodying these preliminary studies is reproduced on this page.

The enterprise is actively in charge of M. M. Davison, head of the realty firm of M. M. Davison & Son, who was selected by the incorporators to handle the project. Davison, who is the treasurer of the federation, was one of the prime movers in the organization of that body in 1909.

The incorporators hope to secure a corner site with a frontage on a main street of at least 100 feet and to erect a structure costing from $350,000 to $500,000. In the building are to be provided headquarters not only for the federation but for the different State and provincial organizations of the city. The plans call for reception rooms, a banquet room and a large hall for meetings, together with every convenience for the handling of the society gatherings. Revenue is to be derived from sterooms on the first floor and from offices occupying the seven upper stories.

"The federation building," said Davison yesterday, "will be open at all times to every stranger who comes to Los Angeles. In it the visitor may find a complete directory of all the people from his own State, and section and may be given the opportunity to meet the 'folks back home.' It will be the headquarters for boosting and advertising Southern California and a pleasant and convenient place of meeting for visitors from every part of the country."

WILL CONSIDER OFFER.

An offer upon the part of the Los Angeles Investment Company to erect for the federation a building suitable to its needs was received on Friday, and this may possibly be accepted, although no steps have as yet been taken to change the original plans. The big investment company offers to build a ten-story structure at either the southwest corner of Ninth and Broadway, on Olive, between Seventh and Eighth, or on Broadway, between Tenth and Eleventh, and to permit the federation to acquire it upon the payment of $100,000 in cash, with installments distributed over a long period of time. Under the plan the rents derived from the building would be applied upon the payments. The proposition will be carefully considered by the federation at a general meeting, to be called for the purpose.

The Federation of State Societies and Provincial Organizations, as it exists today, was formed three years ago, following a two-page article in The Times in which there was collated for the first time data relating to all of the various State bodies in Southern California, and in which their organization into one great federated group was suggested. Almost immediately after the publication of this article the officers of twenty-six different societies in the city, who had formerly had no means of inter-communication, arranged to meet, with the result that steps were at once taken to organize the present federation. Since then the idea has caught hold until today nearly every State in the Union and every province in Canada has come to be represented in the organization.

BUYERS PLAN MANSIONS.

Three Windsor Square Sites Sold During Past Week, to Be Improved with Beautiful Dwellings.

Three purchases of lots by three men who will shortly erect handsome and costly homes, were made in Windsor square early in the week. The sales were made by R. A. Rowan & Co., developers of the new Wilshire boulevard subdivision, and the purchasers were Irving H. Hellman, Louis M. Cole and A. H. McFarland. The total consideration involved in the three sales is given at $66,250.

Mr. Hellman bought two lots at Fifth street and Lorraine boulevard for $24,500. He has a well-chosen site of dimensions for not only a large home, but for adequate ground improvements. The frontage is 190 feet and the depth 180 feet. No plans have as yet been made for a building.

A. H. McFarland, who is a nephew of Lyman Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company, purchased a lot at Fifth street and Windsor boulevard, not far from where the members of the Janss family will complete four magnificent homes on a quadrangle of six lots. McFarland's property has an area of 100 feet frontage by 180 feet depth, and of the three late purchasers he will probably be the first to build, as his plans are said to be well under way. The price was $12,500.

Mr. Cole bought three lots at Fifth street and Plymouth boulevard for $29,250. These give him a frontage of 270 feet with a depth of 180 feet. Just what building plans he has made for this space has not been made known.

IVYWILD ACTIVITIES.

Three bungalows were started in Ivywild, the new suburb on the Venice Short Line, last week. Mr. Millinger is building a six-room home on Delmar avenue. Mr. Trippensee and Mr. Hathaway are building on Huston avenue. Ten houses are now completed or under way in the tract. Others who have announced their intention of building at once are Messrs. Richards Meyer, Collins and Brain and Mrs. Purinton. The Ed. P. Reed Realty Company reports the following sales: Mrs. Mary F. Carle, two lots on National boulevard, $1650; Steve Meyer, four lots on Huston, $2000; J. A. Hathaway, lot on Huston, $525; Mrs. Minette Purinton corner National and Huston, $1000; Abura G. Hill, lot on Huston, $525; C. H. Reynolds, two lots on Ellis, $1500; H. S. Hayes, lot on Huston, $575; M. F. Chavanne lot on Ellis, $750, and F. F. Trippensee, two lots on Huston, $1000. A re-sale of five acres adjoining the lot subdivision was made to J. Rosin at a reported consideration of $10,000.

PLANS FINE APARTMENTS.

Dr. A. G. Schloesser has purchased from Mrs. Ida W. Beveridge of Hollywood the northerly ten feet of lot 10 and the whole of lot 9 of block 20, in Hollywood, on Cahuenga avenue, near the corner of Hollywood boulevard, and will immediately improve the site with an apartment-house containing 100 suites of two and three rooms each. The building will be modern in every respect, and strictly fireproof, the architecture being in the Spanish Renaissance style. The builder hopes to have the structure erected and furnished by January for the incoming tourists.

SEEK BIG CONVENTION.

Leading Commercial Bodies Join Realty Board in Inviting Next National Real Estate Convention Here.

In extending the invitation of the Los Angeles Realty Board for the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, now in convention at Louisville, to meet in this city next year, Phillip D. Wilson, the secretary of the local organization, and who is now in attendance at the big meeting in the Kentucky metropolis, will extend also the invitations of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles, as well as that of Mayor Alexander. The two former invitations, exactly as they will be presented to the convention, are reproduced herewith:

"Gentlemen:

"The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles, composed of the commercial, industrial and financial institutions of that city, hereby extend to you a most cordial invitation to hold your annual convention in 1915 in our city.

"Los Angeles has earned an enviable reputation for her hospitality as a convention city and we will be only too glad to open our gates wide for you.

"We assure you that your convention will be considered an honor to our city and that you will return to your homes with pleasant memories of your visit.

"Yours very truly,
"MERCHANTS' AND MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.
"By F. J. Zeehandelaar, Secretary."

"Gentlemen:

"The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce cordially invites your organization to hold its annual convention in Los Angeles in 1915.

"We can assure you that should you accept the invitation of the Los Angeles Realty Board, and of the other civic organizations of Los Angeles, you will receive a most hospitable welcome.

"You will find Southern California to be a section in which, owing to the activity in real estate for many years, you will find an interesting field for your observations.

"We are always pleased to receive wide-awake people in Los Angeles, and we know of none who better answer that description than the real estate men of the United States.

"Very truly yours,
"LOS ANGELES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
"By H. Z. Osborne, President."

WILL IMPROVE TRACT.

Home Building Company Will Erect Small City of Bungalows on Forty-Acre Purchase in South End.

Sales are reported by the Tatum-Winstanley Company as follows: To the Commonwealth Home Builders, forty acres at the northeast corner of Main street and Manchester avenue for a syndicate composed of Jonathan S. Dodge, C. H. Hamilton, R. F. Bennett, O. A. Vickrey, Morris Albe, F. Winstanley, B. L. Vickrey, Joel Washolder, H. H. Cotton and C. C. C. Tatum. The consideration is given at $87,500. The buyers will improve the entire tract with bungalows for the market.

To a syndicate of local capitalists for L. D. Doke, forty acres on the east side of Main street, northeast corner of Mountain View avenue, just north of the Redondo car line cutoff on the Harbor boulevard, consideration $60,000. The tract was bought as an investment.

To a syndicate composed of Dr. H. I. Nance, F. L. Hadlock, J. W. Bengaugh, J. G. Staub, F. Winstanley, M. Rieder and C. C. C. Tatum, thirteen and one-third acres on the east side of Main street, midway between Florence and Manchester avenues, for C. J. Fox, C. H. Hamilton and H. H. Cotton, consideration, $27,500. The tract was bought for subdivision.

The sale by St. Vincent's College to the Central and Pacific Improvement Company of the southwest corner of Main and Fourteenth streets was reported by the same agency during the week. The consideration in this instance was given at $100,000 cash.

"CRECENT" BOOSTS THIS CITY.

Shriner Publication Lauds Los Angeles for Reception to Visiting Nobles—Notices Pretty Girls.

An inkling of what the thousands of Shriners who were the guests of this city last month think of Los Angeles may be gained from a reading of the Crescent, a monthly magazine published in the interest of the A.A.O.N.M.S., at St. Paul.

The June number of the Crescent declares it was left for Los Angeles to produce something new under the sun—"ample, commodious, reasonable hotel accommodations."

A penshot in the same number says: "Those Los Angeles girls are pretty enough to keep all the unmarried Shriners in that oasis for years."

Commenting on the time the Shriners had here, the Crescent says:

"Los Angeles has handed it to us.

"And it's up to this great family journal to not only try to tell those who weren't there what they missed, but to return the grateful appreciation of those that attended.

"That's some job, working either way or both.

"And it's so hard, too, to settle down after a trip such as the one to the Coast.

'One thing is certain—Los Angeles got the bakery, buns and all. It was the best all-around free-for-all, three-ringed circus aggregation ever gathered under the Shrine tent.

"It surpassed in features, as well as in the character of the features; it was up to and beyond every other session ever held in every way except in welcome and in warmth, and it wasn't second in these—just even for the Shrine welcome is not indigenous to any particular section of the country.

"Even the police were polite, the conductors cordial, the crowds glad to be forced to put up with crowding and discomfort. Everything went as merry as the wedding bell and the honeymoon was a whole week long.

"And now that we've had a few catwinks at sleep and have gathered together some surplus energy we sit and wonder at the smoothness with which the arrangements were carried out, even as much as we wonder at the marvelous arrangements themselves.

"Los Angeles went some, that's certain. And the gang went the pace with her."

FACT AND COMMENT.

the north end of the business district was doomed to die of inanition and decay. The term "decaying end of town" came to be a regular byword with the writers of this man's paper, and was worked in at every opportunity, apparently with the idea of sort of helping the poor north-enders to kick off, or at least to comprehend their awful predicament.

All this is ancient history, of course, but it is brought strongly before the mind of the writer by the announcement recorded on this page of the intention of a local building company to erect one of the most modern office blocks in the city at the southwest corner of Third and Spring streets. The structure will go the full height limit allowed by law, and will be of the most metropolitan type. Its owners expect to expend at least $500,000 in its construction. And there is no one saying that the owners do not know what they are doing. One and all of the former depreciators of the north end realize their mistake now and most of them have turned north-end boosters.

Three years ago the owners of property in the old end of the business section awoke to the fact that they had to begin replacing the small brick buildings of a generation ago with modern steel and concrete structures if they expected to hold the prestige which had always hitherto been theirs. In fact, the depreciators of the north end helped wake them up to a proper appreciation of the facts. Since then, building in the district north of Fourth street has kept pace with that elsewhere. On Second street alone there have been completed and started in the past two years five modern blocks that would be a credit to any city. These are the Perry, Higgins, California, Union League and Braun buildings, all, with the exception of the Perry Block, at least nine stories in height.

More to Follow.

The Fact and Comment man was informed yesterday on the best of authority that the replacing of the old Ramona Hotel with a thirteen-story office block is but the beginning of a period of building activity which is destined to modernize Spring street from Fourth street to the Temple Block. The improvement of the thoroughfare is to be brought about by concerted action upon the part of the different owners, the movement being led by three or four of the larger property-holders of the thoroughfare. The owners of the Third-street corner have set the ball to rolling—the rest are to follow suit.

Nothing could be more logical than such a concerted action, and the sooner it comes the better it will be not only for the city but for the pocketbooks of the Spring-street owners. Spring street is destined to become to Los Angeles what Wall street is to New York and what Lombard street is to London, the artery of finance and banking. From the Temple Block to the point of juncture with Main street, Spring street will at no distant date be a thoroughfare of banks, bond houses, real estate offices, and general brokerage establishments. This is as plain as the handwriting on the wall.

Even as Wall street is limited at either end by the East River and Trinity Church, so is Spring street forever prevented from any north or south extension by the layout of the three main thoroughfares. The citizens of Wall street have built their financial houses to dizzying heights sooner than depart from the one main avenue of activity. Already the demand of the kind of establishments mentioned to get to Spring street is plainly manifest. It is the prediction of the writer that new Spring street skyscrapers will be filled with tenants as fast as they are completed.

A LIFETIME IN WALL STREET.

rightly supposed to be the best sort of investment. Back of them is the taxable property of the community that issues them. Seemingly no security could be safer. There are, however, several points of danger. Obviously the bonds of a large, rich city are to be preferred before those of a small and uncertain city. Then one should not purchase the bonds of a town that lives on a single industry. Something unfavorable can happen to the industry. The coal, if it is mines, might give out. The trees, if it is lumber, will some day be cut down. A small place can be entirely burned up, carried off by a flood or knocked to pieces by a tornado. If Galveston had been small and poor it would have been ruined by the inundation twelve years ago. The same would have been true of San Francisco with the fire and earthquake of 1906. Purchasers even of municipal bonds must have information, prudence and common sense.

THE BONDS OF BUSINESS.

"Industrial bonds, which I have named in answer to your inquiry, are the bonds of business concerns, of manufactories, mines, and so on. The purchase of such securities calls for the widest knowledge possible of the company which offers them for sale. Has it been making money for a long time? Is it intelligently managed? Is its product in wide use and modern in all ways? These interrogations must be answered in the affirmative before the bonds can be regarded as a reasonably safe investment. I said that I should buy three kinds of bonds with the suppositional $5000 contained in your question. The old philosophy that one's eggs should not be taken to market in a single basket has become a fixed principle in wise finance. The business of a railway may fall off, the factory or steel mill may close down temporarily, but there will always be taxes with which to pay the interest on the bonds of a sound city, town, or county. I have advised the purchase of bonds instead of stocks because interest on bonds has to be paid. If any money remains, it is distributed among the shareholders in dividends."

"How," I asked, "would you invest $25,000?"

"Now," Mr. Moody answered, "I have grown to be comfortably well off. I am, indeed, a small capitalist. I would put $10,000 in railroad bonds, $5000 in the very best kind of railroad stocks, and $10,000 in public utility and municipal bonds. Public utility bonds are the mortgages of street railroad, telephone, and gas and electric lighting companies. They are freely recommended by bond houses having them for sale, but they should be rigidly investigated. Is the community in which the corporation is doing business flourishing? Does it depend on one industry alone? How long has the franchise of the company to run? Do the bonds cover a longer period than the franchise? If that is the case, anxiety for the bondholders may follow. Is the physical property of the company worth the amount of bonds outstanding? Oh, well, to cut the matter short," Mr. Moody said, "the wise investment of one's money is a man's job, though many grown-up boys are trying their luck at the business."

"What should a widow do with her husband's life insurance money?" I inquired.

"She should not hand it over to the agent, but make a bee-line for a good savings bank, clutching it tightly. Most insurance agents are honest men; a few are not. I know a widow who gave an agent $10,000 on his telling her he could put it in a place where her return would amount to 5 per cent. The agent bought trolley bonds of a broker for $850 apiece under an agreement that the broker find a man who wanted his life insured for $10,000. The broker hunted up such a man. So the agent got a commission of several hundred dollars on the new policy and by turning the bonds over to the widow at par he made $1500 besides. Within two years the trolley line broke up. The widow eventually received $4000. She lost $6000 simply because she wanted 5 per cent. a year instead of 4 per cent. A woman should get the eternal fact into her head that she cannot hope for more than 4 per cent. in safety, no matter if her late husband's dearest friend advises her differently."

"Are the shares of any company as good as its bonds?"

"Yes; in a few instances. The stock of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, I should say, was as stable as its bonded obligations. We frequently hear that a railway is worth no more than the amount of its bonds. That is so in most cases. But the value of a railway is the aggregate value of its roadbed, terminal, and earning capacity. A store that makes a profit of $100,000 yearly is worth more than the bare goods on its shelves. It is worth the goods, plus the opportunity. A railway is a natural monopoly. It is doing the business of its territory. But, you say, a competing line may be constructed. That could have been done once, but it cannot be done any more. A group of men might build a road from New York to Philadelphia, but the right of way and the terminals would cost such an enormous sum of money that the interest would kill the property.

ALL RAILROADS MONOPOLIES.

"Railroads built fifty years ago, when land was cheap, are worth a great deal more today than the original cost of construction. The fact that a railway is, in the present state of matters, a monopoly was well understood by J. Pierpont Morgan. All of his rail consolidations and enterprises have been successful. But, sagacious as he is on land, he failed to perceive that water transportation, in the very nature of things, cannot be monopolistic. His International Mercantile Marine Company, capitalized at $120,000,000, has been a lemon. A pool was started in the stock by speculators just before the Titanic sailed on its first and last voyage. The new liner was to dazzle the world with its speed and luxury. When it hit an iceberg and went down the pool sank to the bottom with it.

"Cars run on their own tracks. The ocean, however, has a room for a million ships. Tramp steamers sail into every port. England, Germany, France and other countries are engaged in water transportation. Hence, there is plenty of competition and none of the elements of monopoly. Mr. Morgan now realizes, no doubt, the difference between railroads and steamships and has added to his knowledge in the realm of political economy. Railroads being monopolies, they would be subject to the widest kind of publicity. The people have a right to know about their public carriers. Investors should no longer be kept in igorance concerning their own property. I would have all the railroads valued physically. I would see to what extent they were overcapitalized.

"Such a valuation, I am sure, would show that freights today are high enough and would lead to a confirmation of the charge made by Louis D. Brandeis, that hundreds of millions of dollars are being wasted on our railroads through mismanagement. The revenues of the Pennsylvania railroad amount to $40,000 a mile annually. The revenues of the New York Central are $25,000 a mile annually.

FEEDERS AND SUCKERS.

"Both of these roads serve practically the same class of customers. The Pennsylvania has been acquiring feeders for years—roads that bring business. The New York Central has tried the same policy, but its roads are mostly suckers. I would discover the facts everywhere, and thus stop wastage to the advantage of the people and to investors."

"Can certain men run stocks up or down in Wall street?"

"Surely; but they cannot keep them up for any length of time. Still they occasionally make a barrel of money during the interval they are in control of the market. American Can, common, which has never paid a dividend, started at $11 in February, and went to $42 early in May. I suppose the members of the pool sold out at from $35 to $40. The public got the stock."

"What is speculation?"

"A merchant speculates in that way when he borrows money to purchase a stock of merchandise. A farmer speculates that way when he makes a loan of $5000, buys lean steers and fattens them for market. A speculator in Wall street speculates that way when he pays $1000 down for $10,000 worth of railway shares and holds the shares until they go up or down in price."

"Can marginal speculation be prevented?"

"No; nor should it be. If outlawed in Wall street, logically, it would have to be outlawed elsewhere. A man, then, could not pay $1000 in cash for a $2000 lot, giving a mortgage for the balance in the expectation that he could sell the lot sometime for $2500. Wall street speculation, primarily, is like all other kinds of speculation. The trouble is that sensible men in the ordinary affairs of life become lunatics when they try it. They set aside the common laws of business in their craze to get rich in a hurry. A paltry profit of 15 per cent. a year does not satisfy them. They buy like madmen, being sure in their own minds of from [illegible]00 to 500 per cent. in a week or two, and the wise old boys who are awaiting for them walk off with their money."

Sulphide.

CIMA, May 29.—Q.: Under separate cover I am mailing you a sample of rock that was handed to me by a neighbor prospector; it is wall rock and he would like you to name it. Please tell us what are the small metal-looking specks in the rock? The rock comes from a claim near Cima. T.S.J.

A.: The small cubes are pyrite (iron disulphide.) The rock is impure calcite (carbonate of lime.)

WORTH - - KNOWING

The twenty-two Los Angeles business men who started this company are worth knowing.

Had any one of them suggested to you personally that you come in with them four months ago, you would undoubtedly have done so.

Every working day since then has added an average of eighteen new subscriptions to their original twenty-two—1878 up to last night.

The explanation is simple. Clean business methods; no promotion stock; no side issues; same footing for everybody; good management; good men.

There is a dignity and solid worth about this company that means much to the shrewd investor.

This is the period of its growth to get in your subscription.

It costs little to begin; $1.25 monthly buys 100 shares.

This totals only $22.50, but the habit will grow as your profits grow.

Get the big profits in home-building through growing with us.

Come in for what you can comfortably invest each month, or can pay in cash.

Do so now before shares advance to 25 cents.

Buying before the raise means a profit of 12½ per cent.

Be one of those who will be able to look back with pride to having bought at 22½ cents.

Call at this office and get personally acquainted.

We will be glad to see, tell you of what we are doing, and of our plans.

You cannot help being interested, no one could.

Before you leave you will be wanting to put in your own subscription.

Definite notice of the date of the advance to 25 cents will be given in a few days. It will be short.

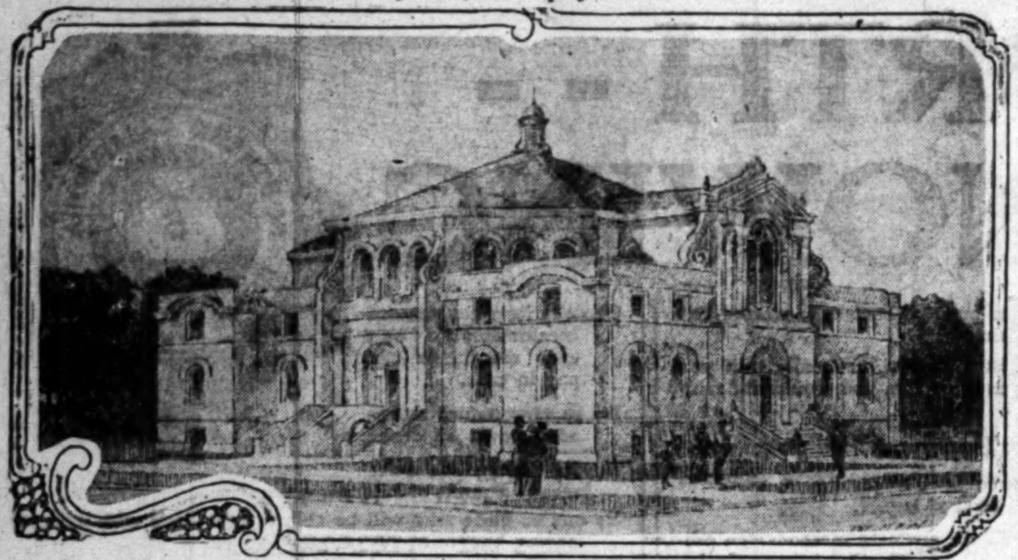
Beautiful House of Worship for Southland Town.



Tulare Methodist Episcopal Church, Walker and Vawter, architects.

WORKING PLANS STARTED.

New Methodist Episcopal Church of Tulare to Be Noteworthy Structure. Will Be of Masonry Throughout.

TULARE, June 15.—The working plans for the beautiful new house of worship projected by the Methodist Episcopal congregation of this place have been started by Walker & Vawter of Los Angeles, the architects of the proposed building. The actual work of construction will be begun within a few weeks.

The structure will occupy the site of the present church and will be built throughout of masonry. It will be one of the handsomest edifices of its type in a place of this size in California and a source of pride to this community. Its construction is made imperative by the growth in membership of the local Methodist body.

The new church building will be 85x65 feet in size and will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 450. This may be increased to over 700 by the throwing open of the Sunday-school classrooms and the gallery. The ladies' parlor will be 15x20 feet in size and both the pastor's study and the choir room will be large. The basement will be eventually finished for the use of the Epworth League and for social purposes. The Rev. Walter C. Buckner is the pastor of the church.

A Perplexed Child.

[Youth's Companion:] When Doris climbed on her father's knee it was plain, says the Knoxville Journal, that a deep problem was troubling her.

"Papa, was it a wise person who said, 'The good die young?' "

"Yes," he replied. "I suppose he must have been very wise."

"Well," the child replied, after thinking it over for a time, "I'm not so much surprised about you, but I don't see how mamma managed to get growed up."

Speaking of Growth—

The Los Angeles Investment Company is the most rapidly growing investment institution in the world. Unparalleled in the annals of similar enterprises, both in growth and in dividends paid to stockholders, the Los Angeles Investment Company is one of the Southwest wonders.

In paid-in capital and surplus, the Company is larger than any other Southwest financial institution. It is larger by many millions than its nearest rival. Its paid-in capital and surplus on the dates given, was as follows:

June 1, 1900	$ 3,600.94
June 1, 1901	9,447.43
June 1, 1902	17,685.72
June 1, 1903	44,552.37
June 1, 1904	79,640.15
June 1, 1905	255,018.28
June 1, 1906	572,120.70
June 1, 1907	1,076,455.83
June 1, 1908	1,456,695.42
June 1, 1909	2,525,597.68
June 1, 1910	3,818,978.27
June 1, 1911	5,755,119.36
June 1, 1912	9,445,085.99

Dividends

The Company has returned its stockholders in cash dividends, a total of 641% in 16 years. This is an average of almost 39% a year. The dividends paid each year were:

1900	$ 266.88
1901	4,429.02
1902	1,419.24
1903	4,271.08
1904	10,179.50
1905	32,058.72
1906	63,147.44
1907	132,036.65
1908	182,340.60
1909	308,549.34
1910	448,392.11
1911	639,538.90
1912 (2 only)	409,759.78
Total	$2,236,389 26

Dividends are now being paid at the rate of over $875,000.00 a year.

Constancy

Constancy in its cash dividends, growth and increased market value of its shares and faithfulness in keeping its promises has been the marked record of "Home Builders" in the care and treatment of its stockholders.

More than 4000 people have invested with the company. The testimony of this host of witnesses is credible proof that you will be fairly and squarely treated.

Shares remain $2.65 during this month

[123]

From February, 1908, to April, 30th, 1912—four years and three months—is a very short period, yet, in that short time, "Home Builders" has paid to the stockholder who has owned shares during that time, more than $600.00 in cash on each $1000.00 invested, and the market value of the $1000 investment has grown to $2650.

"Home Builders" does not pay out all of its profits in cash dividends; for each dollar thus distributed it has put away two into the surplus fund as extra working capital. This surplus now amounts to $442,592.97 and belongs to the holders of common stock and is one of the controlling reasons why these shares have increased from par $1.00 to the present price of $2.65.

You are invited to join with these 4000 careful investors in the enjoyment and safety of this investment.

Remember, you are given the written guaranty of the undesigned, which provides facilities for the conversion of your shares into cash through re-sale.

The guaranty is added protection as well as evidence of faithful and constant service in behalf of the stockholder.

San Pedro is in process of transformation from a mere town into one of the world's greatest and most important harbors. Government, city and state expenditures, running into millions, assure this. Recommendations from the representatives of every prominent steamship company to make San Pedro a port of call, are further assurance. And any property in the vicinity of San Pedro is bound to be a fortune-builder

"HARBOR CITY" Calls to You Insistently, "SURE PROFITS!"

Harbor City, we term, and we believe to be, "the industrial hub of San Pedro." It occupies the most strategic position of any land in that vicinity; it lies close to the Bixby slough, which must eventually be dredged and which will give to the city hundreds of acres of additional harbor space. It lies directly on the San Pedro via Gardena car line and is traversed by the splendid new good roads boulevard from Redondo to Wilmington.

Building and Industrial Lots
Some 80 ft wide $400 and up terms

50 Acres just opened up, divided into ½ and ¾ Acre Homesites adjoining townsite on south. Prices $750 and up

For as little as $10 down and $10 a month you can have one of these big residential Harbor City lots. Some of them as wide as 80 feet. And remember that all improvements are being made. There is no pioneering to be done. Write for our free booklet, or, better still, take the San Pedro via Gardena car at the P. E. Station. It stops directly at the property.

Do you realize that right now San Pedro is paying higher wages for skilled labor than Los Angeles? Do you realize what marvelous activity there is on the water front at San Pedro? Do you realize that San Pedro is unalterably scheduled, with the opening of the Panama Canal, for one of the biggest growths that has ever been known in the history of the country? You owe it to yourself to become familiar with the harbor and with property in its vicinity.

[illegible] Remaining Yearn for Old-time Cattle Range.

[illegible] Days a Memory, Says Oklahoman.

[illegible] of Saddle Find New Field in Forest Service.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.] [illegible]LAHOMA CITY (Okla.) June [illegible] "We don't want to work on a [illegible] stock farm, but a real cow [illegible]. We're cowboys, and used to [illegible] the saddle all day, instead of [illegible] a plow around. If your [illegible] offers what we want we will [illegible] if not, we will stay away." [illegible] is the rather pathetic appeal [illegible] to Oklahoma from a cow[illegible] Monrovia, Cal. Similar ap[illegible] have been received in New [illegible] and Arizona. In fact a long[illegible] the old-time ranges that are disappearing seems to permeate [illegible] contingent of the South[illegible]

[illegible] him to take up the [illegible] man in his destructive [illegible] has called him for [illegible] of conservation. He is to [illegible] of the future."

[illegible]RAL RECOURSE.

[illegible] to Roy Sutton, Sheriff of [illegible], Oklahoma, the average [illegible] leaving the range either [illegible] business, the saloon business, or is elected Sheriff of his county. Sutton formerly was a cowboy on the H. Steeple ranch of Northwestern Oklahoma, one of the largest ranches of the Territory. Burlin Milholland, Sheriff of Lipscomb county, Texas, was for years a range rider on Bar T Ranch of the Panhandle. "Skillity Bill" Johnson, Sheriff of Hemphill county, Texas, is another of the old cowpuncher guard of the Panhandle. Tom Roberts, Sheriff of Wheeler county, Texas, was for years one of the expert broncho riders and steer ropers of the Bar T Ranch.

Among the former cowboys in office in the Southwest is Jack Love, chairman of the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma. "Col." Jack has ridden range lines all over the Panhandle country and for many years was one of the most popular men of the great Llano Estacado range. "Bill" Glover, a member of the Oklahoma Legislature from Grady county, used to punch cattle on several ranches in West Texas. Tom Moore of Eldorado, Okla., a member of the first State Senate, rode ranges in West Texas and Oklahoma during his early manhood.

EXAMPLES OF PROMOTIONS.

Two typical cowboys of the plains who were driven to other pursuits by the breaking up of the big ranches were Emiline Gardenhire of Archer county, Texas, for many years range rider of the "Sixty-nine Ranch," and Tom Davidson of the "Eight Ranch," one of the largest of the tier of ranches that skirted the eastern border of the plains of Texas. Gardenhire won several medals for championship broncho riding twenty years ago. Davidson was one of the strongest men of the cowboy lot and was a favorite in the town of Guthrie, Tex., county seat of King county, where practically every county officer after the organization of the county had been elected from a ranch.

The breaking up of the big ranches in Texas and Oklahoma belonging to Dan Wagoner and the Burnetts, the real cattle kings of the Southwest, threw hundreds of cowboys out of positions. They scattered to other States of the West for the most part, only a few settling down to other pursuits in the land where the ranges once existed. The opening of the Kiowa and Comanche Indian reservation in Oklahoma, in 1901, practically closed the last big ranches in Oklahoma. These were operated by the Wagoners and the Burnetts, who leased the lands from the Indians for twenty-five years.

Only Ate Them Canned.

[Minneapolis Journal:] Astonishing is the ignorance of nature shown by some children of the city. Thus one child whose knowledge of trees and grass and flowers was derived from the early-closing city parks, said, as she gazed with delight on a green rural scene:

"What time does the country shut up?"

Another child watched a farm hand digging potatoes, and said:

"Is this where you keep your potatoes, sir? I should think it would be handier to keep them in bags in the cellar."

And a third child, to whom a farmer offered a superb ripe peach.

"Let me pluck this peach for you right off the tree," he said.

But the child, a little girl, turned up her nose and answered, loftily:

"No, thank you. I never eat them till they're canned."

Fraud in Elk's Teeth.

[New York Times:] Within a radius of ten miles of New York there are approximately 25,000 members of the Order of Elks who are wondering if their latest purchases of fraternity jewelry contain genuine elk teeth, as it has been discovered that the country has recently been flooded with imitations made by skillful Japanese workmen. These bogus teeth have been sold to jewelers, who were unable to detect the difference between the genuine and the fakes.

A test to establish the genuineness of the charm is a bath of muriatic acid heated for three or four minutes. If the tooth is from the head of an elk it will not be affected, but if it is an imitation it will bleach slightly and when removed from the acid will feel as if coated with mucilage.

The imitation teeth have been declared by F. A. Lucas of the American Museum of Natural History to be walrus teeth artificially colored.

Big Profits and Big Facts Back of Gibraltar Preferred Stock

BACKED by growing trees and productive land the 8% preferred stock of the Gibraltar Investment and Home Building Company has found such a ready sale, and the value of our properties has increased so steadily since incorporation, that we must shortly, in justice to present shareholders, advance the price of stock. This company owns the largest Olive Nurseries in the world, and the present price of trees on an advancing market will not permit the selling of preferred stock at par value much longer. The rights of the present holders of preferred stock and of the directors of this company, who have taken only common stock in exchange for valuable, money-earning property, demand that the increased value of the growing assets be recognized in the actual valuation of the holdings. The common stock only receives dividends after the 8% of the preferred has been paid. Both stocks share equally in the greater profits beyond 8%. This means that the directors of this company assure the purchaser first profits as an evidence of good faith, and their certainty of making big profits. We have growing in the soil 1,500,000 olive trees and 350,000 orange trees, besides several hundred thousands of other nursery stock. The actual profits at present market price from the olive and orange trees ready for sale this season absolutely guarantee 40% on the shares outstanding. The profits from higher prices of nursery stock on a booming olive market and the immediate returns from land development and orchard planting, assure all the way from 100 to 400% in the next two years.

Growing in Value Day by Day

Rich Profits from the Land

The 8% preferred stock offered to you by the Gibraltar Investment and Home Building Company is not only backed by assets that are rooted in the soil, and growing in value every day, but there are great profits reaching into hundreds of per cent. ahead of the shareholders of this company. The directors have taken only common stock in exchange for immense nurseries and other property. Do you think for a minute that these business men, experienced in the nursery and land development business, would give the first eight per cent. to the preferred stock, if they were not going to make big profits for all stockholders? If you, the purchaser of preferred stock, do not make money then the directors nor nobody else can. The largest olive nurseries in the world, and other assets, are now earning more than 40 per cent. upon which the preferred stock has first call. The full profits from land development and orchard planting from our own nurseries are equally shared between the common and preferred stock. We have the growing trees and the land in plain sight. Your participation means three big profits instead of one—growing the trees, developing the land, the planted orchard over vacant land. Co-operation will bring water to the land and big profits to all stockholders.

First Share in a Money-Making Long-Established Business

Some Big Facts Back of Your Money

We are not offering you a mere scheme of speculation. The olive and orange nurseries, which are among the assets of this company, in addition to bearing orange groves, have been doing business for twenty years. They constitute a successful going concern. The capital represented by the present stock of close to two million growing trees, has been invested for a space of from two to three years. The offering to the purchaser of preferred stock is so liberal that some may find it a little hard to appreciate.

The profits are big on the nursery stock of this company at even the most moderate prices for the present season, while the booming olive industry insures much greater future returns. The directors of this company have elected to offer the purchasers of preferred stock the ripe profits from a long-established business in order to convince at one stroke as to the fairness of their operations. The profits to be had from the growing trees at market prices may be easily verified. It is only for the larger operations of land development and orchard planting from this company's nurseries that the co-operation of the stockholder is sought.

The combined nursery business now controlled by this company has been in paying operation for as long as 20 years and $100 originally invested is now worth in the neighborhood of $25,000. The substantial profits from all long-established nursery concerns are a matter of record.

Big Facts Back of Big Profits

The olive industry demands at present a greater supply of trees than the market has ready. This company has the largest stock of growing olive trees in the world, and is assured of great profits from the mere sale of trees. We will make far greater profits from developing land and planting our own orchards. The operation of the pure food law in eliminating the adulteration of olive oil has greatly increased the demand for pure olive oil throughout the country. The increasing popularity of the pickled ripe olive as an article of food in the East is even a greater factor. The last sale of olive trees by the Gibraltar nurseries was for small potted plants at 60 cents each while two year old trees have been sold for $1.25. The price prophesied for this fall is $2.00. Orange trees sell for 75 cents to $1.50. Olive growers from Italy are settling here to engage in the industry. At the lowest prices for the year past the olive and orange trees owned by the Gibraltar Company that are ready for planting this season will return from 40 to 50 per cent. on the stock issued by this company. Profits from land development are hundreds per cent. beyond. These figures can be easily verified. THERE IS NO SURER OR GREATER INVESTMENT IN THE UNITED STATES TODAY THAN THE OLIVE INDUSTRY COMBINED WITH ESTABLISHED NURSERIES AND THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE RICH VALLEYS TRIBUTARY TO LOS ANGELES. EXAMINE THE FACTS AND SATISFY YOURSELF OF THESE STATEMENTS.

For a short time we will receive subscriptions to the Preferred Stock at Par Value of 10 cents a share, either in cash or twenty monthly payments.

ACQUIRE HIGH GRADE MINES.

Los Angeles Men Pay Large Sum for Properties.

Plan Comprehensive Work in New Boom Camp.

Reported Wingfield After Promising Claims.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

FT. BIDWELL (Cal.) June 13.—Angelenos figure prominently in the initial big deal in the sensational High Grade district. Last week recorded the acquisition of the Sunshine, Yellow Jacket and Gascon properties by Charles L. Fulton and B. X. Dawson of Los Angeles and their associates. It is said the purchase price was $68,000. A corporation known as the Sunshine-High Grade Mining Company is in course of formation, and within a few weeks it is planned to begin comprehensive work. The properties are located in the heart of the district, the Sunshine being considered the richest property thus far developed.

Together with E. J. Trevarrow, for years superintendent of the great Vindicator mine at Cripple Creek, and other experts, Fulton has conducted a thorough examination of the Sunshine and taken numerous samples of the ore. Two eight-inch pay streaks were given chief attention and displayed values averaging $300 to $1000 a ton, according to statements of interested parties. In addition to this high grade quartz, a considerable tonnage of milling ore has been demonstrated. In some quarters it is asserted sufficient bonanza quartz is exposed to pay for the property with a few weeks' effort.

Several small shipments of rich quartz have been made from the Sunshine since the rich discoveries last fall, and the property has been the principal factor in promoting High Grade.

Representatives of George Wingfield are said to be contemplating the acquisition of promising claims in the district. It is asserted options have been taken on promising holdings. Rich ore is reported from the Sunset claim, and conditions on the North Star are pronounced excellent. The Henderson tract of forty acres in the Gold Basin portion of the field has been acquired by W. W. Ruby and A. D. Lisomby of Salt Lake City. The land is patented. It is planned to incept work immediately. Several deals are pending for other transfers, and the camp appears on the eve of vigorous development. The snow is rapidly melting and rush is now on in earnest.

AFTERTHOUGHT TO RESUME.

A company has been formed to acquire the railroad from Anderson to Bella Vista, controlled by the Terry lumber interests, and to extend the line from Bella Vista to Ingot. This will establish direct communications with the Afterthought mines and smelter. It is said work will be started shortly after plans have received the approval of the State Railway Commission. The Afterthought Copper Company has developed a large tonnage of copper and zinc ore at Ingot, and for several months maintained a good output with its small smelter. Friction among the stockholders, together with difficulties experienced in smelting the ore satisfactorily, compelled a suspension of work about five years ago. It is now understood the management plans to pay particular attention to the production of zinc, although the copper will be by no means neglected. The company is largely owned in Arkansas and Missouri, with some Southern California capital interested.

H. S. Mourning and associates of Los Angeles are actively prosecuting work at the Oak Flat mine, in the North Bloomfield section. A long bedrock adit has been extended and from this an upraise is under way to tap the old river channel. It is expected the gravel will be tapped before the end of June. The holdings embrace several claims, covering nearly two miles of ancient channel, with practically the entire estate virgin. The Angelenos are operating under lease and bond and have installed equipment and arranged for marked activities should the gravel prove as rich and extensive as anticipated. A. B. Call, the Pasadena mining engineer, recently inspected the holdings.

In the northern portion of Sierra county, A. B. Call and associates of Los Angeles and Pasadena are developing the Steamboat drift gravel mine under a bond and lease. A long bedrock tunnel has been completed and arrangements have been made to raise for the deposit. The channel has been proved by other companies for a considerable distance, and has yielded richly. It forms a conjunction with the famous Monte Cristo channel near Bunker Hill. The district has yielded fabulous values in past years, and the Southern Californians are hopeful of developing valuable mines.

CHAMPION MILL STARTS.

After a long period of idleness, the Champion mines at Nevada City are again producing. Twenty stamps of the old mill were placed in commission last week on ore from the 1600-foot level of the Merrifield shaft. The rock is said to be yielding excellent values and the stamps are dropping constantly. The ore treated was broken in course of developments and no attempt is being made to stope quartz, the company preferring to center its efforts on explorative work. Recent developments in the several mines of this group are said to be particularly favorable, and the opinion grows that the North Star Mines Company will exercise its option and purchase the extensive holdings when the time falls due.

The famous old Cerro Gordo mines near Darwin, have passed into the hands of L. D. Gordon, R. J. Shields and F. J. Hagenbarth, of Salt Lake City. The new owners are said to have ample funds for the operation of the great property along progressive lines and plan to ship 1000 tons of zinc ore a day to Oklahoma smelters. This ore has a zinc content ranging from 35 to 42 per cent.

An immense tonnage of zinc carbonate ore is said to be exposed in the old workings, the material being neglected in former years. As a silver-lead producer the Cerro Gordo ranks among the most famous properties in the world, having a recorded production of fully $20,000,000.

The mine has been developed to a depth of 1150 feet by shafts and adits. Of late years the property has frequently changed hands but owners generally lacked the capital necessary to place it on the important productive basis its merit warrants. It has been the old story, of working a big mine on a small scale, with failure practically assured. Under the new regime the Cerro Gordo is expected to again make good.

Plank No. 1.

TEHACHAPI is the best place there is ANYWHERE to make DOLLARS and CENTS raising RED APPLES and BARTLETT PEARS.

There MIGHT be places where the fruit is better—we don't think so,—but we won't argue that point. There MIGHT be places where the trees will hold a heavier tonnage of good fruit—we never saw any such places, but we won't argue that point. BUT • • •

THERE is NO OTHER PLACE where the QUALITY of the fruit, the YIELD of the TREES and the NEARNESS to a GOOD MARKET combine to make the orchards PROFITABLE as at TEHACHAPI.

Plank No. 2.

TEHACHAPI is the PLEASANTEST place there is in California to LIVE and to FARM. The best of the climate of Southern California, modified by altitude.

Bright sun, cool breezes, long summer, very short winter, delicious drinking water, beautiful scenery, and RICH, DEEP, SOFT, LOOSE, FERTILE SOIL.

Plank No. 3.

TEHACHAPI is the EASIEST place there is ANYWHERE for a man with not much capital who is WILLING TO WORK to make himself WELL TO DO, and without hardships to himself or his family.

Get a Campaign Book--Quick

OUR NEW TEHACHAPI BOOK, which is just off the press, should be in the hands of every person, who wants a farm, or who wants an investment. It covers the whole field, answers every question, removes every doubt. Full of information and profusely illustrated. FREE FOR THE ASKING.

Now for a Blazing Hot Campaign

We have the BEST THING in CALIFORNIA. We have an opportunity which is going to make nice little fortunes for a few hundred people. We have been working, investigating, developing and we KNOW WE ARE RIGHT. A year from now will see every available acre at Tehachapi in small tracts, in the hands of small owners and on the road to fruit production—if we have things our way.

We make it CHEAP and EASY and PLEASANT for those interested to GO TO TEHACHAPI and see for themselves.

Private Car Excursion July 12th

We will resume the running of private car excursions to Tehachapi July 12. Leave here that evening, get back the next evening. Rate is $4.95, and includes railway fare, sleeping car, and meals at Tehachapi.

BETTER GO ON THE FIRST EXCURSION. See the REASON in the NEXT COLUMN.

THE PRICE OF ALL LAND AT TEHACHAPI close-in, and far out, is uniformly $300 an acre. This includes, of course, our "twice-as-much" water rights. We deliver TWICE as much water as some "Apple Districts" promise. Enuf for ALL crops. Sure. Low cost.

The man who goes EARLY gets a first choice for exactly the same cost as the man who waits for the last choice. The terms are one-fourth cash, and long time on the balance.

PACIFIC CRUDE IS PROFITABLE.

EIGHT THOUSAND BARRELS THE OUTPUT.

Standard Works Its Pipe Lines from Midway to Kern River to Capacity—Makes No Attempt to Clean Out Sanded Gusher—Associated Erects Two Rigs.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, June 14.—The Pacific Crude Oil Company's big gusher, the one that got a State-wide fame by burning from Sunday afternoon to the following Thursday night, has settled down to a flow of 8000 barrels a day of 25 gravity oil, which is being sold to the Standard for 45 cents a barrel, making the gross return $36000 a day. The loss from the fire was estimated at $33,000, including oil consumed, so a ten-days' run at the present rate of production will leave the company $3000 to the good. The company pipans soon to drill a second well near the gusher.

The Standard Oil Company's gusher on section 36, 31-23, is still sanded up, and no effort is being made to open it. The understanding is that the Standard has all the oil it can handle through its pipe line from Midway to Kern River, and does not care to store the gusher's product in the field.

The California Counties' well on La Belle lease in section 4, 32-23, is producing 225 barrels a day from a depth of 3120 feet with prospects of doing better. The gravity is a little over 27.

Harry W. Thomas, George E. Whitaker and H. Van Slyke have organized the Panama-Bellridge Oil Company and leased eighty acres, half in section 25, and half in section 23, 28-19 from D. Y. Campbell. They are getting ready to drill on the land

The Anaconda Oil Company's property in section 12, 11-24, has been taken over by Barlow & Hill, who will deepen the well which the first named concern drilled to a depth of 3900 feet. The well is now flowing water.

The Standard Oil Company is increasing the capacity of its double pipe line from Midway to Kern River by putting in two loops of 12-inch pipe. The additional capacity is made necessary by the increased amounts of light oil which the Standard is buying and producing in the Midway field.

The Sunset Security Oil Company's well on section 29, 11-23, which many stockholders have been watching anxiously for a couple of years past, is down 3055 feet, with the 8-inch casing in brown shale and a considerable showing of gas, but no oil.

The Pyramid Oil Company's well on section 18, 32-23, is bowing gas from a depth of 4044 feet, but no oil has yet developed.

The Pacific Midway has cemented its well No. 3 on section 32, 12-23, at a depth of 1660 feet and expects to start drilling into the sand in about a month.

The California Midway Oil Company has spudded in its first well on section 26, 31-22, and expects to start another soon on section 22, in the same township. A contract for the drilling has been let to the California Well Drilling Company. The contract calls for a 10-inch hole to a depth of 2400 feet.

OUTPUT GROWS DURING MONTH.

MAY SHOWED INCREASE OVER APRIL PRODUCTION.

Ten Wells Were Brought in and General Conditions Indicate Improvement, According to Report of Independent Agency Manager. United Development Company Elects Officers.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

COALINGA, June 13.—The report of R. W. Dallas, manager of the Coalinga branch of the Independent Producers' Agency, has been completed for the month of May and shows an increase in production over the former month. Taking the number of days of the two months into consideration, however, May really falls short of April's production. The field storage was increased by about 33,000 barrels during the month of May.

Ten wells were brought in during the month with a combined daily average production of 3125 barrels. The fuel consumed in the field amounted to 68,521 barrels. The oil shipped in cars amounted to 24,157, and the amount shipped in wagons and private pipe lines was 6300 barrels.

UNITED DEVELOPMENT MEETS.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the United Development Company, held in the offices of Guy H. Salisbury yesterday evening, George D. Roberts, O. D. Loftus, Fred E. Wonsor, J. L. D. Walp and Guy H. Salisbury were elected as the board of directors. Roberts, Loftus and Walp were on the former board. Roberts was elected president, Loftus vice-president and Salisbury re-elected secretary and treasurer of the company.

The United Development Company is operating on Southern Pacific Railroad land, covered in the suit now being conducted by the government.

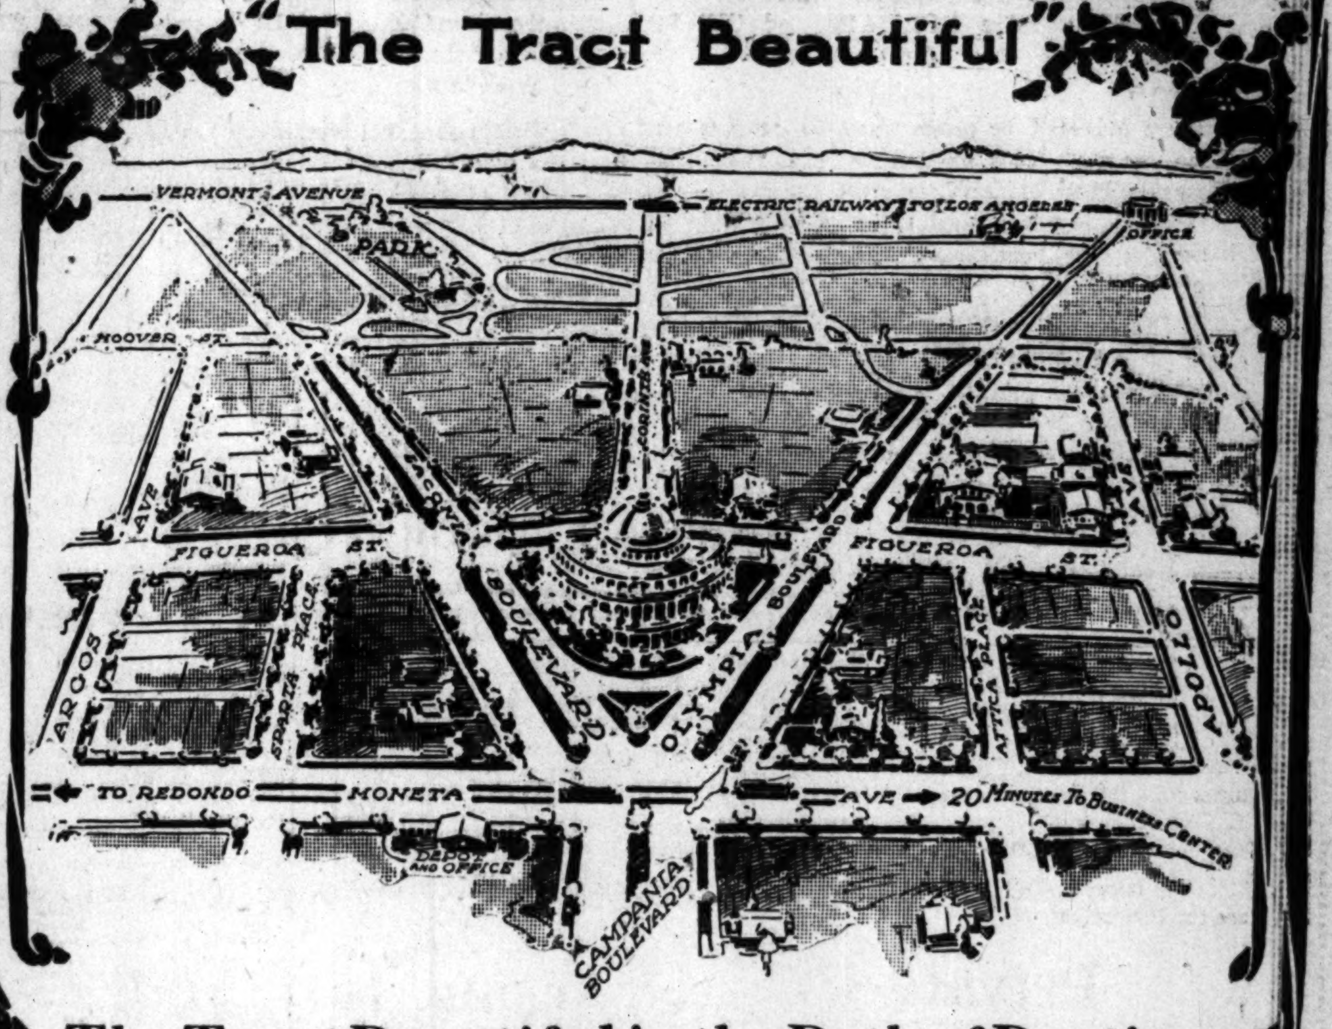
ATHENS-ON-THE-HILL
"The Tract Beautiful"



The Tract Beautiful in the Path of Destiny

Year in and year out this wonderful new Southwestern Tract will maintain its same high standard—and the man who builds his home in Athens-on-the-Hill now can feel assured of the future. That is a factor every investor should investigate.

You owe it to yourself to be absolutely sure that your lot investment is primarily in the path of development. Secondly—that it is in a tract of sufficient size and standard of quality and restrictions—to protect your investment from deteriorating influences in the future. Then you want to consider the PRICE and the SIZE of the lot you are getting. In these days of subdivision competition—you will find SMALL lots—short lots, lean lots, skinny lots, narrow lots—all kinds of SMALL lots, dished up to enable the subdivider to offer them at LOW prices for advertising purposes.

Athens-on-the-Hill offers you, TODAY, large lots at low prices. Not key lots, but high and sightly and highly improved. You can get large Villa Sites here in the Cream of the Southwest—for one-fifth of Wilshire Prices. Why pay the difference? The immense cost of the extensive improvements now being made at ATHENS-ON-THE-HILL will soon make imperative substantial advances in the prices of this property—a word to the wise is sufficient.

Go out to Athens-on-the-Hill today. Enjoy the magnificent panorama of City, Sea and Mountains. Take car from Sixth street station, over Pacific Electric Athens-Cut-Off line. It's a 20-minute ride. Go out today.

REEDLEY, NUCLEUS OF SMYRNA FIG

Oranges and Grapes Prolific Crops—District of Valuable Soil and Water Assets—Moderate Priced Lands. Excellent Schooling Facilities.

Synopsis of Article.

The successful culture of the Smyrna fig in California and how it is grown.

Why oranges do well in the Reedley district.

Location of Reedley, railroad facilities and scenic environment.

Town of Reedley and its business enterprise.

Realty values.

Schools and society.

Notes on the general farming conditions.

Needs of the community.

For many years the Department of Agriculture has tried to find a location in the United States adapted to the successful culture of the Asiatic Smyrna fig. After repeated failures the tree was finally found to flourish in the San Joaquin Valley of California. With several years of experimenting in different parts of the San Joaquin, a large Smyrna fig industry has been established in the territory immediately surrounding the town of Reedley, and it has been demonstrated by the excellent results obtained in this district, that the Smyrna fig has here found a congenial home, superior, as a matter of fact, in many respects to its native habitat in the countries bordering the Mediterranean Sea.

The Smyrna fig is essentially different from the Adriatic or common fig, which latter grows in many places throughout the country. The Smyrna is an exceptionally large-sized fig and has a rich, delicious flavor.

This fine flavor is only made possible by a process known as caprification, which takes place during the development of the figs while on the trees. The caprification is carried on by small insects (Blastophaga) which germinate in what is known as the capri tree. The capri tree produces the pollen for the Smyrna, and the little insects carry this pollen into the Smyrna fruit. If the Smyrna fig is not so pollenized it only develops to a certain size and then drops off the tree on which it has been growing.

The important conditions, therefore, for the successful culture of Smyrna figs, are a soil adapted to the growth of the trees and a climate conducive to the life of the Blastophaga, for without the little insects the fruit cannot be matured.

Both these conditions are found in the Reedley district and in evidence of the fact over 300 acres are now producing Smyrna figs successfully in this territory.

A ranch home, Reedley.

In Reedley, the center of California's fig enterprise.

Government experts who have inspected all other parts of the San Joaquin Valley, where Smyrna figs have been raised, have all expressed their conviction that the industry is bound to grow extensively in this locality.

The trees are planted from thirty to thirty-five feet apart. Nursery stock sells from 25 cents to 50 cents per tree. A small crop is realized the third year. Twelve to twenty capri trees in an orchard are sufficient to pollenize 100 acres of Smyrna figs.

As regards the profits realized in the work, a price of from 5 to 8 cents a pound is generally obtained by the producer. With proper care and attention, a grove of 6-year-old trees will bear a ton of fruit to the acre. From that age on the crop continually increases until the trees are 20 years old.

From the present outlook of the retail business it is considered that the price of the figs will advance quickly. The real Smyrna figs retail in Los Angeles at 25 cents per pound.

One fact of importance in the Smyrna fig culture is the small cost of caring for a grove. Only two irrigations a year are necessary and the crop does not have to be picked off the trees. As the fruit matures it drops to the ground, where it cures, and is then gathered in boxes.

ORANGES.

While a number of men are energetically applying their efforts to develop the fig industry of the district, other enthusiastic workers are building up a first-class orange belt. Skirting the foothills east of Reedley are many acres of the richest orange soil obtainable. There is a alrge acreage laid out in young trees, but there are still hundreds of acres of undeveloped citrus lands selling at moderate prices. The oldest groves in the vicinity are about 12 years of age.

Sickness to the citrus stock, here, is something unknown. The entire district is free from all troublesome insect pests, including the black scale. This district is also in the early navel orange belt, the navels ripening from ten to sixty days earlier than in the groves south of the Tehachepi Pass. The country is in a location protected against frost.

Clark Valley is a protected cove in the foothills, east of Reedley, where considerable activity in the citrus business has recently taken place. During the last three months over 7000 acres of property were sold in this valley. A large tract, called the Annandale, owned by twenty-five persons interested in the Santa Fe Railroad Company, is being planted out.

In the Orange Vale colony of 520 acres, graded land may be purchased in tracts of five acres and up for $200, including water. The deep soil of Clark Valley is principally a "dry bog" and grows the best of oranges.

LOCATION.

Almost on the banks of the beautiful Kings River, about midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, in the southeastern part of Fresno county, one looks upon the California State map to find Reedley. Both the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads pass through the town and it is now only a matter of time before the Visalia Electric Railroad will push its lines somewhere through the district.

Another electric railroad company known as the Tidewater and Southern, which is building a line south from Stockton, also intends to run through the Reedley district.

Reedley lies about twenty-five miles southeast of the city of Fresno, the county seat.

A few miles east of the town tower, the sentinel peaks of the Sierra Nevada Mountain ranges, with Mt. Whitney, the highest peak in the United States, and the famous Sequoia national parks. Up into these magnificent parks—containing the largest groves of giant redwoods in the world has been constructed one of the best automobile highways on the continent. Starting from Reedley, a party in a machine may motor through the mountains up to the parks in from four to six hours, reaching an elevation of 8000 feet at the highest point. Nowhere in this auto highway does the grade exceed 6 per cent., and traveling over this newly-made grade, devoid of ruts and washouts, is like riding over a macadam boulevard.

TOWN.

Reedley has a population in the neighborhood of 2000 people. It is a busy little place, well provided with a number of retail stores and fruit packing-houses. All general conveniences, such as electricity for illumination, domestic water and telephone service, are supplied the inhabitants.

The First National Bank of Reedley is housed in a two-story brick structure on one of the main business corners. This bank is capitalized at $25,000 with a surplus of $16,500 and total resources aggregating $281,761. In 1911 the deposits of the First National amounted to $142,718, which have jumped this year to $223,667, a net gain of over $81,000 in a year, showing the extent of business activity. The First National was organized as a State bank in 1903 and was nationalized in 1907.

The Reedley National Bank is an institution with total resources of over $318,020. This is a new bank having been established but four years in the town. It is capitalized at $25,000 and has a surplus and undivided profit account of $14,259. Its deposits amount to $259,260. The bank owns its own brick building and has experienced a steady growth since its organization.

The business men of Reedley have organized a Protective Merchants' Association. There is also an active Chamber of Commerce. The town has two well-managed newspapers which are recognized among the progressive factors of the community.

REAL ESTATE PRICES.

In the townsite of Reedley, residence lots are selling at from $125 to $400 each. These lots are 25x150 feet and are located on graded streets with domestic water piped to the property line. Electricity for illumination purposes may also be had.

Business lots, 25 by 150 feet, command a price of from $1000 to $3000 each, according to location.

Raw land in tracts of 160 acres, suitable for deciduous fruits, and in some cases citrus fruits, sell at from $60 per acre up. Fig and orange land in small-sized tracts run from $150 per acre up, in the rough.

Alfalfa lands sell at from $100 to $150 per acre, unplanted, while land already sown can be had from $200 to $300 per acre.

Bearing vineyards are changing hands at prices which vary between $275 and $500 per acre.

SCHOOLS AND SOCIETY.

A new and modern $40,000 High School plant, located in the southwestern part of town, is picturesquely situated upon a knoll overlooking a magnificent vineyard and a portion of the Kings River in the background.

As an annex to the present High School, a large brick structure now in course of construction will contain facilities for all scientific instruction taught in the institution. This annex will be opened by the commencement of the fall term of this year. The subjects of chemistry, physics, cooking, sewing, woodwork and forge-work are to be taught.

One of the features of the High school is a complete course in scientific agriculture which is intended to be of practical value and to supply the general needs of the locality.

The High School enrollment numbers 100 students.

There is a $30,000 grammar school centrally located in Reedley which has 500 pupils in attendance. A brick grammar school has recently been constructed and will be opened for the first time this coming fall. The structure is valued at $30,000.

Reedley is an active religious center having eleven pretty church buildings representing as many denominations. Each church has an enthusiastic congregation of adherents and all are contributing to a refined social tone in the community.

There is a Y.M.C.A. with 110 members. This organization has built its own basket-ball and volley-ball courts which furnish recreative sports for the members.

As an adjunct to the educational facilities of the town, Reedley has a small library. This is operated under the management of the Fresno County Free Library. A number of books on fiction, reference works and periodicals are kept on file.

WAHTOKE PARK.

Five miles north and east of Reedley is the picturesque Wahtoke Park, with its pretty lake covering sixty-five acres of ground and its pleasant, wooded camping grounds. This place is the rendezvous of picnicking parties from Reedley on Sunday afternoons and holidays and here one finds fishing, boating or swimming.

Not far from the park a new townsite has been laid out. A general store and postoffice supply the needs of the people who live in the vicinity.

GENERAL FARMING.

For years the district surrounding Reedley has been producing thousands of tons of peaches and grapes. Last year it is estimated by the California Fruit Growers' Association that 4000 tons of raisins and 2000 tons of dried peaches were shipped, besides large quantities of green fruit. A price in the retail market of $4.10 per twenty-eight-pound crate of green Emperor grapes has been obtained.

A large tonnage of the locally-grown peaches is canned at Fresno and Visalia. Thompson seedless grapes seem to have paid the best among the several varieties of grapes grown in the district. Last year the price ranged between 4 and 8 cents while the market was open.

The California Fruit Growers' Association at Fresno and Visalia will contract for as far as ten years in advance with the growers at a stated price of $25 per ton for clingstone peaches. During last season this association paid $25 a ton for Tuskin clings, $22.50 a ton for Phillips clings and $20 a ton for Orange cling peaches to growers who had not contracted with them.

The almond industry is a profitable one, 11 cents per pound being paid the grower for the nuts. Between the age of 4 and 17 years these trees bear from two to sixty pounds of nuts to the tree. They are easily cared for at slight expense.

All other varieties of deciduous fruits are grown to a greater or less extent and it would be difficult to find a larger variety of fruits being successfully grown in a single district of the same size. The deciduous fruits are irrigated but twice a year.

IRRIGATION.

A ditch system which covers 130,000 acres, the water of which is supplied from the Kings River; an underground reservoir of water, permitting wells being sunk in every conceivable location, and a copious annual rainfall averaging twelve inches, are the irrigation assets of the Reedley district.

The great Alta ditch system is owned and maintained by the property holders. The cost of maintaining the ditches is met with by levying a tax upon the property of those who are situated in a position to use the water, and this will average less than 50 cents per acre annually.

The irrigating wells throughout the district will average between 100 and 150 feet in depth. An abundance of water is found in every location. Most of the pumping is done by centrifugal pumps. Electric current generated by the San Joaquin Light and Power Company is supplied all through the ranching district and power for electrically-operated pumps is furnished at a nominal cost.

NEEDS.

Almost any sort of factory or manufacturing enterprise would find Reedley a convenignt place for operation. The Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads, parelleling each other about 200 yards apart through the town, afford the best transcontinental and local shipping facilities. Electric power is furnished cheaply and factory sites in Reedley are not expensive to buy. The Reedley Creamery and Ice Company is a $30,000 manufacturing enterprise, making ice, ice cream and butter. The butter is shipped to Los Angeles and the cream and ice are consumed locally.

An overall factory is desired. It has also been suggested by a number of leading business men that a deciduous fruit cannery would find an attractive field. One of the real necessities of Reedley is houses to rent. Several buildings renting from $10 to $15 a month are wanted.

BOOSTERS.

A number of the district's property owners, whose names appear below, will be glad to acquaint the reader with additional facts of information on the country. These persons are capable and reliable to give an ungarnished statement. They are all exponents of progress and earnestly desire to see their district grow and accomplish the maximum of prosperity. Communications addressed to them or to the secretary of the Reedley Chamber of Commerce will be given courteous attention: F. Frane, C. F. Mueller, Crosby Bros. (Inc.,) D. H. Kirsch, A. E. The Jumping Bean Mystery.

[St. Louis Globe Democrat:] The "jumping bean," which is always sure to excite the wonder of those who have not before seen this specimen of the vegetable kingdom, is the product of a small bush, which grows in the northern part of Mexico. Within each blossom are two "fertile" seeds, and a third, which is the home of a small, exceedingly active worm, whose performances are responsible for the queer conduct of the bean. When this worm emerges from its prison it becomes a beautifully colored moth. The seeds of the jumping bean blossom in the month of May. Then the female moth deposits one egg on the [illegible] of the flower. As the flower [illegible]velops it forms a triangular-[illegible] shell on two sides, with a [illegible] shape on the other. Within this [illegible] chrysalis develops into a [illegible] brown worm about one-tenth of [illegible] inch in diameter and about one-[illegible] inch in length. This worm lives [illegible]side its cell for a period of [illegible] months, or until the middle of [illegible]vember. Then, climatic conditions being favorable, it bores a [illegible] through the end of its shell and [illegible] away as a moth.

TUBES FOR LONDON'S MA[illegible]

Will Be Made Large Enough [illegible] the Delivery of Parcels and [illegible]lieve Some of the Street C[illegible]

[Washington Post:] The [illegible] interest is being taken in the an[illegible]nouncement of the Postmaster-Gener[illegible]al of England that he is con[illegible]ing the construction of a [illegible] tube railway for the carrying of [illegible]cels in London from east to [illegible].

Some 200,000,000 of parcels [illegible] delivered annually in London, and [illegible]cause of the growing congestion [illegible] the streets, the problem of [illegible] with this enormous volume of [illegible] matter is becoming very serious.

It is admitted that London's [illegible] service is very inferior to that of [illegible] York and Philadelphia, where [illegible] are expeditiously delivered by [illegible] of pneumatic tubes, in which the[illegible] sent at the rate of thirty mile[illegible] hour. But it is expected that Lon[illegible]don's projected railway will be [illegible] provement on the system in [illegible] America, and that when it is [illegible]pleted, London will have the best [illegible] service in the world.

That is yet a long way off. [illegible] in February of last year that [illegible] partmental committee appointed [illegible] the Postmaster-General to [illegible] the question of the transmission [illegible] mails in London by pneumatic [illegible] or electric railway reported in [illegible] of the latter, which they considered [illegible] better adapted to the postal conditions [illegible] in London than any system of [illegible]matic tubes on grounds of both [illegible]ciency and cheapness.

The committee recommended [illegible] construction of underground [illegible] railways in tubes seven feet [illegible] in diameter, laid in the London [illegible] providing accommodation for [illegible] tracks of two-foot gauge. Motor [illegible]ons were preferred to locomotives [illegible] trailers, in order to admit of [illegible] without having recourse to [illegible] or loops, and the specific [illegible]mendation of the committee was [illegible] the railway should be six and [illegible] half miles in length, running [illegible] through the center of London.

Humanitarian Cigars.

[London Tit Bits:] An [illegible] interesting and novel experiment is being made in Paris by the League for the Protection of Horses, [illegible] may well commend itself for adoption by similar societies on this side of the Channel. The French league has had made a special brand of cigars—cigars caballero—which the public will be able to procure at the various offices of the league. These cigars, according to the scheme, [illegible] to be used either as a reward to the humanitarian driver or as a means of propaganda among the others. For the latter purpose, especially, the cigar is to have a band of red and gold bearing the words, "Be good to animals"—"Soyez bons pour les animaux."

In addition, the cigar will be enclosed in a transparent wrapper with the inscription, "Take off the [illegible]ers"—"Otez l'oeillere." On the [illegible] covering is an intimation to the effect that the driver who possesses [illegible] of these cigar rings may obtain [illegible] on presenting them at an office of the league.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY.

INQUIRIES FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Fluorite.

BISBEE (Ariz.) May 22.—Q.: I am sending you some samples that I am in doubt about, and all of them were taken from the Roystan claims about eleven miles southeast from Bisbee. Some say that the red crystals are red manganese; others call them [illegible], and still others say that the crystals are vanadium. I will thank you to give me information that will show what kind of metal the rock carries. C. D. K.

A.: The impure limestone samples carry, imbedded in the matrix, very handsome crystals (octahedral in habit) of pink-red fluorite. Of vitreous luster; hardness 4; brittle; of [illegible] fracture; sp. gr., 3.1; and in composition calcium fluoride. Fluorspar decrepitates in the closed glass tube if heat be applied, and phosphoresces. Before the blow-pipe colors the flame red. The mineral powdered and placed in a saucer with sulphuric acid added to the powder and the saucer covered with glass, the glass becomes etched. Fluorite occurs in gangues of metallic ores; in beds and veins; with gneiss, mica-slate; clay-slate; in limestones, and with a great number of minerals.

It would be well to prospect the locality some little, as the samples carry a very pure grade of fluorite.

Copper Present.

KINGMAN (Ariz.) May 24.—Q.: You will find enclosed three samples. No. 1 is from a good size cropping between dioryte and porphyry, and very kindly tell me if it has any commercial value and what it is. What per cent. of copper, if any, in No. 2? Does No. 3 carry copper? All of the samples are from the Cerbat range, Mohave county, Arizona. One more question: will turquoise decompose? J. W. H.

A.: Glad to hear from you for the reason that you are one of our oldest correspondents. Sample No. 1 is a chalcedonic variety of quartz, with deleterious admixtures of iron oxides, manganese and silicate of alumina present, together with microscopical pyrite, stibnite (antimony sulphide,) scattered sparingly throughout the mass. No free gold present. There is a trace of vanadic acid combined with the sample. No. 2 is a very peculiar specimen; copper carbonate is present (malachite) as a coating mixed with traces of phosphoric acid; black oxide of copper (melaconite) is sparingly present, as also traces of iron oxides and manganese. Not tested for gold or silver. No. 3 carries [illegible] per cent. malachite with phosphoric acid sparingly present and pseudomorphic pyrite (oxidized.) Not tested for precious metals. Turquoise will easily decompose in contact with hydrochloric acid. The phosphate of lime present in turquoise, together with iron and copper content, will cause decomposition, more or less, in time if exposed to the weather, and, in fact, there are but few substances that will not decompose under such exposure, with the exception of gold, and as to gold we have very good evidence that the belief of the mining boys in the hills that "gold grows" is true in fact. Like the so-called radium, in time it will probably be shown that radium is a substance formed by carbonization, sulphidizing, oxidizing, chloridizing and manipulation, in presence of, and with, the gases and others of atmospheric content together with formations in the laboratories of nature, and of mere man.

Albite.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Q.: Will [illegible] please be kind enough to name the enclosed sample of some kind of [illegible]? It is in lead formation in San [illegible] county, and not far from railroad. A. W.

Calciferous.

RIVERSIDE, May 24.—Q.: Would you kindly oblige me and identify my specimen? What does it contain? And please give me your opinion as to what it indicates. It is surface [illegible], and I personally believe that it indicates lead or zinc. Tell me, please, if there is any indication of platinum. The place it comes from is the San Jacinto Mountains, in Riverside county. M. R. (The prospector.)

A.: One of the troubles of you mining boys is that you are everlastingly examining ore samples with a glass, and the blunt truth is that you get [illegible] up on crystals. Do not be offended at the language used; you know that the statement is true.

We do not take much of a liking to material represented by the sample: it is made up of what you would refer to as "water crystals of spar." The sample is calcite (carbonate of lime) and it has the earmarks of having been formed from near some "mineral spring." Combined with the [illegible] we observe under the lens of a powerful microscope crystals of molybdenite; of ilmenite; of hematite, and of magnesium silicate sparingly present in the agglomerated mass, and there is a trace of phosphoric acid present, with lead a trace. Platinum and zinc absent.

Spessartite.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Q.: A prospector working on his claims in [illegible] county last fall found a small [illegible] of mineral like the sample, and he believes that it is vanadium of some kind. Is it? Please tell me what it is and if of any value. A. J. R.

A.: The sample is a fractured and [illegible] variety of garnet of doubtful commercial value. Vanadium is not present in the mass.

Coke and Coal.

PORTLAND (Or.) May 24.—Q.: A prospector holding some coal lands in a new locality of the State of Washington sent me the samples from his claims herein, with the request that I submit them to the "In the Earth" editor of your great paper for test, etc. He particularly desires to be informed if this is coking coal. Will you please tell me something about the coking coal of the West? T. M. M.

A.: The sample is a variety of bituminous coal, and specifically it represents a grade of coal that can be manufactured into coke. "Coke is the product obtained by subjecting certain grades of bituminous coal to high temperatures in chambers from which either the air is entirely excluded or into which only a sufficient quantity of air is admitted to secure, supposedly, the combustion of the volatile contents of the coal. The process, consequently, is one either of distillation or of partial combustion. When the process is one of distillation, the coal, usually crushed to one-half inch or smaller, is charged into chambers or retorts thirty feet long, six to eight feet high and from seventeen to twenty-two inches wide, the heat being applied by the combustion in flues arranged vertically or horizontally between the coking chambers of gases distilled from the coal. . . . Washington is the only State west of the Rocky Mountains that contains coal possessing coking qualities, and the coking industry is restricted to a limited area in Pierce county. Tests

Mixed Elements.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Q.: Under separate cover, in a canvas ore sack, I am sending you eight samples of mineral. All of them were taken from localities in the Palm Springs district. Will you kindly name the samples and give me some information regarding them, and also, if any of them have a commercial value please inform me?

J. C. T.

A.: Sample No. 1 is halotrichite (iron alum,) a very good grade of the mineral, but not in much demand in the trade of alum makers. No. 2 is high-grade copper ore (bornite.) No. 3 is a handsome variety of needle-shape (acicular) true epidote, and not "tourmaline," as written by you on the wrapper. No. 4 is potash feldspar (orthoclase.) No. 5 is the rock trachyte. No. 5 (special) is massive dolomite (magnesium limestone,) and not "scheelite." No. 6 is baryte (barium sulphate,) and it is too low a grade for use in the paint industry. No. 7 is jasper, of a beautiful red colored variety, and No. 8 is not "pitchblende;" it is a good quality iron-manganese ore. All in all no definite opinion can be given on the samples submitted as representative of the various deposits from which they were taken, but Nos. 2, 5, 7 and 8 are worthy of some attention.

Cheerfully Named.

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—Q.: In company with my children and two of their little friends I went on a quest for minerals near a hotel in the Mt. Baldy mountains. Quite a basketful of rocks were obtained, and I mail you three of the most interesting samples in the hope that you will name them.

MRS. A. C. T.

A.: Sample, marked on wrapper "black tourmaline" is a variety of pyroxene (diopside,) and likewise a variety of augite; in prismatic crystals and somewhat transparent. Luster shining and brilliant, dark green in color; striated longitudinally, "and may be cleaved parallel with the plans of the primary prism. Scarcely scratches glass." Hardness 6; and in sp. gr. 3.30. Composition monosilicate of lime and magnesia. Part of the sample would answer for fairly good so-called gems. Sample No. 2 is a very good specimen of rose quartz, also used in certain gems. No. 3 is an iridescent and crystallized calcite (carbonate of lime.)

Eagle Stone.

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—Q.: A friend of mine, living near Newhall, informs me that he picked up these samples within ten miles of Newhall. I never saw such a strange rock, and neither my friend or myself can make out what kind of rocks they are. If you break them open you will find a yellow mineral that may be gold in some unknown form. Will you please tell me about this? C. L. O.

A: The samples resemble chocolate drops of huge size. When broken open we find matter that looks like certain "fudge." Eagle stone is "a kind of iron ore, consisting of a reniform crust of the oxide investing an ocheous kernel, which is sometimes loose." Gold is not present in the samples.

Oxides and Chlorides.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Q.: I send some samples to The Times for classification. The samples are sent by myself and partner, so as to get some information as to what they are good for. All of them are from prospects located at a point five miles west of Searchlight, Nev., and from two prospects near Lee, Cal.

B. & G.

A.: Sample No. 1 is a silver lead ore and on the order of (in part) chlorides. No. 2 is not "lead carbonate" it is baryte (barium sulphate.) No. 3 is high-grade hematite known also as "Indian war paint" variety, and the sample is rich in gold. No. 4 is quartz, pseudomorph after pyrite, and the oxidized matter filling the cavities of the original pyrite is auriferous. No. 5 is porphyritic rock, feldspar (variety orthoclase.) No. 6 is quartz with coating of ferric and ferrous iron. No. 7 is quartz, iron peroxide present with native gold. No. 8 is baryte, pure enough for the paint industry. No. 9 is hematite (variety micaceous iron ore.) No. 10 is a mixed hematite with magnetic iron and ilmenite (titanic iron.)

Sulphur and Pyrite.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 28.—Q.: Under separate cover I am mailing you with this mail some samples that occur in commercial quantities in East San Bernardino county. (1) Could this grade of sulphur and sulphides be a base for the manufacture of sulphur and of sulphuric acid? (2) Approximately of what do the samples consist? (3) Is arsenic in the samples? (4) Have you any data on the sulphur and sulphuric acid industry? (5) Can sulphur be obtained from gypsum?

A.L.K.

A.: (1) Yes. (2) of pyrite, chalcopyrite, pyrrhotite, and low per cent. sulphates. (3) Trace only. (4) "In 1911 sulphur was produced in Louisiana, Utah and Wyoming. . . . The principal producer was Louisiana, but in both Utah and Wyoming the output in 1911 was greater than in the preceding year. The production of sulphur in the United States in 1911 amounted to 265,664 long tons, valued at $4,787,049, a substantial increase both in quantity and value compared with 1910. It is estimated that the production for 1911 is very close to the present rate of consumption in this country. The production of pyrite in the United States in 1911 amounted to 299,904 long tons, valued at $1,162,261, an increase of 58,292 long tons in quantity and of $184,283 in value compared with 1910. These figures are the maximum ever recorded by the Geological Survey for the pyrite industry. Though low-grade sulphide ores of copper containing considerable quantities of pyrite and pyrrhotite and zinc sulphide concentrates have been used in recent years in the manufacture of sulphuric acid, the output of pyrite has shown a great increase during the last five years, which has been a time of rapid development of the by-product sulphuric acid industry. The output of sulphuric acid in 1911 amounted to 2,688,456 tons of 50 degs. Baume acid. Compared with the figures of the censuses for 1899 and 1904, this shows increase of great magnitude." Your samples represent material that will practically yield all of the substances set forth in the quoted matter. (5) Yes.

Iron and Alumina.

ELSINORE, May 30.—Q.: Please find enclosed in blue-top match-box three samples of ore, taken from a vein north of Temecula, Riverside county. Does any of them contain bismuth of tellurium? C.P.C.

A.: Tested for bismuth and tellurium we find both elements absent. Two of the samples are iron-bearing, and the largest one of the three samples carries "peacock-iron," mica, pyrite, and massive (some microscopical crystals) almandite, (iron alumina garnet. The sulphide samples carry chalcopyrite, pyrite, arsenopyrite, and trace of pyrrhotite (magnetic pyrite.)

Tungsten Absent.

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—Q.: In a red tobacco sack I am sending you three samples of mineral. No. 1 comes from a prospect near Cajon Pass, and No. 2 is from fifteen miles northeast of the pass. No. 3 was taken from a ledge that was supposed to be good iron ore, but I am told that it assays no good for iron. Do any of the samples carry tungsten?

G.W.H.

A.: Sample No. 1 is a "heavy," gray-white and impurse carbonate of lime. No. 2 is a mixture of hematite and of magnetic iron-ore. No. 3 is a deleterious admixture of ilmenite (titanic iron) with magnetite. Tungstic acid is not present in any sample.

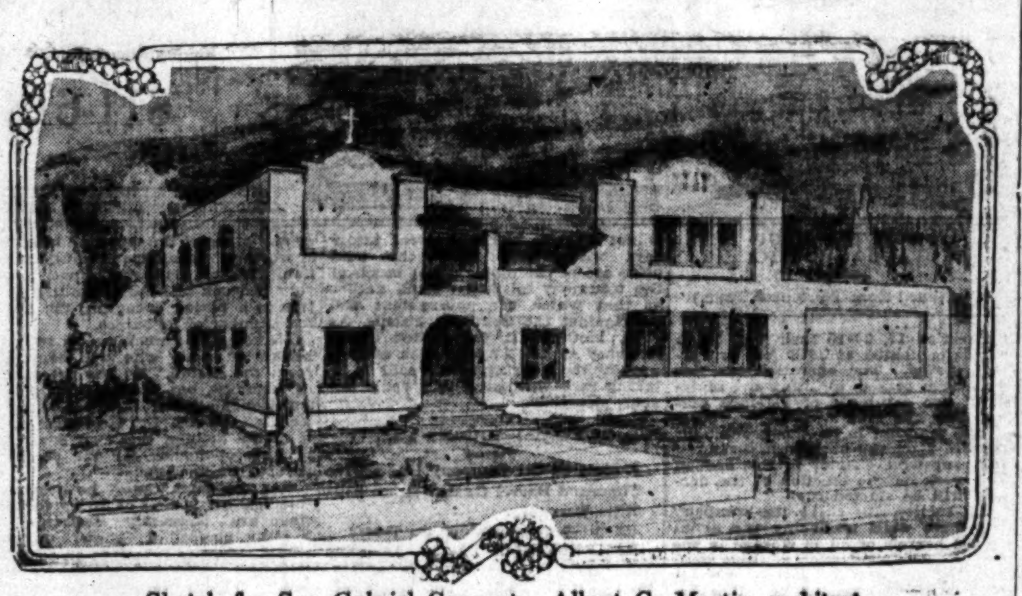
School That Will Be Neighbor to Old Mission.



Sketch for San Gabriel Convent. Albert C. Martin, architect.

Sensible School Girls.

[Utica Observer:] The girl members of one of the grammar school graduating classes in this city yesterday voted not to pay over $5 each for their graduating gowns. It is a sensible move, and one that we expect to see increase in volume. In many cities the movement to confine the graduating gown to something neat, simple and inexpensive has taken root, and it will be the rule this year, rather than the exception. The bestt hing about the movement as demonstrated in many places is that it is the girls who have parents who are well able to purchase almost any sort of costume that may be designed who are taking the first steps to bring about a reform in the custom.

ON HISTORIC GROUND.

Convent School to Be Erected Near Old San Gabriel Mission—Dominican Sisters in Charge.

Construction will probably be begun within the next two weeks upon a convent school which is to be erected at San Gabriel, just west of the old mission. Plans for the institution, which is to be built for the Roman Catholic Bishop of Monterey and Los Angeles, have been completed by the architect, Albert C. Martin.

The school, which will be known as the San Gabriel Convent school and which will be conducted by the Dominican sisters, will be a two-story structure with concrete foundations and tile walls. The exterior will be plastered and the general style will be that of the California missions.

The building will contain two large class rooms, provision being made also for out-of-door classes. The first floor will contain the offices and music room, a large community room and a chapel. The second floor will be given over to the teaching sisters and will contain a dining-room, "cells" and parlors.

The Suffragette Trapped.

[New York Tribune:] Early in her speech the militant suffragette struck the keynote of emancipation from masculine control.

"The day of tyranny is past," she said. "Men may command, but we no longer obey."

It was a stirring speech. At intervals throughout its delivery an insignificant-looking little man in the rear of the hall called out, "Louder, please," and each time the speaker pitched her voice in a higher key. When, in obedience to his often repeated requests, she had apparently attained a vocal limit, she said:

"Can you not hear what I say?"

"Perfectly," said the little man.

"Then why have you been asking me to speak louder?"

"Just to show," said he, "that in spite of your bragging a great, fine woman like you will still do what a little, no-account man like me asks her to."

Must Report Expenses.

CAMPAIGN UNDER PUBLICITY LAW.

NATIONAL ELECTION THE FIRST UNDER NEW STATUTE.

Federal Regulation Was First Suggested During the Campaign of Eight Years Ago Because of Contributions to Secret Party Funds. Congress Will Investigate.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—[Special to Brooklyn Eagle:] The Presidential election of 1912 will be the first held under a Federal campaign publicity law.

A subcommittee, of which Senator Clapp is chairman, has been directed by the Senate to investigate the campaign contributions of 1904 and 1908. It calls attention to the fact that the publicity desired as to those elections must be secured by a special resolution. Federal statute now provides for such publicity.

Before and even during the campaign of 1904 public opinion tolerated the use of secret party funds. The national and State committees of both political parties had received secretly contributions both from individuals and corporations. Public sentiment and political methods have changed. The growth of the movement toward publicity of campaign contributions and expenditures is a part of the revolt of the people against control of legislation by vested interests, by bosses and by machines.

But there is another factor. As the number of questions to be decided by popular vote increases through direct primaries, the initiative and referendum and other popular methods, the opportunities for political expenditure are multiplied and made necessary. Senator Stephenson's expense account, filed with the Senate committee, furnishes only one illustration of the possible cost of campaigns. It is regarded as absolutely necessary that these enormous expenditures be checked by publicity.

It was during the campaign of 1904 that the idea was first suggested that all campaign funds and expenditures of the national and Congressional committees of both parties should be made public. Federal as well as State laws covering State and local campaign committees was proposed. An examination of existing laws was at once undertaken.

It was found that in several States laws had been enacted requiring political committees to file a list of contributors, statements of the amounts contributed and an account of their expenditures, thus insuring their publicity. The absence of a Federal law, however, practically nullified such State legislation. The national and Congressional committees were free to collect and expend campaign funds in secret. All such State laws were imperfectly observed, and were really intended as a part of the corrupt-practices legislation.

Corrupt practices acts, so-called after the English corrupt-practices act of 1883, are laws to prevent bribery at elections and are penal statutes. Our publicity laws are not penal statutes and are based upon different principles. An illustration of this difference exists in the English situation, where bribery at the time of elections is severely punished, and the use of money during elections is limited to certain well-defined purposes. At other times secret party funds are collected and disbursed with comparative freedom.

The principle underlying the Federal publicity law involves the ultimate abolition of secrecy in respect to every use of money for political purposes, during elections or at any other time. By thus breaking the alliance between great corporate interests and political organizations it seeks to restore popular representative governments.

The propaganda for publicity among Democrats was actively carried on during the campaign of 1904. Special attention was paid to contributions by the officers of great insurance companies or similar corporations. At the request of the Democratic candidate, Judge Parker, the Democratic Campaign Committee refused to receive either directly or indirectly any money from any trust or corporation.

The policy of the Republican party in upholding a high tariff naturally invited the charges of the Democrats that they would continue these favors in return for secret contributions to party funds. Judge Parker challenged the President and the chairman of the National Committee to deny that corporation contributions had been made. This they did not do, on the ground that both parties always had received such contributions. They confined themselves to the question whether any corrupt agreements had been made, and whether the Republican administration would be under any obligation thereby.

Public sentiment had not then been sufficiently aroused against secret party funds. But the investigation of such contributions made by the insurance companies, and the general management of such corporations, instituted by the New York Legislature in 1905, was the result of this agitation. Armed by the revelations made during the investigation stockholders and policy-holders awakened to the manner in which their property had been used for political contributions. Soon after a law was passed prohibiting corporations from contributing funds for political purposes.

In November, 1905, the National Publicity Law Association was formed to secure Federal legislation. It was composed of prominent men in both parties. They continued the propaganda by speeches and magazine articles. They were unable, however, to secure action before the 1908 campaign, Congress failing to pass any law. By that time, however, the movement had gained great headway and was made an issue in the campaign. The Democratic convention passed a resolution in favor of Federal legislation. The National Committee voluntarily published from day to day the amount of each contribution with the contributor's name.

The Republican convention, on the other hand, refused to pass a publicity resolution. The candidate, Mr. Taft, had pronounced himself in favor of the bill then before Congress, which called for publicity after election. He requested the treasurer of the Republican committee to so publish all contributions and expenditures. Mr. Sheldon, the treasurer, paid a high tribute to the cause when he said in a speech at the Republican dinner: "I think the list of contributors filed at Albany showed 13,947 names, but there were many others who came along too late to be itemized. If there had been two weeks more we could have returned the contribution of every big subscriber had we so desired. For the first time a President will go into office under obligation to no man."

The first bill enacted was passed June 25, 1910, after six years of effort on the part of its advocates in and out of Congress. The ante-election feature of the bill which passed the House was stricken out by the Senate, but the House accepted the amendment rather than to run the risk of the failure of the bill.

At the extra session of Congress in 1911, an amendment to the law was adopted to include publicity before election, and a further provision was added to require publicity of contributions and expenditures at primary elections. The provisions of the act are confined to a requirement of the publication of the receipt and disbursement of funds of Congressional campaign committees. But a decision of the Supreme Court that a national and State election held at the same time constitute one election extends the law to committees working for the election of Presidential electors as well. Thus national committees must also give publicity to their receipts and disbursements.

COPPER KING MINE IS SOLD.

Easterners Finally Accept Proposal.

Big Development Work Now Under Way.

Shannon's President Buys Three R. Group.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 14.—Negotiations for the sale of the Copper King mine to eastern persons have been concluded. Several months ago M. J. Cunningham made the easterners an offer and they have finally accepted. The consideration has not been announced, but it is understood that the new owners will immediately begin development work on a big scale.

A shaft is down 700 feet on the Copper King and a great deal of other development work has been done. It is considered a highly-desirable property and needs only a small amount of consistent work to make it a big producer of the red metal.

During the last few months some of the biggest copper companies in Arizona have become interested in the Patagonia district of Santa Cruz county. Among these companies are the Copper Queen and the Calumet and Arizona.

President N. L. Amster of the Shannon Copper Company has taken over the R.R.R. group, and the heavy development work he has initiated has drawn a great deal of attention to the district. He paid more than $500,000 for thirty claims. A crosscut tunnel several hundred feet in length has been driven across an ore body that is forty-seven feet in width, and drifting on the ore in all directions is being pushed with vigor. So far the ores encountered are principally gray copper, or tetrahedrite. The average copper content is about 20 per cent. but a great deal of rich rock runs as high as 75 per cent.

Alfred Paul and Mr. Grebe, two well-known mining experts, have spent some time in the district in the interests of the Copper Queen company. Within a few days a tour of various groups in the Patagonias will be made by Walter Douglas, general manager of the Copper Queen, and Prof. L. D. Rickets, consulting engineer for that company, the Cananea Consolidated and the C. & A.

Mr. Paul has acquired several properties for the Copper Queen. One of them is a group of thirty claims in what is known as the Red Hill, an immense porphyry mountain on the north end of the Patagonia range, within a few miles of Patagonia station on the Southern Pacific. He made a thorough examination of the Ivanhoe mine. His final report is in the hands of the Copper Queen directors by this time. The Ivanhoe is about four miles in a direct line northwest from Patagonia and is in the foothills of the Santa Ritas.

John G. Campbell, who last year took options on a large number of Patagonia claims, has returned from Boston where he succeeded in interesting the Shattuck people in his ventures. L. M. Shattuck, president of the company, and Consulting Engineer E. W. Brooks have just visited the claims with Mr. Campbell and they are favorably impressed. As soon as necessary preliminaries are arranged and contracts let, work will be started on an extensive scale.

A company is to be formed to take over three groups Mr. Campbell holds under option. One, known as the Bender group, embraces fifty claims in the Duquesne region; another group of fifty is in the Pinal region near the World's Fair and the Basin, while a third tier of twelve claims is on the "red mountain" near Patagonia.

Operations are to be resumed before the end of this month on the Red Men, or Jefferson Camp, group of mines in the "Basin." This group is owned by the T. E. Mumme Mining Company, which performed a great amount of development work during 1910 and 1911.

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 14.—Both the Miami Copper Company and the Old Dominion produced heavily in May. The month's output of the Old Dominion smelter was 2,160,000 pounds of copper. Exact returns for the Miami are not available but the production was approximately 2,700,000 pounds of the red metal.

No attempt was made by the Old Dominion to increase production because of the higher price of copper, so the production was about the same as for the previous month. The output will be increased, however, when the concentrator has been enlarged and other improvements, now under way, have been completed.

H. Kenyon is working on plans for doubling the concentrator.

In the near future an important metallurgical change will be effected. Basic instead of acid lining is to be used in the converters. Two shells have been ordered to take the place of the three small stands now in use. These shells will be operated by electricity.

The working shaft is to be equipped for hoisting ore in skips instead of cages. The concreting of the fourth section of the Kingdon shaft of the United Globe mine is finished, making a total of 710 feet of concrete surface lining.

About 1150 men are now employed by the Old Dominion.

The May production of the Miami is a slight increase over that for April. It is expected that the output will continue to increase throughout the year.

Much development work is being done, about 900 men being employed. A diamond drill is at work on the 570-foot level. Hole No. 1 disclosed commercial ore a distance of 200 feet below that level.

Work is to start soon upon the construction of another machine shop near shaft No. 4, and the foundations are in for a 500,000-gallon water tank, which will supply the mill. The mill is now using nearly 2,000,000 gallons of water each day.

About 2500 feet of drifts and raises were driven in ore last month on the Inspiration Consolidated property. Some 400 men are employed.

The concrete work for the Inspiration Consolidated dam across Pinal Creek has been finished and grading for the pumping station will begin soon. Grading is in progress around the working shafts. Three development shafts are going down.

Two strings of tools have been lost in No. 1 drill hole on the South Live Oak property the last few days. One string was lost owing to caving ground, and it was decided to drill past them. In doing so a second string of tools was lost. This second string has now been recovered and fair progress is being made. The hole is now about 640 feet deep.

Drill hole No. 8 has been started at the Southwest Miami. None of the holes are in ore. The deepest is down 675 feet.

Silver mining is being revived in the Apache Mountains, about twelve miles east of Globe. Several old producers of the white metal are being reopened.

W. D. Fisk and associates, of Globe, have taken over the old McMorris mine. A gasoline hoist has been installed and the main shaft which is 800 feet deep, has been retimbered down to the 160-foot level.

John Mitchell and Ed Carson are working Fred Hefty's group of silver claims under a bond and lease. The Rice brothers are at work on the Buckeye group, while Lee Ikenberry is taking high-grade silver ore from his claims in Richmond Basin. High-grade ore is also being mined on the property of P. W. Gallentine, under lease to Ed Simonton.

Commercial Attracts.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 14.—No mine in Yavapai county is receiving more attention than the property of the Commercial Mining Company, in Copper Basin. This company is a subsidiary of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation, which owns the Copper Queen.

Since the recent strike was made in the Commercial, many prominent mining engineers and authorities on copper geology have inspected that district. Several sales are under negotiation and it is expected that the deals will be closed soon.

George C. Ruffner, who has the contract to freight ore from the Commercial to Skull Valley station, now has thirty-two mules at work.

A 15,000-pound air compressor, with a capacity for handling ten drills, has been shipped from Prescott to the Commercial. It will be installed in the winze where the rich strike was made, and should be in commission within three weeks.

Excellent results are being secured from development work done on the Zero group, nine miles south of Prescott. Much mineralized ground has been driven through in the last 150 feet of the adit tunnel and the point where shipping ore is most likely to be found has now been reached. At a point about ten feet ahead of the breast of the tunnel, some unusually good ore was taken out by unsystematic understopes. When the adit drift, now being driven, reaches the point under these old workings, the rich ore found on the surface should be cut. The tunnel is coming in at a depth of about 120 feet from the surface and as the old stopes are not more than forty or fifty feet in depth, it will give about seventy-five feet of stoping ground.

In years gone by, the Zero was a heavy producer of lead-silver ore. The owners were encouraged to resume operations by the high prices of lead and silver.

The drift on the property of the Cactus Gold Mining Company, Cherry Creek, is in forty-five feet and the ore bodies continue to widen, with values about the same. This company is also reviving the old Conger mine, which produced heavily in the early days.

A cyanide plant has been ordered from Denver for the Venezia gold mines, in Crook Canyon. Recent mill runs were so satisfactory that the owners decided to delay no longer before preparing to treat their own ore. This property has been producing gold bullion for some time, but the mill has not been recovering all the values.

As soon as the road from Prescott has been repaired, a new quart mill will be installed at the Juanita mine. Other machinery has also been ordered for that property. Within the next sixty days the plant will be operating on ores from the big dump.

WORTON BUYS TREASURE.

Mine Near Kingman Is Taken Over by Superintendent of Walnut Creek Property.

Resigning from the active superintendency of the Walnut Creek Mining and Milling Company, effective one month from now, in order to devote himself to the management of the Treasure Company's property, J. M. Worton yesterday purchased the full control of the latter mine. About one year ago he bonded the proposition, retaining over one-half interest in it. Dissatisfied with the progress of the new operators, he decided that it was best to take the property over again, and to satisfy the persons who had it in bond, he yesterday paid them back $4000 in cash and a house and four lots on Bellevue avenue, as well as a quantity of other mining stock which had been turned over to him as their initial payment.

Worton's eagerness to be in complete control of the property is due partly to the excellent assays from the ore now on the dump, and partly from a desire to push its development according to his own plans and ideas. The Treasure is thirteen miles east of Drake Station, on the Santa Fe, fifteen miles south of Kingman, near Walnut Creek. Ten miners' inches of water are flowing on the property, which makes it unnecessary to shut down for the hot weather. In fact, Worton, who left for Arizona last night, will put on an extra force of men at once.

While in Los Angeles last week he contracted for a five-stamp mill which is to be in operation on or before January 1. The ore is free milling and runs from $8 to $64 in gold. A sample brought to the city last week averaged something better than $14.

The formation is oxidized quartz between spar and diabase, the ledges paralleling each other for 3700 feet, and being from eight to twenty feet in width. Before leaving for the property Worton shipped a big lot of equipment. He took with him as his superintendent, Harry Y. Stretch.

Tonopah Shipments.

The shipments from the Tonopah district last week were: Tonopah Mining Company, 3350 tons; Belmont, 2050 tons; Montana-Tonopah, 899 tons; Tonopah Extension, 1035 tons; West End, 663 tons; MacNamara, 470 tons; total, 8467 tons of an estimated value of $211,675.

It Was a Good Hat.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] Mark Cole, the first hatter in Montgomery county, made a hat for William Logan, which served Logan twenty years. It was composed of twenty ounces of muskrat fur mixed with thirteen ounces of raccoon fur, and held an even half bushel. The crown was eighteen inches high and the brim six inches wide.

Saving Telephone Poles.

[Chicago Tribune:] A new plan of lengthening the life of a telegraph pole consists in giving it a temporary side support, cutting away the decayed point and then sinking a steel socket into its hole in the ground. The socket being partly filled with earth and grout, the pole is slipped in, when the cement rises around it, holding it securely in place.

OUTPUT GROWS.

On section 17, 20-15 their well No. 1 stands cemented at 2800 feet in 8¼-inch casing. The operations on this well have ceased, awaiting the arrival of two car loads of 6¼-inch casing from the mill.

The material is on the ground for rig No. 2 on the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of this section and work on the erection of the derrick will be started soon.

On section 19, 20-15 the company has three wells producing and about 30,000 barrels of oil in storage in the sumps. The production of these wells is being retarded until such time as the company arranges for the disposal of the oil.

BLAIR CEMENTS WATER.

The Blair Oil Company has cemented off the water about 175 feet below a black sulphur sand. The depth of the well is 4490 feet and the character of the formation indicates a light oil district. The managers of the company are very confident of striking a pay sand and should the Blair come in a producer, it will open up a new oil district in the Coalinga field.

On the apex of the Coalinga anticline on section 3, 20-15, the Kern Trading and Oil Company recently brought in a well with a production of about 600 barrels of oil daily. The well is located on the northwest corner of the section and offsets the W. K. wells on section 2 and the Limited well on section 32. The oil is of light gravity.

LAND WORTH A MILLION.

Contestants Play for Big Stake Before Land Office Officials At Visalia—Sessions Are Secret.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

VISALIA, June 13.—Land which is said to be worth $1,000,000 is involved in a contest which is being heard in the local land office, and in which the evidence is being taken, for some reason not clearly reported, behind closed doors. The Eight Oil Company is seeking through its attorneys to secure patent to land described as all of township 30, south of range 24 east, M. D. B. & M., which application is being opposed by John C. Cage, who claims that the land is not oil-bearing.

It is said a mass of testimony is being presented by Cage, who seeks to oust the oil company, to the effect that the land is, as a matter of fact, a vast deposit of fuller's earth and other valuable deposits, much of it of the nature of phosphate valuable for fertilizer. Cage's chemists have presented samples and analyses to confirm this statement. On the other hand a number of geological experts have testified for the oil company that the land is oil-bearing.

It is said that the taking of testimony will occupy several days more. The case has been in hearing for the past ten days, although it was not until today that the information was given out. The cause of the secrecy is not known, although local attorneys who practice before the land office are of the opinion that much of the testimony is of the same nature as that which the government will use against the Southern Pacific. As A. I. McCormick, the United States Attorney at Los Angeles is in attendance at the hearing and is said to be taking verbatim notes, this would appear plausible

BIG GUSHER BROUGHT IN.

Associated Oil Company Has a Five Thousand Barrel Gusher In its Elks Hills Territory.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, June 13.—The Associated Oil Company this afternoon brought its well No. 3, on section 24, 30-23 in the Elk Hills as a 5000-barrel gusher. The well is 2800 feet deep and the oil is about twenty-three gravity. The hole was put down 2600 feet with a rotary some time ago and later finished with cable tools in a six-inch casing.

Well No. 1, on the same section, is making about 200 barrels. Section 24, is in the northern part of the Elk Hills, the only part where oil has yet been developed in paying quantities. The Associated well, No. 1, the first strike in that territory, was brought in many months ago. The new well, if it continues at the rate now reported, will greatly relieve interests in a portion of the West Side district that has been little in the public mind of late.

A Bright Schoolboy.

[New York Tribune:] "I learned something new the other day," said the father of a boy who is prone to playing hookey from school. "The letter carrier makes his first delivery about the time we are all at breakfast. I noticed that when the bell rang my boy would sometimes hurry down before anyone else could get ahead of him, although he was naturally so lazy that usually you couldn't get him to go at all.

"This set me thinking. I soon found out that he ran downstairs to the letter box only when the previous day had been a fine one. I followed him and caught him in the act of destroying a postal card his teacher had sent to me, stating that the boy had been absent from school.

"It was a neat little trick, but I managed to checkmate him all right by having the teacher send the card to my place of business downtown."

FOLLOW THE LOVE INSTINCT.

The Visible Signs of Health Inspire the Little God and Surpass Any Other Means of Selecting Partners.

[London Standard:] "The love instinct is safe to follow," said Dr. Bernard Hollander in his address to the Ethological Society of London. "It selects, as a rule, the good figure, the fresh complexion, the lovely face, which are all outward and visible signs of health." The subject on which he was speaking was "Eugenics and Marriage," and he had some very hard things to say about the direction in which education, politics, idealism, or any other of the driving forces now at work on society are sending the nation. When you come down to the very bedrock of affairs, nothing matters to a nation excepting the health and number of its babies.

Heredity has much to do with the health of those who will some day form the nation. So has the science of eugenics; but the love instinct far transcends all else in true natural selection. Indeed, Dr. Hollander stated it as his opinion that "no committee of anthropologists for the choice of partners is needed."

"At the same time," he continued, "medical certificates of fitness for marriage are eminently desirable. No healthy person of sound ancestry would refuse to submit to an examination, and even if information as to the family history were refused or given falsely the personal examination alone would be of some utility."

GAME REFUGES NEEDED.

Extinguishment of Native Birds Follows the Settlement of the Country Unless They Be Protected.

[Forest and Stream:] The settlement of New Zealand has resulted in the partial disappearance—and in some places extinction—of several native birds of New Zealand. The native quail has become extinct. The settlement of the country destroys the birds' natural homes and their natural food, and thus exercises a most destructive effect on native species even though they may be free from direct attacks by man.

The same thing has been seen in all new countries where civilization has destroyed natural conditions. In early days New England and the Middle States were the homes of such birds as the wild turkey, the heath hen and the wild pigeon, while multitudes of sea fowl bred along the coast and ducks of many species on the inland lakes and ponds. The same process of extermination is still going on continually and the region of destruction is moving westward with the center of population.

It is an old, old story and one wonders whether the efforts to establish game refuges of one sort and another and to put in charge of the Federal government of the United States all species of migratory birds, will succeed in time to permit the migratory species, at least, to re-establish themselves and to survive.

THE SILVER DOLLAR.

Several Changes That Have Been Made in Its Artistic Character During the Years of Its Coinage.

[Brooklyn Eagle:] The silver dollar has undergone many changes since it was put in circulation in 1794. On the face of the first dollar there was stamped the head of a young woman, turned to right and with her hair flowing as if she was in a gale of wind; but, in 1796, Congress came to her relief and ordered her hair to be tied up with a bit of ribbon. The fifteen stars, which appeared on the first dollar, were after this reduced to the original thirteen, in recognition of the number of States. In 1836 the design was again changed and the dollar bore the figure of a woman dressed in a flowing garment. The designer forgot, however, to put in the thirteen stars, and the coin was discarded, the new design having the woman surrounded by stars. Her air was defiant and stiff looking, and, in 1838, dollars were issued which were more artistic in treatment. The first dollars bearing the motto "In God We Trust" were coined in April 1864, and in 1873 the era of the trade dollar began, lasting just five years. The liberty dollar made its appearance in 1878. Miss Anna W. Williams, a public school teacher of Philadelphia, sat for the portrait.

GOOD ROADS TO BE THE SUBJECT.

John S. Mitchell on Ocean-to-Ocean Highway.

Autoists from All Parts of the State to Attend.

San Jose Meeting Will Be a Good Roads Convention.

John S. Mitchell will deliver an address on the ocean-to-ocean highway before the seventeenth semi-annual counties' convention of the California Development Board to be held in San Jose, June 21 and 22.

This meeting promises to be one of the greatest automobile gatherings ever held in the West. The motor enthusiasts of the northern part of the State are all taking a great interest in the coming meeting and it is expected that over 1000 automobiles with twice as many people will be in attendance.

Fifty machines have promised to come from Fresno, twenty-five from Stockton, 100 from Watsonville; fifty from Sacramento, and other towns of the section are expected to contribute in proportion. It is hoped by those at the head of the California Development Board that Los Angeles will be well represented and they are very anxious to have a touring party from this section attend to aid in the cause and spread the interest in good roads.

One of the most unique features of the convention will be the automobile parade. It will include a run throughout the orchard districts of the Santa Clara Valley and a tour of the city of San Jose. Moving pictures will be made of this long string of autos, which will afterwards be shown throughout the United States to impress and feature automobile possibilities and good roads in California.

It is expected that these pictures will do much to interest eastern autoists in the possibility of bringing their machines to California, over the ocean-to-ocean highway during the exposition's year. The fact that California is second only to New York in the number of automobiles, is becoming well known and the proper emphasis on the new trips and scenic wonders of California will do much to stimulate the attendance at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Not only will the counties' convention be attended by delegates from all parts of California, but also from the Hawaiian Islands and from the State of Nevada, which is beginning to show a great interest in highways, and will send six delegates.

Francis Hope.
Secretary of the California Development Board, which organization is creating a great stir in the cause of good roads throughout the State.

According to word received from Francis Hope, secretary of the board, there will also be a number from Ogden and Salt Lake City.

A. G. Batchelder, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Automobile Association of America, will come across the continent with the greetings of that body and will personally represent the association's president, Robert Hooper. There is no greater authority in this country on the subject of good roads than A. G. Batchelder, who has made a careful study of the question.

To add to the gayety of the affair the directors of the development board have issued a great number of large yellow banners to be attached to the visiting machines.

The San Francisco County Supervisors have a special meeting June 20 for a conference with the Panama-Pacific Exposition people and the Supervisors of the northern counties to decide on the State exhibit at the exposition. From this meeting the supervisors will adjourn to San Jose to take part in the convention, which will be devoted almost exclusively to the cause of good roads.

MARY BROWNE IS NATIONAL CHAMP.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BULLARD COMING TO BOOST PHOENIX RACE.

With the acceptance by George Bullard, of Gov. Hunt's commission, to handle the Phoenix road race this year, Arizona automobilists are assured that the classic will be run and that the southeastern end of it will be in capable hands.

Bullard, who is Attorney-General of Arizona, in addition to being one of its most noted and aggressive good roads enthusiasts, had charge of the big event the last time it was run, and much of its success was due to his efforts.

Bullard has already started to enlist local racing crews and sportsmen in the most trying road contest in the world. In a recent letter to L. J. Ollier, the Arizonan declares that he has taken an early start in the matter so the manufacturers may know their wishes and give some assurance regarding the number of racing cars which will be in line. Bullard's letter to the local Studebaker head is as follows:

"At the personal request of the Governor of the State of Arizona, I have consented again to handle the automobile races for the Phoenix fair, as well as the Los Angeles-Phoenix race in November of this year. The latter event will be run over any route suitable to the contestants, and as soon as their wishes are learned the course will be designated.

"The Fair Association this year, in addition to other races, presents two special features for track events: First, a fifty-mile race for $2000, open to cars of a large piston displacement. At least three cars other than those starting in the road race must compete, and the money will be divided sixty-five per cent, twenty-five per cent. and ten per cent. in the order of finish.

"The other race is a special twenty-five-mile event for cars of small piston displacement. The purse will be $750, to be divided on the same basis as in the other contest. These two races present attractive purses, and should bring good drivers and good cars to Phoenix.

"I shall be in Los Angeles about July, and intend to remain thirty days in order to get the racing details well under way. I will then talk the matter over with you personally. I am writing you rather early in order that the matter may be taken up by the Los Angeles dealers so there will be no hitch because of different factory plans for the cars."

Imperial Valley Auto Race.

EL CENTRO, June 15.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] An automobile race along a course 175 miles long and taking in all the towns of Imperial Valley, has been arranged for July 4. It is expected there will be fully twenty entries for the race for which the sanction of the American Automobile Association has been obtained. Prizes aggregating $6000 will be given.

Difference of Opinion.

SOME WOULD BAR TY COBB.

Chalmers Trophy Matter to Be Settled This Week.

Majority of Commissioners May Stand Pat.

Think Winners Should Not Be Rendered Ineligible.

The question of whether or not the previous winners of the Chalmers trophy should be allowed to compete in the future will be submitted to a vote of the trophy commissioners by Chairman Mulford within the next day or two.

Practically all of the trophy commissioners have been called upon for an expression of opinion on the matter by Mulford, and it seems that the consensus of opinion among the commissioners is that all ball players qualifying under the original rules of the Chalmers trophy award will be allowed to compete; but Tim Murnane of Boston is of the opinion that the honor should be passed along so that in time there would be created a baseball hall of fame.

C. B. Power, the commissioner from Pittsburgh, is in favor of the plan to eliminate the previous winners, as a solution of the problem.

A number of the commissioners have asked for opinions from leading baseball fans, from the players themselves and from close students of the game. Most of these opinions seem to favor retaining previous winners in the competitions of the future.

As it now stands, it will remain for the official vote of the commissioners to decide just what action will be taken. At present it looks as though Cobb and Schulte would be declared eligible for competition this year, as was the case last year.

One leading authority on the subject says: "As long as a man can be a record-breaker he deserves the credit of his performance. In the case of the Chalmers trophy so many things constitute a man's standing that it does not seem likely that a man can win the title of the best all-round player in his league more than one season unless he stands out head and shoulders above the other players.

"If a man is so clever that he deserves the title of the best all-round player for two or even three successive years it seems to me that it would be unfair to give him only the title and make the award of the trophy to a man known to be a second best."

TETZLAFF IN TACOMA RACE.

"Teddy" Making Big Plans for Racing Campaign.

Has Bright Future in Game With Fiats.

Cleaned Up Small Fortune in Prizes Last Month.

Teddy Tetzlaff will drive the "grand prize" Fiat car in the Tacoma free-for-all, July 6, and is now the favorite for that great automobile event. Teddy will also enter several other events in the Northwest, and after returning to Los Angeles, for proposed meets here, will go East again to compete in the Vanderbilt and grand prize races.

The winner of the Santa Monica road race and second place man in the great Indianapolis race, arrived in Los Angeles Wednesday morning from a visit to the Fiat factory at Poughkeepsie, where he had been since the Memorial Day event, studying the new Fiat models and familiarizing himself more thoroughly with the construction of the great racing cars of that make.

Teddy is very enthusiastic over the new Fiat models that are coming out and says that in his opinion the Fiat holds world's records along all lines.

The future of this Los Angeles racing king is probably brighter than that of any racing driver in the world. "Our" Teddy, it is reported, won more money in the month of May, than any other driver ever did in the same length of time. His total earnings for the month amounted to more than $30,000.

"Our" Teddy Tetzlaff.

The speed king out of uniform as he stepped from the train last Wednesday upon his arrival from the Fiat factory, at Poughkeepsie, where he had been since the Indianapolis race.

At Indianapolis, May 30, including accessories and bonuses from the Fiat factory and E. E. Hewlett, he won more than $20,000. By winning the Santa Monica road race, May 4, and breaking the world's record, he won in purses, accessories and bonuses, about $10,000.

Tetzlaff is not only able to depend on his ability as a race driver and rely on his title of the world's road race champion, but has the backing of the greatest team of racing cars ever owned by a private individual, or perhaps by any factory.

The great Fiat "stable" consists of a string of six cars, including the winner of the grand prize race at Savannah; the winner of the Santa Monica road race, May 4; the Fiat "Cyclone," holder of more world's records than any one car, being the winner over Barney Oldfield's 200-horse-power car; the car driven by Tetzlaff in the Indianapolis race, which made the fastest 100 miles of any car that finished and which finished second after being out for twenty minutes due to gasoline trouble; the Fiat "forty-five," which holds the world's twenty-four hour record, and the Fiat "ninety," formerly driven by Ralph de Palma.

CO. "A" TO HIT THE "KITE" IN STUDEBAKERS.

Herb Simon's Star Indoor Ball Team to Celebrate Long String of Victories on Trip—Exhibition Game Scheduled for San Bernardino—Novel Stunt Creates Interest.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

THE INDOOR baseball team of Co. A, Seventh Regiment, twice winners of the Coast championship and the beautiful Spalding trophy, will be the guests of William La Casse, manager of the local retail store of the Studebaker corporation, on an automobile tour of the "Kite," next Saturday and Sunday.

It was planned by the management of the ball club to take the boys on a little trip, out to Fred Gollum's ranch or some other nearby place, where they could celebrate in grand style the long string of victories won during the past two seasons; but "good old Bill," as La Casse is called by the boys of the company, beat Gollum to it, and had all the details of the trip arranged before the boys of the team were let in on the plans.

Capt. "Herb" Simon of the champions has decided that the name of the tour shall be, "The First Annual Studebaker Tour of Co. A's Indoor Baseball Team." Three five-passenger touring cars of the Studebaker make will be used to make the trip and the start will be made at the Armory at 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

"Herb" Brown, former Coast champion in the half-mile and a former member of the National Guard here, who is now connected with the Studebaker people, will drive one of the cars. "Bill" Smith will be at the wheel of another and La Casse will handle the other car himself.

The run will include a stop at Pasadena, where Co. I will be visited. Another halt will be made at Pomona, where Co. D is located and the itinerary will include a run over the campus of Pomona College at Claremont, where a number of the boys spent time in their earlier days, in the pursuit of knowledge.

These ball player autoists will go through Upland and Ontario, but will not stop, going on into San Bernardino, where supper will be served at the Armory of Co. K, of the Seventh.

GAME WITH CO. K.

It is expected that Lieut. Leo Stromee of Co., K will entertain the touring party with one of the fancy drills for which his organization is famous all over the State. It is also proposed to have the soldier boys of the San Bernardino military company meet the local champions in a lively game on the hardwood floor diamond.

This game should prove interesting to the fans of San Bernardino and give the champions a brisk work-out. Co. K has the title of that section of the country and Miller, their underhand flipper, is rated as a rival to the great Jerry Abbott of Co. A.

Manager "Bud" Rose

Of indoor baseball team, Co. A, Seventh Regiment, which will visit other companies of the regiment in Studebaker cars furnished by William la Cassese.

In this game there will be some other men who are top-notchers in the indoor ball ranks and the contest should be a real treat to the followers of the game in the railroad city.

The boys will remain in San Bernardino over night, going on to Redlands early the next morning, where a visit will be paid to Lieut. Charles O. Barnett of Co. G, who, up to a few months ago, was second in command of Co. B, of this city.

From Redlands the trip will continue over to Riverside, through Colton. Co. M is located at Riverside and another stop will be made at that place.

While in Riverside the soldiers will make a run through the city, out to Sherman Institute and from there back to Pomona, which will be the last stopping place on the return journey.

From Pomona the run will be direct to the armory, where the drivers of the Studebakers expect to have the boys at 6 o'clock. This will be the first time that such a trip has ever been undertaken by the members of the company, and they are looking forward with great pleasure to the coming trip made possible by "Bill" La Casse.

Besides the drivers of the cars Capt. Simon will be accompanied by all the men who were awarded gold medals shortly after the final game of the season, that in which they trimmed "Hap" Hogan's Vernon "Tigers," including Jerry Abbott, Archie Godlsborough, Frank Holmes, Rolla Umsted, "Viv" Freetag, Stellman Ingalls, Motts Blair, George Kellogg, "Pug" Waddell, "Bud" Rose and "Yappy" Karbin, the official scorer for the armory indoor baseball league.

Thrilling.

TAKES PLUNGE IN HUPMOBILE.

OHIO MAN DROPS TWO HUNDRED FEET AND SURVIVES.

Little Car Remains Upright, Only Sustaining Broken Wheel When It Piles Up on Sand Bank at Bottom—Driver Who Previously Shot Down Same Embankment Killed.

C. E. Simmons of Cleveland, O., drove his Hupmobile runabout over an embankment a few days ago, shot down 200 feet below and yet escaped without injury. The automobile was not damaged to any great extent.

It was at night and the driver turned into Bushnell Court, which ends abruptly at the edge of a gully. Not knowing the roads of the neighborhood, he passed over the edge and before he could recover his senses, was dashing down the steep incline at a terrific rate of speed.

Simmons had enough presence of mind to remain at the wheel, which he managed to hold steady while the car tore through the brush, rumbled over rocks and bumps and cleared a small stream at the bottom. The car came to a stop in a bed of sand which had, fortunately for Simmons, been dumped on the opposite side of the ravine.

The little car remained upright and intact, except for a broken front wheel, suffered, not during the thrilling downward race, but at the end of the journey when the little Hupmobile came to the sudden stop.

One year ago a man drove an automobile over the same embankment at almost the exact spot where Simmons went over and was instantly killed.

When Simmons scrambled up the ravine and told his troubles to the patrolman the officer of the law refused to believe it until he had climbed down into the gully over the newly-blazed trail and had seen the car for himself, which he knew could not have gotten into such a place by any other route but from the top of the embankment.

SIGN-POSTING BEING RUSHED ON COAST ROADS

Letters are coming to the Pacific Highway Association's headquarters daily from people who are touring up and down the Coast, praising the work that has already been done by the organization in sign-posting. It is their intention to have most of this work completed for the convention which will be held in San Francisco, August 5, 6 and 7. Delegates from all parts of the Pacific Coast will be present.

Gov. Hiram Johnson of California and P. J. Walker, president of the California State Automobile Association, have accepted invitations to address the convention. Another prominent speaker will be Hon. Thomas Taylor, Minister of Public Works of British Columbia, if it is possible for him to be present. It is thought that this convention will be the most notable of its kind ever held along the western coast.

MOTORIZING PARIS.

Paris is to be thoroughly motorized. Already the fire brigade is under orders to dispose of all horses, motor engines having been contracted for; the hospitals use motor ambulances, motor hearses and motor cars are used in funeral processions; the horse-drawn police vans have given way to motor-driven vehicles, and motor cars by the dozen are now at the disposal of the Paris gendarmes in the event of an emergency calling for a quick move.

SIXTEEN QUALIFY FOR MAXWELL MEDALS.

Sixteen owners of Maxwell cars have made affidavits setting forth the exact number of miles covered with the models of the cars that were used and each member of the sixteen have received gold medals from the 50,000-Mile Maxwell Motor Club. They have passed the 50,000-mile mark. This offer of medals has been made by the manufacturers of Maxwell cars to owners who have attained high mileages. It is hoped to encourage touring and the building of good roads.

Three members have proved mileages in excess of the 100,000-mile mark. They are Lee Merriwether, president of the club; F. J. Griffin, a New York lawyer; and Clarence Copper of Brooklyn. Mabel W. Davis of Buffalo is the first woman driver to qualify for a medal. Several others have exceeded 50,000 miles, and probably will in the near future apply for their gold medals, among them Mrs. Alice Ramsey. Many have obtained silver medals for having covered a distance of 25,000 miles in their Maxwell cars.

The Maryland State Good Roads Commission has advertised for bids for building three sections of State highway along the Baltimore-Washington boulevard.

A. M. Wells Stepping from "Big" R. & L. Electric

In front of the Southern Pacific depot, Redlands, after making the sensational run from The Times Building at First and Broadway, climbing to an elevation of 1356 feet and covering a distance of 100.6 miles on one charge.

Wonderful Record.

ONE HUNDRED MILES ON SINGLE CHARGE.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

FROM Los Angeles to Redlands, a climb of over 1000 feet and through the streets of that city till the cyclometer registered 100.6 miles, on one charge, is the record made by A. M. Wells in a big shaft-driven Rauch and Lang electric brougham Thursday.

What can an electric vehicle do? This question has been asked many times by those interested in electric automobiles and it was with a view of answering this and other inquiries of present and prospective electric owners, that young Wells, who is connected with the Rauch and Lang Association, undertook the economy test which resulted in a wonderful record for the Rauch and Lang electric and proved beyond a doubt that the battery-propelled car is practical for service in all parts of the country where the roads are in good condition.

There was a time, and not long ago, when the electric was considered impracticable for anything but light service within the city limits, but that day is past, just as the day is past when a motorist is credited with a "stunt" when a long tour is accomplished within the limits of the State.

It was 4 o'clock Thursday morning when the big brougham left the Rauch and Lang service station on West Seventh street. The first stop was made at The Times office on Broadway. From there the car rolled over the wet city streets, past Eastlake Park and out Huntington drive.

Several officers of the law suspiciously eyed the big black car with its sleepy occupants as it slipped by in the early hours of the morning and when the Foothills boulevard was reached a number of the early risers were startled to see an electric being driven madly over the highway by a man, and nodded their heads knowingly, as if they expected to see a brace of motor-mounted officers following in the train.

Through Monrovia and Azusa went the Rauch and Lang, to the hotel at Glendora, where a 6 o'clock breakfast was enjoyed. Entering the car again, Wells drove through orange groves and sage brush reserves to the college town of Claremont, where the hunters of knowledge were just leaving their places of slumber.

Just below Upland, a sandy stretch of roadway was encountered and the man at the controller grieved at the loss of power which was caused by the increased power necessary.

By this time many cars of all makes were on the road and the sight of an electric in those parts was a novelty. Some stopped to inquire the reason for such wild wanderings and others offered to "lay to," and give assistance but when the mission of the electric carriage was explained, all was well; and the gasoline cars rambled on.

MENACES SPEED LAW.

At times the speed laws were in danger, but for the sake of economy the twelve-mile pace was averaged most of the way.

When San Bernardino was reached a visit was paid to the Daily Sun, where the business manager put his official seal on the log and congratulated the driver on his feat.

This was at 11 o'clock and after a visit to the hotel, a little lunch and a ride through the principal streets of the railroad town, the trip to Redlands was started.

The riding was becoming tiresome, by this time and had it not been for the Pullman-like cushions in the car, which permitted of spells of sleep for the driver's companion the pleasant journey would have been halted many times for the inmates of the brougham to stretch in the open.

The battery was still strong when Redlands was reached and it required no little touring of the city to "run her out." The editor of the Review was called upon to examine the odometer and vouch for its figures, before a recharge was called for at the garage.

The elevation at the Southern Pacific depot is 1343 feet, and the highest point reached by the R and L was 1356 feet, back of the Redlands High School.

After having his storage battery recharged, Wells drove the car over to Riverside, where he remained over night, driving into the city Friday morning.

Seventy-seven miles was the distance of the return trip, a shorter route being taken with no runs about the towns passed through, being made.

Being Initiated.

WERNER HAD THRILLING TIME ON FIRST RIDE.

BY OSCAR WERNER.

MY FIRST experience driving was with a 1904 Cleveland touring car.

I started for Santa Monica. The first thing to halt me was to crank the car in the low speed. The car pushed me up against a fence, imbedding the spring horns in the fence. After finding out what was the matter, I resumed the trip.

When I reached Palms I ran off the road, breaking my starting crank off on a rock. I then jacked the car up and put it in gear and turned the rear wheel to start the motor

On my way home, while running forty miles an hour, I met a six-horse team at the intersection of Washington and Adams streets, right on the bridge. The driver could not [illegible] so I ran over the embankment. Luckily I did not get damaged very much.

When I reached town I was running at a frightful rate of speed, up Olive street. I had not gone very far before I was overtaken by the motorcycle police, who said I was going beyond the capacity of their speedometers. They were very lenient with me—$50 for the first offense.

After leaving the Courthouse, I could not start my car and I went to a saloon and borrowed a glass to drain some gasoline from the carburetor to prime the motor with. After doing this I got started again. I got a lot of valuable experience on my first attempt to drive a motor car.

The fastest time made by an automobile was that by Bob Burman, who did a mile in 25.40 seconds at Daytona Beach, Fla., April 23, 1911. This is over 141 miles an hour. The fastest motorcycle record was made at Los Angeles, April 18, 1912, when Don Johns traveled a mile in 39 2-5 seconds, a speed of over ninety-one miles an hour.

AUTO RACES AT VISALIA JULY FOUR.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

VISALIA, June 15.—So many plans of entertainment were put before the Fourth of July Celebration Committee today that the committee unanimously decided to extend the celebration twenty-four hours. Auto and motorcycle races will be held on the 3rd and a picnic and fireworks fiesta on the 4th.

A purse of $1600 has been raised and will be offered as first, second and third money in two auto races. Light and heavy cars will compete in the two events. For first place, $500 will be given, $300 for second and $100 for third. Professional drivers will be barred, but otherwise the entries are not limited. A fee of $25 will be charged each entrant.

Grand Rapids, Mich., has allowed the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners $20,000 for further motorizing the fire department.

Powerful.

NEW PACKARD IS FIVE TON TRUCK.

Will Resemble the Popular Three-ton Packard Model.

Automatic Governor to Keep Speed Down to Slow Pace.

Bodies Adapted to a Wide Range of Requirements.

The latest motor truck arrival is the five-ton Packard. This new model has been added to the Packard line, it is announced, to meet an increasing demand for a more powerful commercial motor car constructed along the same lines as the well-established three-ton Packard.

This new model is being placed on the market after 10,000 miles of testing, which follows eight years of experience in the building of trucks of similar design. The new truck has been tried out under conditions even more severe than those encountered in actual service.

The five-ton model is similar to the three-ton Packard except that it has a more powerful motor and is larger throughout. For the purpose of insuring the longevity of the truck, it is equipped with an automatic governor, which limits the speed to eight and a half miles an hour.

A governor on the three-ton Packard limits the speed to twelve miles an hour and the period of service is greatly lengthened by the moderate rate of speed at which the truck is compelled to travel, and it is the opinion of the engineers who designed the new Packard model, that a truck of such massive construction with a heavy load should not travel faster than eight and a half miles an hour as the strain will tell after several months of service, of the motor wagon.

The five-ton Packard is equipped with a forty-horse-power motor, with a bore of five inches and a stroke of five and a half inches. The wheel base of the standard chassis is fourteen feet long, but there are optional sizes giving frame lengths behind the driver's seat from twelve to sixteen feet. There are standard and optional bodies adapted to meet a wide range of requirements in various lines of trade.

Get the Fever.

IMPERIAL ROAD RACE FOR FOURTH OF JULY.

IMPERIAL VALLEY cars and drivers will compete in a novel road race on July Fourth for a purse of $5000, over a course of 205 miles, circling thrice through five of the principal towns, with the start and finish at Brawley on the ocean-to-ocean highway route.

The start will be made at noon, July 4, entries closing at noon of June 28, with a fee of $50. The purse will be divided among the first four cars finishing, in the proportions of 65, 20, 10 and 5 per cent. respectively.

A novel feature connected with the purse was the bidding last night between the five towns, Brawley, El Centro, Calexico, Holtville, and Imperial for the privilege of holding the start and finish. Enthusiastic Brawley won by putting up $1500 in cash, the others contributing another thousand, which, with outside subscriptions, and the expected twelve entry fees will bring the total purse up to at least $5000.

The first entry was made by Ned Fuller, with a Reo "Five." Philo Jones, committeeman of Brawley, will receive the entries and have charge of the road arrangements there.

HOW TO PRESERVE LIFE OF AUTO TIRES.

According to a Michelin tire expert, if a motorist is in any way careful, he may preserve the life of his tires. He says that inner tubes should always be perfectly clean and dry when fitting. Even the slightest moisture should be avoided. A good plan to be followed is when fitting an inner tube to dust a small quantity of talc or French chalk inside the envelope. Only a small amount is required, sufficient to cover the interior surface.

Care should be taken to always hang a tube over a lamp or tire hanger, where it will not come in contact with foreign and injurious matter. The practice of laying an inner tube on the step of the car or on the ground previous to fitting should not be followed, as it is a very expensive habit. Inner tubes should always be carried in water-proof bags, as this will keep them away from water, oil and grease. Always keep spare tubes away from metal objects, as these bags are not intended to protect them from sharp tools. In following these few pointers of the Michelin man the life of an inner tube may be considerably lengthened.

Believing the horses should be ousted from the fire department, the Board of Fire Commissioners of Bridgeport, Ct., will make an effort to equip all firehouses with motor-driven apparatus.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR TOUR OF INDIANA CARS.

Preliminary to the four-States tour of Indiana cars, to be made early in July, a Pathfinder car was recently sent out from Indianapolis to select the route.

This Pathfinder car was escorted through the streets of the "speedway" city by representative citizens in Indiana-made cars at the start, and again on its return.

Gov. Marshall, Mayor Shank, ex-Mayor Bookwalter and other prominent people were among the members of the escorting party.

The parade of the escorting party made a great spectacle. The Pathfinder car, with R. Le Mar at the wheel and Ray Leeman, E. Mack Morris and W. D. Edenburn riding, led the procession.

A Waverly electric limousine, in which five of the Indiana dignitaries rode, followed. Next came an American, then a National and a chain of cars several blocks in length.

By a recent enactment of the Chilean Parliament the import duty on complete automobiles has been reduced from 60 to 15 per cent., ad valorem.

Akron, O., has advertised for another piece of automobile fire-fighting apparatus. The city was one of the first in the country to introduce horseless fire engines.

Hitting High Places.

ARIZONA TOUR GREAT SUCCESS.

Studebakers and Flanders Make Fine Records.

Round Trip from Phoenix to Grand Canyon Is Made.

Two Motorists Finish With Perfect Scores.

L. J. Ollier, manager of the local branch of the Studebaker Corporation, returned to Los Angeles Friday after conducting the most successful automobile run ever held in Arizona. The tour was from Phoenix to the Grand Canyon and return, and twenty-five machines took part for various trophies offered by the Studebakgr officials.

Announcement of the winner of the Governor's cup, the chief trophy for the run, will be made some time this week. Two of the motorists finished the tour with perfect scores, and it is now up to George Purdy Bullard, Arizona's Attorney-General, to choose between them. This will be decided on the gasoline and oil consumed, and will be known as soon as records reach Phoenix from the outside controls where the cars stopped.

"The run was a success in every way," declared Mr. Ollier yesterday. "I was certainly surprised at the showing of the cars. Despite the fact that I am naturally partial toward the merits of Studebaker, E.M.F. and Flanders cars, they exceeded expectations.

"It is hard to tell just how 'tough' the road we followed really is. From Phoenix to the canyon we were forced to traverse three mountain ranges, and I am here to tell you that the going was anything but easy.

"You can imagine how well the cars behaved when the records show that Mrs. Harry Kay, the only woman driver in the tour, made the run from Phoenix to the canyon and back to Flagstaff without being penalized. A slight mishap put her out of the perfect-score class when almost within sight of home, or otherwise it would be easy to declare her winner of the handsome Governor's cup, which will go to the contestant selected by the judges.

"Those who made the tour declared they had the time of their lives. We occupied most of El Tovar Hotel while at the canyon, and various side trips to points of interest served to pass the time pleasantly for all. Tire trouble was at a premium, and every car that started from Phoenix and other points along the way returned home under its own power."

NEW BODY-BUILDING PLANT IS PLANNED.

Within the next two weeks work will begin on the new structure to be used by the Coleman & Bentel Company. It will be built on the present site of the company, at Pico and Main streets. Work will still go on in the rooms of this plant while the new one is being built. The walls of the new building will be built around the old structure and when it is completed the old plant will be torn down and with very little work all departments will be installed in their new home.

While the old building is entirely of sheet iron and wood the new one will be of cement, and will be three stories in height. There will be special floors for the different departments, and when completed the local company will have one of the finest equipped body-building plants in the West. There will be a paint shop, a mechanical, top-building and tire department.

In the Hole.

MITCHELL ROADSTER PERFORMS IN RIVERBED.

E. P. HARRIS of Greer-Robbins company has discovered a new demonstrating station for Mitchell motor cars, in the bed of the Los Angeles River, which presents all the difficulties of an ocean-to-ocean tour, within a short distance from the center of the city.

The day of "stunts" for the automobile is past. What the prospective owner wants today is a practical demonstration of just what the car will do under trying conditions that may arise, and there is no harder test for a car to be found than a bed of sand.

"In the sands of the river bed," said Harris, "I can show what an easy matter the handling of the car is and prove its power in a manner that is little short of startling. It is strange that this manner of demonstrating has not been adopted before by the automobile men of Los Angeles."

Wednesday afternoon Harris had a "Little Six" Mitchell roadster "down in the hole" and its performance was all that could be desired by the man at the wheel.

The first number on the programme was a drive over the rocks and gravel at a rapid pace. The car was then stopped and started on the low. This pace was changed for the intermediate and the high was again called into play, but the car was throttled down until it barely crawled over the rocks.

From the gravel the roadster was driven into the sand. Here the fun began and at times it looked as if a team of horses would have to be called upon to get the sturdy little Mitchell out, but it always made good and pulled out on its own power.

The "Little Six" is the pet car of the Mitchell line, in the opinion of Harris, and he never tires displaying it and proclaiming its merits.

The truth is, it is a real roadster and can stand the strain of country travel, while for a little car for city use it is also in the front rank. The wheel base being short it can be handled easily on a crowded street and can be brought almost to a standstill while running on the high.

With the right drive and center control, both doors can be used, a feature which can not be overlooked.

The position at the wheel is comfortable and not unlike that in a great racing car.

Sight-seeing.

DON LEE HOME FROM LONG TRIP ABROAD.

DON LEE, after two months' absence, during which time he made a five weeks' tour through Europe, returned to Los Angeles Friday. Although delighted with the many wonders of the Old World, the Cadillac agent was pleased to get back to California, and at least one more year will elapse before he takes another vacation.

Lee visited the Cadillac factory in Detroit on his way East and also on his return. While he was in Detroit the factory celebrated the completion of its 10,000th 1912 Cadillac car.

Lee sailed from New York and spent the first few days in London. He then crossed the channel and after a week in Paris made a hurried trip to all the other principal points in Europe.

Lee is enthusiastic over the road conditions abroad. He did considerable touring and everywhere he found the roads like the top of a billiard table. In England there is a government tax of $38 for the privilege of running a car like the Cadillac and all of this money goes to the upbuilding of the roads.

The California man was also much impressed with the London Automobile Club. This organization has a building which cost $1,000,000 and is as finely equipped a club as there is in England. A peculiarity he found on England roads was the club patrolman. There are any number of these men who patrol the main highways and keep tab on the police. If everything is all right the men salute the motorists as they pass, but if the police are near they raise a hand of warning.

Lee also visited the large motor-car factories of England. The largest turns out only 500 cars a year.

"There are not a great many small cars abroad," said Lee. "The favorite size seems to be the medium of the same style as the Cadillac. I also discovered that the six-cylinder car is not as popular as formerly. About the only instances where the six is in demand is where a man wants an eighty or ninety-horse-power machine. I found a great many Cadillacs in England and some on the continent."

After leaving Paris Lee went to Rome, Nice, Venice, Florence, Lucerne and other points of interest. He was accompanied by Mrs. Lee and their son, Tommy.

"FACING FORWARD" BROUGHAM LATEST.

The Baker Motor Vehicle Company, of Cleveland, announces the production of a new model extension brougham. The new "facing forward" Brougham will have the same general lines and equally as luxurious appointments as the five-passenger facing forward model "Y" Extension Brougham. The demand for the latter has been so great that the factory is now unable to fill orders in less than 90 days, after receiving them.

The success of the model "Y" Brougham has been so pronounced that the factory has realized the necessity of producing a model on the same lines of slightly smaller dimensions and shorter wheel-base. This new car is called the model "Z-F." It is equipped with revolving front seats and wheel steer, with controller handle conveniently located just below the wheel as in other wheel-steer models. The first deliveries of the new model will be made this month.

Germany has published statistics showing that ending with the fiscal year, October, 1911, she imported $2,455,000 worth of foreign-made automobiles, as compared with the fiscal year of 1910, which was $2,302,650. Her exports also increased from $6,328,000 in 1910 to $7,205,500 in 1911.

The Automobile Club of Minneapolis, Minn., has set June 19 for orphans' outing day.

Mike Donlin in His 1913 Lozier "Six."

Seated beside the "big leaguer" is his wife, formerly Miss Mabel Hite, who is also an ardent motorist. For the past three years the Donlins have owned a Lozier, Mike being one of the few major league players to drive a $5000 car. Donlin has again hit his stride and is rapping out an average of .386, which places him just below the two high men in the National League. Since joining the Pittsburgh team, Mike's playing more nearly resembles his old-time form, than at any time since leaving the Giants, two seasons ago. His wife is also putting up major league performances behind the footlights and still retains her great popularity.

MOTOR CARS

Burkhard-Crippen Motor Car Co., who have handled Lexington Motor Cars for the past two years, are retiring from the automobile business, and the Southern California territory is now open for re-establishment. This car, of which upwards of a hundred a year have been sold during its first two seasons in this city, has proven the best seller in its class and has made more friends than any other car recently introduced. We are offering the most liberal proposition to dealers ever made on the Coast. We want a reliable person, or firm, to handle our output in this territory, and will make it well worth his while to sell Lexington cars exclusively. The business is established and a paying proposition to a live man.

LOCAL MOTOR RUMBLES
BY AL. G. WADDELL.

Leon T. Shettler reports the sale of an Apperson "Jackrabbit" to Dr. Henderson Howard of Wilshire boulevard. This is the third Apperson that the doctor has purchased during the last three years, he seems to have acquired the Apperson habit.

H. G. Salisbury, sales manager for the Pathfinder Motor Car Company, of this city, has received word from Indianapolis to the effect that Fred E. Wilson, sales manager for the Henderson factory, will be in Los Angeles within the next fifteen days.

While in Indianapolis prior to the 500-mile race, Salisbury called on the Henderson people and looked over the new car. He also rode in the parade of Indianapolis-built automobiles to the christening of the Henderson by Mayor Lew Shank.

The Henderson sales manager will in all probability place an agency in Los Angeles while here and the Pathfinder people are at present negotiating with the eastern officials for the new popular-priced car.

George Joerimann has been figuring with the local Schacht agency for a car to drive in the Tacoma race July 5, and will know definitely it he will pilot the stock "40" model by Wednesday of this week.

Since winning the light car event in the Santa Monica race, Joerimann has had offers to drive for a number of light car agencies but seems to have taken a great fancy to the Schacht, which is in the medium class, and is really anxious to be at the wheel of that car in the Tacoma event.

It is not known as yet whether the Schacht will be entered in the Tacoma meet, or in the Mt. Washington hill climb, but it now looks as if Joerimann will drive in either one of these events.

H. W. Curtis, Coast representative for the Apperson Brothers Automobile Company of Kokomo, Ind., who makes his headquarters in Los Angeles, left last week for a short visit to the factory. He will return over the northern route, stopping at Spokane, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco.

"Bill" La Casse, manager of the Studebaker retail store, is a busy man these days. Although the retail department has been open only a short time, an immense business is being done and the corps of E. M. F. and Flanders salesmen have been kept hard at work by their rustling manager.

The Willys-Overland Band, an organization of musically inclined employees of the manufacturers of Overland automobiles, which is due to arrive in this city one week from Monday, June 24, will give one concert in Los Angeles before continuing on their merry musical way. Arrangements have been completed for the concert to be given in Westlake Park on that evening, at 8 o'clock.

This band, which is taking a vacation tour as the guests of the head of the Overland factory, is ranked as one of the leading amateur musical organizations of the country, and should attract much attention in this city.

H. G. Talliday, sales manager for the Western Pipe and Steel Company of this city, claims a record for mileage. Purchasing an Apperson "Jackrabbit," January 8, his travel needle pointed to 8896.5 miles, June 6. An average having been made of 1482 miles per month. During this time he has covered almost every traveled road in the southern part of the State, particularly the out-of-the-way roads that lead to the irrigation projects and the oil fields.

In a shipment of Stearns Knight cars received last week by Smith Brothers, was one of the new roadsters. This model has sprung into instant popularity locally.

Among the new arrivals was also a Stearns Knight limousine, a beautifully finished affair.

F. O. Nelson made a short run to the Sespe, last week. He went by way of Piru and Fillmore and reports an enjoyable trip with one day's good trout fishing.

Horace B. Day, president of the Home Telephone Company of San Diego, spent three days in Los Angeles last week, making the trip from the southern city in his Apperson "Jackrabbit" racing car.

The Cudahy Packing Company has recently added three new Jacksons to the flotilla of cars in use by their salesmen. This makes a total of sixteen Jacksons in the service of this company at present.

Charles H. Thompson, Southern California distributor for the Jackson, says that it is an easy matter to sell a concern one or two cars, but when it comes to selling the same firm sixteen cars, there is something in the car that sells itself.

The Cudahy Company has had remarkable success with its automobiles and the running expenses have been much lower than when horses and rigs did the same work.

C. B. and Stanley Smith, local agents for the Stearns Knight, will spend several weeks at the Stearns factory this summer.

A six-passenger, six-cylinder, sixty-horse-power Auburn is being built at the Auburn factory, under special orders from W. J. Burt, the Southern California representative of the Auburn factory, for R. A. Fowler of this city.

This car will be delivered as soon as completed. The owner is a man with ideas of his own regarding the construction of automobiles and he insisted that this car be built to his order and that it be an Auburn.

The 1913 Loziers are taking this section of the country by storm and Milo Bekins is really working overtime putting out the high-class cars.

A. J. W. Keating of this city has purchased his second Lozier, a six-cylinder Lakewood, finished in ivory white. F. L. Proctor has purchased a Riverside model; H. C. Sweeney of Lompoc, Cal., has bought one of the famous Briarcliff models; A. S. Bridges of San Diego has ordered a six-cylinder Riverside model; L. C. Routzahn of Arroyo Grande, a Lakewood, and E. R. Crooker of Los Angeles has placed his order for a six-cylinder Lozier Riverside.

Three carloads of Auburns were received last week by W. J. Burt, but as a number of purchasers had been waiting some time for deliveries, the floor of Burt's establishment looks now as if he were an order taker rather than a distributing agent.

Leon T. Shettler has begun to receive some of the new and striking Apperson "Bachelor" models, which have been one of the sensations of the year in the Eastern States. This car is of the semi-racing type, similar to the original Apperson Jackrabbit.

A. A. Harris of the Auburn company, is in Central California making the rounds of the agents there and reports an increasing demand for the car.

J. D. Kendall of Salt Lake City, who spent the winter in this city, has just returned to his home, having stored his two Apperson cars with the Leon T. Shettler Company, until his return to Los Angeles next winter.

Rell Loughlin of Santa Maria is spending a few days in the city, having driven down in his Apperson.

Joe Rivers's dream.

JOE BEATS AD IN A DREAM.

Rivers Says He Has Seen Himself Knocking Out Wolgast in a Vivid Dream. Has Had the Vision Three Nights in Succession.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

Joe Rivers is delving into the depths of his subconscious ego and this interesting feature may have something to do with the great lightweight battle which will take place on the Fourth of July, when Ad Wolgast will answer the call to arms and defend his throne against the "pretender."

The fact that the knights of the ring are strong on hunches is admitted all over the sporting world. When one of them gets a hunch to equal the one that old Morpheus sent over to Rivers it is a safe bet that he would go out and do battle with a full-sized African lion.

The subconscious ego tip is as follows:

The other day Rivers was cavorting on the beach, but consented to stop long enough to talk. We got to figuring up the coming battle from all the different angles possible. I made the remark that the only sport in the world who really had the inside dope on the fight was Daddy Time and this set off the fireworks.

"The old guy is sure, but he is slow," said Joe. "And what we want is the dope out in front. Now, I am going to slip you something which counts with me, 'cause it has worked before. I dreamed three nights handrunning that I got this bird in the thirteenth round and got him for keeps, and it happened the same way each time, which makes me strong for the hunch."

I guess some of these nickel-snatchers in these fortune-telling booths or maybe the Christian Science guys would go a long way for some of that stuff? I asked Joe if he could remember how the fight went in the dream and he said he could as well as if it was one of the fights he had already been in.

"It's like this," said Joe, after he had turned one of his favorite back flips and kicked his bulldog off his cap. "I got to chinning with Rooney last Tuesday night about fights and then turned in early and got some good sleep. The dream must have started about midnight, as I woke up once before we started the battle."

"I can tell you about every round right now.

ROUND ONE.

"Fat Al rings the bell after we have shaken hands and been told the regular stuff by the referee, and Ad comes rushing out of his corner with a crouch and both hands swinging hard. He goes right after me and we clinch in the corner near where Dick Ferris sits, and starts ripping those body punches in and they hurt some. After breaking he comes at me again and I run my nose into his right hand going in the high and say, she bleeds some at that. Then the bell rings and I get back into my corner. Levy says: 'Be careful Joe, and don't let him get ahold of you, it is dangerous,' but he has not hurt me at all and I make up my mind to box this fellow just as if he was Kilbane or somebody really classy.

"In the second round, I keep away and have to give ground, but Ad doesn't lay a glove on me, and I use my left hand all the time and get to his face once in a while. This is Ad's round, for he is rushing all the way.

"In the third, I am more careful than ever, but try the right hand and find that he is easy to hit and right here I get a wallop at his nose for the one he gave me in the first round, but the blood doesn't come as fast as mine, which, by the way, has stopped. But Ad is still tearing around the ring and about 10,000 of the fans are yelling for him to bring home the money in the next round. You know the way they get to yelling a guy's name, well, it was going, 'Wolgast, Wolgast, Wolgast,' and got me mad, 'cause Joe Levy said: 'Listen to that, Joe, come out and show something this time.'

"In the fourth, I am pretty busy with my left hand and hammer his eyes and just before the bell, we swap punches in the stomach and it hurts Ad, for I see his knees bend. It hurts me some, but not so much.

"The fifth and sixth rounds are about the same, but I am leading, and Ad is landing all the blows, though he does hit me on the jaw once in the sixth, but it doesn't hurt like the first, and I say to myself: 'I guess this bird is getting tired; we'll rush him a little,' and then I start. This is the sixth, you know, and I win it a mile.

"In the seventh I get him two lefts in the body and three hard rights on the jaw and he slows up a lot and begins to clinch, but I pull out the upper-cut that Levy had told me to save until the twelfth round, and it works, so I know Joe won't say anything to me when the bell rings.

TIDE TURNS.

"In the eighth I forget his face and hammer all the time on the sore stomach and when it is over they give him some of that ammonia and brandy, same as in the Ritchie fight. I remembered that he knocked Willie down after smelling the bottle in Frisco, so I am careful in the tenth, but just before the round is over we slug in the middle of the ring and now all the guys are yelling for me, but it doesn't sound so loud as when they were yelling for Ad. As the round ends Ad is reeling from the body punches and two good lefts to the eye and he can't see out of his right eye.

"Now here comes the real part of the fight I'm telling you. 'On the jaw,' Joe Levy says, 'as the bell rings for the eleventh round.' I feint twice and cop him right off the bat with the right on the jaw and down he goes, and I think he has been hit like Memsic hit him before. Here's another, and when he gets up after the count of seven I feint again and land him a right on the side of the jaw and he staggers against the ropes. This is over by the reporters' side of the ring. Before trying the jaw again I go for the sore old body three times and land twice, then switch to the face and close the other eye with a right.

"Right here he lets a wild one go and catches me on the nose again and the blood starts once more and Ad's friends go wild, but I get him two in the sore nose and eye before the bell and he is a great sight when the round is over.

ALMOST OUT.

"Old Jones is there with the bottle again and when we come out for the twelfth round, Ad seems a little more himself but he tires after a minute and Levy yells, 'up Joe, up boy,' and I get set and start to swap punches. His first two hurt some, but say, after he got my second right on the jaw he is all in. He runs for the ropes and holds on, but I pull him out into the ring and bat him a good one on the chin and he hits the floor. He seems to be out, but at 'nine' gets up and comes on for another. He holds up his elbows and I can't find an opening for a couple of seconds. Then he looks up and I let it go and he hits the canvas once more right as Al pulls the bell.

"Well, the house is crazy and I can't hear Rooney and Joe, but they make signs and tell me to knock him out in the next round.

"Jones must have opened another bottle of hop here for Wolgast comes running out of his corner clear across the ring almost before I can get out of my chair. He has his left hand out and lets fly with his right without even feinting with his other hand. The wallop just misses my dome and I take good aim and hit him as he is recovering his balance, full on the point of the chin, just where the skin begins to turn over the bone. He reels against the ropes with his hands over his face then I land the left on the body and down comes his mits.

"Here is the chance. With his jaw hanging out in front, I set both heels and swing from the bucket and when she lands on that old point, there is a new champ. Then I woke up."

After listening to this, would not anyone go home a thoughtful man? And it's all in the thirteenth round.

OLYMPIC LETTER.

BY JAMES H. RANDALL.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The steamer Finland is now on her way to Stockholm with the greatest collection of amateur athletes ever gathered in one ship. When she returns no doubt is felt that these brawny young Americans will have conquered the world in athletics.

This confidence is founded not on patriotic enthusiasm but on cold figures.

Hardly a record made at the last Olympic games but has been beaten by the men of the Finland and that some of these records will be set at a still higher mark at Stockholm seems certain.

Here are a few interesting comparisons:

Events.	Old Record.	New Am. Record.
100-meter	10 4-5s.	10 4-5s.
200-meter	22 2-5s.	21 4-5s.
400-meter	50s.	49 4-5s.
1500-meter	4m. 3 2-5s.	3m. 56 4-5s.
Run'g high jump	6ft. 3in.	6ft. 7in.
Stand'g high jump	5ft. 2in.	5ft. 2in.
Stand'g br'd jump	10ft. 11¼in.	11ft.
Pole vault	12ft. 2in.	13ft. 1in.
Shot put	46ft. 7½in.	51ft.
Discus	134ft. 2in.	156ft. 1⅜in.
16-lb. hammer	170ft. 4¼in.	187ft. 4in.
Marathon race	2h. 55m. 18s.	2h. 21m. 18 1-5s.

By the time this is read there are likely to have been even better records made here. Records which last more than a few days in this day and time are rare.

It is therefore with reason that we expect the American athletes to come home with a cleaner sweep of honors in the field and track events than they did at either Athens or London.

There was a distinguished passenger list outside the athletes on the Finland. Among them the following prominent citizens: Colonel Robert M. Thompson, Admiral and Mrs. Wainwright, A. R. Conkling, J. F. Turrill, George T. Pierce, George Wright, Lawrence D. Bragg, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Buermeyer, W. G. Shepherd, E. R. Bushnell, D. M. Stern, H. B. Scharman, Martin Durkin, Edward T. Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Curtis, Dr. and Mrs. Graem M. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McAleenan and family, Miss Maurine Curtis, Miss M. E. Seybel, W. E. Sibel, Allen M. Penfield, Glenn Warner, John J. Hallahan, George S. Woolley, James Kinlock, James Twohig, Mr. and Mrs. E. Faber, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sullivan, Col. and Mrs. A. P. Briggs, Capt. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry and family and Mrs. Guy V. Henry and family, Lieut. Lear, Thomas Loughman, John J. Sweeney, Thomas Gavin and Dr. and Mrs. William L. Bowman.

Sweden, by the way, has done one thing in connection with the games which is respectfully commended to American cities holding conventions and the like. She doesn't propose to have the thousands of visitors to the games fleeced. The tourists will find that the organizing committee of the Olympic games has arranged for 30,000 rooms, to be ready to care for them. The prices range up to $2. This is the highest price charged, and no one is allowed to advance the price of these rooms, or to make exorbitant charges otherwise, the regulations being very strict in that respect.

For an all around sportsman there is not a man in the United States that has anything on James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union and the poohbah of track and field sports. For thirty years he has not missed a championship of America in his particular line and he is the only man who has been present at five out of the six Olympic meetings that have been held. He has been the referee of the intercollegiate games since 1900 and a week ago when he attended the pentathlon tryout was the only time that he missed refereeing the Harvard and Yale dual meet. There is no football game of any importance that takes place without Jim Sullivan as one of the spectators and he has been seen taking great interest in the soccer contests that have been held here. In his active days Jim was a good boxer and wrestler and a good bout in the ring or on the mat is sure to bring him to the ringside. He has had his fling as a golfer and no swimming pool or water polo game of any importance takes place without Jim Sullivan being there to see the sport.

The Stadium track at Stockholm has been surveyed and the starting and finishing lines of all the runs have been established. The distances measured by the metric system compare favorably with the standard American distances, the civil engineer's comparisons being as follows:

100 meters—109 yards, 13 inches.
110 meters—120 yards, 11 inches.
220 meters—218 yards, 2 feet, 2 inches.
400 meters—437 yards, 16 inches.
800 meters—874 yards, 2 feet, 9 inches.
1500 meters—1640 yards, 16 inches.
5000 meters—3 miles, 188 yards.
10,000 meters—6 miles, 378 yards.

MANY TROUT FRY FOR PORTERVILLE.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PORTERVILLE, June 15.—About a quarter of a million trout fry have been ordered by the Porterville Fish and Game Protective Association for planting in the streams of the Sierras west of this city, and 60,000 rainbows are on the way here from the State hatchery at the present time. The remainder of the fry will consist of various varieties which are especially adapted to the cold waters of the upper hills.

J. C. McCabe, the president of the association and a man who is personally responsible for more of this sort of work than has been done in any other section of California, has appointed a number of committees to whom this work will be entrusted.

Maps have been made showing the location and extent of the streams which need the fry and with these maps the committees need waste no time in putting the fry into the waters.

Due to the excellent work of the local organization during the past five or six years, the Porterville hills continue to be the best fishing grounds in California, although they are quite the most popular as well.

The Automobile Legal Association, of Boston, has taken steps to see that the present law which requires all horse-drawn vehicles to carry lights at night from one hour after sundown to one hour before sunrise, the same as motor cars, will be enforced this year.

COL. PABST PUTS UP CUP FOR MEDIUM CARS.

A new race trophy has been offered to the Milwaukee Automobile Association, by Col. Gustav Pabst. It will be called "The Pabst Blue Ribbon Trophy," and will be contested for annually. The trophy is offered by Pabst for the medium car event, to be run on the same day and in connection with the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races in September.

It will be contested for by non-stock cars in the piston displacement just below the free-for-all. It has not as yet been decided if the new trophy shall only be contested for by American-made cars, or if it will be open to any manufacturer. This question will be settled by Bart J. Ruddle, manager of the great races, and A. A. Jones, chairman of the Race Committee.

The Blue Ribbon Trophy will be turned over to the Motor Cups Holding Company, of which W. K. Vanderbilt is president. The deed and conditions under which the trophy will be contested for will be drawn up shortly and the decision made as to whose jurisdiction the cup shall rest in. Should it be a national affair it will be controlled by the American Automobile Association. [illegible] be open to international [illegible] the Automobile Club of [illegible] control. The Rambler 10,000 Mile Guarantee

Have You Seen The Rambler Cross Country?
$1800

THIS guarantee, is backed by every one of our Rambler dealers and branches. One of them is located nearby and is perhaps known to you.

Back of them is a factory employing eighteen hundred men, with a floor area of twenty acres and producing ninety-six per cent of the parts that go to make up this car.

This factory has produced twenty-two thousand Rambler motor cars and the average cost for repair parts on each one of these cars last year was only twelve dollars and ninety cents.

Some of these cars have been in use eleven years. One-half of them have been in use five years or more. These are the facts which warrant our confidence in the Rambler to the extent of giving the signed guarantee for ten thousand miles.

The Cross Country sales to date are three times those of last year.

See the car and you will learn the first reason—its appearance.

Ride in the car and [illegible] second reason—its comfort.

Ask your banker about the [illegible] this company—his answer is the [illegible]

In 1907 the Tri-State League, which had been an outlaw organization, went under protection and Bull had to fight the Brooklyn team, which laid claim to him. He showed the National Commission that, although he had signed a Brooklyn contract, the team had not sent him transportation, and having won his case he became a free agent.

He accordingly signed with the Washington team and before being tried out was traded to the Louisville team for Jim Delehanty, now with Detroit. He thus belonged to Louisville in 1907, but not being able to get into condition was released.

ONE BIG YEAR.

In 1908 he signed with Indianapolis, and while with that team he made his rep. Of thirty-four games pitched he won thirty-one, and Roy Brashear says he was so good he could curve the ball right around a tree. On five different occasions he pitched double-headers in the afternoon and won all of the games, shutting out Louisville, Milwaukee and Columbus in three of the double-headers and beating St. Paul 4 to 1 twice and Toledo 2 to 1 each time. In these ten games there was but an average of 2 1-3 hits per game made off him.

This was such a marvelous record that in the fall of that year he and Rube Marquard were sold by Indianapolis to the New York Giants for $17,500. That year in 110 chances he fielded 1000 and hit .278.

He could not get into shape in 1909 for New York, although he was kept on the reserve list until the end of the 1911 season. In 1909 he left New York and went to New Mexico for his health and has been there ever since, except for three months last year when he played with the Charleston (S. C.) team until a storm blew the park away in August.

Last year New York turned him over to the Boston Nationals and that team in turn shifted him to Charleston as manager. The big storm broke the league up and Bull was unconditionally released and then hied himself back to New Mexico to dig gold.

TOM MARSHALL ADDED TO MARION FORCES.

James I. Handley, president of the Marion Motor Car Company, announces that Tom L. Marshall, well-known to the automobile trade, has become one of his lieutenants and a substantial stockholder in the reorganized company. He is now acting in the capacity of sales manager.

Marshall left the employ of the American Tobacco Company, in 1905 and became shipping clerk for the Maxwell-Briscoe Company, in Tarrytown, N. Y. He was soon promoted and sent to the company's plant at New Castle.

When he went to the western sales department of the Maxwell-Briscoe four years ago, he was assistant to Handley. He afterward spent a year in Kentucky, in business for himself, and he has now left a position as assistant district supervisor for the United States Motor Company, to join the forces at the Marion plant.

FORE!

BY ALMA WHITAKER

IT USED to be the family crest, portraits of ancestors, or, as a last resort, one's diamonds and one's servants, but nowadays nothing is so effective as a golf bag.

There is more concentration of pure class in a well-filled golf bag, preferably bearing the initials in chaste lettering of a smart country club, than was ever aquired by a retinue of liveried menials. Oh, could they but know it there is balm and solace in the golf bag for the parvenue.

Where formerly it was essential to travel with a maid and valet and a prominent jewel case, a golf bag will now fill the entire equipment. Indeed, at the more expensive hotels the golf bag is the one essential piece of luggage to the initiated. For it catches the eye of the hotel clerk and immediately conveys to him the most desirable information that first you are wealthy; second, your social status is sans reproche; third, that you are a seasoned traveler, one who knows, one who discriminates—in short, a connoisseur, who cannot be put off with the second-rate, and who cannot be overcharged for the first-rate.

The Magic Wand.

See what advantage such a simple method has over the more cumbersome device of jewel case, and servants. It took such nice discrimination on the part of the hotel clerk not to mistake the former for a traveler's sample case, and the latter for one's blood relations! Oh, indeed, only Mons. and Mme. Parvenu can tell what unfortunate little contretemps can occur in this connection. But the golf bag obviates it all. It is the genuine stamp, the hall mark, the sterling sign.

The Non-Essential.

And the least essential part of the scheme is the golf itself. Oh, non, mes amis, never think you have to laboriously acquire a knowledge of the game. That is purely a matter of taste. If you anticipate the embarrassment of invitations to play, there are many avenues of retreat open to you. But you are unlikely to be so pressed for the scratch men will avoid you till they have seen you play and the dubs will fear to alight upon a Harold Hilton unawares. But, as a last resort, one can always plead a game arm or sciatica, with a hint of indigestion and an ungovernable temper thrown in.

For the Newly Weds.

For the honeymooners, too, a golf bag—just one golf bag—is indispensable to those who would masquerade as near-divorcons. Only too well the hotel managers know that a bridegroom and a golfer are irreconcilable in one person. They have learned it as an irrefutable lesson that when but one golf bag accompanies the sojourners, the first gloss of matrimonial polish has long since worn off. Bien!

Temporal Power.

And for those ambitious souls who are wont to break out at intervals from an impecunious life of the cheerless daily grind, and live at the rate of $100,000 a year for one short, glorious week-end, the golf bag is an incomparable friend. In its company one can wear one's old suit, a soft collar, roomy boots and a year before last's hat, and yet be admitted to the most sumptuous palace of modern luxury at $6 a day. Without that golf bag that week-end could not be undertaken without six clean shirts, three pairs of shoes, three suits, two hats, and countless etceteras, but with it the hotel bill alone is all you will have to worry about. Voila!

Be well advised, mes amis, never travel without a golf bag. It solves the whole problem of your prestige. If your social status is doubtful it will testify on your behalf—if it is assured, it will make assurance doubly sure. Vive la golf!

Marion

What Eight Years' Success Brings

THE Marion Motor Car Company's recent expansion is wrought with great importance. For eight years this company has enjoyed the undivided support of thousands of Marion owners. Built up in the early days of the industry, by conscientious effort, the inevitable expansion resulted. The capitalization has been increased more than $1,000,000. The factory is being enlarged, and sales and owners' service policies greatly widened in scope. The annual output will be doubled. There is now gathered in the organization a staff of manufacturing experts, who are very prominent in the industry.

Every Marion owner and dealer stands to benefit directly and at once. We have never heard a Marion owner complain. We were never able to more than one-half fill the demand for Marion cars. Merit brought demand; demand brought expansion.

If possible, we will better the long, successful record of the serviceable, powerful and practical Marion cars.

Any of our dealers will be glad to give you a demonstration.

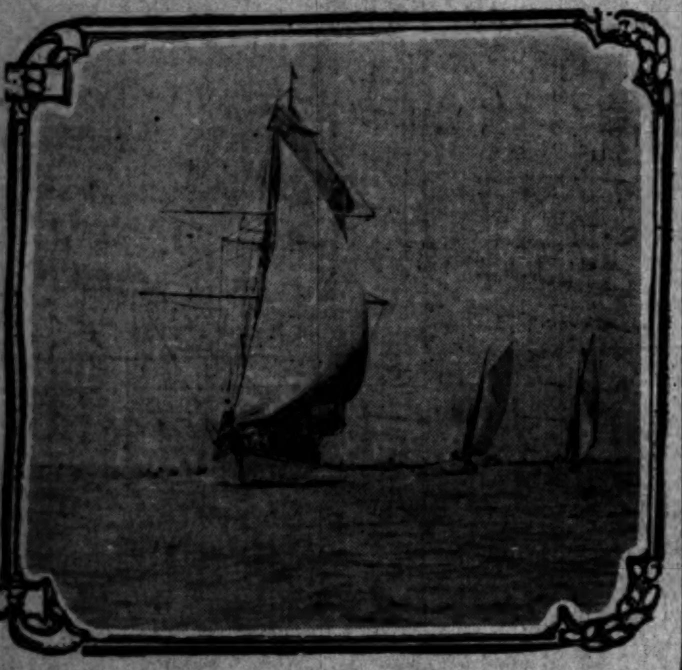
FAST CRAFT TO START FOR HONOLULU TODAY.

Four Racing Yachts Are Entered in trans-Pacific Event, the Longest Yachting Race in the World—Two Weeks of Hard Sailing and Nearly Three Thousand Miles Lie Ahead of Nervy Crews.

BY ARCH BROWN.



Yacht Hawaii Under Full Sail.

This craft won the great trans-Pacific race two years ago and is again to compete in the dash to Honolulu that starts today.

AT 12:55 O'CLOCK today a cannon will be fired from the end of the government breakwater at San Pedro, which will signify that all entries in the great Honolulu race must be at the starting line within five minutes. At 1 o'clock the final report will be fired, which will start four beautiful white-winged yachts on the longest race in the world.

Few people realize the undertaking that the skippers and crews of these trans-Pacific racers are entered. Imagine yourself on the deck of an ocean liner in mid-Pacific and then compare your situation with being on a seventy-five-foot yacht which stands only three feet above the water. There will be times during the race when huge seas will pound on the deck, but, clad in oilskins, the crew will be required to stand on deck and devote their entire time to sailing the boat. When you take into consideration that the boats will have from twelve to fourteen days of hard sailing, and the crew on duty twenty out of twenty-four hours of the day, it can easily be seen that considerable nerve is required.

TO HEAD SOUTHWEST.

A flag anchored 500 feet at a right angle from the end of the breakwater will mark the starting line. The four boats will cross the line with the report of the starting gun and proceed straight out for one-half mile to another flag, where they will lay off on a tack which will take them to leeward of Catalina Island. This course is about southwest. The boats will remain on this tack until nearly the latitude of Hawaii, when they will jibe over and on long reaches make for Honolulu. It is hardly probable that the boats will gain sight of each other from a day after the start until they reach Honolulu. This is accounted for by the fact that each skipper has his own ideas as to his course.

The length of the race is approximately 2800 miles. Varying winds will prevail for about four days. After reaching the northeast trade winds, which prevail about 300 miles off shore, the boats will have straight sailing.

From the start the boats will crowd on every inch of sail the wind will allow. Every time the wind shifts it will be necessary for the crew to shift the sails accordingly. In case of light winds, the light sails from ballooner and spinnacker to topsails will be used, while in heavy weather it may be necessary to shorten sail to only the working sails.

In the last race, two years ago, fine weather prevailed until the boats reached Molipuu light, on the island of Hawaii. One of the crew in that race made the remark that he simply lost all interest in yachting and the sea in general while in that vicinity. It was necessary to take double reefs in the sails, and this was done while enormous seas were pounding on the deck of the boat. However, this is not an ordinary occurrence, and it is hoped that fine weather will accompany the boats in this race.

HAWAII PICKED TO WIN.

Great interest is taken in the race in every seaport town on the Coast. In San Diego it is said that $10,000 is backing the San Diego Yacht Club boat, Lurline. In Avalon yesterday one could easily get odds on the Hawaii against the field. Some of the Bay City yachtsmen state that they have plenty of capital with which to back their yacht, Seafarer, against the bunch. It looks as though there should be some easy money for some shrewd "dopester."

Here is the standing of the yachts. The Lurline is eighty-eight feet long. It has won two races to Honolulu and is a witch in the wind, although she is thirty-five years old.

The Hawaii has won one race and lost one. She is seventy feet long and about five years old. The Seafarer is ninety-two feet long, schooner-rigged, but has never entered a race of this length. The Nattose is a northern deep-sea yawl. Although the boat has done a great deal of cruising, it has never entered a race of any length. The boat is sixty-five feet over all. Now pick the winner.

There has been a great deal of comment about the South Coast Yacht Club not entering a boat in this race. It was impossible for the club to go to the expense of entering a boat this year. Although there were two boats in the club that could stand a trip of this length, the owners did not feel that they could go the the expense of entering either of them. The cost of putting a boat in commission and fitting it for this race is approximately $5000. Commodore Warren Wood used every effort to raise this sum by subscription, but found it impossible. It seems rather hard that the South Coast Yacht Club is putting up cups valued at over $1000 and is not entering a boat to compete for them, but this could not be helped. However, out of the three last races the South Coast club has won two of them.

WHAT THE PLAYERS ARE DOING IN THE BIG LEAGUES.

Heine Zimmerman of the Cubs still leads the National League batsmen with a mark of .418. Chief Meyers is the Teuton's nearest competitor who has performed in a majority of games, and he is clouting the ball at a .365 gait.

Tris Speaker of the Red Sox is the boss biffer in the Johnsonian loop, with an average of .400 even. Larry Lajoie fell to .391 during the week, and is only holding second place in the list by a scant margin over the fast-coming Ty Cobb, who hit hard enough to give him a season's mark of .366 thus far.

Jimmy Block is the best hitter of the Sox, having an average of .359 for thirty-two games. John Collins, who participated in forty-two contests, owns a mark of .329.

Rube Marquard, with eleven successive victories, is far ahead of any other National League pitcher, and Crandall, his team mate, is second, with four wins and no losses. Maroney, who was victorious in his only full game, is the leading Cub flinger, but Lavender, Cheney and Richie are well up in the list.

Baskette of the Naps tops the American League twirlers with three victories and no defeats. Jim Scott of the Sox has two wins and is right behind him. The real leader, however, is Plank of the Mackmen, who has won six out of seven games.

The Sox have dropped a couple of notches in team hitting and fielding. The Cubs are holding their own in each of these departments, being second in fielding and third in batting. The latest averages follow:

LONDON SPORTS.

BY RICHARD DAHLGREN.

LONDON, June 15.—One of the best bets on the English turf is the field against the favorite in the Derby. So seldom does a favorite win that the odds should be long. The recent Derby was no exception, as the depleted pocketbooks of practically all the American contingent that plays the horses can testify, for to a man they were on Sweeper II, H. B. Duryea's fine racehorse, which was first in the betting and seventh in the race.

It is gratifying that the winner was ridden by Johnny Reiff, who thus adds another Derby to his string of victories. The victory of Reiff adds point to Tod Sloan's stinging criticism of British jockeys, and perhaps adds to the bitterness of the British feeling against Tod. Sloan has no reason to find kindly towards the British racing authorities, for they cut short his winning career when he was in his prime for the only reason that he was consistently and persistently showing up the horse talent.

Richard Croker is enthusiastic over the possibilities of Orby as a sire. I had the privilege of looking over some of the get of Mr. Croker's Derby winner the other day, and they are good to see.

Of course, Orby's offspring have yet to "prove" themselves on a race course, but I am betraying no secret—at least, I hope not—when I state that we are practically certain to see some of them winning good-class races in the near future. Judged by their looks, they are surely capable of holding their own in the best of company, and they are to be given the opportunity of doing so. Before I had been the round of the Glencairn stable, I felt just as confident as Mr. Fitzgerald that Orby would jump into prominence as a sire right away.

There are two grand chestnut 2-year-old colts by him out of Sabine Queen and Grand Geraldine. The one is named Orbino, the other Howard O'Carroll. I fancy the latter is Mr. Croker's favorite. This is a great, strapping fellow, built on most powerful lines, and with the best of limbs. The great quarters and thighs which were so noticeable in Orby the day he won the Derby, are reproduced on an even bigger scale in this son of his. "You should see this colt gallop," said Mr. Croker, as we stood in his box; "he's a wonderful mover—so smooth and easy. He seems hardly to touch the ground." Howard O'Carroll gives one the impression that he will want more time than the others. In addition to his Irish engagements, he can compete for the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster, the Great Sapling Plate at Sandown in October, and the Dewhust Plate at Newmarket. That is about the time when he will have "ripened." If there is less size, there is, perhaps, more quality about Orbino, a beautifully-balanced colt. He strikes one as a very "classy" 2-year-old. There are also two splendid fillies by Orby—a chestnut out of Crossfire, by Carbine, who has been named Outset, and Olinda, a bay out of Blakestown, by Lesterlin, out of Stella.

Danny Maher and Frank Wootton are running a neck and neck race for premier riding honors. They are even in the number of winning mounts and well ahead of any of the other jockeys with the American a trifle in the lead in percentage, having had fewer places. In 115 mounts Maher has been in the money sixty-seven times.

In speaking of the chances of the British athletes at Stockholm F. W. Parker, whose opinion carries great weight in matters of amateur sport, expresses the fear that there is little chance for points in the races up to 1500 meters except in the 400-meter race when C. N. Seedhouse and D. Millan, both have a good chance to win.

Hutson and Owen should, he thinks, have a good chance in the 5000-meter while W. Scott and Green are well thought of for the 10,000 meters and for the marathon.

"With regard to the walk," says Mr. Parker, "it depends a great deal upon whether the judges are as strict as over here. If they are, we should very likely win, as R. Bridge has never been pressed, and he might improve immensely, and E. J. Webb is still a force to be reckoned with.

"Turning to the field events, we are not likely to shine, as although the Irishman, P. Flanagan, ought to win the 'discus,' and G. R. L. Anderson stood a good chance in the hurdles, we are not strong in the other events.

"The men selected were picked with a due regard to their performances, but the selectors were handicapped by the fact that the entries would close some six weeks before the games start. There may have been justification for criticism at the choice for the games of 1908, but more care could not have been taken than has been taken this time, and if any man showed form in the next few months which would have justified his inclusion, it would come from a totally unexpected quarter."

The beating of Poesy by Driscoll has encouraged British fight enthusiasts. It is now hoped that some of the other British fighters will show class enough to win back some pugilistic honors for the old country.

LOUD NOISE WHEN HANK O'DAY SMILED.

Hank O'Day never smiled in St. Louis, Chicago or Pittsburgh. When the Reds took the first Brooklyn game a strange sound, something like a strong man tearing wall paper, was heard from the Cincinnati bench.

Then came a creaking, jolting noise and a grating, scraping sound, like the dragging of a chair over a concrete floor. It was Hank smiling and the effort nearly killed him, according to W. A. Phelan, the Times-Star expert.

Glen Leibhardt, the former Cleveland pitcher, has been shifted from Columbus to Minneapolis in the American Association.

No-Rim-Cut Tires
10% Oversize
Now the Reigning Tires

Some 200,000 motor car owners have adopted this patent tire.

They have used to date 1,250,000. They are using now nearly 100,000 monthly.

No-Rim-Cut tires now far outsell any other tire in the world. And the demand has multiplied twelve times over in three years.

That is overwhelming endorsement.

Don't you think this tire worth trying?

Average Saving 48 Per Cent

The 10 per cent oversize, under average conditions, adds 25 per cent to the tire mileage.

The No-Rim-Cut feature makes an average saving of 23 per cent. For statistics show that 23 per cent of all ruined old-type tires are rim-cut.

Then think of the troubles saved—the worry of rim-cutting—the blow-outs due to overloading.

Do you wonder men are flocking to these patent tires?

A Sudden Fame

These tires have jumped in the past three years from obscurity to fame.

From a minor place they have suddenly come to the topmost place in Tiredom.

But this, remember, is our 13th year. We spent a decade in perfecting these tires before motorists found them out.

The success of these tires is due to endless tests, made on testing machines in our factory. Some 240 fabrics and formulas were tried and discarded, because we found something better.

We had to first make the best tires in the world, before we outsold the world.

If you will consult men who use these tires you are bound to use them, too. Saving half on tire bills means too much to miss.

Our 1912 Tire Book—based on 13 years of tire making—is filled with facts you should know. Ask us to mail it to you.

Too Much Class.

AP'S TIGERS WHITEWASHED.

ld Heaver Fitzgerald Proves Too Much for Them.

rown the Only Player to Get to Third Base.

ildness in the Eighth Inning Defeats Carson.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Sacramento, 2; Vernon, 0.

Mister Fitzgerald, former teammate of Hap Hogan in the good old days of baseball when they did not care what happened to the umpire, felt like himself once more yesterday and accordingly stood the Tigers on their heads. He didn't seem to strain himself, either.

Fitz heaved great baseball and if Brown had not been in the game none of the Tigers would have reached third base. This means that Fitz shut 'em out.

Shut-out games are far from being exhilarating, and this one yesterday was the malted milk kind. There were but ten hits made by both teams, Vernon getting four and the Senators six. All of these were scattered, except when the Senators got two [illegible] in the seventh, but they made no runs off them.

The scarcity of swats was made up by good fielding, and the fans got the worth of their money in this.

Brashear first astonished the fans with a backward running left-handed catch of Swain's fly over second in the first inning, and McDonnell made a fine left-handed stab of Brashear's high throw to first in the fifth on Check's grounder. Bayless's running catch of Swain's fly to right in the sixth was a pipper, and Carson showed his class by grabbing Fitzgerald's hard grounder and throwing Fitz out at first in the seventh.

On the other side, Shinn ended the game by stabbing Burrell's high liner with his left hand in the last of the ninth and doubling up Bayless at first base. Both Sheehan and Burrell distinguished themselves with several fine assists.

The only two runs of the game were made by the Senators in the eighth. Shinn led off with a single, went to second on Van Buren's sacrifice and to third when Brashear made a wild throw to first of O'Rourke's grounder. He scored on a wild pitch and O'Rourke got to third on this. Miller's squeeze sacrifice scored O'Rourke.

Aside from this eighth the only time the Senators reached third was in the seventh, when Miller beat out an infield single, advanced on a sacrifice and ran to third on Sheehan's single to left. The next two men were easy outs, however.

Fitz was so good that aside from Brown, Kane was the only man on the Tiger team to get as far as second base, and Johnny managed to arrive there in the first and fifth innings on two passes and two steals.

In the third Brown singled to left, ran to second on Carson's sacrifice and to third on Carlisle's out at first. He got there in the same way in the fifth, except that he started on his own pass.

Carson was effective in every inning but the eighth, and then a single, pass, wild pitch and Brash's error beat him.

Nothing to this kind of a game. Like all other teams when the Tigers cannot hit they are in bad and look cheap. Fitz had them lashed to the mast yesterday and that is all there was to it.

The score:

VERNON.

CRACK BIRDMAN IN GREAT FRENCH FLIGHT.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Wireless from Chicago to The Times.]

PARIS, June 15.—[Special Dispatch.] The race for the grand prix of the Aero Club de France begins tomorrow on the Angers circuit. It has drawn an entry of thirty-five of the greatest air pilots in the republic, including Renaux, Tabuteau, Bedel, [illegible], Prevost, Laurens, Busson, Garros, Labouchere, Allard and [illegible].

[illegible] French types of aeroplanes will be represented. The course runs from Angers to Saumur and Cholet, and back to Angers. The greatest interest is being taken in the big aerial contest and the spacious grand stand erected at Angers will be thronged with society leaders, as well as aerial enthusiasts. The aerodrome overlooks the lovely Maine Valley and the [illegible] can be observed for a distance of twenty kilometers.

OAKS TAKE CLOSE GAME FROM BEAVERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two walks in different innings proved the undoing of Portland today in a beautiful pitching duel between Koestner and Durbin. Oakland won in the ninth inning on Coy's slash through Bancroft, 3 to 2. Hoffman opened the inning by waiting out four wide ones and was sacrificed to the scoring position by Patterson's playing in center for Zacher.

Nearly 4000 fans witnessed the encounter. Koestner and Durbin both twirled magnificently and there was just enough of the spectacular in the fielding line to keep the crowd on edge. Koestner allowed only five hits to eight off Durbin.

Coy, Bancroft, Rodgers and Patterson all punched their way into praiseworthy paragraphs, saving the game for their respective teams at various stages of the going. Rodgers making one of the most remarkable stops of the year on Hetling's liner in the second inning. He recovered in time to catch Gus at first. Bancroft came through in the fifth inning just at the time the Oaks looked due for an old-fashioned rally. Coy walked, stole second and scored on Hetling's single to center. Cook bunted him down and Bancroft then booted Sharpe's grounder, putting Hetling on third. Mitze ripped a sizzler to Bancroft, who seized the leather, ran to second and then doubled Mitze at first, shutting off Hetling's tally.

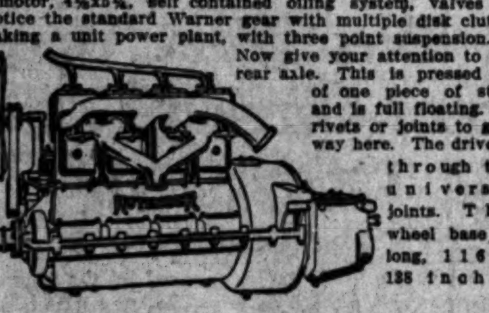
Get Wise to a Real Car

Look at this motor, 4½x5¼, self contained oiling system, valves enclosed, and notice the standard Warner gear with multiple disk clutch. The whole making a unit power plant, with three point suspension.



Now give your attention to the rear axle. This is pressed out of one piece of steel and is full floating. No rivets or joints to give way here. The drive is through two universal joints. The wheel base is long, 116 to 128 inches, according to the model. Wheels 34x4, demountable rims. The price, $1450 for roadster or 5-passenger; $1650 for a 126-inch wheel base, 4-passenger.

Own a Champion Car

It's only human for a man to feel proud of his possessions. To own something which everyone else recognizes as supremely desirable helps mightily to make life better worth living.

Ownership of a motor car confers a distinction of this sort. But the distinction is infinitely greater when that motor car belongs to a family that has class, reputation, history.

To own a champion motor car should be the aim of every wise buyer.

It's pleasant to know that a champion motor car is not necessarily an expensive one. You can buy an E-M-F "30" for $1330 or a Flanders "20" for $995.

Each is the champion of its class.

The motoring world is still ringing with the marvelous feat of the three E-M-F "30" cars that finished one, two, three in the Tiedeman Trophy race at Savannah—the biggest event of the year for cars of that class.

The setting of nine new world's marks for the smaller class by the Flanders "20" at Indianapolis is a speed feat unique in the season's records.

You and your friends have heard time and again of the triumphs these cars have scored on road, track and hill. Among cars of popular price all over the world they stand supreme in speed, strength, safety and stamina.

More convincing still is the satisfactory service these cars are doing in the hands of more than 50,000 owners, all over the world.

An E-M-F "30" or a Flanders "20" is the sort of car its owner loves to talk about.

HOW TO PICK YOUR 1912 CAR

Buy a well finished car with no gaudy trimmings.

Buy a car rigidly guaranteed by a manufacturer who has kept faith with prior customers.

Buy a car of which your friends speak well. Don't trust merely the statement of a glib salesman.

Don't buy the cheapest car. The cheapest on the market is seldom a good buy in any sort of machinery.

Buy no car because of a plausible appurtenance not yet tested for at least a year in actual service.

Buy a car that hasn't an extreme feature in its makeup. There are cars that are too light, as well as cars that are too heavy.

Buy a car that is a known quantity, built by a manufacturer of known reputation.

BUY A CAR THAT ISN'T A GAMBLE.

Why The Paige Has Forged Ahead

This is why. Simply because the automobile buying public has found out that materials, workmanship and design, are the vital considerations in the building of the Paige—and not details of equipment, untried and unproved, and not experimental construction features.

While others have sought greater volume of business by reducing prices, cheapening the product, and attempting to replace essentials with selling arguments, we have sought to hold and conservatively increase the loyal Paige following by maintaining prices, retaining quality and providing in the Paige everything possible that makes for comfort, and long, satisfactory service.

The PAIGE Car

gives power, more horse power for every hundred pounds of car weight, than is given in ninety per cent. of all other makes. Speed—more than a Paige owner ever needs. Comfort—roomy bodies, perfect balance, deep upholstery, easy riding springs. Style—most advanced body types and excellence of finish. Economy—20 to 25 miles per gallon of gasoline, light weight, over-size tires, absolute interchangeability of parts.

Model Beverly Torpedo Touring Car, Fully Equipped, $1125.

Six snappy, stylish bodies—4 and 5-passenger touring cars, roadsters and raceabout—prices $1125.00 and $1150.00. The beautiful La Marquise Coupe, $1600. All built on the one Paige chassis and with the one Paige unit power plant.

Regular equipment of Paige cars includes top, windshield, 5 black enamel lamps, Presto light tank, self-starter, horn, tools, jack and tire repair outfit. Quick demountable rims (set of 5), on touring car models, including tire irons, $15. Same equipment on roadster $12.50.

KNIGHT Columbia MOTOR

FINE design, accurate building and the use of the best materials combine to make the Columbia Knight the highest expression of motor car building yet developed in America.

When the Knight motor was adopted it was arranged that Charles Y. Knight should personally approve the design before it was offered to the public, in order to insure the perfection of the Knight principle.

He and his engineers pronounced it eminently worthy to take its place with the contemporary Knight cars of Europe.

The Greatest Piece of Machinery That Ever Went Upon the Highways. The Most Luxurious Motor Carriage That Ever Earned the Title, "BOSS OF THE ROAD"

WEIGHT IS LESS
The weight of the 1913 Packard Six fully equipped with tanks full is 4350 pounds—actual scale weight. Less than any other car of equal power.

A BRUTE PROOF CAR
The Packard Six will run longer at high speeds over roads of any kind, without mechanical attention than any other car.

ENDURANCE
Its Stamina exceeds the endurance of any driver.

FASTEST GETAWAY
60 miles an hour in 30 seconds from a standing start.

BEST HILL CLIMBER
At all speeds, and regardless of road conditions.

EASIEST LARGE CAR TO DRIVE
The Packard Six, with a wheel base of 139 inches, will turn in a street 44 feet wide.

POWER WITHOUT NOISE
The Packard Six motor makes the least noise, whether running fast or throttled down—yet its power is amazing. Actual Horse Power under brake test, is 74.

SELF STARTING
The Packard Disco Primer assures easy starting.

PACKARD WINDSHIELD
The storm-tilt type, regular equipment.

ELECTRIC LIGHTED THROUGHOUT

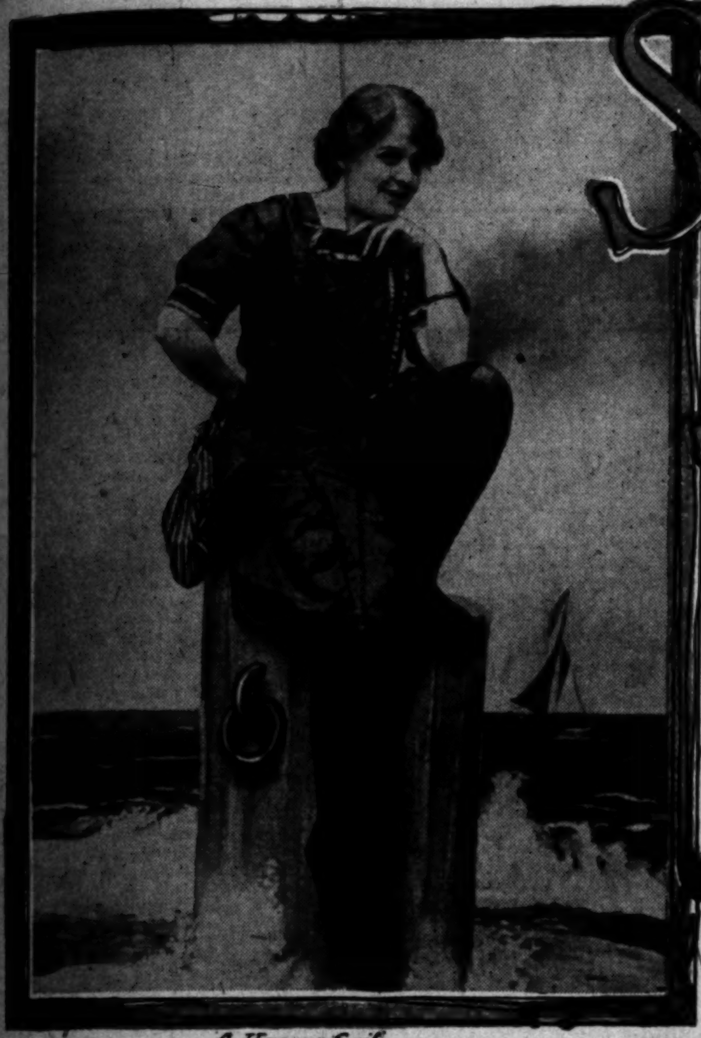
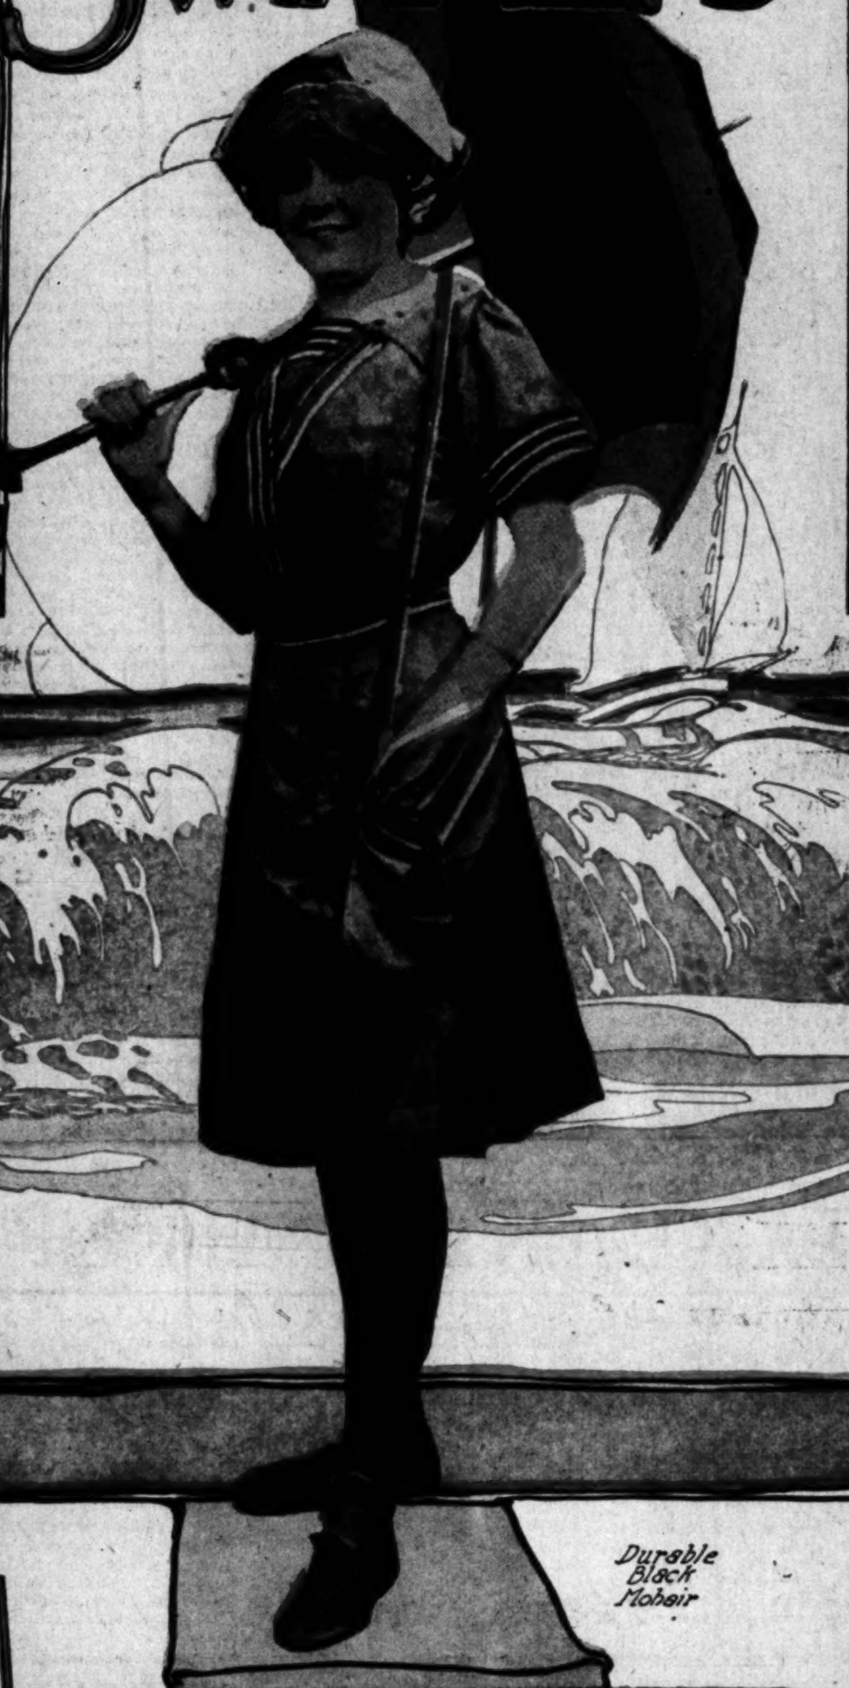
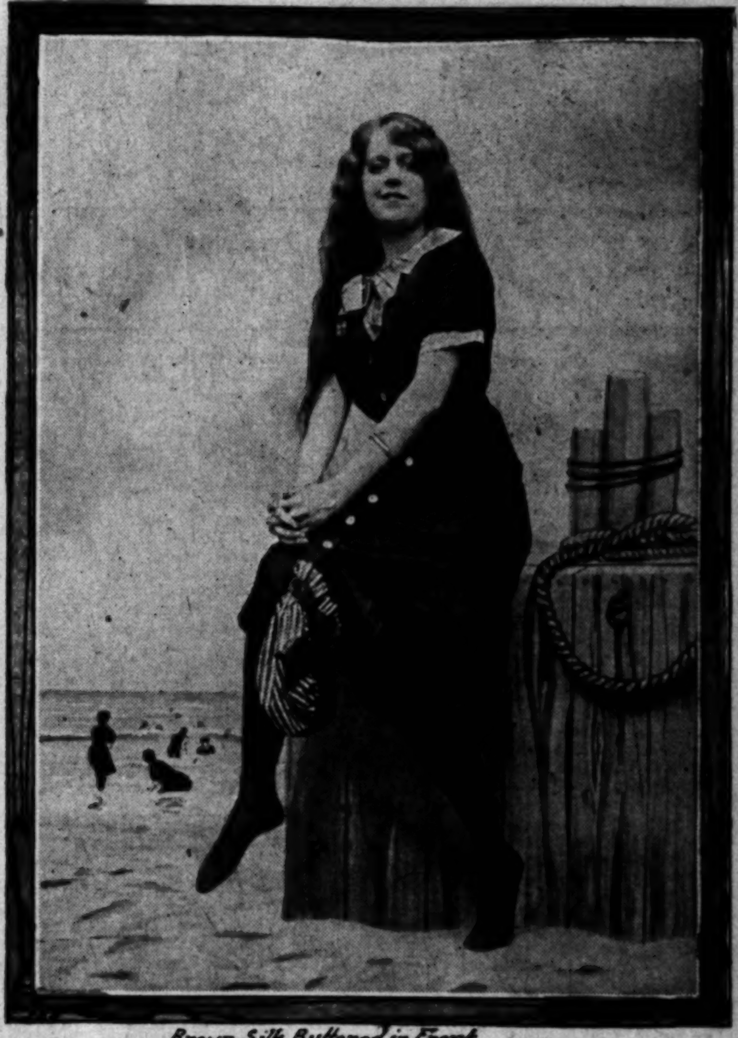
SMART SUITS FOR SWIMMERS



A Harem Suit



Durable Black Mohair



Brown Silk Buttoned in Front

MIDSUMMER is the enjoyable season for the woman who delights to play at being a mermaid. The water fascinates and lures her to its depths, whether it is the call of the sea, lake or river.

Those who have not acquired the accomplishment of swimming miss a great deal of pleasure during the hot, sultry days of July and August.

There is nothing quite so refreshing as a plunge in the water when the atmosphere is humid and depressing. Too languid to do anything else, the woman who swims can find an unending source of amusement in water sports.

Those who desire to be thoroughly up-to-date aim to appear well upon all occasions. A smart bathing suit must necessarily be added to the well-equipped wardrobe.

This season reputable designers have given particular attention to the bathing suit.

Comfort and style have been combined, with results entirely satisfactory.

Dark-blue silk is the material used to fashion an attractive model.

The bodice, cut with kimono sleeves, has the shoulder seam dropped and finished with a narrow piping of silk. King's blue forms the chemisette, the broad rever and cuffs. Flat buttons covered with silk trim the sleeves and bodice.

The skirt is cut in two pieces, with a seam over either hip. One of this season's leading styles is the diagonal line introduced by a shaped piece which extends from the right side to the hem at the left. This is held in place by two flowers fashioned of the silk. The pretty cap is of blue to correspond with the suit.

Mohair is considered to be the most practical fabric for bathing suits, in that it does not cut, as silk will eventually do.

This one is of black, with trimmings of white. A double collar, the top one of white with scalloped edges, finishes the neck line. Narrow soutache braid trims the bodice and belt.

An attractive cap of black-and-white silk, a bag containing the brush and comb and a parasol complete this stunning costume.

The vogue of changeable silk has invaded the realm of bathing suits.

An attractive model in tones of green and blue had pipings of a lighter tone of green. A collar of cream lace gives a pretty touch to the bodice. Below the waist line was a shaped peplum.

The harem suit permits absolute freedom when swimming. The skirt is composed of two panels slashed up in front, disclosing full bloomers beneath.

This model is made of black satin and trimmed with bands of cherry red.

A new fabric introduced this season as a serviceable material from which bathing suits may be made is silk serge.

The one shown here is of navy blue.

It fastens up the front from hem to throat with large, flat pearl buttons. The sailor collar, tie and cuffs are of white satin with hemstitched borders.

Another smart suit of black silk serge has a braided yoke and rever, done with black-and-white soutache braid. A chic cap of plaid silk was worn with this suit.

Other bathing suits are made of plaid silk with trimmings of the plain color, or vice versa.

There is no reasonable excuse for not being suitably attired when taking the daily dip.

One should appear trim and neat at all times. Why wear faded, dowdy clothes just because you intend to plunge into the waters of the sea or lake? The satisfaction of wearing beautiful suits is just as keenly felt when bathing outdoors as when serving at an afternoon tea—that is, if you are a woman!

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

THE ENGAGED GIRL WHO CANNOT COOK.

"RECENTLY I have become engaged to be married and I find my fiancée knows absolutely nothing about cooking. She told me laughingly that she can neither 'cook nor bake.'

"The problem, and a serious one, confronts me—How can she go about it to gain the needed experience? I should be grateful if you would publish a little practical advice upon the subject which may help me along with the puzzle.

"BAFFLED BETROTHED."

I told a young college girl last winter, after a visit to the admirably appointed cooking school attached to the institution, that what I had seen and heard that day gave me the brightest outlook I had had for years of the future homes of America. We talk much—sometimes proudly, always wonderingly—of the immense number of women who are earning their living honestly and comfortably in our great cities. In all our plans for present and future prosperity the working girl must be regarded as an important social and political factor. She has her trade union, her club, her savings bank, and not infrequently her labor strike that clogs the wheels of commerce in her city.

It makes the old fashioned citizen's head whirl to see the humming squads and corps of saleswoman that serve counters and flit up and down the long exhibition "parlors" of dry goods and millinery emporiums. A woman cashier takes your check and cash for purchases and makes your change. In one large corporation in a metropolitan center 500 women hold positions. The streams of human life that are freshets in the rush hours of the evening and the morning of the working day are fed so lavishly by the throngs of women disgorged by factory and shop and office doors that men seem to be swallowed up by the variegated billows.

"He" Center of the Stage.

All are "homing" like so many carrier pigeons.

Our bewildered old fashioned spectator of the fluttering, murmuring coveys asks himself and aloud: "To what manner of homes—and who keep them?" Did you ever chance to overhear working girls chatting together in the gaps of business hours? Or catch and piece into coherence bits of their talk upon the trolley and subway cars? I have, times without number, and found the trend of conversation and comment marvelously like, in substance, to the gossip of wealthier and better educated girls. There is always a superlative "he" in the center of the stage.

Said a shrewd and not overscrupulous man of business to me: "I employ girls in my office in preference to men. There is less danger of betrayal of my methods and schemes. A man keeps his senses about him and draws his own conclusions as to what he sees, and as like as not imparts suspicions to other men outside of the office. A girl forgets all about the offices and workrooms by the time she puts on her hat to go home. When she runs downstairs or crowds into the elevator with the other girls all the talk is about dresses and beaux—especially beaux. Not one of them gives a thought to going into business for herself some day and is on the alert to pick up all the information she can lay hold of that she may utilize to her advantage. Every mother's daughter is figuring out how she will queen it in her own home when she can get a husband to set it up for her."

I believe he was right so far as the desire for and hope of a home which shall end her business career are concerned. It is natural to like pretty clothes and to try to make herself attractive in every way to the general public—her public. Deeper and stronger is the longing to stand first in one manly heart and to be mistress in her own home.

Hope of Average Girl.

With what is called "advanced womanhood" I am ready to admit that the coming in of other ideals (I do not say higher) may have changed the current of thought and ambitions. The woman doctor, or lawyer, or artist, or journalist, or the heiress of independent wealth may have and maintain different standards. As a rule the average girl means to marry and keep house some day.

To this order, I surmise, belong the fiancée of my masculine appellant. Otherwise he would not expect her to be her own cook. The rich man may acknowledge the expediency that his prospective bride should know enough of practical housewifery to be able to direct and supervise her establishment. He reasons after his manly fashion that the head of a firm should be acquainted with all departments of the business—the more intimately the better. He does not fall into a despondent mood when his chosen fair one confesses her ignorance of cooking and baking.

Our "Baffled Betrothed" sees reefs ahead, as well he may. He may be too loyal to speak out what is uppermost in my mind and, I dare assert, in the thoughts of other practical housemothers who are wise as to those same reefs and the stormy weather common in their vicinity: "What right has a girl to be engaged who knows nothing of what is to be the business of married life?" As well install a young man as cashier of a bank who cannot add two figures together. Ignorance of kitchen duties spells unhappiness and wastefulness from the outset.

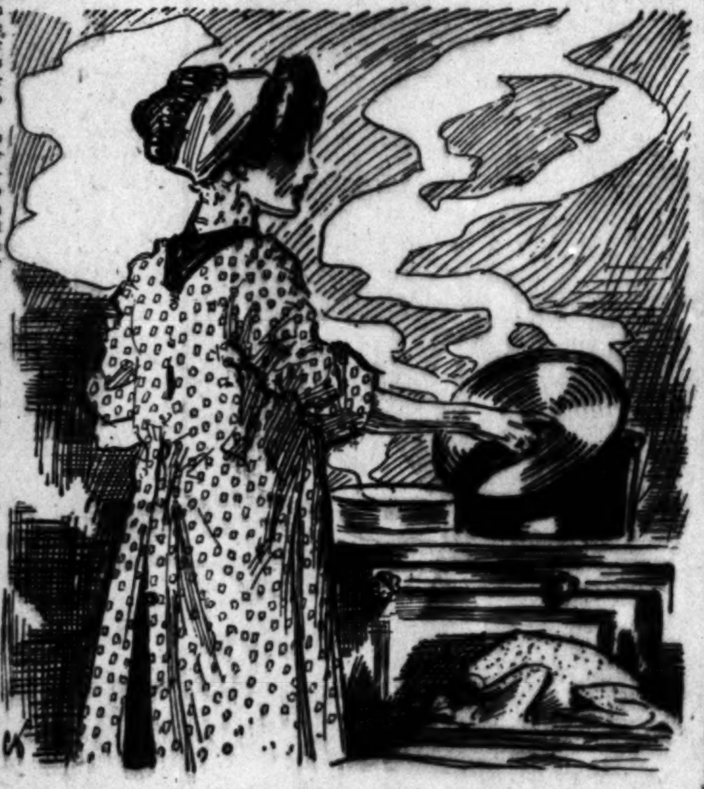
Course of the Novice.

The readers of Charlotte Bronte's "Villette" may recollect the episode of the little Pauline's determined attempt to hem a handkerchief for her father as a farewell gift before he left her for a long journey.



We read that her course along the hem was dotted with blood specks drawn from her tiny fingers. Such is the course of many a young wife during her novitiate as a housekeeper, but the specks are of heart's blood.

It is the height of folly and presumption for the girl who laughs over her ignorance of cookery, when she knows there will be no one else to do kitchen work—to marry until she is somewhat fitted for her profession.

How is she to get the experience, asks the terrified lover, baffled in the unaided effort to "solve the problem." The engaged girl who cannot cook may laugh in the contemplation of disaster. The bridegroom elect feels more like weeping. I wish I knew whether or not the girl has a living mother! If she has, I would give something handsome for the privilege of interviewing her for an hour. What were her ideas of her duty to her girl child that she suffered her to grow to a marriageable age in crass ignorance of womanly duties and prerogatives? Had she no just sense of the misery she is laying up for the young wife, the risk she runs of estranging a justly indignant husband when he discovers the trick practiced upon him? Slighter causes have separated wedded couples who began the new life with love and hope.

Little Talk to Daughter.

Having relieved my housemotherly mind to the chief offender, I sit down beside the light minded daughter and seek to awaken her to some perception of the truth. Your husband is not a rich man. He will never be healthy nor wealthy unless you manage his modest means judiciously. You must learn how to buy food and how to prepare it properly after it comes home. A hungry man finds himself deficient in a sense of the humor of the situation when he is set down to a villainously cooked supper and sent off to his work on the morrow with a travesty of a breakfast. The "fast" abides with him all day. He is exceptionally strong of will and of principle if he do not turn aside on the way downtown for "something" to quiet the gnawing in the region where nourishing food should be—and is not.

Bad cookery has driven more men to the saloon than thoughtless and lazy wives will ever imagine. It is hardly a figure of speech to say that a man's "stomach cries 'cupboard!'" It is an ugly fact that if the cupboard be refused it clamors as lustily for strong drink.

If you can get the requisite teaching nowhere else and nearer home go to a cooking school. Inquiry will inform you where one may be found. Almost every Young Women's association has one connected with it. A few churches have them—particularly those in "mission districts." If you are in the neighborhood of a "settlement" you may get there the opportunity of learning practical cookery while helping to uplift others. In each of these places instruction in the rudiments of cookery may be had free of charge. You will also glean much that is useful in the matter of marketing to advantage and the use of inexpensive materials.

Best School the Kitchen.

But, while expressing in explicit terms my appreciation of cooking classes from the elaborate apparatus and scientific teachings of the teachers' college to which I referred earlier in this talk, to the charitable work among the poor and ignorant, I still cling to the somewhat antiquated theory that the best place in which to study really practical, every day cookery is in the kitchen of one's mother or in that of a neighbor or friend.

I have listened to countless demonstration lectures upon this vital subject, and wondered with great admiration at the scientific exactness with which entrées, sweets and appetizers, omelettes and salmis were evolved from constituent elements, precisely as the magician in white gown and cap had predicted. Being already reasonably well grounded in the essential principles and not quite ignorant of the practice of the same, I confess to having picked up many a valuable hint from these demonstrations.

Our neophyte sees in the lecture room all the materials ready for the magical evolution. Vegetables are pared and sliced or minced. Meats are in just form and condition, all ingredients are weighed and measured with precision. The magician has the center of the stage; all the properties are in place and the limelight is turned on. The effect is fine and the work looks easy to our engaged girl who cannot cook and to others as ignorant as herself. She longs to get into the business and try her 'prentice hand.

Other Side Not So Rosy.

This is the rosy side of practical cookery. I wish, for the sake of novices, that it were not so attractive to beginners and lookers-on. To my way of thinking, the cooking school would be more efficient if the earliest lessons were conducted upon the principle that prevails in hospital training schools. The new recruits are set at once about the most disagreeable tasks pertaining to the profession. One, the daughter of a millionaire, who was bent upon entering the ranks of trained nurses, had her trial lesson in helping to bathe a drunken woman who had hurt herself by a fall in the street. The indomitable spirit of the girl was proof against the disgusting ordeal. Some faint and fall by the way.

Who of us would attend demonstration lectures in culinary art that included selecting, washing, and paring vegetables, cleaning and trussing poultry, and scrubbing soiled utensils? Yet here is where the "learning how" of our engaged girl must begin. It is one thing to get up a dainty luncheon upon the lecture platform by the aid of an assistant who hands to her principal each ingredient as it is called for, to be cooked in the latest patent of saucepan, griddle, double boiler, electric toaster, shining casserole and steamer, and quite another affair to cook John's dinner in a eight-by-nine kitchen in, perhaps, a frying pan and two pots. Peeling potatoes, carrots, and turnips is dirty work. Yet they cannot be eaten unless this is done.

It is wise to face the truth and begin the lesson with the alphabet. Watch your neighbor who has the name of being a neat and thrifty housekeeper. Ask, as a favor, that she will let you put on a working gown and work with her until you have mastered the rudiments of your lifelong trade. Go at it as your brother would take an apprenticeship in a tool factory or in a shoemaker's shop. And from the [illegible] make up your mind to master the [illegible].

Become a True Helpmeet.

Say in your heart all the [illegible] that you are fitting yourself to be a true helpmeet to John; that every difficulty conquered is a step toward the end and aim of your wifely existence—to serve intelligently and faithfully those whose happiness is confided to your keeping.

As an accessory to learning and practicing what you have acquired, arm yourself with a really good cook book. I shall never forget my consternation upon discovering in the first week of my housewifely life that not one of the [illegible] manuals of cookery presented to me among my wedding gifts was of the least use to one who did not know how to boil an egg or broil a steak.

Out of the travail of that first year's experience with incompetent servants, who traded cunningly upon my ignorance, was born the resolve to be a motherly guide to the thousands of inexperienced girls rushing gayly upon perils and perturbations that shipwreck the happiness of many homes. For them as well as for myself I fell to work to prepare my own manual of housewifery, treating each would-be pupil as if she were as new and raw to the task as I was when I set up my household gods in "our home." They are the sweetest words in our language when thus joined. To make good the promise bound up in the phrase, account nothing small that may be a stepping stone in your proficiency in domestic duties.

Brains Tell Everywhere.

I wish I could be of daily and close assistance in the noble calling you are taking yours. Forty-odd years ago I wrote in the preface of "Common Sense in the Household" what I now have to repeat now and to you.

"Have faith in your own abilities. You will be a better cook for the mental training you have received at home and from books. Brains tell everywhere, to say nothing of intelligent observation, just judgment, a faithful memory and orderly habits. Consider that you have a PROFESSION and resolve to understand it in all its branches. My book is designed to help you. Throughout the work I have had you, my dear sister, present before me, with the little [illegible] between your eyes and the world [illegible] about eye and mouth that [illegible] words could not, your desire to 'do your best.'"

What I felt and said then, I feel and I would say more strongly today with the representative in my mind's eye of the host of girls who mean to marry and who cannot cook!

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

IMPORTANT NOTICE

BECAUSE of the enormous number of letters sent to the department I must ask contributors to limit their communications to 100 words, except in cases of formulas or recipes which require greater space. I want all my correspondents to have a showing in the Corner, and if my request in this respect is complied with it will be possible to print many more letters.

Attention is called to the fact that Marion Harland cannot receive money for patterns, as she has no connection with any department that sells them. Marion Harland.

WE have on hand enough answers to the mother of "the ungovernable girl," who figured in the Corner a month or so ago, to fill all the space we can claim as our own. Reluctantly I lay them aside to make room for other communications that may be of profit to a majority of readers.

I crave permission, however, to insert here a letter from a grandmother upon a matter that is of vital interest to every mother.

"I am a 'young' grandmother of 73. I am at a loss as to the best way to tell children 3 or 4 years old about our Heavenly Father. 'Where does he live?' asked a little one of me, and an older child answered, 'The airship men go up a great way into the sky and they don't find any heaven up there.'

"My daughter-in-law says, 'Let the babies alone about such things. Don't puzzle their brains.'

"Many mothers would be glad to get an article from you upon the wisest method of giving a child early impressions of religion. Is there any better way than that taught us in infancy and childhood by our own dear mothers? My ideas were vague, I know, but I had an impression of the lovely place where good people go at death, and the happiness to which they are called by God to dwell with the 'dear savior.' Children now want to see—to prove—to be convinced by evidence they cannot doubt. Is it that their intellects are too alert? Or it is that the 'dear old grandma' is not up to the present day way of presenting the truth? ADRIENNE M."

Defense of "Former Ways."

Without entering into theological debate, I would say a word in defense of the "former ways" of teaching religious truths to children. It is not that their minds are "too alert" naturally that they demand proof of whatsoever they may be told of religion or anything else. "To receive as a little child" is a saying as old as the Christian era. Children have implicit faith in the dicta of parents and teachers. As soon as a baby knows father and mother and can comprehend any teachings, knowledge of the Heavenly Father should be instilled into his mind. It is no puzzle to his brain to take this in as an article of belief and to refer his actions to the law of obedience to the great and good Parent, who made and who preserves him; from whose loving hand comes every good and perfect gift. Stories of the Child Jesus are hearkened to eagerly and through the simple narrative love to him is quickly learned.

It is easy to say, "Let him alone until he can comprehend divine truth for himself!" Does the "advanced" school of thought practice like reticence with regard to scientific principles and historical facts? It is a verity not to be ignored that if good seed be not cast into the soil weeds will spring up that no husbandman has planted. Is "no cultivation" to be the rule in the case of religious teachings, and nought else? Let us practice here a little of the common sense we display in other respects in settling what shall be the curriculum of the nursery. Fallow ground is wasted ground. Do you wait for the summer to begin garden work?

Concerning Boiled Water.

"Will you enlighten this one masculine member upon the point of freshly boiled water for tea? You insist that it shall be boiling, and that the ebullition shall not be of long standing. If water deteriorates in boiling, when does the process stop? And just what alimentary qualities are lost?

"Let me suggest that the real point is whether or not water changes chemically by continuous boiling. That is, having been boiled, is it affected by more boiling, and to what degree? On this problem rests not merely the use of water in tea, but in other food.

"A majority of cooks keep on filling up the teakettle or other receptacle for hot water without waiting for it to run dry. A lady once pointed to her burnished teakettle steaming away upon the stove when I had returned after six months' absence in town, and remarked:

"'It has never been empty since you went away!'

"'Well, madam,' I retorted, 'you'd better empty it forthwith, scrub it thoroughly, and fill it with fresh water.' C. T. M."

The foregoing from our bachelor of the dinner party graphically described a few weeks back merits the attention of our corps of able chemists. I answer, in untechnical phraseology, that the oxygen is expelled by the process of boiling, thus leaving the water with the "flat" taste we all recognize in boiled water. I remark, too, that when for sanitary reasons we consider it safe to boil the drinking water used in the family, we restore in part the sparkle and liveliness by pouring it from a considerable height into a vessel below, putting what winebibbers would call a "head" upon the draught. This, we say, "aerates" the water.

The rest of the sprightly letter I submit to our chemists. The point raised is interesting. As to the half-year's boil of the good lady's kettle I wonder how much sediment—of the earth, earthy—she turned out with the water. The purest water is not without that which will result in what chemists call "a precipitate and a settlement," if boiled in large quantities and long.

Most readers may have heard the reply of the scientific man to the woman who asked, "Which is the more wholesome, boiled or unboiled water?"

"That depends, madam, upon whether you would have your stomach a cemetery or an aquarium."

* *

To Rebuild Coal Fire.

"I think it is in one of your books—'The Distractions of Martha'—that I read of the failure to build a fire on the part of the heroine who had learned 'all about housekeeping at a cooking school.' In view of the fact that so many beginners have no idea how to go to work to make or mend the kitchen fire I offer this note:

"HOW TO REBUILD A COAL FIRE.—Shake or poke out the ashes at the back of the stove near the drafts. Then make a little hole in the coal on the top, right near the damper; thrust in some sticks, light them, and put charcoal on them. Have all the drafts wide open. In a short time the whole stove full of coal will be ablaze, and all this with no "muss" and little work. E. C."

The cook, who, in returning to the fire she had left an hour before for a rest or walk, finds it all out, although she had covered it properly to keep alive for double the time of her absence, will thank our practical member for her explicit directions for resuscitating the defunct combustibles.

For the Busy Housemother.

"Have you room for some if not all of the accompanying 'Helps'? I have tried them and proved them good:

"TO EXTINGUISH BLAZING LARD.—A dash of flour into the lard will quench the flames at once.

"TO CLEAN COFFEE STAINED LINEN.—Soak in cold water, to which has been added a little borax. All coffee, chocolate, tea, and fruit stains will disappear if boiling water be poured over and through the spot before the linen is washed. It is best to do this while the stain is fresh and damp.

"TO SWEETEN CLOSETS.—Small pieces of charcoal laid in the corners and upon the shelves of closets will absorb dampness and dispel unpleasant odors.

"TO REMOVE ENGINE GREASE FROM CLOTH.—Rub the spots well with lard before washing. There is tar in engine grease. The lard will remove pure tar from cloth.

"FELLED SEAMS IN GARMENTS.—Where a raw seam would look unsightly, try running through the small hemmer of the sewing machine. This may be done much more quickly than by hand and with better results.

"TO MEND GRANITE WARE.—Break into small bits the old rubber rings of fruit jars and heat them over the fire until they bubble. Then spread the melted rubber over the leaks in the seams of the vessels. I mend galvanized wash tubs in the same way. It is better than anything else I have used for this purpose. MRS. G. W. H."

We will, at the first opportunity, make room for more of the "Helps." "Busy Mothers" will be on the watch for them.

Homely Household Hints.

"You ask that practical house mothers will make the corner a real exchange of opinions and experiences that may benefit others in the same profession. You are good enough to say that through such exchanges we can best enrich the corner and add to our store of valuable information in housewifely lore. This thought emboldens me to contribute the odds and ends I inclose. None are pretentious. I think none are useless.

"HOMELY HOUSEHOLD HINTS.—A tincupful of vinegar set at the back of the range and kept boiling while cabbage, onions, etc., are in cooking will prevent the smell from them getting through the house.

"To remove fresh paint from the floor cover with vinegar at once and wipe off with a soft cloth.

"Glycerin will remove coffee stains. So will the yolk of an egg diluted with a little water.

"To prevent a lamp from smoking dip the wick in vinegar and dry before using it.

"To mend a crack in the inside of the range fill with a paste made of sifted wood ashes and common salt wet with water.

"An apple or orange placed in a box of fresh cookies will keep them from drying out and impart a delicious, fruity flavor. A cut apple in the cake box will keep cake fresh for a long time.

"To dispel unpleasant odor from the sickroom burn dried orange peel upon a shovel of red coals. It will diffuse an agreeable perfume through the room.

"Stale crumbs of bread for puddings should be soaked in cold water or milk. If soaked in hot it will be heavy and mushy.

"To clean and brighten gilt frames stir enough flour of sulphur into three cupfuls of water to give it a golden tinge. Then boil four or five bruised onions in it; strain off the liquid and when it is cold wash the frames with it, using a soft flannel rag with which to do this.

"A few drops of essence of [illegible] scattered about the room will keep [illegible] away. MRS. J. E. P."

An array of "trinkets" no housewife reader should fail to cut out and paste in her kitchen calendar. Each has decided merit. Taken as a whole they are a "handy compend" of useful information. It is a pleasure to note that our members appreciate more and more with the passing weeks the importance of the friendly interchange of what each has found helpful in her own housekeeping. Succinct rules like the contributions of "Mrs. G. W. H." and "Mrs. J. E. P." are far more acceptable than long letters for which we cannot make room.

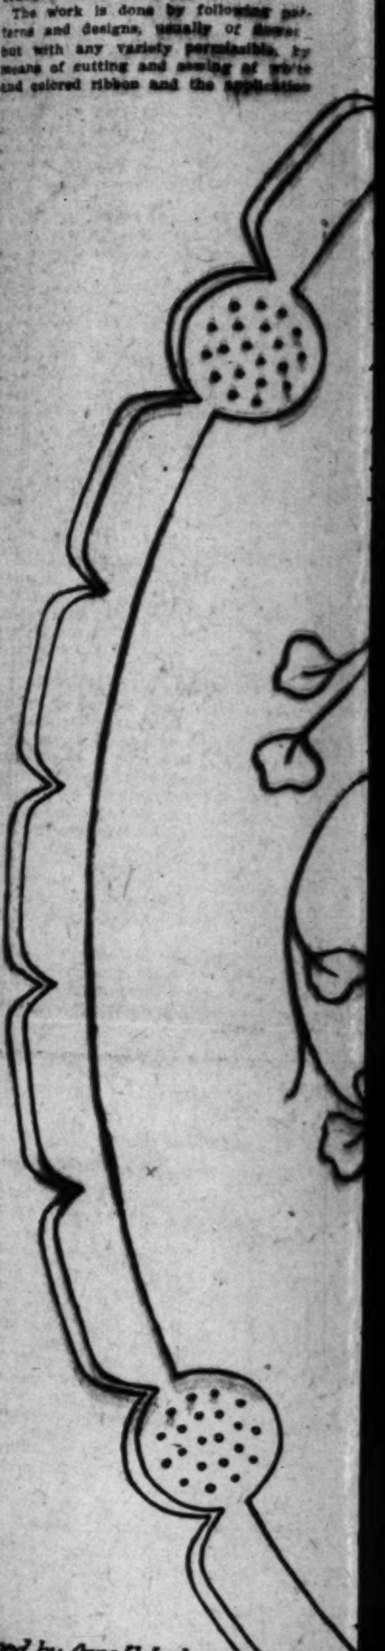
RIBBON EMB



Designed by Anne L. Jo

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

By ADELAIDE BYRD

RIBBON EMBROIDERY

EVERY girl who loves pretty things will welcome the revival of ribbon embroidery. In mid-Victorian times this work was a fad; it was seen everywhere. Ribbon bags, beribboned shawls, dresses, hats and sunshades were the favorite places to display the skill of nimble fingers. But the fashion went out with the crinoline and has recently come to light again.

The work is done by following patterns and designs, usually of flowers, [illegible] with any variety permissible, by means of cutting and sewing of white and colored ribbon and the application of these to materials that go to make up the article to be trimmed.

The chief beauty of ribbon embroidery is in its color and its fineness. It is a worthy rival of floss embroidery when artistically done, and gives the appearance of nature which in silk embroidery would mean unusual skill and laborious toil. The work is quickly done, but requires the eye of an artist to be successful. The needlework is not difficult, but must be executed with care, and is well worth the trouble and attention of any woman who loves dainty trimming for her gowns.

Let us take a concrete example to illustrate the method of working. Our summer frocks are to be trimmed with flowers, so we will decorate the edge of the flounce on a lingerie gown with forget-me-nots. Light blue and light green baby ribbon of the softest quality obtainable will be required, and blue, green and yellow embroidery silk.

First draw or trace the pattern on the material with a hard lead pencil, indicating roughly the direction of the stems and the position of the blossoms. The stems and leaves are worked first by twisting the ribbon into very narrow [illegible] for the stem, sewing it firmly to the fabric with green thread, placing the stitches underneath, where they will show the least, and concealing them altogether where it is possible. The leaves are formed with one-sixteenth of an inch of ribbon, puffed slightly and caught down at both ends with a tiny stitch. The flower petals are formed with the same length of ribbon as the leaves, but puffed a little higher and held in place with two or three stitches. Use [illegible] ribbon for the flowers, stitch [illegible] silk and in the center of each [illegible] place a few French knots of [illegible] silk for the stamens and pistil of the flower.

This method of procedure is used only [illegible]; another way, better [illegible] to heavy goods like silk and [illegible], is to use the narrow ribbon as [illegible] heavy embroidery thread, [illegible] it in a darning needle with a [illegible] eye. Work with an over-[illegible] stitch wherever it is visible [illegible] and running it under in [illegible]. Roses, pansies and [illegible] flowers are made in this way. [illegible] are worked by [illegible] the leaves [illegible] and the stems [illegible] the flowers are simply [illegible] about an inch [illegible] is exceedingly [illegible] on cloth gowns. [illegible] shaded ribbon. [illegible] the work is done with this it is remarkably natural looking if you are careful to follow closely the shades of the natural flowers. The color is really the all-important thing, and you must be careful to select only those that will blend perfectly, for in nature we never see colors that do not harmonize.

Very beautiful is a design of mauve orchids on a white evening gown, and a garland of roses on the young girl's dress is charming. All the rose colors are obtainable, from the white rose to the crimson rambler. Pink and tearose shades are lovely on simple white frocks.

Ribbon embroidery is applied to all manner of materials and dress accessories. Hats and parasols come in for their share, as do collar and cuff sets and very dainty undergarments.

The work is quickly done and affords pleasant employment of idle hours on the piazza of the summer hotel.

Freshening a White Hat

AN EASY way to freshen a white hat that has been discolored with sunburn or the ravages of weather is to crush a yard square of white or colored mousseline de sole upon the crown, allowing plenty of it to fall over the brim.

The crushing must be done lightly and then caught down to the crown, using a long straw needle and fine cotton. Have the thread long enough to catch every place without rethreading the needle, and work without letting the fingers touch the mousseline any more than is possible. Drape the material around the crown on to the brim toward the left side and finish with a flat bow or soft knot.

Mousseline de sole is much better than chiffon or tulle to use for this purpose, as it will wear and keep its freshness longer.

The Complete Design

A CLOVER CENTERPIECE

WHEN I suggest French knots as the easy method by which you can work the blossoms, I know that you will be eager to begin work on the pretty design before you. It is quite simple and undeniably distinctive in arrangement.

The entire design is given and you will have little difficulty in transferring it to linen of a medium weight, in either tan or white. Colors purple and green are very effective on tan linen, and mercerized cotton or silk thread can be used. The all-white treatment is always good and is a color of which we never tire.

The stems of the clover can be worked in either narrow stem stitch or a heavy outline, whipped into a cord by catching together the stitches at the point of overlapping.

The leaves have central veins that will serve as guides toward which you can work in either solid stitches or the easy, quick wallachian stitch. This latter is a buttonhole stitch, the purled edge coming on the central vein, if you wish, or on the outer line. With coarse thread the work progresses with astonishing rapidity.

Fill in the blossoms with French knots. Use French knots in the disks on the scalloped border, too. Outline the line on the border, and after padding the scallops work with the buttonhole stitch around the edge.

The padding, by the way, can be done with fine soutache braid held in place as you go along, buttonholing over it without any preliminary sewing. It is very successful. Otherwise the soft darning cotton in either chain stitch or loose, long stitches will be the method used.

The story is very short, but the satisfaction gained by your own little field of clover for the dining table or living hall table is endless.

Have you tried gray linen for your colored embroidery? The shades of lavender, purple and soft greens are lovely on a gray background. Even the white blossoms, with an occasional pale green tip, look exquisite on the neutral color.

The addition of lace to the edge is valuable. Ocher shaken in a box with white lace dyes it a deep lasting ecru. Stencil dyes will give gray to a cotton cluny or torchon. The buttonholing in coarse thread to match is effective.

There now. You are supplied with a design and directions. Make the centerpiece your own in an attractive, lasting form.

DAINTY SASH CURTAINS

THE greatest conquest we make in life is the conquest of the commonplace.

Do not have commonplace curtains in your new house, and if you have a cozy little bungalow in the country, dress the windows with the daintiest sash curtains you can possibly make.

By sash curtains I mean the little half curtains that cover the lower sash of your windows and are suspended by a brass rod or a wooden lath.

Fresh looking little curtains are made of white book muslin. At the top is a broad hem having a casing at its base through which the rod passes, and directly under this is sewed a strip of wide lace insertion. This is also used just above the hem at the bottom.

Almost unlimited are the designs you can produce if you are fond of crocheting.

A simple but delightfully dainty set of curtains may be made of plain or narrow barred swiss with a wide hem run in the bottom and coarse crocheted lace at the top. Choose a lace pattern that has points on one side, and at the end of each sew a little brass ring that will slip easily over the rod.

Wash silk is splendid for sash curtains. Choose only plain light colors and white, and trim them with either points of crocheted lace or lace insertions.

These can be made rather elaborate, if you wish, by setting in medallions of lace along the lower border or wide hem.

Crocheted medallions having the Irish lace patterns, but done with rather coarse thread, are most effective. Apply them to the silk with small stitches, cutting away the silk under the lace, and turn back the raw edges, hemming it neatly on the wrong side.

It is possible to make this crocheted lace of colored thread if you wish to match the color of your curtains; but always remember that white or pale ecru curtains are best for all windows.

The combination of ribbon and lawn makes dainty curtains. The ribbon may be white or a pale shade of blue, the lawn white. Cut strips of lawn six inches wide; that, with two-inch wide ribbon, will cover the window and allow a little fullness. Sew the ribbon and lawn in alternating strips, having lawn on the outer edge, and in the center of each lawn strip set a small round, oval or diamond-shaped medallion.

A plain hem finishes the lower edge, and at the top small brass rings are sewed on at each joining point of lawn and ribbon.

Ecru net gathered to a wide band of cluny lace insertion at the top makes really handsome sash curtains. The insertion is plain across the window, so that the pattern of the lace can be seen plainly. Turn the net in at the top twice to form a narrow hem and gather it on plain, or run a gathering thread along the raw edge and after sewing the net to the insertion stitch over this a very narrow insertion of beading that will effectually conceal any raw edges. The net must be twice the width of the window, in order to get the proper fullness, and finished with a wide hem.

Cotton voile made up with a plain deep hem, and either on this or just above it a stencil design, makes charming short curtains for the windows in a summer bungalow.

The stencil work on these matches that used on long curtains of denim, burlap or other heavy material, on the floor rug, table cover, etc., if that is the mode of decoration used.

These may be made in color to match the color scheme of the room, or they may be of white with colored borders.

Take care that the work on your sash curtains is well done, for carelessly made curtains show that you are a careless housekeeper—a thing to be avoided at all times.

Your individuality may be displayed in the matter of curtains as well as in any other article of furniture or drapery used in the entire house.

New Parasols for Old

WHAT are you going to do with that plain silk parasol which you bought a year or two ago? Don't give it to the children to play with or send it to the rummage sale, for with a few yards of lace insertion you can transform it into a perfectly fashionable sunshade that will do service this season.

Sew the insertion around the parasol in three bands at equal distances apart, using a fine needle and very fine cotton or split silk to do the work. Choose two-inch-wide insertion either of white or ecru lace in a shadow pattern, or one of the new ratine effects.

Measure the amount of lace required before you purchase it by opening the parasol, and with a tape line finding out the number of inches it takes to encircle the parasol at three given points. Pin the lace bands in place while the parasol is open wide, taking up the fullness at the top of each band by laying a small pleat over each rib. The band nearest the top will have to be sewed in place while the parasol is open wide, but the other two may be done when it is partly closed and the silk is not drawn so tight; it will make the work much easier.

If you wish, a lace edge may be added; but this must be very narrow and must be sewed on without any fullness.

Lace-trimmed parasols will be very fashionable this year, so be warned in time and make the best of that old one, thereby saving the price of a new one to put into some other article of dress—or, better still, in the savings bank.

HAIR ORNAMENTS

ANY girl can make herself a number of pretty hair ornaments if she is able to tie a bow and wield a needle.

Frequently the appearance of an entire toilette is spoiled by careless hairdressing or a stiff, unbecoming bow placed at the wrong angle in the coiffure.

One idea is to simulate the outspreading osprey with tulle. Make a rather narrow bandeau of velvet or satin ribbon; directly in the front, or a little to one side, attach ten loops of white tulle, 6 to 8 inches high and 1½ inches wide.

These may be wired with the finest of white silk-covered milliner's wire; but under ordinary circumstances they will retain their erect position without wire.

These loops are sewed across the front of the bandeau on the underside of the ribbon, and the stitches are hidden by a fold of ribbon or, if you wish, a row of beads or small brilliants.

One yard of tulle matching the color of your frock can be made up into delightfully dainty ornaments for the hair.

Measure the number of inches circling your head after the hair is arranged and cut that much from one end of the tulle. Gather the ends up taut and finish neatly, sewing a hook on one end and an eye on the other.

The rest of the tulle is then tied into a bow having four loops and two ends, and is tacked lightly to the end on which the hook is sewed.

This is placed around the hair as is a bandeau; the bow can then be placed at whatever point is most becoming to the wearer.

Tiny gilt or silver spangles sewed to the tulle bow adds to its attractiveness.

Black and white or tulle in any two colors in sharp contrast, the one veiled with the other, is lovely for the older girls. With a little practice you will become quite an adept at making the daintiest of hair ornaments of tulle.

How to Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

RIBBON EMBROIDERY

EVERY girl who loves pretty things will welcome the revival of ribbon embroidery. In mid-Victorian times this work was a fad; it was seen everywhere. Ribbon bags, beribboned shawls, dresses, hats and sunshades were the favorite places to display the skill of nimble fingers. But the fashion went out with the crinoline and has recently come to light again.

The work is done by following patterns and designs, usually of flowers, but with any variety permissible, by means of cutting and sewing of white and colored ribbon and the application of them to materials that go to make up the article to be trimmed.

The chief beauty of ribbon embroidery is in its color and its fineness. It is a worthy rival of floss embroidery when artistically done, and gives the appearance of relief which in silk embroidery would mean unusual skill and laborious toil. The work is quickly done, but requires the eye of an artist to be successful. The needlework is not difficult, but must be executed with care, and is well worth the trouble and attention of any woman who loves dainty trimming for her gowns.

Let us take a concrete example to illustrate the method of working. Our summer dresses are to be trimmed with ribbons, so we will decorate the edge of the flounce on a lingerie gown with forget-me-nots. Light blue and light green baby ribbon of the softest quality obtainable will be required, and blue, green and yellow embroidery silk.

First draw or trace the pattern on the material with a hard lead pencil, indicating roughly the direction of the stems and the position of the blossoms. The stems and leaves are worked first by folding the ribbon into very narrow strips for the stem, sewing it firmly to the fabric with green thread, placing the stitches underneath, where they will show the least, and concealing them altogether where it is possible. The leaves are formed with one-sixteenth of an inch of ribbon, puffed slightly and caught down at both ends with a tiny stitch. The flower petals are formed with the same length of ribbon as the leaves, but puffed a little higher and held in place with two or three stitches. Use blue silk shades for the flowers, stitch with blue silk and in the center of each flower place a few French knots of yellow silk for the stamens and pistil of the flower.

This method of procedure is used only for thin material; another way, better adapted to heavy goods like silk and cloth, is to use the narrow ribbon as you would heavy embroidery thread, threading it in a darning needle with a large eye. Work with an overstitch [illegible] wherever it is visible and [illegible] it under in [illegible]. Roses, pansies and [illegible] flowers are made in this way. [illegible] are worked by [illegible] the leaves [illegible] ribbon and the stems [illegible] the flowers are simply [illegible] ribbon about an inch [illegible]. This is exceedingly [illegible] on cloth gowns. [illegible] to buy shaded ribbon, [illegible] the work is done with this it is remarkably natural looking if you are careful to follow closely the shades of the natural flowers. The color is really the all-important thing, and you must be careful to select only those that will blend perfectly, for in nature we never see colors that do not harmonize.

Very beautiful is a design of mauve orchids on a white evening gown, and a garland of roses on the young girl's dress is charming. All the rose colors are obtainable, from the white rose to the crimson rambler. Pink and tearose shades are lovely on simple white frocks.

Ribbon embroidery is applied to all manner of materials and dress accessories. Hats and parasols come in for their share, as do collar and cuff sets and very dainty undergarments.

The work is quickly done and affords pleasant employment of idle hours on the piazza of the summer hotel.

The Complete Design

A CLOVER CENTERPIECE

WHEN I suggest French knots as the easy method by which you can work the blossoms, I know that you will be eager to begin work on the pretty design before you. It is quite simple and undeniably distinctive in arrangement.

The entire design is given and you will have little difficulty in transferring it to linen of a medium weight, in either tan or white. Colors purple and green are very effective on tan linen, and mercerized cotton or silk thread can be used. The all-white treatment is always good and is a color of which we never tire.

The stems of the clover can be worked in either narrow stem stitch or a heavy outline, whipped into a cord by catching together the stitches at the point of overlapping.

The leaves have central veins that will serve as guides toward which you can work in either solid stitches or the easy, quick wallachian stitch. This latter is a buttonhole stitch, the purled edge coming on the central vein, if you wish, or on the outer line. With coarse thread the work progresses with astonishing rapidity.

Fill in the blossoms with French knots. Use French knots in the disks on the scalloped border, too. Outline the line on the border, and after padding the scallops work with the buttonhole stitch around the edge.

The padding, by the way, can be done with fine soutache braid held in place as you go along, buttonholing over it without any preliminary sewing. It is very successful. Otherwise the soft darning cotton in either chain stitch or loose, long stitches will be the method used.

The story is very short, but the satisfaction gained by your own little field of clover for the dining table or living hall table is endless.

Have you tried gray linen for your colored embroidery? The shades of lavender, purple and soft greens are lovely on a gray background. Even the white blossoms, with an occasional pale green tip, look exquisite on the neutral color.

The addition of lace to the edge is valuable. Ocher shaken in a box with white lace dyes it a deep lasting ecru. Stencil dyes will give gray to a cotton cluny or torchon. The buttonholing in coarse thread to match is effective.

There now. You are supplied with a design and directions. Make the centerpiece your own in an attractive, lasting form.

Freshening a White Hat

AN EASY way to freshen a white hat that has been discolored with sunburn or the ravages of weather is to crush a yard square of white or colored mousseline de soie upon the crown, allowing plenty of it to fall over the brim.

The crushing must be done lightly and then caught down to the crown, using a long straw needle and fine cotton. Have the thread long enough to catch every place without rethreading the needle, and work without letting the fingers touch the mousseline any more than is possible. Drape the material around the crown on to the brim toward the left side and finish with a flat bow or soft knot.

Mousseline de soie is much better than chiffon or tulle to use for this purpose, as it will wear and keep its freshness longer.

DAINTY SASH CURTAINS

THE greatest conquest we make in life is the conquest of the commonplace.

Do not have commonplace curtains in your new house, and if you have a cozy little bungalow in the country, dress the windows with the daintiest sash curtains you can possibly make.

By sash curtains I mean the little half curtains that cover the lower sash of your windows and are suspended by a brass rod or a wooden lath.

Fresh looking little curtains are made of white book muslin. At the top is a broad hem having a casing at its base through which the rod passes, and directly under this is sewed a strip of wide lace insertion. This is also used just above the hem at the bottom.

Almost unlimited are the designs you can produce if you are fond of crocheting.

A simple but delightfully dainty set of curtains may be made of plain or narrow barred swiss with a wide hem run in the bottom and coarse crocheted lace at the top. Choose a lace pattern that has points on one side, and at the end of each sew a little brass ring that will slip easily over the rod.

Wash silk is splendid for sash curtains. Choose only plain light colors and white, and trim them with either points of crocheted lace or lace insertions.

These can be made rather elaborate, if you wish, by setting in medallions of lace along the lower border or wide hem.

Crocheted medallions having the Irish lace patterns, but done with rather coarse thread, are most effective. Apply them to the silk with small stitches, cutting away the silk under the lace, and turn back the raw edges, hemming it neatly on the wrong side.

It is possible to make this crocheted lace of colored thread if you wish to match the color of your curtains; but always remember that white or pale ecru curtains are best for all windows.

The combination of ribbon and lawn makes dainty curtains. The ribbon may be white or a pale shade of blue, the lawn white. Cut strips of lawn six inches wide; that, with two-inch wide ribbon, will cover the window and allow a little fullness. Sew the ribbon and lawn in alternating strips, having lawn on the outer edge, and in the center of each lawn strip set a small round, oval or diamond-shaped medallion.

A plain hem finishes the lower edge, and at the top small brass rings are sewed on at each joining point of lawn and ribbon.

Ecru net gathered to a wide band of cluny lace insertion at the top makes really handsome sash curtains. The insertion is plain across the window, so that the pattern of the lace can be seen plainly. Turn the net in at the top twice to form a narrow hem and gather it on plain, or run a gathering thread along the raw edge and after sewing the net to the insertion stitch over this a very narrow insertion of beading that will effectually conceal any raw edges. The net must be twice the width of the window, in order to get the proper fullness, and finished with a wide hem.

Cotton voile made up with a plain deep hem, and either on this or just above it a stencil design, makes charming short curtains for the windows in a summer bungalow.

The stencil work on these matches that used on long curtains of denim, burlap or other heavy material, on the floor rug, table cover, etc., if that is the mode of decoration used.

These may be made in color to match the color scheme of the room, or they may be of white with colored borders.

Take care that the work on your sash curtains is well done, for carelessly made curtains show that you are a careless housekeeper—a thing to be avoided at all times.

Your individuality may be displayed in the matter of curtains as well as in any other article of furniture or drapery used in the entire house.

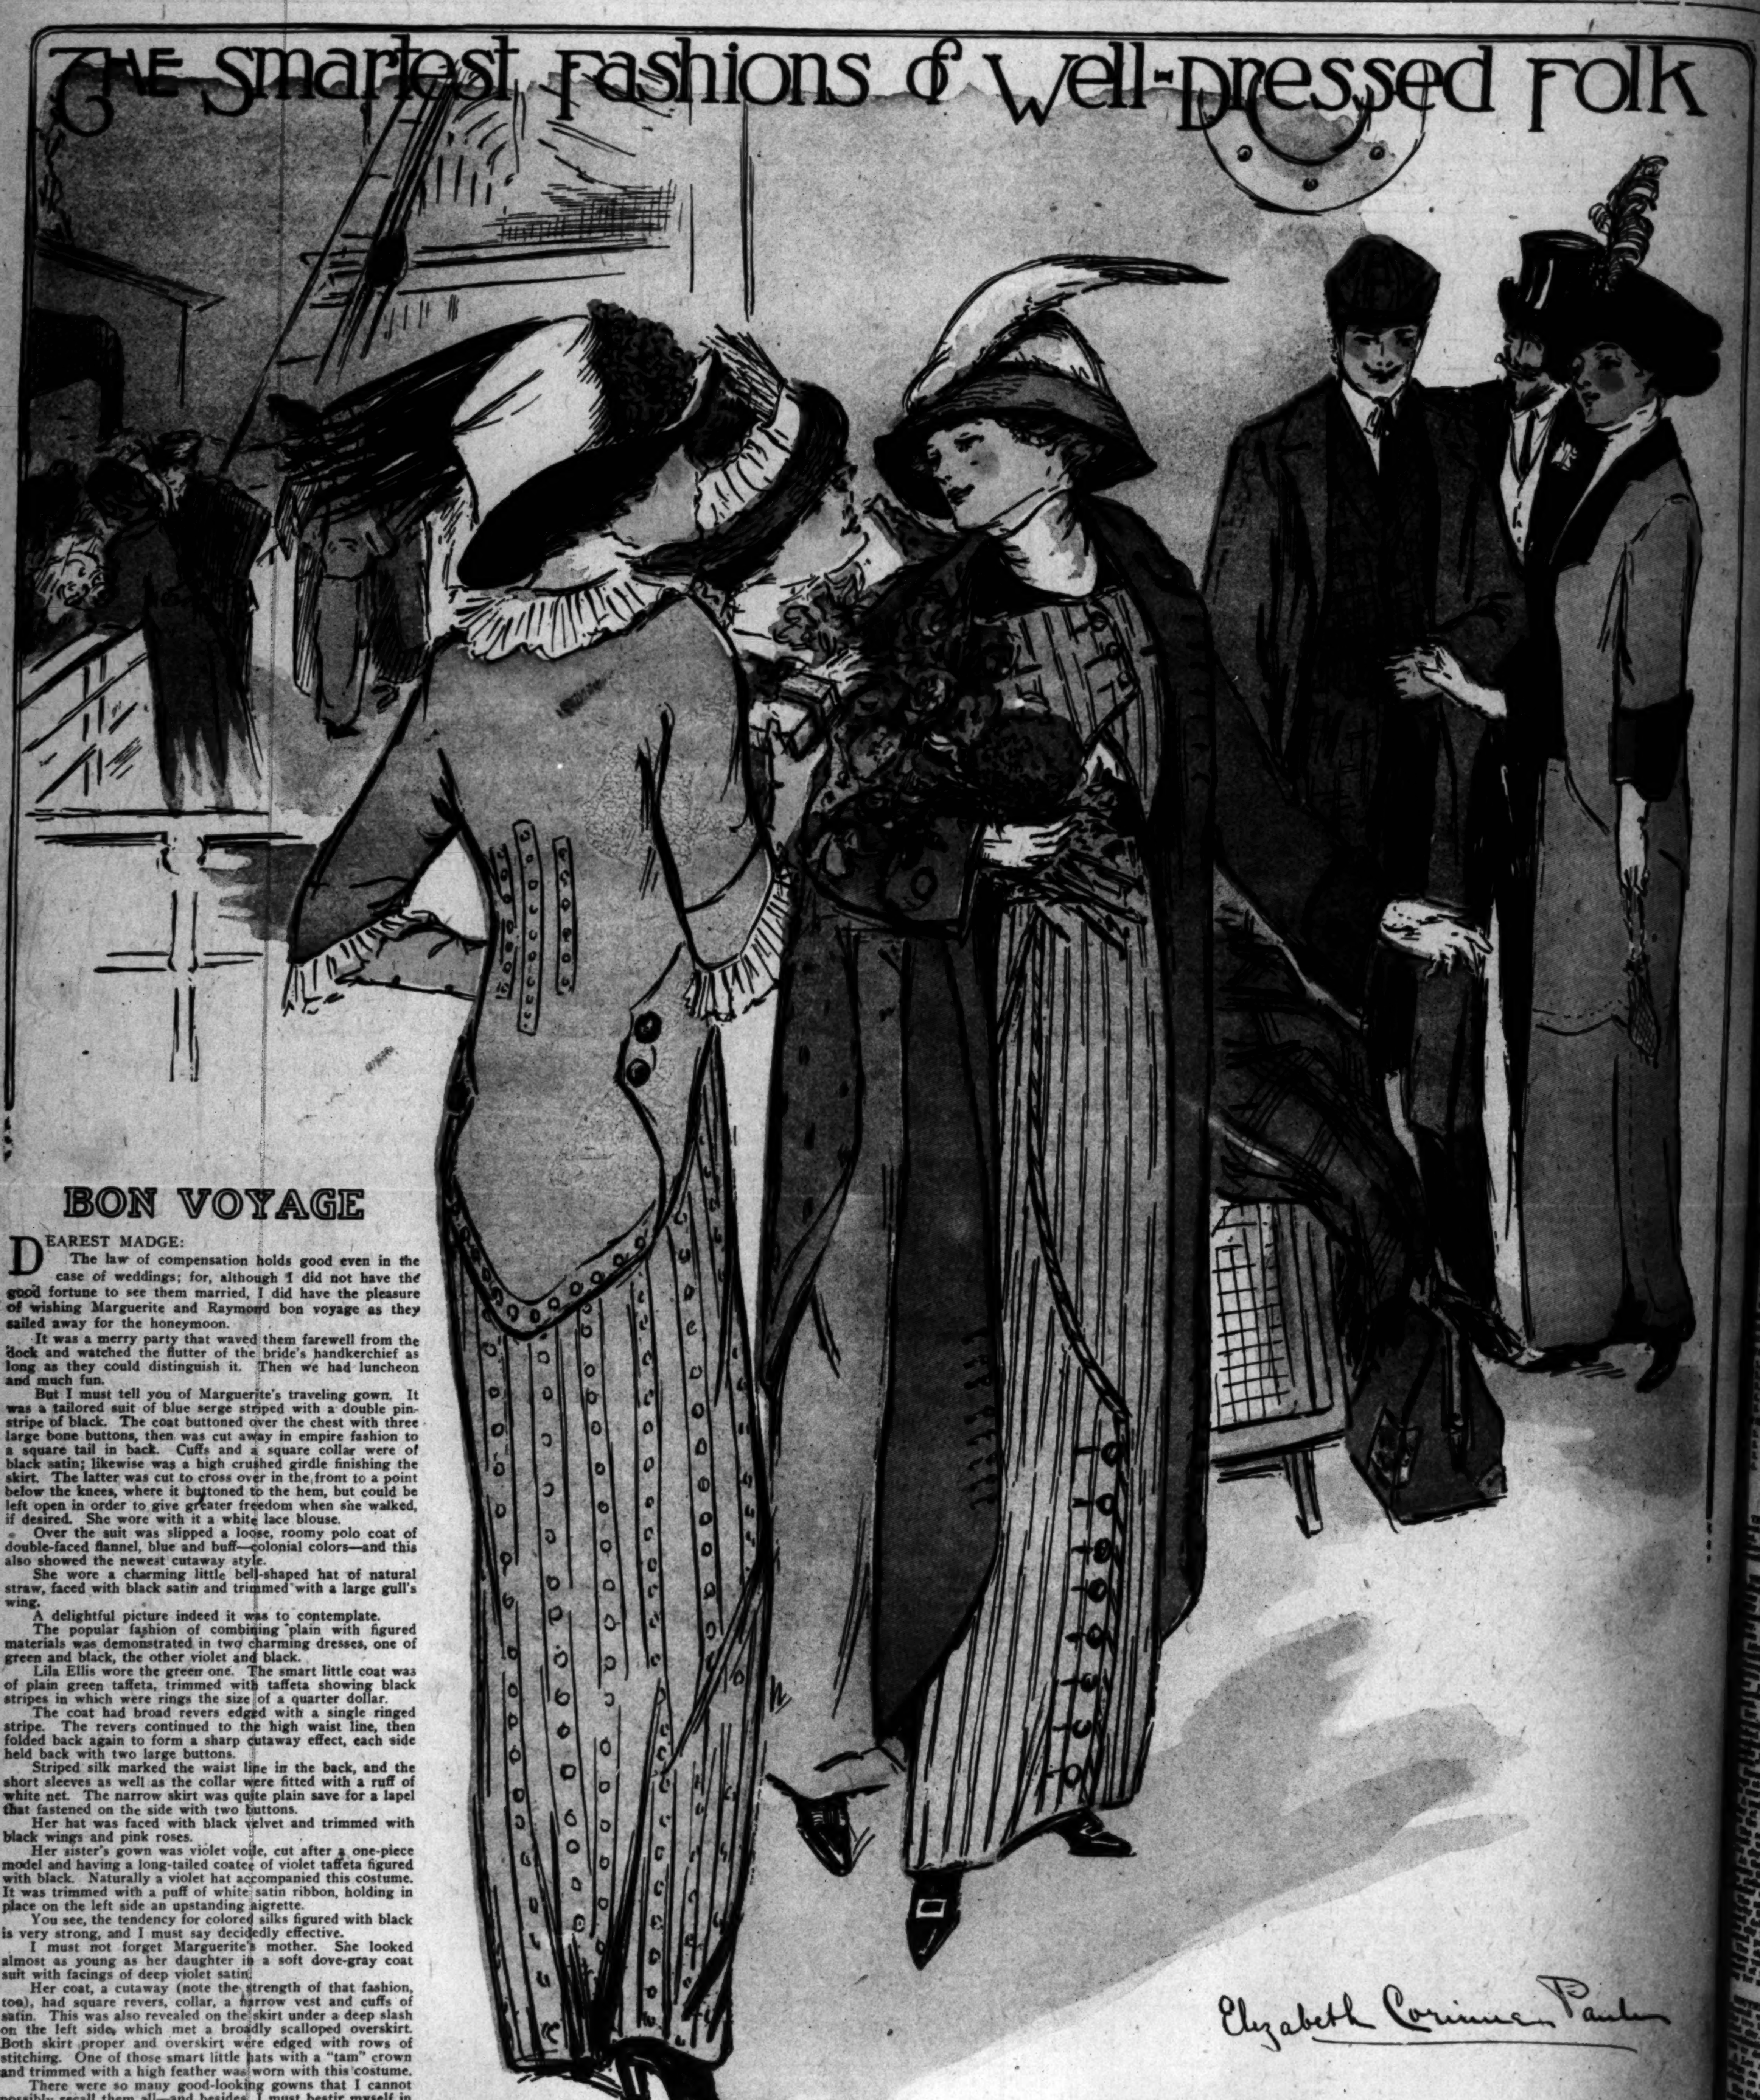
THE Smartest Fashions of Well-Dressed Folk



BON VOYAGE

DEAREST MADGE:

The law of compensation holds good even in the case of weddings; for, although I did not have the good fortune to see them married, I did have the pleasure of wishing Marguerite and Raymond bon voyage as they sailed away for the honeymoon.

It was a merry party that waved them farewell from the dock and watched the flutter of the bride's handkerchief as long as they could distinguish it. Then we had luncheon and much fun.

But I must tell you of Marguerite's traveling gown. It was a tailored suit of blue serge striped with a double pinstripe of black. The coat buttoned over the chest with three large bone buttons, then was cut away in empire fashion to a square tail in back. Cuffs and a square collar were of black satin; likewise was a high crushed girdle finishing the skirt. The latter was cut to cross over in the front to a point below the knees, where it buttoned to the hem, but could be left open in order to give greater freedom when she walked, if desired. She wore with it a white lace blouse.

Over the suit was slipped a loose, roomy polo coat of double-faced flannel, blue and buff—colonial colors—and this also showed the newest cutaway style.

She wore a charming little bell-shaped hat of natural straw, faced with black satin and trimmed with a large gull's wing.

A delightful picture indeed it was to contemplate.

The popular fashion of combining plain with figured materials was demonstrated in two charming dresses, one of green and black, the other violet and black.

Lila Ellis wore the green one. The smart little coat was of plain green taffeta, trimmed with taffeta showing black stripes in which were rings the size of a quarter dollar.

The coat had broad revers edged with a single ringed stripe. The revers continued to the high waist line, then folded back again to form a sharp cutaway effect, each side held back with two large buttons.

Striped silk marked the waist line in the back, and the short sleeves as well as the collar were fitted with a ruff of white net. The narrow skirt was quite plain save for a lapel that fastened on the side with two buttons.

Her hat was faced with black velvet and trimmed with black wings and pink roses.

Her sister's gown was violet voile, cut after a one-piece model and having a long-tailed coatee of violet taffeta figured with black. Naturally a violet hat accompanied this costume. It was trimmed with a puff of white satin ribbon, holding in place on the left side an upstanding aigrette.

You see, the tendency for colored silks figured with black is very strong, and I must say decidedly effective.

I must not forget Marguerite's mother. She looked almost as young as her daughter in a soft dove-gray coat suit with facings of deep violet satin.

Her coat, a cutaway (note the strength of that fashion, too), had square revers, collar, a narrow vest and cuffs of satin. This was also revealed on the skirt under a deep slash on the left side, which met a broadly scalloped overskirt. Both skirt proper and overskirt were edged with rows of stitching. One of those smart little hats with a "tam" crown and trimmed with a high feather was worn with this costume.

There were so many good-looking gowns that I cannot possibly recall them all—and besides, I must bestir myself in preparing dinner for my lord and master. This is Maggie's day out, and you know what that means.

Farewell for the time, dear sister.

Affectionately, ELEANOR.
